The Dogs took a 2-1 lead in the first period when they pulled off the Macs 13-6. Rene Pepin scored the winning goal at 13.33 on a pretty play, sliding a backhander along the ice to the far corner. Only minutes before, Tom Walker made it 2-0 on another low backhander from a scramble.

Speck drew an interference penalty at 16.02 and exactly a minute later Dave Jones put Belleville in the score sheet, finishing a play in front of the net with Brown and Hildebrand.

Each club scored one in the quiet middle heat as Windsor again built a big territorial edge in play, testing Bobby Senior with 15 shots. Belleville managed half a dozen shots at Head.

The Utendale-Moffatt-Pepin line, Dave Schreiber's pride of Windsor, made it 3-1 at 5.37 when Utendale broke from the right wing to sink a hard drive. Senior made a number of other fine stops but was helpless when Brown and in the dying seconds of the period the Macs climbed back into contention Muir carried in against one Bulldog defenseman and he Hildebrand tipped his shot between Head's feet at 19.45 for the 3-2 score. There were no penalties in the period.

The Bulldogs were goal-hungry in the third right from the first whistle, beating seven shots at Senior in the first two minutes. The winners started to pile up the score when Zorica registered with a Mac holding him at 7.20. Pepin made it 5-2 at 10.10 and Bendo stole the puck off a Belleville man before making it 6-2 at 12.56. Service and Gross added later goals for the final 8-2 score.

Windsor outshot the Macs, who appeared to stop skating once ahead when the opposition started, by a 23-5 count in the third, but had 50-47 edge overall.

Ike Hildebrand, the Macs' lone 20-goal man, scored once and assisted on the other for Belleville. Dave Jones had a goal and Dennis Muir and Wiener Brown an assist each in the losing effort.

Rene Pepin scored twice for the Bulldogs with singletons for Jerry Service, Tom Walker, Johnny Utendale, Joe Zorica, Leo Bendo and Irwin Gross. Jeff Head threw three saves. Jean-Paul Lamirande and Bobby Brown two apiece.

Only three minor penalties were handed out in all with the losers picking up a pair.

Dutchmen Blank Saskatoon 6-0; Benoit Scores

SASKATOON (CP)—The Olympics - bound Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen picked a 6-0 victory over Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League Saturday night — their first appearance in the west on a western exhibition tour.

A sellout crowd of 4,464 watched Gerry Theberge of Kitchener-Waterloo, who played the first 30 minutes for Saskatoon, Don Hoberg make a total of 17 saves in registering the club's first shutout of the trip.

The Dutchmen outshot Saskatoon backhanded a shot into the net. Goalie Theberge was a man above when a power play set up Laufman for a clear drive. Martin and Jack Douglas assisted.

Benoit scored while Vic Lynn of Saskatoon was off for holding. Rope deflected home a pass from Rousseau to end the scoring.

Palmer Wins Rich Desert Golf Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Thirty - year - old Arnold Palmer played the course as if he owned it Sunday to win the world's richest golf tournament for a $100,000 Palm Springs Desert Classic.

His six-under par 65 gave him 336 for the marathon 90 - hole tournament and $21,000. Fred Hawkins took second - place money of $6,600 with 341.

The setting was the Thunderbird Country Club course, a relatively easy test of 6,680-yards at par 36-36—71.

A crowd of 16,000 swarmed over the course in hot, hazy weather and gave Arnold a tremendous ovation when he holed his last putt.

When did he feel he had the big prize won?

Johnny Palmer led Arnold by one stroke going into the final round but 41-year-old Johnny took a 70 and finished in a tie for third place with Bob Goalby.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver picked up $1,350 for a 278—tie with Jack Burke and Art Wall Jr.

Toronto's Al Balding was in another three-way tie, for 40th spot, and won $250.

Industrial Hockey League Results

Close scores marked keenly-contested games in Industrial Hockey League activities over the week-end with Chris' Drive-In nosing out Booth's TV 4-3 and Williams Brothers turning back Ellis Printers by a 4-2 count.

Jack Gill sparked the Drive-In victory with two goals and one assist. Vern Goyer helped with a goal and two assists while Bob Gilbert also netted one. Phil Cornell came up with a couple of helpers with Pat Cornell collecting one.

Bob Brooks was the Booth triggerman with two goals and one assist with Gord Erwin scoring the other. Rowbotham, Booth's fifth victory, with Calnan each had helpers.

Wiener Dick Weiss was good for two unassisted goals in the Williams Brothers victory, with Gord Green and Don Bishop counting the others. Bert Faulkner had two assists while Sid Doug Moreau.

Russians Win World Speed Skating Title

DAVOS, Switzerland (AP) — Boris Stenin won the world speed skating championship Sunday, the fifth for Russia in the last eight years, Soviet skaters took three of the four events in the final tuneup for the Squaw Valley Winter Olympics.

While Stenin, whose wife, Valentina, won the women's title last week, had been favored, 21-year-old Andre Kouprianoff of France pulled a major surprise by finishing second.

Kouprianoff, son of Russian immigrants, was the highly regarded Scandinavian and Dutch skaters by a comfortable margin. He finished with 189.245 points to Stenin's 186.47.

The United States, Canada and Japan did not compete.

Stenin, 25, succeeded Finland's Juhani Jaervinen as champion by winning the 1,500 and placing fifth in the 10,000-Friday. He was second in the 500 and eighth in the 5,000.

EQUALS OWN RECORD

BOSTON (AP)—John Thomas equalled his own world indoor high jump record of 7 feet, 1 inch, seven feet, 1¼ inches, Phil Coleman won the Hunter mile in a fast 4:02.8 and towering Bob Backus got off a heave of 67 feet, one inch to shatter his own world indoor 35 - pound weight throw mark Saturday night in the Boston indoor athletic games.

Only three indoor miles have been run faster, including the record 4:01.4 by Ron Delany last year.

The Barons and Browns defeated the Bruins and Rangers by identical 3-1 scores in bantam league action over the weekend while Pontiac defeated Canadiens 2-1; Quinte dumped Leafs 4-2 and the Hawks and Rangers battled to a four-all tie.

Jimmy McGuire with two and Richard Hartington and Phil Hannah with singles scored the Hawk goals with Lee Pinnemore and Bob Casselman getting assists. Bob Ethier hit for the Rangers with Jack Boyle scoring the other. Bill Lish and Ray Ash with assists on all four markers.

Bill Phillips' goal and two assists paced the Pontiac victory with other goals going to Bob Purvey, Paul Sinclair and Pete Mitchell. Perry Soules got an assist. Bill Hillborn and Brian Dafoe counted for Leafs with Bill Angove drawing a helper.

Brian Langabeer with a goal and an assist and Bill Dovey with a goal paced the Red Wings narrow win. Frank Farrell helped by Bill Elliott tallied for the Canadiens.

Petes, Marlies Win Over TeePees, Cubs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Peterborough Petes snapped a four-year jinx during the weekend by winning their first game in four seasons on St. Catharines ice.

The TeePees had won the 16 previous Ontario Hockey Association Junior A encounters before Petes' 6-2 triumph.

The victory moved the Petes to within one point of fourth-place Guelph Biltmores and St. Catharines.

At Toronto Sunday, the league-leading Toronto Marlboros handed the cellar-dwelling Hamilton Tiger Cubs their 28th defeat in 37 games as they won 7-2 before a crowd of 6,070. Toronto St. Michael's College Majors came from behind to beat Guelph 4-2 in the other contest.

Tiger Cubs were trounced 7-3 on home ice by second-place Barrie Flyers Saturday.

Scotland Wins Strathcona Cup From Canada

KIRKCALDY, Scotland (Reuters) — The Canadian curling team lost the Strathcona cup to Scotland with its fifth defeat Saturday in the seven test matches.

The series was decided on aggregate shots and Scotland won by a 167-shot margin in the seven tests.

The final match at the Kirkcaldy ice rink was won 24 shots to 71, Scotland had an almost invincible edge of 110 shots going into the final as Canada had never threatened it.

At the end of a month's curling, Canadian captain Colin Campbell of Toronto had no hesitation in conceding that "the Scots are better curlers."

SENIOR GAME

The senior game, like the bantam game, was extremely close and exciting. Picton led 3-0 at the end of the first quarter and 23-21 at the half. When the third quarter was over Quinte was out in front by three points. In the final quarter Picton only scored their opponents 13-7 to win the game 53-44. The win gives Quinte seniors the Bay of Quinte championship. They have not lost a game while all their opponents have gone down at least twice. Quinte has one more league game before entering COSSA playoffs in Peterborough.

Three players on the winning team scored in the double figures. Campbell, with 16, was high. Followed by Green with 15 and McKnight 10. For the losers Matthews led with 16.

Quinte (53): McKnight, 10, McBride 3, Campbell 16, R. Marriott, Smith 8, Green 15, Waite, G. Marriott, Thompson, Gilroy.

Picton (43): Lee 9, Johnston, Taylor 2, Prouse 5, Matthews 16, Harper 3, McNaughton 8, Nicholas 1.

Bet Cost Eric Fleming New Face But Made Him Money

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Quick to take chances, Eric Fleming made two important bets in his life. He lost both, and yet he appears to have won.

The first came in wartime, when he was serving with the navy at Seattle. A buddy was trying to lift a 200-pound steel counterweight into the structure of a refrigerator system.

"I'll bet you 20 bucks I can put it up there," said Fleming.

A well-built six feet 3½, he struggled mightily and almost had the steel block in place. But a protruding nail stopped it, and the weight slipped and fell toward him.

"It was amazing how long it seemed to take to fall," Fleming remembers. "I could see that it was coming right at my face. I figured it was as good a time to die as any.

"Then it seemed to be deflecting to the side. I thought maybe if I could take the blow on the side of my head I might be able to survive."

STILL CONSCIOUS

The others looked at Fleming's smashed face and figured he was dead. He knew he wasn't—he could hear them and see them faintly. But when he realized the condition of his face, he wished his buddies had been right.

He was fortunate that a plastic surgeon was visiting the base. The doctor offered to try some new techniques in putting the young sailor's face back together. Fleming decided he had nothing to lose.

After four operations and 31 stitches, he ended up with the face that TV fans see on the Rawhide series, in which he plays trail boss Gil Favor. It is ruggedly handsome, and Fleming says it's much different from the face he had before.

"I was an ugly kid," he recalls. "I was always conscious of the fact, and I resented people who were good-looking. I had bad teeth and always wearing braces to correct them. I had a large nose with a hook on it.

TEETH, HAIR, NOSE TOO.

"My teeth were so chipped up I had to have them capped later. My hair had to be shaved in front to sew up my scalp, and the hair grew back straight up instead of flat. My nose was entirely different. At first it was straight and perfect. Then I slept on it and it came out bent. I'm just as glad now. There's not much call for actors with perfect profiles these days."

The other bet? That came when he was picking up a date at a drama class. She was doing a scene with an actor who failed to impress Fleming.

"I'll bet $100 I could do a better job than that," he bragged. The actress called his bluff and gave him a week's time to study the scene.

"I lost the $100," he admitted, "but it was the best thing that happened to me. I got hooked on the acting business. It's been mighty good to me since."

SET RECORD BUT LOSE

TORONTO (CP) — Despite a Canadian 100-yard free style record by McGill's Dick Pound, University of Toronto Blues defeated McGill University 53-42 in an intercollegiate cash basin swim meet Saturday. Pound churned out the 100-yard free style in 51.1 seconds, three-tenths of a second better than the old mark.

On the Track

NEW YORK (AP)—C.V. Whitney's Silver Spoon Saturday survived an inquiry and won the $37,900 Santa Margarita Handicap, traditional filly and mare championship at Santa Anita Race Track in Arcadia, Calif.

Results were held up for several minutes after jockey Milo Valenzuela aboard the second place Indian Maid complained that Silver Spoon had cut him off.

Silver Spoon ($3.80) became the first distaff star in the history of Santa Anita to win under an impost of 130 pounds. Narve was third.

In Miami, On-And-On ($6.60) by the McLennan Handicap at Hialeah, beating fast - closing Bald Eagle for the $46,365 winning purse. Tudor Era was third.

In Spite of Bendix, Overland Trail Just Another Western

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — William Bendix is all dressed up in a dirty ten-gallon hat and is shooting pistols at the Indians these days. But don't let it fool you! It's still the old Riley underneath the cow-country getup.

NBC's new entry in its 7 p.m. spot made its bow Sunday and, in spite of Bendix, promises to be just another horse opera.

The first episode certainly dropped some fancy wild-west names: Col> Younger was the villain; Belle Starr was his companion in crime. Next week, Bill will vanquish the James boys.

Overland Trail, apparently, will be a two-man operation—Bendix, as superintendent of a stage line, and Douglas McClure as the young handsome slap driver.

It probably will be a successful series—it's got everything the other successful westerns have, plus Bendix.

Tony Webster had something to say about loneliness and alcohol in Call Me Back, which Art Carney did a few weeks ago. He was the author of a comedy, After Hours, Sunday night, and apparently was in total charge of the writer's frolic.

The NBC Sunday Showcase offering was heralded as a spoof on psychiatry. It wasn't a particular witty or even funny play.

The plot is one of those mistakes-identity things. It starts as a bright young man is sent by his company to a psychiatrist. It seems he wants to quit his job after 12 years just to avoid going to the office Christmas Party.

The bright young man was played by Canadian Christopher Plummer — voice that sounds exactly like Edward Everett Horton's.

He's all right, but the psychiatrist is mixed up.

It all ends well, and psychiatry will probably survive, too. TV now could do with a play about a psychiatrist who is not all mixed up. It could be a riot, or anyway, a switch.

The Man from Interpol, NBC's new international police action series, follows a pretty familiar pattern, except that the action takes place in various European capitals where villains don't say "Fuzz," which apparently means cops now.

The Quinte Reports

News of Your Local Sea Cadet Corps

(A Member of the Belleville United Appeal)

This past Wednesday evening corps for the Sea Cadets of the "Quinte" were invited to participate in the celebration of Air Force Week with the Air Cadets of Quinte Secondary School. An "Sports Night" was arranged by their commanding officer, Sqdn. Ldr. Jack Sisson with the two Belleville corps and the Air Cadet corps from Trenton High School participating.

A three-way rifle match was held between the corps, which the host team handily took the lead position with an average score of 87.8 of 100. The Sea Cadets were second with an average of 85.5 and the Trenton corps came third. A basketball game was also played between the two Quinte's with the Air Cadets coming out at the top end of a 37-32 score.

The evening was certainly a successful effort and the thanks of those who attended are extended to Sqdn. Ldr. Sisson and the members of his corps. The Sea Cadets hope to be able to reciprocate in the not too distant future.

SPORTS PROGRAM

The members of the Picton Sea Cadet Corps have announced that they wish to join in the hockey league between the members of the "Quinte" and the "Trent". This has been arranged and Picton played the "Trent" yesterday. This coming Sunday will see the "Quinte's" team meeting that of the "Trent" for their second match.

Meanwhile the sports program continues on the Tuesday evening parades at the Armouries and it is hoped that basketball nets and backboards will be installed in the near future so that the cadets may get some practice of this game before entering any more titles.

CLASSES AND DIVISIONS

Some changes are being made in the set-up of classes and the not forceful with others. Use the kind, diplomatic approach for best results.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — You are in the mood to make some radical changes in vital affairs from sheer discontent, but this is not the propitious time. Labor diligently at what you have commenced and all works out well.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — You are erroneously thinking that you can avoid your obligations by severing your connections with partners. Instead you should hold up your end of things far more efficiently and conscientiously. Be fair and you succeed.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — You are not thinking at your lucid best today, so it would be unwise to handle important monetary affairs now. Also, do not be swayed by a self-seeking individual in any emotional matters of import. Remain steadfast, calm.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — You are again tempted to sevenseemingly unnecessary present associate, but it would mean only another beginning. Analyze instead where you are making your errors and change your attitude, tactics. Work and be very pleasant.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — It is very possible that you will want to act too dynamically today and create some unfortunate damages. Relax and then be sure not to be critical of partners but to be more co-operative and kind than usual.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — A strange temperamental quirk today could cause you to sever connections with one who is vital to your well-being. If you are not careful. Also, be sure you economize. Steer clear of undependable individuals.

If your child is born today — The highly sensitive child born today must early be taught that one must learn to part with certain individuals when one has outgrown them. There is a great career ahead for your youngster and emotional sentimentality could ruin it otherwise. This chart shows many changes from earliest youth, and ability with which your progeny handles there emergencies will denote the degree of success.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Tuesday, February 5

General tendencies: This is a day when changes, new beginnings, separations and estrangements are highlighted by the planetary positions, but it's up to you to refuse to become involved in any argumentative or accidental conditions with others. A calm, poised attitude plus the use of tact and diplomacy can change adversities to active opportunities. Keep above reproach.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Rather than getting into arguments with close ties, spend your time working out problems with them harmoniously and thereby set the pattern for greater success in the future. Be kind to learn to present a united front.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Look out for the other fellow today when out in your car or walking, or you could get hurt. Also, this is a day when you must use much diplomacy in dealing with others, whether at home or in the outside or business world.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Don't feel today that money will buy you the affection or peace of mind that you desire. This is not ethical or desirable. Change your attitude instead and live the Golden Rule so that what is rightfully yours is easily attainable.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — By being too forceful with anyone today, you succeed only in driving away from you those who are vital to your life and happiness. Spend less and money making yourself more charming instead. And don't be so overly - sensitive.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Because of your driving ambition, you feel quite at odds with the world today. Just step out and assist others and you soon get back on even keel. Later you will be able to manipulate certain deals that will prove very successful.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Instead of permitting a disloyal friend to annoy you, simply ignore him, or her actions. Be particularly careful, too, you are

WE HAVE A HOME WHERE THE OWNER IS GONE

That is — we mean — gone out of town. The family is still here and waiting for YOU to come and inspect this lovely 3-bedroom bungalow. Such is life — this family has only lived in this home for about a year — they have fixed up the basement into two lovely rooms — loved it — cared for the place in general and are now transferred somewhere else. We repeat — we have a home — it is good value at $13,300. Down payment less than $2,200.

NORTH OF BELLEVILLE — Cabination, 4 years old, attractive brick home in good repair. This proper, is found on the corner of two highways. Ideal place for a farm implement dealer. The commercial is prepared to lend money on the property. Full price $15,000.

WAS HISTORY EXPERT

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Phillip Friedman, 58, expert on Jewish history and adviser at the Nuremberg war-crimes trials, died Sunday. He was dean of the Jewish Teachers' Seminary and a lecturer in Jewish history at Columbia University, and had been educational director of the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee in the United States zone of Germany.

CONSERVATIVES

The Liberal's session on resolutions was featured by a heated debate on a proposal by Mc-Master University to hold evidence cruelty and desertion to adultery as grounds for divorce. It was badly opposed by speakers from Laval University, Queen's, Sir George Williams University, Montreal, and Assumption University, Windsor, and on a standing vote was defeated overwhelmingly.

Another resolution, approved by the federation executive, called for immediate action to increase the flow of immigrants through reassessment of the selection system.

URGE AID FOR REFUGEES

Other resolutions approved called for:

Liberal party support for a farm land purchase plan to help marginal farm land temporarily out of production until demand for farm products improves with aid to farmers affected to re-establish themselves in productive employment.

A policy of assistance for basic facilities in the Labrador area to help that area compete with southern ports.

In his address, Mr. Pearson said the increase in government spending in the date during 1959-60, and it is actually three times the figure given the Commons Thursday by Finance Minister Fleming.

WRONG COMPARISON

"The finance minister, he said, has compared the spending of the year 1959-60 with the total spending in the date during 1957-58, coming up with the figure $58,000,000 as the increase.

His comparison should have been with the estimate last spring of spending for 1959-60. On this basis the government is planning to spend $115,000,000 more this year than last year, a five-per-cent increase.

Will Open Hospital Ahead of Schedule

CHATHAM (CP) Part of the Ontario Hospital for the Retarded Children near Cedar Springs will be opened this year instead of 1961, Dr. Russell Goodale, Health Minister Dymond said during the week-end. It will accommodate 600.

Mr. Dymond said during a tour of the hospital overseeing in other hospitals and schools prompted the early opening.

Cedar Springs is 12 miles south east of here.

TRIO DIES IN MINE

Sentiment Remains Dominant Theme of Valentine Cards And Some Still Expensive

By RONA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

"You can spend from five cents to $5 for a Valentine this year to let the object of your affection know how you feel.

"You can be sentimental, humorous and if you're a gifted bent on taking advantage of Leap Year you can put a proper scare into your boy friend.

Valentine's Day, Feb. 14, which falls on Sunday this year, used to be an occasion for sending an unsigned card or note to a loved one. But during this century it has become the fashion to sign Valentines, particularly the expensive ones.

The trend toward less sentimental cards continues in English-speaking Canada as one Toronto manufacturer, the largest in the country, reports he has increased production of his off-beat studio cards by 100 per cent.

Sentiment remains the dominant theme for most cards bought by French-speaking Canadians. An example is a pink and blue affair with a satin head and a message that says: "Les heures trop brèves sont celles passées près de toi! Et quant tu me souri. C'est pour moi un paradis!" which roughly translated is: "The shortest hours are those spent near you; And when you smile at me it's heaven."

One Leap Year verse frankly states: "You may think you're pretty foxy, But you've met your match I betcha, So I'm going to tell you here and now, This year I'm going to getcha!"

While Valentine's Day is usually associated with girl-boy romances, William E. Coutts of Toronto, chairman of a card firm, says men will send three times as many Valentines to mothers as sweethearts.

"It seems a man might forget to send a card to his girl friend but he makes sure that he somehow expresses his love and thanks to his mother."

Cards for husbands and wives may poke gentle fun at each other but usually end up with a sentimental note.

Hearts, flowers, lace and cupids adorn cards for "my sweetheart" or "for someone dear." One $5 model includes a Valentine gift, a bracelet, set on a pink cushion emblazoned with the world "sweetheart" in red letters.

Many of the studio cards spurn romance. A girl can send a card which says "You're certainly a he-man" on the outside and inside, "bee-hee-hee-hee."

There are many legends about the beginning of Valentine's Day. Although there were a number of saints named Valentine, one reputedly was beheaded in Rome on Feb. 14, 270 because he secretly heard the marriage vows of Roman soldiers and their brides. The emperor had banned wartime marriages by Roman soldiers.

Howling Storm Leaves 3 Dead, 1,000 Homeless

Sheets of Rain or Snow Slammed Across Calif.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Howling winds slammed sheets of rain or snow across northern California today, killing at least three persons and forcing 1,000 others from their homes.

Another storm was reported on the way today.

The storm flooded highways, knocked over power lines, ripped trees from the ground, closed rural schools, and left up to seven feet of water in canyon lumber towns, which had been badly damaged during the 1955 California-Oregon flood that killed 49 persons.

GUARD THREE TOWNS

National guard militiamen were mobilized in three towns in the northwest corner of the state to prevent looting.

Although there was no major damage in San Francisco, brief but fierce gales occurred in various sections.

Rain in the Eel River canyon, 350 miles north of San Francisco, caused many farms to be flooded. More than 750 residents left several tiny lumber and resort communities and fled to higher ground.

Many Red Cross declared an emergency disaster area in one county. Only the tops of some buildings were visible above the torrent that flooded one town.

Eel River, which reached near flood stage, there were no imminent threats to levees.

Resume Hearing In Case Against Mine President

MONTREAL (CP) — Preliminary hearing continues today in the case of John C. Doyle, 41-year-old president of Canadian Javelin Limited, charged with conspiracy, theft and fraud involving $4,800,000.

At this stage the object of the prosecution is to submit sufficient proof before Mr. Justice Redmond Roche to warrant a trial. The defence is expected to evidence. The crown prosecutor would step in only if Mr. Doyle is committed to trial.

Robert Spackman, transfer officer for Chartered Trust Company of Montreal, testified Monday that his firm, on instructions from a former president and secretary-treasurer of Canadian Javelin, issued and transferred 1,350,000 common shares of Javelin stock in April, 1955, to the Societe de Banques Suisses (Swiss Trade) in Geneva.

He said the transfer was made on orders from J.P.E. Colette, former Canadian Javelin President, and Frank Traznik, former Canadian Javelin secretary-treasurer.

He was one of three witnesses who appeared at the opening session of Mr. Doyle's preliminary hearing. Mr. Doyle was arrested here Jan. 19 on a Montreal warrant. He, being arraigned Jan. 20 when he pleaded not guilty and was released on $100,000 personal cash bail.

Mounties Raid Dozen Homes of Toll Collectors

MONTREAL (CP)—The RCMP Monday night raided another dozen homes of bridge toll collectors in search of evidence of irregularities in collections, it was learned today.

The raids were reported from as far away as Trois-Rivieres, 93 miles northeast of Montreal. They were understood to involve homes in the Laurentians and St. Johns, Que., area.

The raiding parties were reported to have uncovered documents relating to the financial situation of the men concerned. Among the material taken, it was understood, were bank books, bank statements and property documents.

The raids involved the homes of both present and former employees of the National Harbors Board who worked on Jacques Cartier Bridge as toll collectors. The bridge is operated by the board on behalf of the Ottawa, Quebec and Montreal governments.

CLEAR BREWERIES OF CHARGE UNDER COMBINES ACT

Trial Made Canadian Legal History

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian Breweries Limited, the largest manufacturer of beer in the country, was cleared Monday of charges of operating a combine at the end of a trial that made Canadian legal history.

The case tested for the first time the federal legislation dealing with the formation and operation of a merger. Previous combines cases had dealt with restraint of trade and price fixing.

In his judgment Chief Justice J. C. McRuer asked whether the Crown had proved that a merger had enabled the company to operate substantially without competition, and to control the market so that prices and interest could not be protected in fixing prices.

The "irresistable" answer to both, he said, was "no."

TAYLOR ACQUITTED

Conviction could have resulted in a fine or up to two years in jail. The fine for the company needed by E. P. Taylor, one of Canada's most industrialists, Mr. Taylor is in England.

Prime Minister Fulton said later that he would have to see the judgment and consult counsel before deciding whether to appeal.

The indictment concerned the company's operations in Ontario, Quebec, the four western provinces and Prince Edward New Brunswick.

Mr. Justice Judson cannot be said the merger has given Canadian Breweries a monopoly or even pre-eminence or the country as a whole.

Government bodies regulated price and distribution in all provinces and there was no evidence the company influenced pricing decisions. Neither was there evidence that the public

India's Leaders Eagerly Await Nikita's Arrival

NEW DELHI (AP)—Indian officials eagerly await the arrival Thursday of Nikita Khrushchev. They ladder his coming as the answer to the only person who might induce Red China to retreat in the bitter dispute over the border between India and Tibet.

Even before the attack about the same importance to Khrushchev's four-day visit is being given to President Eisenhower's visit last December.

Eisenhower's coming was regarded by many as a veiled warning to Red China against using force to seize 50,000 square miles of border territory claimed by both India and Communist China. The American president did not bring such a message to listeners when he told Parliament that the United States is ready to come to the aid of its friends in the event of aggression.

Khrushchev is viewed more as an "honest broker — one who might use his prestige and position to persuade Red China to cease its claims.

Indian Leaders

Indian leaders have been encouraged by Khrushchev's recent visit to Britain. Times in a recent editorial, reflecting what many officials are saying privately,

The newspaper pointed out that India has established its position in scores of notes and letters over the last five years—that the disputed territory is India's legally and historically.

Council at Larder Lake Declines To Name Dogs' Enemy Police Chief

LARDER LAKE (CP) — The council of this Northern Ontario community failed Monday night to confirm the appointment of its police chief, Bernard Winstanley, the man who made newspaper headlines a week ago when he said "Dogs are on the way out."

Mr. Winstanley had been provisional police chief for the last six months and expected his appointment to be confirmed by the meeting. But the council gave him a second six-month probationary appointment.

Council members refused to give the chief reasons for their decision but said they would cite their reasons tonight at a closed meeting of the police committee.

Then when the chief pressed for reasons, council members refused, approved an adjournment motion and walked out on him.

On Saturday Reeve W. D. Smith said council had ruled Winstanley must make no further statements without prior approval of both council and the police committee.

The row began after the chief said a reporter, following investigation of the biting of a four-year-old girl, that there were too many stray dogs and that "it's becoming a question of do we keep our children or our dogs."

Father of Two Shot; Question Party Hostess

OAKVILLE (CP)—Ernest Bessette, 37, visiting with his wife and children at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cassion here, was shot to death today with a rifle bullet from a revolver.

Bessette, a resident of the Toronto suburb of North York, was shot in the heart. His family and the Cassion crew from their location earlier Monday evening following the Cassions' weekend visit in the Bessette home.

Mrs. Cassion, about 20, was questioned by police.

Police said the families were sitting around in the living room of the expensive ranch-style bungalow near this town midway between Toronto and Hamilton when Bessette left the room. A few minutes later he was fired.

Mayor Merle Dickson, an insurance inspector, ran next door and called police. The Cassions have two sons.

Details of events immediately preceding the slaying were not revealed.

Bessette's father lives in Edmonton.

Britain Plunged Into Heated Controversy Over Decision

LONDON (CP) — Britain plunged into heated controversy today over the Queen's decision to link her husband's name with that of her own for future generations of the Royal Family.

Within a few days of expecting her third child, the 33-year-old monarch decreed that her descendants not in direct line for the throne will be known as Mountbatten-Windsors.

In this way she coupled Prince Philip's surname to that of Britain's royal house of Windsor, which will live when she becomes a mother for the third time."

At the palace, a spokesman on Monday said the Queen's decision was "very close to her heart."

"The Queen gets her wish," says a huge headline in today's Daily Mirror, Britain's largest circulation newspaper.

But the Labor paper Daily Herald reports that in "certain court circles" the change is regarded as a move to please Philip and his uncle, Earl Mountbatten.

Berlin Agreement May Take Long Time Says Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Christian Herter said today that the agreement on Berlin reached in Paris last year may take a few months ago about avoiding a new showdown with Russia over Berlin.

But the American foreign minister disagreed that the Soviet Premier will confront the Western powers with a demand that they settle the dispute in the summit conference in Paris in May.

Herter, in forecasting the need for further negotiations, and perhaps a second summit conference to settle the dispute.

Herter's views of the critical Berlin dispute emerged from his news conference at which he said:

1. Discussed the possibility that Khrushchev may be building a voucher, even a basic foreign policy on Russia's growing power in nuclear rockets.

2. Conceded that Soviet achievements in space have made a greater impression on world opinion than those of the United States, increasing Soviet prestige as a scientific and military power.

Herter was reminded at the conference that last November he had told NATO allies that there had come a long way on the Berlin issue since November, 1958. At that time Khrushchev had threatened to squeeze the Western powers out of the city unless West Berlin was made a "free city" in six months.

Herter was asked whether he felt that recent statements by the Soviet premier on the Berlin issue meant that his position had become "tougher" since his September 19 talks with President Eisenhower at Camp David.

Herter answered that he thinks that is the only way one can interpret the statements that have been made since that time."

Herter declined to discuss the details of any missile gap. He said "it is possible that the Soviets don't have the military strength from a military point of view . . . has given more weight to Khrushchev in what they are saying in the international field.

Asked whether he felt that he was talking about a Soviet concept of defence superiority or ability to attack the U.S.

His carefully guarded language also suggested a view held by many diplomatic authorities here that the Soviet power grows in relation to that of the U.S., Khrushchev may be expected to become more and more insistent on what he wants from others.

Trapping Developing Toward Million Dollar Industry

NORTH BAY (CP)—Trapping, one of the oldest trades in Canada, is developing toward a big money-spinner industry in this transportation centre 250 miles north of Toronto.

Spokesmen for the Ontario Trappers Association convention were told Monday that field trips made through the northern areas by association officials are being reflected in a steady increase in the number of pelts shipped here for sale.

Mayor Merle Dickson, who addressed the convention, said:

"Trappers are modest fellows but the yearly income figures for but we in North Bay estimate that for sales this season will bring about $500,000. We won't be long before that figure is doubled."

FUR SALE GROWING

This season a large fur sale novice headquarters was opened here, making the city the hub of the industry with trappers from the province shipping here. Under the old system, trappers sent furs to small, regional auctions.

The first auction, last December, brought $73,000. Last month with an experienced fur-grader in attendance, the figure jumped by $10,000. "And there will be much more a year," North Dickerson said.

"This will go beyond $1,000,000 and the trappers learn that they get the best prices at auction," Mayor Dickson told convention delegates.

Ralph Bice of Kearney, association president, said the North Bay sale "eventually will be one of the biggest fur auctions in the country."

TWO TOUR PROVINCE

Lorne Clark of Barrie, who works in a nursery and runs a trapline in his spare time, toured Eastern Ontario this winter speaking to trappers' organizations and persuading the men to bring their animals in with their pelts to auction here.

Tom Belmore, Ojibway trapper from Upsala and second vice-president of the association, also toured Eastern Ontario.

"I found most of the trappers in favor of shipping and willing and eager to ship to the fur sales here."

Delegates approved a plan to choose a North Bay girl as Miss Trapper to appear later this year and to send her to Toronto in 1961 to compete in the sports men's show for the Miss Outdoors title.

Mayor Dickerson said plans are under way to promote the fur bat as a symbol of North Bay on the same scale that the white cowboy headgear has become the symbol of Texas.

Drinking Party Ends in Death; 3 Persons Held

GRAVENHURST — (CP) Police are holding three persons in connection with the death of Ronald Jones, 38, who died today of ruptured wounds in the liver in the hospital.

Jones, father of six children, died while being taken by ambulance to hospital in Toronto.

The shooting occurred at a home in Kilworthy, a village five miles south of this town, during a drinking party. Gravenhurst provincial police said the group had started drinking in the house early Saturday night.

Police said Jones had gone to the basement to get some

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE FOUND DEAD IN RIVER

Police Do Not Suspect Foul Play

CALGARY (CP)—The body of Mr. Justice W. Gordon Egbert, a member of the trial division of the Supreme Court of Alberta for ten years, was found in the Elbow River Monday.

He had been missing since about midnight Sunday when a cab driver dropped him near his home in south Calgary, a few blocks from where his body was found.

Police said they do not suspect foul play. No inquest has been ordered.

His body was discovered shortly after noon by the cab driver. He had joined in the search after Mr. Justice Egbert's family reported to the cab company that he had failed to come home.

Mr. Justice Egbert, who would have celebrated his 68th birthday Thursday, was appointed to the bench after a distinguished career as a member of a Calgary law firm.

ONTARIO NATIVE

Born in Milverton, Ont., he was the son of William Egbert, a lawyer and lieutenant-governor of Alberta. He was educated in Toronto, Ottawa, Toronto, Osgoode Hall and the University of Alberta.

He was called to the Alberta bar in 1916, became a partner in the firm of Smith, Egbert and Smith in 1920 and was appointed a Queen's counsel in 1930.

Premier E. C. Manning, who is Alberta attorney-general, said Mr. Justice Egbert's death was "a great loss to the province and its bar."

Mr. Justice Egbert is survived by his wife, the former Kathleen McKelvie, a son Wilfrid, a Calgary lawyer, and a daughter, Mrs. John Peter Swann of Calgary.

Football Star May Have Had 'Puff or Two'

TORONTO (CP) — A country court jury was told Monday that Toronto football star Jesse Mans, charged with illegal possession of marijuana, had smoked a "puff or two" of marijuana the day he was arrested.

Mans, 21, a six-foot half-back with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Rugby Union, has been charged jointly with Jack Kane, 25, of Brampton. They pleaded not guilty.

Geraldine Chipman, 22, said in a Crown witness in the trial of the two men, said that she first encountered Mr. D'Arcy Mann and Kane were at a party at the men's apartment in Centaur Street apartment when it was raided by police Aug. 11.

Asked what she smoked, Miss Juana, she said "I know that it was not that (pot)."

"But what of the others?" asked Crown Attorney Ben Dymond.

"They may have had a puff or two," Miss Chipman finally admitted. "I don't know if they did at the time and was not sure, but I thought they did."

Kane and Kane were at a party at the men's apartment in Centaur Street apartment when it was raided by police Aug. 11.

UNUSUAL PROGRAM TO BE PRESENTED

Clifford Templer, musical director of BCI, Wednesday night will demonstrate to the Home and School Association how music is taught at the school.

"It will be an unusual program because Mr. Templer will use individuals, small groups and complete bands in the demonstrations", home and school vice-president Arthur Wynn said today.

"We hope the public will come because it will be a very unusual and informative program. Members of the BCIVS school band and the Belleville Musical Association Band will participate".

TWO YOUTHS GIVEN SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Walter Arthur Richards and Raymond Gaffney, both Belleville youths were each given two-year suspended sentences in magistrate's court today after pleading guilty Monday to two charges of car theft.

They were also ordered to make $647 restitution for damage done to cars stolen in Belleville Christmas night.

WEAVERS' GUILD MEMBERS MEET

The February meeting of the Belleville Weavers' Guild met at the home of Mrs. Wm. Watson, Victoria Ave., last night. There was a good attendance. Samples of weaving were exhibited by Mrs. Wm. Watson, Mrs. Goodsell and Mrs. Moult, placemats and towels. After the regular business by R. H. Bowen, in care of, the balance of the evening was spent planning the program for the year.

Delicious refreshments were then served.

Herd Skaters From Arena As Roof Groans

MARMORA — Skaters at the Dr. Hamilton Crowhead Memorial Arena at Marmora were hurriedly herded off the ice Wednesday afternoon as the overhead girders commenced to groan and crack with the weight of snow on the roof.

Fearing that the snow might cause collapse of the roof, workers climbed on the roof and shovelled off the heavy moisture-laden snow which was said to measure at least four feet in places.

Workers shovelled Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday to clear the roof of snow.

REMEDY FOR LEAKS DUE TO ICE FORMING ON EAVES
A new type shingle has been manufactured known as Low-Slope, which is a 235 lb. heavy asphalt shingle. This shingle is completely cemented down to itself thus forming a water-tight roof. By installing these shingles at the eaves of your roof for a distance of 4 or 5 feet, it prevents leaking into the house due to ice formation at the eaves. Quinte Roofing Limited, 95 College Street West are applicators for these special shingles. Phone WO 8-5715 for further information.

Rotarians Urged To Back Winter Work Campaign

Belleville Rotarians were urged to actively support the local N.E.S. effort's "winter employment Campaign" and to encourage others to do so wherever possible.

Cecil Hilmer, manager of the local National Employment Service office, suggested in an address to the club Monday at the weekly dinner meeting at the Quinte Quinte, that if Rotarians had no suitable projects of their own, they encourage others planning such projects to "do it now" rather than wait until spring.

He stressed the slogan "when you work you help to avoid unemployment benefits", and said the campaign has been successful on the number of unemployed each winter since still higher.

He quickly noted the number of unplaced applicants as of January 29 was 2,164 as against 1,509 to 2,764, from 2,514 in January, of last year. This represents 10 per cent increase over the previous year.

Mr. Hilmer described the National Employment Service as a "community service", and said it save employers time and money by "screening" applicants for vacant positions.

"It is still up to you whether you talk to police officers or politicians or not", he stressed.

He described briefly the work of the local N.E.S. office, he said it is "branching out in the community", and that recently all the counter have increased from 25,000 in 1959.

LACK TRAINED WORKERS

He explained one of the biggest problems today is getting people trained to fill vacancies. "There are about 491 vacancies which we can't fill locally" he said.

He explained that, to remedy this situation, the N.E.S. is working with the provincial governments, is providing apprenticeship and vocational training for unemployed workers.

"We have also currently receiving benefits and taking vocational training," he disclosed.

Mr. Hilmer's address was supplemented by a film entitled "It's A Good Job" which dealt with the importance of a winter work campaign.

The speaker was introduced by Lord Crawford, supervisor of the local employment branch office of the N.E.S. and a guest of the club, and thanked by Ald. Ben Corke.

The meeting was the chairmanship of president Phil Hurst.

Art Hill, a guest and former member of the club, received the flower for this week.

Special Council Meeting Called For Wednesday

A special meeting of city council has been called for Wednesday afternoon by Mayor A. C. Haig to discuss the city's continuing bus transportation problem. The meeting has been called for 2:30 p.m.

The city bus problem has become increasingly acute with the announcement by bus operator Fred Rawson that he would discontinue his service on March 31st.

The Belleville city council now has to face is whether the city should go into the bus business or try to find some other solution to provide bus transportation.

RIOT BY 3,000

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Police opened fire Monday after tear gas and baton charges failed to break up a mob of 3,000 rioting farmers near Bolgaum in Mysore State. They favor merger with Bombay state. Five farmers were wounded by gunfire. Fifty-six police and seventeen others were injured—mostly by stones flung by the mob.

PRIME MINISTER WAITS — Timothy Cooke, 10, and his friends in two grade five classes at Ottawa's Fairfield school were 15 minutes late for an appointment with the Prime Minister. The meeting was arranged some weeks ago when Timothy had written to the Prime Minister to say he would like to know about the duties of the Prime Minister and to visit the parliament buildings (CP Wirephoto).

Democrats Pay Closer Heed To Generals Than to Ike

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Democratic party, which dominates Congress in this presidential election year, apparently plans to pay closer heed to the generals than to President Eisenhower in its efforts to arrange the deployment of United States defences.

Sources on both sides of the political fence anticipate that more funds will be voted to keep part of the Strategic Air Command's bombers in the air on a round-the-clock basis.

Those favoring such a plan argue that, under such a system, it would be impossible for an enemy to knock out the United States' retaliatory power with one massive missile attack.

The Democrats are also sympathetic to pushing development of the projected 2,000-mile-an-hour B-70 bomber, which the president has almost dropped.

All this comes at a time when Eisenhower has cried out against listening to generals with "parochial" views and has stated that he knows more about defence than probably anyone else in the country.

The government wants to provide the Strategic Air Command with roughly $20,000,000 a year for two years for the purchase of more ports to prepare for an alert if one is ever ordered.

General Thomas S. Power, the SAC'S commander, says this isn't enough. He told a congressional committee that the Polaris missile threat is too great.

Congressional sources indicate that instead of $20,000,000 a year for two ports, Power may get $300,000,000 or $400,000,000.

But even if Congress does try to push Eisenhower's views—and cut into his projected budget surplus of $1,283,000,000 — the president could have the last word.

Congress may vote funds but the president doesn't necessarily have to spend them. The bureau of the budget can freeze certain expenditures—as it has done in the past.

Hit-Run Crash Led to Arrests On Fraud Charges

How a hit and run accident at Trenton last January 15th led to an investigation that landed six young Trenton men in jail on charges involving the passing of bogus cheques was told yesterday in magistrate's court here.

Each of the six, who got under sentence of two years in the reformatory following a guilty plea to charges of passing bad cheques, breaking and entering and theft at Ottawa, also pleaded guilty to the hit 'and run charge and was remanded for sentence.

Lecroix and Barbara Parsons were sentenced yesterday to reformatory terms following guilty pleas to the cheque charges, while four other members of the party, Marcel Berthiaume, Arthur Thomas Hill, Patrick O'Hearn and Marina "Bunny" Belanger, yesterday stood trial on charges of conspiracy to obtain money by false pretences.

CASE ADJOURNED

Last night after a day-long court session which saw no less than 20 police witnesses called to the stand, Magistrate Will adjourned the proceedings until Wednesday night for judgment.

The hit and run accident at Trenton resulted when Lecroix went through a stop sign without stopping and was struck by another car, touched off the investigation which ended the series of cheque passing in Ottawa, Kingston, Belleville and Trenton.

The license number of the fleeing car was obtained and the trail led police to a Trenton district motel where four of the six member party were arrested. Among other articles a cheque writing machine and typewriter were found in one of the motel rooms. Both were found to have been stolen at Ottawa.

Tijo other members of the party were arrested at the motel, a hotel where, in a brief case in the hotel room, rubber stamps bearing the names of business firms and another stamp made up as a cheque certification stamp were found.

Constable Grant Kerr of the Ontario Provincial Police at Belleville headed up the investigation which saw six members of the party charged with passing bogus cheques and the four others charged with conspiracy in the cheque passing. Yesterday police officers from Kingston, Belleville and Trenton, as well as civilian witnesses testified against the foursome.

At the conclusion of Crown testimony last night Magistrate Wills denied a motion by Defence Counsel Ben Hurley, asking for dismissal of Hill and O'Hearn.

Wills Thivierage was the only one of the four charged with conspiracy to testify in her own behalf. She declared under oath knowledge of the cheque passing and said she and Barbara Parsons had joined the boys outside of Ottawa when they had been picked up while hitch hiking their way to Toronto.

Evidence given at the hearing showed that the party had used assumed names on transportation. One had been rented at Kingston and another vehicle at Belleville.

Concert Group Plans Campaign For Members

The Belleville Community Concert Association executive and workers met at the YMCA Friday evening to make plans for the spring membership campaign. The president, Miss Leona Riggs, presided at the meeting and announced that the following committee chairmen have been appointed by the executive: reception, Miss Elizabeth Bleckcourt presentations, Mrs. J. H. Forrester; ushers, Mr. S. Wigginton; dinner, Mrs. Ralph Salman and publicity, Mrs. E. S. Fairman.

Miss Riggs introduced Mrs. Marjorie Kegler, field representative of Community Concerts of New York, who addressed the meeting and outlined routines for the workers during campaign week. Following her suggestion it was decided to offer the last concert of the 1959-60 program, Rudies Symphonietta, as a bonus concert for new members for 1960-61. Mrs. Kegler also discussed the importance of publicity in the press and on the radio. Plans were made to issue kits to the workers ten days before the dinner meeting so that contacts could be made with prospective members.

Prince Philip Acts for Queen At Investiture

LONDON (Reuters) — Prince Philip today held an Investiture at Buckingham Palace on behalf of the Queen, who is awaiting the birth of her third child.

He presented 131 men and women with the insignia of their awards announced in the Queen's New Year's honors list.

The investiture in the white and gold state ballroom of the palace was the first of Prince Philip's public engagements of the year.

It was also the first of six investitures which he and Queen Elizabeth will attend before the end of the year.

At the investiture he wore the uniform of an admiral of the fleet as he received the accolade of 43 new knights.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market began to edge ahead amid light, dull morning trading today.

The 11 a.m. volume totalled 438,000 shares, lighter than the 591,000 shares turned over at the same time Monday.

Mines were quiet but most issues scored minor gains. Falconbridge was ahead ⅜ at 20 and International Nickel gained ¼ at 100⅝. Denison mines was mixed. Consolidated Denison rose ⅛ at 10⅝, algom lost ⅛ at 13¾.

On Monday the stock market tumbled lower.

Index losses: Industrials 2.59 at 508.31; golds .04 at 88.05; base metals .38 at 105.78; and western oils .41 at 98.15.

The volume of 2,065,000 shares was lighter than Friday's 2,222,000.

Canadian Tire took a seven-point loss at 118 at International Paper and Ogilvie Flour each went down 2¾ at 106 and 43½. Ottawa Transport Com. lost 83 and General Dynamics fell 1⅛ at 41. Dominion Glass declined 1½ at 85½ and Minnesota and Ontario Paper decreased 1⅛ at 22. Bathurst was off 1⅞ at 46⅝.

Falconbridge lost ⅛ at 20¾. Consolidated Denison was off ⅛ at 10⅝, and Algom and Gunnar 35 tons was being loaded this morning ready for transport to the job site. Three of the huge beams are already poured and forms for others are now being set up.

The beams are the largest poured at the local plant and possibly the largest ever poured in this part of Ontario. The I-beams are five feet six inches in height, and are three feet wide at the top and two feet wide at the bottom. The contrast in centre portion of the beam is only seven inches wide.

The first beams are hoisted from their beds by gantry cranes over to the highway-type trailer. On the job at Ottawa they will be swung into place by two mobile cranes.

Huge Concrete Girders Going To Ottawa Job

Concrete girders manufactured at the Wilson Concrete Products Ltd. at Belleville are going into the construction of a new Ottawa Transport Commission building in the Capital City, with some of the largest beams ever poured in Eastern Ontario ready for shipment.

The first of 12 huge I-beam post tension girders measuring 105 feet in length and weighing 35 tons was being loaded this morning ready for transport to the job site. Three of the huge beams are already poured and forms for others are now being set up.

The beams are the largest poured at the local plant and possibly the largest ever poured in this part of Ontario. The I-beams are five feet six inches in height, and are three feet wide at the top and two feet wide at the bottom. The contrast in centre portion of the beam is only seven inches wide.

Finch Declares He Had Affairs With 2 Women

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. R. Bernard Finch admitted at his murder trial that he confessed to Carole Tregoff was not the first member of the staff with whom he had illicit relations.

Before he became romantically involved with the red-haired receptionist, the doctor said, he had affairs with two female staff employees, starting in 1953. He and Miss Tregoff are on trial for the murder of his wife, Ruth.

Under cross-examination, Finch testified Monday that the first two affairs occurred before he and his wife, Barbara, reached an agreement he says permitted him to date other women freely.

Finch, 42, and Miss Tregoff, 29, are accused both of conspiracy and murder in the gunshot death of the 36-year-old Mrs. Finch last July 18 outside the expensive Finch home in suburban West Covina. The doctor says he shot her accidentally.

The two women Finch said he had relations with before Miss Tregoff were identified in court only as Mrs. X and Mrs. Y. He said both worked at his clinic.

Curling Notes

The Quinte Curling Club will be the centre of attraction from Wednesday till the end of the week, when the annual men's bonspiel will be held. Already the entry list is full, the draw has been made, and the rinks are now await a few lucky breaks that will put them into the prize lists.

Ben Corke, chairman of the Bonspiel committee of the club, and his able assistants, have left their completed draw and should be bigger and better than last year.

This year the entry list was cut to 48 rinks, sixteen of which will curl on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The winners of these days will come back on Saturday to compete for the four trophies with the accompanying prizes. The draw for the three games on any given day will be in the primary on Saturday. The loser of his first game and winner of the next game will go into another competition while the losers of the first two games and winners of their third will drop into another contest. This will go on every team that enters at least three games.

The first draw on each day will be at 8.30 a.m. and curling will continue throughout the day.

Entries have been received from the Quinte Club, the Trenton and RCAF clubs, Picton, Napanee, Kingston, Gananoque, Bicroft, Bancroft and other eastern points. Ice is in excellent condition due to hard work of Steve Flintoft and his lieutenant, Ew Ness, along with the committee. The women will have snacks and full course meals during the spiel and everyone is looking forward to four fine days at their favorite pastime.

The boys who are travelling to the bonspiel around the district report coming home with plenty of loot. Two rinks, D. and H. Burkholder, Bill Gaudet and Ernie Wilkinson as skip and Everett Fairman, Harold Mott, Don Stanton with Frank Creegan as skip journeyed to Bancroft over the weekend and the Creegan rink was successful in winning the third consolation prize of the spiel. The Wilkinson rink won their first two games on Friday but went down

Problem of Retarded Child Most Devastating of Age

TRENTON — Dr. Roger Billings, director of the provincial health clinic in Kingston, was the guest speaker at last night's February meeting of the Trenton and District Association for Retarded Children, at Bridge Street School.

Dr. Billings was introduced by Mrs. "Bobbie" Reid, vice-president of the association, in the absence of president the Trenton group on their enthusiasm. He said that organizations all across the country were doing a tremendous job in aiding the handicapped child. Dr. Billings said that in the histories of these organizations, after each had developed and reached a certain stage, it had its peculiar field in which they were interested followed suit. He said that these organizations kept the public informed, thus keeping pressure on social welfare systems, government and in medical circles. Once the organization broke over and started the ball rolling, everything in connection with the problem followed in its wake, and real progress was made.

Dr. Billings said that the problem of the retarded child was the most devastating of the most devastating problem of any age. "There is no area of medicine," the speaker said, "that is more confusing and in which less progress has been made than that of retardation and its causes."

The speaker gave one reason for this lack of progress as the fact that at one time the cause was thought to be mental disease, a problem, which seemed to be unsolvable. People with a retarded child were embarrassed and tended to "hide the child away" and be reluctant to seek medical help. This made the situation worse.

The attitude had changed in the past 15 to 20 years, and much research had been made in education and in the field of medical research," Dr. Billings said.

"Mental retardation," the speaker said, "is an irreversible, pathological condition, existing from an early age and characterized by general emotional and social immaturity, which is responsive to training and methods of education, training and treatment."

HEREDITY PLAYS PART

As to the known causes, Dr. Billings said that hereditary factors played a part in a certain degree, and other causes were birth injury, injury after another during pregnancy, difficulties at birth, brain damage and infections.

He said that the retarded child had the same emotional requirement and emotional needs as the normal child, and warned against a parent developing a defeatist attitude in their children as this would cause a detrimental effect.

He said that often children would assume characteristics of retardation as a "defence" mechanism to cover their soft spots, roundings, and that sometimes emotional illness was mistaken for retardation.

"For this reason," said the speaker, "it is that the degree of retardation were prolonged and the child's emotional maladjustment in frame of mind of the child at the time of testing was taken into consideration. Also such information as family history, the child's place in the family, the mother's health before birth, the child's birth history and birth and the history of his illness. He said that it was only after a complete medical check of the child before the test.

Dr. Billings was thanked for his address by Barry Neller, publicity chairman of the Trenton Association, who remarked that he was constantly astonished at the ability of the interest persons like Dr. Billings provided on these special children.

In their first game on Saturday which eliminated them.

A rink of Hazen Shairs, Ken Pinder, Charles Bonter and Charlie Cox as skip were in Gananoque on Saturday and failed to make the prize money. Skip Ivor Fox, Grant Miller, Dick Murray with Jack McArthur playing lead won their first game and won their first game but could not stand the pressure and were eliminated in the second, accidentally curling was a second-ary consideration on the trip, because Mr. McArthur took the boys over to the ABC Farms and the Armstrong Brothers and they were bug-eyed looking at the pigs, the hackneys, the ponies and rows upon rows of equipment used in the contracting business. This trip to Brampton is only a visiting trip any anytime, and once taken will never be forgotten. Mr. McArthur makes an excellent host as he once was manager in that district and knows almost every-body everyone by his first name.

Ask Classroom For Instruction Of Retarded

TRENTON — The Trenton Board of Education met in the board room at North Trenton public school last night.

Members of the board were told to warn residents of the area that young people, soliciting as students of Trenton high school, were making the rounds of the town selling magazine subscriptions, leading people to believe the school was sponsoring these sales. This is not the case, the school is not sponsoring such a program.

A letter had been received from Mrs. Ray Hall, chairman at chairman of the Trenton and District Association for Retarded Children, asking for classroom space for the special class which would be starting shortly. The class is held at present in a basement classroom donated by St. Peter's school, but this will be inadequate by next fall as the class is growing. Mrs. Elizabeth Bedford and George Hall were instructed to look into the matter and report at the next board meeting.

TO DISCUSS TAXATION

It was announced that on February 16, L. M. Johnston, High School District Inspector, and Inspector Ziegler will meet with the board to discuss high school expansion in the county.

Mrs. Bedford, chairman of the property and equipment committee, will tape a five-minute broadcast outlining the duties of her committee, and this will be broadcast over radio station CJBQ on February 20th.

Board members F. J. Asts, Mrs. E. Bedford, Basil Brooks, Dr. T. A. McNally and Paul Tripp voted to allow $250 to each delegate attending the trustees' convention at Biggin Lake this year. Members Robert Barlow, Frank Filion and Glenn Greer voiced against the motion. The members were in favor of the allowance thought that the board members could receive no remuneration or travelling expenses, this sum could very well be allowed.

CONVERT CAFETERIA

Paul Tripp, chairman of maintenance, recommended that a "paint-up" program be carried out at the high school and that the cafeteria would be changed over to a lounge.

Mr. J. DeLong, principal at the high school, was interviewed the board that members of the Opportunity Class at the school (Archer, Miss Laura Harrison) had made bean bags for the other children in the school to use in their games.

The annual nurses' report and January report were read by Mrs. J. Wilson. Special mention was made of the work done by service clubs in town for the money unable to pay for medical care.

A report, listing expenses for the month of January at Trenton High school as $24,660.18 and Trenton public school expenses as $34,915.05, was given to the members by the finance committee and adopted by the members.

W. Thompson, chairman of the air force public school board, attended the meeting.

Inquest Unable To Identify Driver of Car

OTTAWA (CP) — A coroner's jury found careless driving the cause of an auto accident that took four lives when a car hit a hydro pole here April 11. But the inquest Monday night was unable to identify the driver.

Richard Lavergne, 29, Charles McCarthy, 24, his brother Bernard McCarthy, 26, and Ronald McCann, 24, were fatally injured. Evidence was there was no way of determining who was driving the auto. The victims were removed to hospital before police were able to identify them and there were no survivors.

75 Pigs, 2 Horses Are Destroyed In Barn Fire

PICTON (Special) — A large rambling cattle loafing barn, together with 75 pigs, two horses and 3,000 bales of hay, the property of Harry Abramsky, were destroyed by fire late Monday afternoon.

The barns were on the Abramsky farm, which is locally known an Chuckery Hill about three miles southeast of Picton.

Walter Lewis, a farm hand living in a nearby house, spotted the blaze shortly before six o'clock and, running to the barn, herded a large number of valuable beef cattle to safety. The animals were not tied, but were able to run loose in the loafing barn. Mr. Lewis also managed to save truck from the barn.

The blaze was a spectacular one and the flames lighting up the night sky were seen for miles in the Picton area. The Bloomfield fire department answered the alarm but could do nothing to save the structure. The house tenanted by Mr. Lewis was not endangered.

The farm manager William van-Soien had left at four o'clock with a load of beef cattle bound for Toronto. Mr. Abramsky was on a business trip to Montreal at the time.

Embargo Lifted Against Import Of U.S. Hogs

OTTAWA — The Canadian hog market, barred for eight years to the American corn-belt product, was thrown open again Monday to United States exports of live hogs and fresh pork cuts and fresh pork products. Agriculture Minister Harkness announced today that the import ban imposed in 1952 because of the virus disease, vesicular exanthema, is lifted forthwith. Officials said it will depend on the trade and Canadian Construction Company in Belleville.

He will be assisted in his duties by Arie Hoornweeg, who has been in the market since 1954 as Aldersey's departure in November.

Mr. Murray is married and has three children, Jill, 25, who is married, Deborah, 23, and Linda, 19 years old yesterday and John who will be 8 in May. Jill will continue in her position as secretary and Deborah and John will accompany Mrs. Murray to Trenton as soon as living quarters for the family can be found. Mr. Murray explained that they would have to be by March 1st, as he has sold his home in Pte. Clair, and the new owners will want occupancy by that date.

Mr. Murray said that a number of people in Pte. Claire had assured him that he would find the area the surrounding area pleasant and scenic.

Nursing Care Will Be Based On Patient Need

TORONTO (CP) — Chairman C. J. Apolion of the Toronto's Queensway General Hospital says they have a new deal for patients setting them out on the basis of seriousness of their illness rather than by diseases.

He told reporters Monday night Queensway will be the first hospital in Canada to offer nursing care based on patient need in which patients are grouped requiring intensive care, intermediate care, self-care, long-term and convalescent.

The plan would enable the hospital to concentrate its nursing staff in intensive-care wards and might save patients from paying the private-duty nurses.

Mr. Appleton said he would recommend adoption of the proposal to a hospital board meeting Feb. 18. The plan now is used in about 125 United States hospitals, he said.

Town Engineer Arrives to Assume Duties

TRENTON — Mr. Walter Murray, city engineer at Pte. Claire, Quebec, for the past five years, arrived in Trenton yesterday morning to officially assume his new duties as municipal engineer. Mr. Murray was engaged as engineer by town council early in January. Council members considered that his qualifications for the position, left open, when E. C. Aldersey resigned to become city engineer at Pte. Claire were superior to those of any other applicant.

Canadian born, who is 54 years of age, is British by birth. He came to Canada in 1947 and became a Canadian citizen in 1952.

He is a graduate of Edinburgh University and has a degree in Civil Engineering degrees.

About ten years ago, Mr. Murray was employed by the firm of Gore and Storrie in connection with the Toronto Harbour Construction Company in Belleville.

Three Charged With Murder

LONDON (Reuters) — Two men and a woman were charged Monday night with the murder of night club owner Selwyn Cooney, 34, shot to death early Sunday morning.

The John Reed, 28; Joseph Pyle, 27, and Doreen Masters, 24, were all in police court today.

Police said they are anxious to "interview" another man who might be armed.

Cooney, owner of a club in the Soho area, was slain during a visit to a drinking club in Stepney, East London. One-time professional boxer, William Ambrose was shot in the stomach as he went to help Cooney.

May Ask France To Join Talks On A-Test Ban

GENEVA (AP) — A Western source at the nuclear test ban talks said Monday that France may be invited to join the negotiations after it explodes-an atomic bomb in the Sahara Desert.

The source said the problems arising from a French atomic explosion have not yet come up at the conference with Russian delegates but they have been discussed by the U.S. and British delegations.

France says it is not interested in any agreement to ban only in an agreement to ban the production and use of atom bombs. Western diplomats fear her France indicated any desire to participate in the Asian talks.

Western delegation sources here say they do not believe the Soviet Union would use the French tests as a pretext to resume testing in atomic bombs.

The Russians have said they have no intention to resume testing.

Of Boots, Bomarcs and H-Bombs

We do not know how good a soldier General Maxwell D. Taylor, chief of staff of the U.S. Army from 1955 to 1959 is, but he has certainly been prevaricator of successful author—an eye for an attention-catching title.

Whether "The Uncertain Trumpet" is as interesting a book as its title may depend largely on the already established prejudices of its readers, for it deals with defence policies and these days it is almost impossible to discover any question of defence which has not already been prejudged by the majority of people.

For instance, we find it impossible to get excited over General Taylor's warning that the Bomarc missile system is "too late." We are sure that the Bomarc is a highly acceptable substitute for the Avro Arrow, regardless of whether or not a single Bomarc ever makes a successful flight. Our acceptance of the Bomarc is solely on faith. It is impossible for us to be more ineffective than the Arrow as a defence against ballistic missiles and it has the great advantage of being cheaper. That a brace of water pistols would be equally effective, and at the same time cost far less, we do not deny. Undoubtedly they would never be used to keep up the pretense that there is some defence against the H-bomb and, for the present, it seems that it is imperative that we keep up this pretense on the pain of incurring the grievous displeasure of our great neighbor to the south. The price for the Bomarc, a hundred and twenty-five million, is not excessive. It is going to pay for avoiding this calamity and, since there is no good reason to believe that it could be spent on anything useful and still keep Uncle Sam happy, we might as well spend it on Bomarcs as anything else.

General Taylor, of course, does not share this view. While he is no Bomarc lover, he thinks that defence money can be usefully spent—among other things on conventional as distinguished from nuclear arms.

General Taylor is among the growing number of military figures in the Western world who have at last become distrustful of the theory of "massive retaliation" first advanced by the late John Foster Dulles.

A short history of this theory might read somewhat like this:—"Massive retaliation"—the policy of depending on U.S. superiority in nuclear weapons, first advocated as the only method by which the Western powers could offset Russia's great advantage in manpower. Popularity has dwindled since the Russians followed up development of their own H-bomb with impressive demonstrations of the power of their rockets, indicating they could drop bombs on any target in the world without giving defensive forces any chance to destroy the bombs in flight. Only authority known to be firm believer in theory of "massive retaliation" is Nikita Khrushchev, chairman of the Council of Ministers of the U.S.S.R., but his rumored desire to demobilize conventional Russian forces and rely solely on H-bombs and rockets has been blocked by Russian general staff members, who dislike prospect of such a policy creating widespread technological unemployment in their profession.

Too Little or Too Much

It is a wise man who does not try the impossible. And, by the same token, it is a brave man who attempts it. Prime Minister Macmillan has now taken his stand in the ranks of the brave. Just how unwise this decision was, time will tell, but the penalty for trying to please everyone often is to displease everybody.

Speaking in Capetown, South Africa, Mr. Macmillan had the courage to refer to the differences between Britain's non-racial policy and the apartheid policies followed by the South African Government.

But this courage is unequally yoked with an attempt to soften the contrast. It was possible that Britain might make difficulties for South Africa—but she would regret it. Britain would not flinch from doing her duty—but South Africa will do her duty too, as she sees it. All very fancy fencing with a dangerous and complicated situation—but Mr. Macmillan ended by mentioning the problem in the first place if the Prime Minister was not prepared to come down solidly on one side of the fence or the other? His reference to differences in principles will hardly win any new friends among the blue believers in apartheid—and if the Prime-Minister believes that opponents of that policy are going to be placated by these careful words he is assuredly in for a rude surprise when he gets back home in the House and faces his Liberal and Labor critics.

STRENGTH for the FRY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

COST TOO GREAT

The newspaper this morning is full of headlines and pictures telling about a man and woman who murdered her lover.

Is such a thing possible? Did anyone ever murder for love? It would seem, would it not, that that appears to be murder for love is murder for the selfish determination to have one's way. If a husband or wife needs to be liberated, then there are people in the world so lacking in character that they would not hesitate to murder.

Could anyone, even though his conscience or hers is weak by all of headlines and pictures natures, ever get to the place where happiness could be purchased at the cost of such evil? There are some people who after they have had no rebuke of conscience. But these people are usually keenly aware of the unsatisfaction of the thing for which they have striven so hard. The love for which they violated all honor and morality turns out to be like withered leaves and stagnant water.

Let us never feel that we can purchase happiness by doing evil.

Strictly Personal

Our Society Lacks A Moral Sense

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"How can we deal on equal terms with those Chinese?" asked a man at a dinner. "Human life is cheap there. What do a million people more or less mean to them?"

This may have been true in the whole Orient of the past: it is not true now that they own bombs. But, ominously enough, it is becoming truer in the Western world — and especially in the United States.

The human life valuable here? I fail to see the evidence. We have more homicides than any other country in the world. Our automobile fatality rate alone indicates the carelessness in which we hold human life. And our incidence of suicide is enormous, in which death is always possible, is greater than all of Europe combined.

More depressing than these facts is the atmosphere in which young people are growing up. What upsets me about the film and TV diet of modern children is the anaesthetic effect it has upon them to the idea of shock.

Violence, cruelty, hate and destruction have become the order of the day. Human suffering is ignored; death is an incident, not a disaster; mass-murders have become a cardinal virtue, and mercy is a sucker's word.

The attitude of many parents in our society have little sense of moral outrage left in them. The great sin is getting caught. Troublous may lament their stupidity, but rarely their viciousness.

A few years ago, a joint study was made of delinquents in Great Britain and in the United States. The difference, at least used to admit he was a thief; now he engages in defensive double-talk — or just happened to get caught," or "Everybody's crooked in one way or another."

Human life was cheap in China because the population so vastly exceeded the food supply. But human life is held cheap here for no such compelling reason. There is more than enough for everybody — but it is lacking in soul space or food supply, but a basic respect for our fellow creatures' right to exist.

Fred Stone, well - known Belleville violinist, who died last May won a gold wrist watch in a radio competition, will be heard on a broadcast over CFRB on Sunday beginning at 12.30 o'clock p.m. in the semi-finals of the same series.

The Belleville Ladies' Basketball team under the direction of coach Harold Cousins and captain Marion McLean, held a practice last night at the local YMCA in preparation for their scheduled E.O.L.B.A. game with the Cobourg ladies in the western town next Tuesday evening.

It was really the greatest thrill of my lifetime; why, I am still so nervous I hardly know what to say," admitted Mrs. Fred Jarrell of Grier Street, after winning $100 and a gold watch as the result of giving the correct answer in the $64 question on the radio program over radio station CFRB, Toronto, last night.

The choir of Holloway St. United Church was entertained on Tuesday evening by the choir leader, Mr. S. M. Anglin, and organist, Mr. William Connor, at the home of Mrs. S. P. Hagarman, on West Bridge Street. Mr. Connor played a piano solo and accompanied Miss M. Clarke of Stratford in her vocal solo. The evening was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. H. J. Sheridan spent the weekend in Montreal the guest of her sister, Mrs. D. D. Turcotte.

Spotproof Neckties

Chicago Tribune

One enterprising manufacturer has developed a means of making neckties spotproof. His chemically treated neckties, it reports, are invulnerable to such things as mud, coffee, milk and salad dressing, which will simply "stand up" and can be wiped off without leaving a stain.

Assuming that this company's neckties are attractive enough and that a few extra spots won't improve them, they will have much in demand by habitual dribblers, people who talk with their mouths full, people who sit next to other people who talk with their arms, boasters and those who don't want their bill of fare read to them, newsies of their departing guests.

All we need now is a way to make a small boy wear a neck-tie, and we will then have the everything knowledge that at least part of him is spotless.

Improvement Is Hand Choke

Windsor Star

Modern motor cars are no barrier in many ways to those of a few decades ago there is no comparison between automobiles. The "improvements" have occasionally resulted.

One improvement is the automatic choke, eliminating the old hand gadget one frequently had to use. But we now note an advertisement for a hand device which "converts trouble-some automatic chokes to hand operation."

Many owners of late model cars have been annoyed at their tendency to stall in certain types of weather. This, in this area at least, isn't due to "gas line freezing." It seems to occur most frequently on a muggy, dampish day. This could be avoided with a hand choke of the old style.

It is more than annoying. It is devastating when attempting to find the motor stalling at most every stop. That probably is the reason there is a market for the hand gadget.

Letter To The Editor

R. A. Pringle Replies In Part to Editorial

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

Your excellent editorial of Saturday last entitled "The Bus Problem — A Few Questions" certainly deserves an answer and my clients have adopted the unusual course of allowing their solicitor to communicate with the press. They however they would like to emphasize that their object is not to force Mr. Rawson to continue with an unprofitable contract (this is strictly the business of the 1960 council), but to make sure if a subsidy is to be paid to a private company, they, as ratepayers, will have an opportunity to vote thereon. That Mayor Haig and the 1960 council owe them a debt of gratitude is self-evident for the obligation they undertook on behalf of the city to pay Mr. Rawson $1,000 a month was quite illegal, and Mr. Rawson has, apparently, induced them to withdraw rather than have them pay this subsidy from their own pockets. It is also now learned by the members of the 1960 council that they have been after assuming office should prove invaluable to them in their editor of a financial task in order to the city's affairs which have deteriorated steadily since 1956.

Now, to answer your questions as far as I am able:

(a) When did Mr. Pringle first learn the bus franchise was for a year to run? — Since 1951 when I, in co-operation with Mr. Rawson, drafted a resolution for the city for a ten-year period from the 31st of December, 1951. — Mr. Rawson was always retained in my office as an original was given to Mr. Rawson and a duplicate was kept at the City Hall available to anyone who wished it. The agreement was also published in the 1951 Consolidated Statutes.

(b) Did the council of 1959 know the expiry date? — If they did, not from the wording of the contract was so drafted as to cover a ten-year period of ten years from the 31st of December, 1951, and need not to ask as to the expiry date?

Mr. Rawson states that the 1959 council by a majority vote refused to make their contract with him. In fairness to Mayor Hyde and Alderman Elliott, chairman of the Special Bus Committee, all negotiations with Mr. Rawson appeared to have as their object the continuance of the franchise for many years and the finding of a new franchisee. Mr. Rawson was complaining only that the service was suffering and I advised Alderman Elliott that I would see him in order to call for tenders as I believed the two cities. But at that, we were doing the city a big favour was to give relief to Mr. Rawson and the finding of an alternative operator. Mr. Rawson, as a matter of fact broken Mr. Rawson's contract and was responsible, but if the 1960 Council asks Mr. Rawson to compel him to honor his contract under the agreement, in my opinion the calling for tenders for the bus line is the only way to stop operation of the bus service. So far as I know, this was the decision arrived at by Alderman Forrester and Alderman Elliott after meeting the Corporation in early November of 1959.

As to the names of my clients I cannot, by my advice, divulge as not allow me to tell you, but if it is necessary to have a writ to restrain any illegal action of the 1960 Council, the Writ will not be issued in the name of Section of the Chamber of Commerce but in the names of Alderman Sidney Solmes, Alderman Forrester and Alderman Elliott, members of

Ontario Energy Board Debated In Legislature

TORONTO (CP) — Both the consumer and distributor must be protected in any formula to establish a base rate policy for the sale of natural gas, Energy Resources Minister Macauley told the Legislature Monday.

In explaining the act which would set up an Ontario Energy Board, Mr. Macauley said the best rate policy might be found in a sliding formula based on the philosophy of original cost less depreciation, or a formula based on a fair rate of return on shareholders' equity. Ontario since 1919 rates have been based on original costs, less depreciation, he said.

The government, Mr. Macauley said, will continue to think of a fair rate of return on investment as seven per cent. In setting a base rate, he added, it is necessary to keep in mind that natural gas should sell at a rate low enough for the consumer and high enough so that gas companies can attract the needed capital for expansion. Natural gas is now one of Ontario's most precious resources with a total of 20,000,000,000 cubic feet used in 1959, nearly double that used the previous year, Mr. Macauley said. The act, which will disband the Ontario Fuel Board if passed was not given second reading. It is to be debated further in the legislature, then forwarded to the new standing committee on energy for study.

During debate, CCF leader Donald C. Macdonald said that the government is permitting the Ontario consumer to be "fleeced". He quoted figures in a recent government submission to the National Energy Board which he said showed the Ontario consumer is paying $7.34 to Consumers' Gas Company for 3,000 cubic feet of gas, while a subsidiary of the same firm is asking permission to export gas to the United States to sell for $4.71 for 3,000 cubic feet.

Mr. Macdonald also claimed that the Fuel Board has permitted the Union Gas Company to charge rates in the Windsor area established when the firm had to manufacture gas. The company now is using Canadian gas, he said, but is still charging the old rate. "Union has been charging some 25 cents for each 1,000 cubic feet of gas in excess of what it rates should be if the seven percent margin of profit had been enforced by the government," Mr. Macdonald said.

Labelling Mr. Macauley's statements "absolutely untrue," Mr. Macauley said the matter would be discussed in the Legislature at a later date. The act also was criticized by Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer for giving power to the proposed Energy Board to regulate prices without first "spelling out" the over-all policies of the board. The proposed five-member board should have an accountant, a geologist and an engineer as members, Mr. Wintermeyer said.

The board's members are: A. R. Crozier, chairman; J. J. Wingfelder, L. R. MacTavish, D. M. Treadgold and Dr. E. A. Allcott, all present members of the fuel board. Before the bill is approved serious consideration should be given to the matter of appeals in cases of licence cancellations, Mr. Wintermeyer said.

One important phase of the bill, Mr. Macauley said, is the creation of an energy returns office, whose purpose will be to collect all pertinent facts on behalf of applicants and defendants who come before the board for a hearing.

The board's functions are to include the granting and extending of franchises to municipalities, hearing of applications, hearing expropriation applications and fixing rates for various areas in Ontario.

The Energy Board is to assume most of the functions of the fuel board and in some instances will have enlarged powers.

The Legislature begins night sittings tonight. Premier Frost said Monday that it is likely night sittings would be held Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Youth Confesses To His Crime Before Hanging

PARRY SOUND (CP)—The execution of Marvin McKee, 20, early today was "quiet, efficient and quick," Sheriff Gerald Elliott of Bracebridge reported afterwards.

McKee, convicted of the murder of Huntsville taxi - driver Steve Spiers, 52, dropped through the trapdoor of the gallows at 12:07 a.m. He was pronounced dead 11 minutes later by jail surgeon Dr. A. J. L. Wright.

Reports from the jail said McKee went to his death quietly and confessed to his crime shortly before he died.

When told on Monday that the federal cabinet would not commute his sentence, McKee wired his sister to the Eye Bank of Canada and asked to be buried in the jail yard as a reminder and deterrent to other boys who choose to live carelessly.

Jail officials said both McKee's wishes would be carried out.

Rev. Gordon McElhose of the Pentecostal Church, who stayed with the youth during his last hours, said McKee took the news calmly when told the cabinet would not interfere with the execution.

The minister said the youth had made the request to be buried in the prison yard "with frankness and sincerity." He said McKee had told him he had no unkind thoughts or feelings against anybody.

Mr. McElhose said he gave communion to the youth Monday morning and McKee had embraced the Christian faith.

McKee was the first person under 21 to be executed in Canada since 1947 and the eighth person to be hanged since the Progressive Conservative government came to power in August 1957. Since then the government has commuted to life imprisonment 32 other death sentences.

McKee was convicted of the murder Nov. 7 at Bracebridge. Spiers' body and that of his partner, 29-year-old Francis Gregory, were found in a gravel pit near Huntsville 11 days after the men had disappeared. Both men had been shot through the head.

He was charged jointly with Wayne Sluman, 17, who later pleaded guilty to manslaughter and was sentenced to 15 years in Kingston penitentiary.

McKee's appeal of his murder conviction to the Ontario Supreme Court was unanimously dismissed. His subsequent application for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada was also dismissed.

CLEAR BREWERIES

interest was not being met. The quality of the beer improved following mergers.

Collateral agreements signed by breweries were solely a code of ethics for the trade, said Mr. Justice McKeon.

ONLY RESULT IMPORTANT

The motive for one corporation acquiring another was not important. The only thing that was to the detriment of the public. There was no evidence that the merger detrimentally affected the public interest.

Supplies were better than when there were a lot of small breweries. Canadian Breweries competed nationally with Molson's and Labatt's breweries and in several provinces with smaller concerns.

"As long as there is a strong, virile competition . . . I do not think the merger operates against the public interest."

Acquisition by Canadian Breweries or other plants did not mean a diminishing market, nor did it achieve control of the market.

The judge said "the evil constituting the offence must be shown from the merger and not from collateral acts subject to other legislation." The onus was on the Crown to prove guilt.

The 38-day trial is believed to be one of the costliest in Canadian legal history.

SAYS LABOR ATTACKED

BRANTFORD (CP) — George Burt of Windsor, Canadian director of the United Auto Workers (CLC), said Monday that Canadian labor is under attack by the Communists, chambers of commerce, management and the press. Mr. Burt told the UAW education conference that the Communist party wanted to indoctrinate union leaders, and the press wanted "to discredit the leaders of the trade unions in Canada."

25 Credit Unions In District Hold Meet in City

Four new directors for the Quinte and District Credit Union Chapter were named at their recent annual meeting at the Club Canara in Belleville when 25 credit unions in the area were represented. The area takes in from Brighton to Kingston and from Picton to Tweed.

New directors named are Jim Bennett of Civic Employees Credit Union, Kingston, for one year; Mrs. W. O'Neill, of St. Peter's Parish Credit Union at Trenton; Fred Preston, of C.P.R. employees at Trenton and Al Griffin, Aluminum Employees, Kingston for three years.

The Norlecto and CNR (Belleville) Credit Unions were co-hosts for the meeting presided over by Chapter President Oscar Wagar.

Kenneth Weatherley, Ottawa provincial director serving all the area east of Toronto, was the guest speaker and told of the work of the Chapter. Mr. Weatherley is director of the Ottawa Chapter, and member of the Chapter Extension Committee of the Ontario League. Mr. George Currie, field staff member for the local area, introduced the speaker.

Highlight of the evening was the crowning of Miss Marilyn Shook of Kingston as "Miss Quinte Chapter" to represent the Quinte chapter in the beauty queen contest to be held during the annual convention in Toronto.

The meeting decided that Ross Edmunds of Kingston would be nominated by the Quinte Chapter at the annual meeting in Toronto for one of the six positions on the League Board of Directors. Russell is treasurer for the Dominion Civil Servants Credit Union at Kingston, and works at the penitentiary.

Mountbatten — formerly Battenberg—family.

The name Mountbatten, changed by Philip's grandfather during the First World War from Battenberg, appears to be dying out, and it is believed that some of those bearing the name are anxious to preserve it.

The Greek-born Philip had no surname when he took British citizenship in 1947. He adopted the name Mountbatten from his mother, Princess Andrew, great granddaughter of Queen Victoria.

JOINED "WILLY-NILLY"

The Daily Mirror protests that "only 15 years after the Second World War against Germany, the British nation are abruptly informed that the name of Mountbatten is to be joined willy-nilly with the name of Windsor".

"Nothing can ever erase from the record certain deeds and events perpetrated in Europe within our memory."

The name was adopted by her grandfather, George V, in 1917 during the war with Germany. Previously the family had been known as the house of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, or popularly as the House of Hanover or Brunswick.

There always has been some controversy over what the Royal Family's surname had been before 1917. Although Wettin is the most commonly accepted, the names of Guelph and D'Este also have been suggested.

Experts have said that to be sure of the position of succession it is necessary to go back in time before surnames were commonly used.

Female descendants were excluded from the 1917 proclamation. But some authorities have held since that it was the intention of George V that the royal house would continue to be known as that of Windsor, irrespective of whether the sovereign was a king or queen.

The Queen confirmed after her accession in 1952 that all her children would bear the name Windsor, though she was married to a Mountbatten.

HURT AT TRACK

TORONTO (CP)—The Supreme Court of Ontario Monday awarded four-year-old Lynda Lee Disney of nearby Pickering $14,500 as settlement of her claim for injuries inflicted by a starting gate at a 1958 trotting race sponsored by Uxbridge Kinsmen Club. Her father, Lawrence V. Disney, was awarded $1,306 for medical expenses. She was struck by a startlint gate fastened to the rear of a car.

Belleville District Darts League Opens

Murrays handed the Skyliners one of their few defeats of the season to date in the Belleville District Darts League last night, 8-5 loss, but Skyliners remain at the top of the loop standing with 122 points.

G-Men closed the gap a little in second place by downing Legion 7-4. In other games Houstons won 7-4 over McEvoys, RCAF shaded LaPalms 6-5, while Carters took a 6-5 win over Parsons.

Skyliners' 122 points gives them a 14-point lead over G-Men with 108, while Murrays hold third place with 98. McEvoys are in the fourth spot with 91, followed by RCAF 86, Houstons 80, Carters and Legion 76, ANAF 72, LaPalms 71 and Parsons 61. ANAF had a bye in last night's play.

Talk Out Motion For Loan Aid to Small Business

OTTAWA (CP) — Reallocation of bank credit has been suggested by Progressive Conservative members as one of the best ways to help small businessmen and up to get credit.

The suggestions came as the Commons Monday debated a resolution recalling for government action to help the small businessman out of a financial strait jacket.

Walter Dinsdale, (L—Burin-Burgeo) moved the resolution calling for urgent government consideration of making loans available for small businessmen. He said no specific procedure was proposed. The resolution, after it comes to a vote, is open to the end of the list of 50 private members' resolutions. It has little chance of coming up again this session.

Fergus Reid, a new (PC-Vancouver Kingsway) quoted Prime Minister Diefenbaker as saying last December that the banks should recognize lending policies that give the smaller borrowers more. "I believe this statement from him has had some influence on the allocation of credit by the banks," Mr. Reid moved said. The banks should go further. A Bank of Canada statistical summary for October, 1959, showed of $4,457,000,000 the banks had available for loans, but little chance of coming up again this session.

"I think there is something to which the banks should direct themselves and I think that was the intent of Prime Minister when he spoke to the banks," Mr. Browne said.

Gordon Aiken (PC-Parry Sound-Muskoka) said it was high time the government took to be in the money-lending business. "There is a public duty that should be left to private institutions. The government should get out of it as quickly as absolutely necessary."

Hubert Bandard (L-Fort William) asked that the government members either take a vote without recard to party link.

Stanley Martin (CCF-Timmins) said the only path open for small borrowers was to go to the finance companies and pay "usury rates. He also called for action.

Argyll IODE Names New 1960 Officers

The annual meeting of the Argyll Chapter, I.O.D.E., took place on the evening of February 3rd, in the Community Hall, regent, Mrs. Duffy presided. Monthly reports were read and business was transacted.

Following is a brief resume of the year's work: Co-operation with the St. Julien Chapter, all Citizenship Courts, at the court house, were attended, after which the "New Canadians" were entertained at the officers' mess.

Another joint project is the placing of IODE calendars in all local schools. The chapter's scholarship award, at Cookstown, presented with handicraft equipment and Christmas treat given each pupil.

The annual scholarship was awarded to a pupil from the Quinte Secondary School and Collegiate Institute, Bursaries to assist with other scholarships which are competed for by Veterans' children were also given.

Books were sent to troops in Germany and magazines to Frontier College, and a parcel placed on the cenotaph on Remembrance Day; members of the chapter attended the Provincial local blood clinics; over 300 articles of clothing and knitted goods were sent to headquarters for distribution in Canada and abroad. A sewing day for the Children's Aid Society; local welfare was assisted at Christmas when several hampers were sent and distributed to the needy, shut-ins and aids were also remembered.

MONTHLY SUPPLEMENTS

Monetary projects consisted of catering for the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment Mess, tary functions, dessert bridge, mixed bridge and tag day.

Thanks are extended to all citizens who contributed in any way to this work.

From the above report it will be observed that the chapter has had a successful year with all members actively active.

The 1960 slate of officers is as follows:

Honorary Regent, Mrs. P. H. Wills; honorary vice-regent, Mrs. J. Perrit; regent, Mrs. A. Duffy; first vice-regent, Mrs. M. Smith; second vice-regent, Mrs. H. Campbell; standard bearer, Mrs. C. This organization is a member of the United Appeal.

Mrs. W. Gray, Jr. Heads Women's P.C. Association

Mrs. Wesley Gray, Jr., was elected president of the local Women's Progressive Conservative Association last night at the annual meeting held in the Kiwanis Centre.

Mrs. Gray succeeds Mrs. Dorothy Tugnett who retired from the position of president after today. Mrs. Tugnett, now immediate past president, holds the record of 10 years' service with the organization.

Other officers elected during the meeting, which was under the chairmanship of Mrs. Tugnett, were; 1st vice - president, Mrs. Ken Putman; 2nd vice - president, Mrs. Arthur Chapman; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. T. Orr; rec. secretary, Mrs. Jim George Kingston; secretary, Mrs. Henry Hall; and treasurer, Mrs. Ada Young.

Honorary officers are: Mrs. J. W. Kinsey, Mrs. W. E. Sandercock, Mrs. George Stokes, Mrs. R. D. Arnott, Mrs. W. E. Sandercock, Mrs. H. Rollins, Mrs. D. W. Adams, Mrs. Charlotte Clarke, Mrs. Lee Grills, Mrs. Ethel Hyde, and Mrs. Cormier.

Mrs. William Tice was re-elected membership convener; and Mrs. Audrey Muir was re-elected card convener; Pianist is Mrs. Maude Rollins.

Ward chair ladies were re-elected to office as follows: Foster Ward, Mrs. J. McKenna; Samson Ward, Mrs. J. Chapman; Murney Ward, Mrs. Harry Yorke; Ketchenon Ward, Mrs. K. M. Putman; Baldwin Ward, Mrs. J. Niblock; Bleecker Ward, Mrs. G. Little; and Coleman Ward, Mrs. A. Jordan.

Prior to the election various annual reports were given. The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Tice, the membership report by Mrs. Tice, the card committee report read by Mrs. Tugnett in the absence of the card convener, and the yearly report by Mrs. Hall.

The retiring president, Mrs. Tugnett, thanked her officers, chair ladies, and members, for their assistance and support during the terms of office.

She said she hoped the membership which now stands at 177 would be increased this year, and suggested members in the annexed areas be brought into the local association.

Mrs. Hyde read a letter of appreciation to Mrs. Tugnett for her years of service to the organization, and presented her with a lovely gift on behalf of the members.

Mrs. Tugnett, replied, stating her work with the organization was "a labor of love."

"We helped put the Conservative party in power in Ottawa, mons," she said, and added she and a Belleville resident, Mr. Lee Grills, in the House of Commons, hoped to have Mrs. Grills re-elected a third time.

The new president, Mrs. Gray, in a brief address, stressed that with the co-operation and advice of her officers and members, she would carry on the work of the immediate past president.

In noting the intensified organization of the Libural party, she said: "We are going to have to organize, and keep at it.

In an attempt to increase the membership in the association, she urged each member to bring in new members.

Greetings were received from Mrs. Curry, president of the South Hastings Association.

Impression of the Soviet Union Told to Large W.C.C. Meeting

The members and friends of the Women's Canadian Club enjoyed a rare birthday of seeing behind the "Iron Curtain" last evening at St. Michael's Academy hall, when Dr. N. Nicholson by word and picture, unfolded to a spellbound audience his impressions of the Soviet Union.

Dr. Nicholson has just recently returned from Russia where he represented Canada at a scientific conference. He was present with seven other geographers, from other countries, and he gave a short talk on the work of the geographers' commission on the National Atlas in their endeavor to improve its quality in research.

RESEARCH PACE ASTOUNDING

The geographical research in Russian Moscow comprises 14 departments, with 300 geographers and 1,000 students. The students taking the subject, which is carried on in the Academy of Science. One of the departments is known as the Science of Information. It is devoted to the research of the world communist movement, including studying away with many books which the Russians destroy, and the work to be speeded up. In looking through this comprehensive collection, he came across a review of one of his books, which was published in Russia. Dr. Nicholson was astounded at the pace of research being done in the Russian schools, and the thoroughness with which it is done.

His impressions of the Russian people were that they "men in the street" was much like those of the West, they were human; they laugh, go to shows, and are a friendly people. They are lovers of the beautiful, flowers grow along the wide, wide streets in boulevard arrangements and beautiful flowing fountains are seen most frequently.

THE CAPITAL

The slides shown were all most colorful, and could vie with many others in clarity and appeal and included the Red Square in Moscow; the tombs of Lenin and Stalin; department stores, fantastic in their elaborate architecture having glass roofs giving a sense of the outdoors; the tall clock tower on the Kremlin wall and St. Sophia Cathedral resembling a mosque.

Many public buildings are open to the public. In one of these the Crown jewels of the Czars were housed, as well as the gifts to the Russian Royal family, two from the British Royal family, of silver and gold dinnerware.

SCENIC FUL BUILDINGS

Other beautiful buildings included the Cathedral of "The Assumption" and the "Cathedral of the Assumption" and the Kremlin, the most unique state structure built in 1938.

As mentioned, the streets are very wide thus doing away with traffic problems which gave headaches to western cities. When Russia builds, she lays out the dimension four-square, noting how far it will extend in all directions.

In the Ukrainian division lovely ornate fountains sent down their shimmering veils; the taxi stands were most orderly; modern buses and street cars were also seen as well as samples of machinery

IODE Marks 60th Birthday

TORONTO (CP) — The IODE marks its 60th birthday Saturday with the emphasis on education and welfare.

Emerging from a reputation as flag-waving organization the 984 Canadian chapters of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire still promote loyalty to "king and country" but their million-dollar budget goes for education and welfare.

The IODE was conceived during the Boer War by Mrs. Clark Murray of Montreal as a token of encouragement and devotion to Queen Victoria.

The 32,000 present members still mark the 60th anniversary at the local level. Many groups plan special Sunday church services. At Montreal, national President Mrs. A. K. Richardson of Toronto will speak at a founders' day luncheon. The head table guests will include Mrs. Leslie Shelton of Montreal, daughter of IODE founder Mrs. Murray.

Mrs. Robert Tanner, and thanked by Mr. Robert Tanner, to which Mrs. Tanner also added her appreciation, and extended thanks to Mrs. J. D. Demers for her fine assistance in the work of the club, and to Mr. Tanner for his help in the P.A. system, the lighting, and operation of the projector.

Christ Church ABWA Holds Annual Meet

The Afternoon Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary of Christ Church held its regular monthly business meeting on February 4th.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. H. Pitt, the president, assisted by Mrs. L. Watson. Mrs. Horace Wright acted as pianist.

Reports were read by Mrs. W. McLaughlin and Mrs. R. Woodcock, secretary and treasurer, respectively. Disbursements were voted to the M.S.C.C., towards the education of an Indian student, and to the Memorial Bursary in memory of Archbishop Lyons. Plans were finalized for the forthcoming tea.

In keeping with this year's Study Book on Africa, a selection of colored films were shown. These scenes of this vast country and its people were fascinating. Christian Churches are presented with a great challenge at the African field. Everywhere in Africa strong forces are competing for the minds of the people. The Church needs all interest and concern together with prayers to help with the Christian work of Church in Africa.

Mrs. F. Clare gave an informal talk on her recent trip to Pasadena, California, which was much enjoyed.

The members were treated to fresh dates as a sample of the tempting fruits California has to offer.

Mrs. Pitt expressed appreciation on behalf of the group to Mrs. Clare. Also to Mrs. Fuzzen who operated the projector for the slides and to Mrs. R. Godden, the commentator.

After the meeting closed, Mrs. Oliver served tea and refreshments.

Sports Car Rallying Good Recipe for Happy Marriage

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—Here's a 1960 revised recipe for a happy marriage: Go sports car rallying together.

"Any man driver who gets a wife who can navigate will never let her go," says Eleanor Halmi of Harrison, N.Y., who fell in love with a sports car addict, got a slide rule for an engagement present and has been rallying ever since.

Now the Halmis have four children and four sports cars, counting the quarter - midget racer driven by the two oldest offspring, eight-year-old Kevin and five-year-old Kim. The other two, Robby, 3, and Billy, 10 months, are at present campaigning for motorized tricycles. The Halmi romance has strictly modern overtones.

"Bob picked me up in his racy roadster one sunny Sunday afternoon in Forest Hills, while I was waiting for a bus," says Eleanor breezily. A few days later he took me to a rally, and found out I could read the tachometer and work a slide rule. From then on, it was duck soup."

BOB NO SLOUCH

Bob is Robert Halmi, Hungarian photographer who has competed in 15 international sports car rallies, plus countless regional ones. When he drives, his wife navigates. She combs the course, so your hero doesn't get sidetracked, she says. "There's no chance to look at the scenery. You just have to keep watching the instruments and yelling to your hero, It's great fun, really."

The Halmis are out rallying somewhere almost every weekend —spring, summer and fall. In between times they take large trips abroad, for international rallies.

"It's the only sport a man and wife can do together, without having to compete against each other," says Eleanor. "It's a wonderful way to get away alone together for a weekend. You have all the thrills of the rally, good fun with the other drivers in the evenings and then a long, lovely drive back home on Sunday afternoon. You're not in the fresh air—never mind the carbon monoxide fumes—you're keyed up and trying to win, and best of all, you're together."

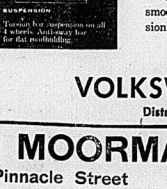
What makes Volkswagen tick?



What makes Volkswagen tick? People have been asking that for years. But there's no mystery about a Volkswagen... a functional design for comfortable, low-cost transportation. Volkswagen's rear engine eliminates the long, power-wasting driveshaft, gives traction through mud and snow. Air-cooled, no water to freeze or boil. And you get up to 40 miles per gallon.

Volkswagen's ride is constantly smooth. It has independent suspension on all wheels—by torsion bars. Balanced weight distribution empty or loaded. Anti-sway bar for flat cornering. And talk about passenger room—Volkswagen's got it. Stretch your legs, wear a hat; there's space aplenty front and back. Individual seats shaped for comfort adjust fore and aft. The angle of the seat back can also be changed. Two luggage areas. A sloped hood for better vision. Yes, Volkswagen keeps right on ticking for a long, long time. It's rugged. You might ask the Volkswagen owner on your street . . . he's a real enthusiast.

DISTRICT WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

CANNIFTON - CORBYVILLE W.M.S.

On February 4th, Mrs. Douglas Brenton, president of the Canniffon - Corbyville Woman's Missionary Society was the hostess for the monthly meeting. It was a bright cozy winter's day with road conditions greatly improved from last month, and there was a good turn-out of members and visitors.

After extending a cordial welcome to all the ladies present, Mrs. Brenton conducted the meeting. Mrs. Empson presided at the piano throughout the service.

A short business session was held. The president requested that all dues be paid as soon as possible and issued an invitation for associate members to become full members of the Society. She went on to say that the Canniffon Woman's Missionary Society had been asked to conduct the worship service in Canniffon United Church on March 4th, the World Day of Prayer. Negotiations were under way for two interesting missional lady speakers from Scotland and England to be present at this service.

PRESBYTERIAL MEETING

The Presbyterial meeting is being held in Tabernacle United Church on February 22 and 23. On the 23rd, it would be an all-day event with the meeting started at 9:30 a.m.; dinner would be served and it was requested that all members wishing to attend let the president know as soon as possible to facilitate arrangements.

Mrs. H. Brenton stated that four gathered cards had been sent and she had received two letters of appreciation, one from Mrs. Arthur Holgate, who sustained a broken wrist when she slipped on the ice while on her way to last month's meeting, and the other from Miss Cora Billings-Steele, who suffered a serious chest injury in a fall in her home last December. Pleased to report that both ladies are progressing satisfactorily, and the WMS will look forward to seeing them shortly at the meetings.

Mrs. H. Brenton also received a letter from Mrs. McCrea, wife of Canniffon's former minister, in reply to a letter of goodwill sent by the Society. In her letter, Mrs. McCrea stated that she would always remember the years spent in Canniffon as one of the bright spots of her life.

GROUP SYSTEM

The president put forth a suggestion that the group system of future meetings be adopted; that is, that a different group of ladies set up the agenda each month. No decision was reached on the subject however and the matter was laid over for further discussion at a later date.

Mrs. C. Bird drew the ladies' attention to this month's "African Bookshelf", saying that she had several good and informative books on hand.

The stewardship convener, Mrs. F. Furmidge, gave a short but thought provoking reading entitled, "Budget of Time". "We have in a budget of time 24 hours. We must live 24 hours with eternity on our lips. We suggest that you begin each day with the thought that this (now) is God's Day. The eternal 'Now' is the most precious in all history. So many minutes during the 24 hours are waiting periods, so let's make use of each waiting period, to think and pray and let's not be unchristian in use of time."

Mrs. Furmidge followed this reading with an article on "Christian Stewardship", as printed in the Missionary Monthly, January issue.

WORSHIP SERVICE

Mrs. Roy Pound took charge of the worship service, taken from the Missionary Monthly, featuring the "Lord's Prayer" as its theme. Scripture reading was taken from Luke 11:1-13.

Mrs. D. Brenton took for the study period, a chapter from the book, "Africa Disturbed", and gave an interesting account of what modern day living is doing to the Africans, some of whom are still bound to their old tribal customs, while seeking the white man's mode of industry and life in the cities and towns. The African needs Christian understanding and constructive help, whether from church, industry, education or business. There is no power greater than the power of Christian love, and its force is never spent.

After the meeting closed, a social half hour followed with a delicious lunch being served by the hostess and her helpers, Mrs. C. Bird, Mrs. G. Brenton and Mrs. Roy Pound.

ST. ANDREW'S W.A.

MARMORA — St. Andrew's United Church W.A. met for its February meeting on Tuesday evening. Mrs. G. Mellerjohn was in the chair. Devotions were in charge of Mrs. E. C. Prentice.

Mrs. J. Murphy gave the Scripture reading and Mrs. Aukland the prayer.

Mrs. W. Clare introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. A. Perkiman of Stirling, who spoke on 'Health and Happiness' which was much appreciated.

Mrs. Brown, also a guest from Stirling, gave an accordion solo. This part of the meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Mellerjohn.

A social hour was spent with a buffet luncheon being served in the ladies' parlor. About 35 members were present and three visitors.

MASSASSAGA W. A.

The February meeting of the Massassaga W. A. was held at the home of the president, Mrs. George Flower, who presided over the meeting.

There were 18 members present with one visitor and several children also in attendance.

The Leadership Education Course at Five Oaks, Paris, on March 1st, 2nd and 3rd was discussed and it is hoped that one of the members will be able to attend.

The past president, the 1st vice-president and the five group leaders, were nominated as a committee to organize the dinner dinner on February 29th for the past Masters, Masters and Warden's Association for which the W.A. is catering.

The devotional was in charge of Mrs. Roblin's group. Mrs. Roblin gave a fine talk and Mrs. Wallbridge read a poem. five delightful piano duet was played by Judith and Jane Davidson. Mrs. Neddow won the Valentine contest.

A special Valentine lunch was served by Mrs. Flower and her assistants.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Bert J. — I need my sister's help.

Wendy J. — He acted like a heel.

Bert J. — I am 17 and I've just given up going steady with a girl I went out with for nearly a year. I got bored with going out with the same girl all the time. Jill was nice, but she picked on me at times.

The week after we broke up I asked Jill's best friend, Anita, to go out with me. She turned on me and said "What do you think I am?" I tried another friend of Jill's and got the same treatment.

Then I asked my sister Wendy to get me a date and Wendy turned on me just like the others. It seems as though Jill has lined up a boycott. Was that right? My sister takes her side and won't date me any help. And I need Wendy's help if I'm ever going to get a date again.

Wendy J. — That way I heard it story. Bert is to blame and I am not going to stand up for anyone who is in the wrong. Even if he is my own brother, Bert acted like a heel.

Jill told Anita and Anita told me that after their weekly date, Bert just walked off and never said a word. He never discussed breaking off with her. He didn't say anything about a date for the following week. He just left her wondering what was wrong.

The other girls all wondered when Jill and Bert didn't show up at our school dance the following week, and when Anita told them how he had jilted Jill and asked her out they were all furious. It was no organized boycott and there's nothing I can do about it.

The Council: Organized or not, there is a boycott on and we think Bert will just have to sweat it out, knowing he brought it on himself. We agree that his sister shouldn't defend him in his wrong actions, but we don't think she should condemn him to others.

Bert should recognize that he behaved very cruelly in dropping his girl with no explanations and immediately asking her best friend out. Whether or not he admits it to himself, this action was spiteful and reveals the intention of wounding.

We suspect that Bert was more than bored with his girl friend. Boredom usually works two ways — as do most feelings. When a boy and girl get bored with one another, they tend to simply drift apart and start dating others. Bert, however, behaved like a man bent on an act of vengeance. Our guess is that Jill hurt his feelings in some way. He didn't like to admit it to her or to himself, so decided to get back at her at the first opportunity.

Bert should bear in mind that it pays to be honest about feelings. One lie leads to another and nobody becomes as confused and deceived as the liar himself. Bert should have admitted to himself that he had a beef against his girl friend. He mentions that she "picked on" him. He should have told her he didn't like it. Then she would know that she'd have to reform or find another boy friend and he would know exactly what it was he didn't like about a particular kind of girl.

Bert should now recognize that he is both too young and too old for steady dating. Youngsters in the early teens go in for steady dating as a means of learning to socialize. The custom operates like a pair of water wings for a beginner swimmer — just getting him accustomed to the water and the swimming movements. But the learner doesn't really learn to swim until he gives up the wings. In the future when Bert starts "going steady" he must consider it a preliminary step toward an engagement — so he'd recommend that he swim around freely for a few years until he feels ready to look around for a lifetime partner.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question: What does one do when a youngster, aged four, starts using slang — and worse — expressions? . . . Y o u r a mother has tried washing his mouth out with soap, sitting him in the corner and not allowing him to play with his friends. All to no avail.

Answer: It would seem to me that this is the wrong approach. Remember, grownups try a new expression once in a while! A child is bound to pick up an objectionable word here and there — be sure it isn't any of your family that slips up). Getting excited about it, and making a great to-do, is the surest way to impress an expression firmly in his mind. Why? Because he likes attention, even if it means sitting in the corner, and he also thinks it's smart. What about correcting him quietly each time he exploded? My guess is, he will forget it pretty quickly.

Economical Suppers Using Wieners With . . .

by Mary Moore

There's no space for small talk today for I'm packing this column with economical recipes using wieners.

WIENER AND NOODLE CASSEROLE:

1 medium onion, chopped (1-2 cup), 1-2 cup chopped celery, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 3 cups mixed vegetable juice (canned), 6 wieners cut in 1-4" slices, 4 ounces broad or narrow noodles, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 3-4 cup grated cheese.

Cook onion and celery in butter in frying pan about 5 minutes. Stir in all remaining ingredients except cheese. Cover tightly, cook over medium heat, stirring often, for about 20 minutes or until noodles are tender. Sprinkle cheese over top and cook just until melted. Makes 4 servings. If desired, before sprinkling with cheese, transfer to casserole, sprinkle it with cheese and broil for 2 minutes.

BARBECUED WIENERS

1 tablespoon cooking fat, 1 lb. wieners, 1 clove garlic, minced, 1-2 to 3-4 cup thin onion slices, 1 8-oz can tomato sauce, 1 cup molasses, 1 teaspoon chili powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-16 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon mutmeg, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, 1 cup raisins, halved, 1 cup uncooked white rice, 2 cups water, 1 teaspoon salt.

Melt the fat in a frying pan. Cut crosswise slits in wieners if desired and add. Cook slowly, turning occasionally. When the wieners begin to brown, add the garlic and onion. Continue to cook until the onion becomes tender. Add the tomato sauce, molasses, chili powder, salt, spices, vinegar, Worcestershire sauce and lemon slices. Cover and simmer over a low heat about 20 minutes. Add water if a thinner sauce is desired. About 30 minutes before meal-time, put the rice, water and 1 teaspoon salt in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil over a high heat. Turn the heat down low. Cover and simmer over low heat 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on until ready to serve — at least 10 minutes. To serve, place the hot rice on a hot platter. Top with wiener. Pour the sauce over the wieners and rice. Arrange the lemon slices from the sauce over top.

WIENERS AND POTATOES AU GRATIN:

1-2 pound wieners, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, 1 cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese, 1-2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon curry powder, 3 cups cooked, sliced potatoes (about 3 large potatoes).

Melt butter in saucepan. Remove from heat and slowly add flour, stirring constantly. Slowly add 1-2 cup of milk to the flour and butter mixture, stirring until smooth. Add remaining milk. Stir constantly until mixture thickens. Blend in cheese, Worcestershire sauce, salt, and curry powder. Cut wieners into 1" pieces. Combine half of the wieners and potatoes in a casserole. Pour half of the cheese sauce over this mixture. Add remaining wieners and potatoes. Top with remaining sauce. Cover. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 20 to 25 minutes.

GRAMMAR BY NUMBERS — English teacher Donald Dashwood-Jones of Vancouver, who has written a textbook that teaches grammar by numbers, gives a few pointers to student Sam Balden, 13. The book, entitled "Patterns for Writing," uses a series of symbols in conjunction with sentences so that pupils may readily identify any part of speech. Mr. Dashwood-Jones is vice-principal of Inglewood Junior High School in Vancouver. (CP Photo).

Textbook Written by Teacher Teaches English by Numbers

VANCOUVER (CP) — A textbook which teaches grammar by numbers has been written by Donald Dashwood-ones, English teachhr and vice-principal of Inglewood junior high school here.

The book, Patterns for Writing, represents three years of work and fresearch on the science of linguistics.

"The important thing is to present a method by which the pupil can readily identify any word in a sentence, such as noun, verb, adverb, preposition or conjunction," he said in an interview.

He devised a series of symbols, and by memorizing a few of these the pupil can readily compose his own sentences. In effect, he learns grammar by numbers.

Here is an example of the formula by symbols: S, 1, Z, 3, D, 1, 2, D, 1, P, 1.

Explaining the symbols: 1 is a noun or pronoun; 2 is a verb and 2L is a "linking" or copula verb; 3 is an adjective; D is a determiner (a broad class that takes in the articles, the possessive adjectives, the demonstrative adjectives, etc); P is a preposition; S is a subordinate conjunction.

After dealing with the parts of speech, the Dashwood-Jones method gives four basic sentence patterns which are to be memorized and used in sentence construction.

Several lower mainland schools have asked the provincial government for permission to use the text experimentally and Russian educators have also expressed interest.

High School Activities

By JAMIE GILL

As the cadets raised the flag before the school on Monday morning, February 1, they opened a very important week in our school year at Quinte.

To the cadets of 606 Squadron, Cadet Week presents a series of drills, lectures, competitions and, in general, a display of the achievements of the Squadron in the past school year.

Cadet Week was unofficially opened January 27 with a visit from the RCAF Training Command Band which entertained us with classical, semi-classical and popular music for a solid hour which flew by like a few minutes for their enthralled listeners.

During the next week the cadets attended a banquet, a rifle competition, played a basketball game and participated in drills. Wednesday morning during the Cadet Assembly, the student body as a whole was addressed by an Air Force Career Guidance Officer, who told us of the opportunities available for both men and women in the RCAF.

The week was brought to a close with the Parliament Prom, co-sponsored by the cadets and the Student Parliament. The formal was held on Thursday evening, February 4, in Quinte's spacious gyms beautifully decorated by Mr. Smykaluk and his crew, in a Japanese theme. The dancers whirled past Japanese manscripts, silhouettes, dragons and a dainty little garden complete with bridge, cherry tree and geisha girl.

What a wonderful way to complete a week of such varied activity.

Another 'back-breaking' week came before Cadet Week which concerned the whole school. Need I say — it was posture week. Our students stiffly walked through the halls and sat in classes with sore backs and stiff necks and the teachers relieved any student caught slumping of his ticket.

To the Posture Queen, 'Anne Calvert, and King Siegben Flindall, the Girls' Athletic Society awarded sterling silver bracelets suitably engraved, as compensation for the foregoing ordeal. Special mention also should be made of Jane Gray and Henry Tom, the runners-up. Said the judges, "It was a terribly difficult decision!"

PICTON

Woman Painfully Bitten by Cat In Her Home

PICTON — Mrs. Elwood Demille is receiving treatment for painful bites of the leg, while a cat is being kept under observation to determine if it is still immune to rabies as it was inoculated last summer.

"I was walking across the living room at my home when the pet Persian cat suddenly dashed across the room and grabbed me on the leg. I thought it was playing at first but it sank its teeth in and would not let go. I finally freed myself, but before I got out of the room, the cat approached me twice again. I grabbed a milk bottle and drove it off", Mrs. Demille stated.

Mrs. Demille stated the cat had been innoculated for both rabies and distemper last summer but that a booster dose was about due. It was taken to the office of a veterinarian where it is being kept under observation.

Mrs. Demille stated the cat had wandered away several times recently and had come home bitten and scratched.

Mrs. Demille also complained that many dogs are running at large in the Fawcettville sub-division on the eastern outskirts of the town where she resides, and on several occasions she has been attacked by vicious dogs.

Many complaints have been received by town council regarding dogs running at large. At council meeting, it was suggested that a dog catcher be secured from among those receiving relief. Councillor George Morden stated if this were done, the town would be on relief if it had to provide sufficient food for all the stray dogs.

Police do not want the job of dog catcher, which is vacant. Chief constable among them is Constable George Wright. He saw a group of dogs making a spectacle on Main street and managed to catch one of them. He put his hand through the glove. Taken to the office of Dr. Robert Clapp, the animal, without a tag, was identified and it was learned it had been inoculated for rabies. However, the constable visited a doctor to receive treatment, as a precautionary measure.

GLASS COLLECTED

Ten tons of glass were collected over the week-end by Picton Girl Guides and Brownies with the aid of several interested persons. Collection is taking place in the village of Bloomfield on Thursday, while the rural areas will be canvassed in the spring. Proceeds are being used to help finance the County's share of the District Guide camp, which is being established at Waupoos this summer. Many other money-raising projects have been planned for the same purpose. Picton Police Association is giving a helping hand by donating proceeds of their annual dance on Feb. 24 to the fund.

CONFERENCE GOES ON

LONDON (Reuters) — Private talks between Kenya's Negro and European leaders appeared Monday to have staved off a breakdown of a three-week-long conference on the future of the British East African colony. "I am more optimistic" said Michael Blundell, leader of the multi-racial New Kenya group.

Mrs. J. Hughes, of Toronto, Ontario, and her Inglis Royal Pair

If you are thinking of buying an automatic washer or dryer read why 149,354 housewives were glad to pay more for Inglis

Inglis pioneered the manufacture of the automatic washer and dryer in Canada. Their engineers will tell you that, when it comes to home laundry equipment, they are interested in one thing only. Clean laundry, all done automatically!

This is exactly what you are assured of when you buy Inglis. It is an important reason why (to date) 149,354 women were very happy to pay more to get Inglis. Here are other reasons.

First, she selects the washing cycle that best suits the load she wants to wash. (Two of these ten cycles are Wash'n Wear actions that absolutely refuse to put wrinkles into wash and wear garments. The Inglis secret? As the wash water intermittently drains away, it is immediately replaced by cold water. This allows the garments to cool while in suspension; thus restoring the wrinkle resistance of the fabric.) Having selected the correct button, Mrs. Hughes puts in her soap or detergent and switches the washer on. This is what happens. The washer fills to the proper level at the proper water temperature for the type of fabric in the machine. Then, it selects the right washing speed, the exact time needed to do the wash, the correct rinse water temperature, and the proper, safe spin-dry speed. This is all done automatically.

The Inglis Royal even has a water selector that saves water on partial loads by using just the amount of water needed for the size of the wash.

The moment Mrs. Hughes switches on her Royal, the "Sani-Sun" germicidal lamp comes on. This remarkable device helps destroy common germs while it gives the clothes a sweet, fresh air fragrance. At the same time, the built-in lint filter goes to work and works all the time the wash is on! Furthermore, the Inglis filter works just as effectively on partial loads.

Now the Inglis Suds and Water Saver. When big loads are being washed, hot sudsy water is ingeniously pumped into Mrs. Hughes' laundry tub for re-use with the next load. All she does is press the button marked "SUDS," and only the clean water is pumped back. No, the suday water doesn't cool off because the thick suds form a very effective insulation.

The Inglis Royal also has an automatic built-in rinse conditioner dispenser; Free Flow draining, in which wash and rinse water are drained away from the clothes—not through them; four automatic water temperature selections —hot, medium, warm and cold.

Her wash completed Mrs. Hughes puts it into her Inglis Royal dryer. It has no less than eight automatic cycles to fit every fabric need. She turns the dial to the number she selects from the Console Fabric Guide. She starts the dryer and automatically sets the temperature, drying time and cooling-fluffing time.

True, other dryers have somewhat similar features, so what made Mrs. Hughes—and many others—choose Inglis? For one thing, the Royal has a Moisture Minder that automatically shuts off the dryer at "dry enough." Secondly, there are no dangerous hot spots in an Inglis—the heat is tempered before it sweeps through the clothes in a scientific pattern. Thirdly, a built-in sani-lamp that drenches clothes with "sunshine freshness," without the danger of fading, and gives them a pleasing scent. It also helps sanitize the garments. Finally, the fabulous Wash'n Wear Time Cycles, which provide a 10-minute fluffing, cooling off action at room temperature . . . the only way you can dry Wash'n Wear garments in a dryer without wrinkles!

All that's left for you to do is visit your Inglis dealer. He will show you all three 1960 Inglis automatic models—the Royal, Citation, and Superb. Did you know that the lowest priced Inglis models give you more features than the highest priced models of other makes? Do see your Inglis dealer.

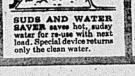
TEN WASHING CYCLES including two for Wash'n Wear, cover every fabric need.



SUDS AND WATER SAVER saves hot, sudsy water for re-use with next load. Special device returns only the clean water.

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

It seems passing strange that what Russia and Czechoslovakia failed to do in Prague last March, they succeeded in doing in capitalistic United States.

Midway through the world tournament there was a hurry-up warning of the hockey clique in rearranging the schedule. The Russians and Czechs demanded that Russia play the Canadians the second last game, and the Czechs, as host country, play the finals with the foreigners the following day.

Thanks to the then CAHA president Bob LeBel they didn't get away with it. There were enough "free world" votes to back the Canadian claim for an interim between the Iron Curtain battles.

This time, according to the schedule released following the meeting of the directors of the International Ice Hockey Federation, headed by the ebullient "Bunny" O'Hearne, the Canadians have drawn the tough end of the stick.

World tournament and Olympics' schedules apparently are drawn up under differing regulations, yet the same body, I.I.H.F. officialdom, and the final sky. We were given to understand in Prague that in world tournaments the host country has the privilege of playing in the last game of the tournament. We could be wrong, but that was the reason given for the sudden-death meeting to rearrange the schedule in Prague.

It apparently does not work in the Olympics for the favorites to enter the finals, Russia and Canada, are pitted against each other, while host United States, regardless of standing, meets Sweden on the same date.

What was actually meant in Prague was that the host country meets the team with the highest points in the standing on the last day of the tournament. This happened to be the Canadians.

The Belleville McFarlands came in for a lot of criticism, especially at home, after they lost to the Czechs 5-3 in the final game of the world tournament.

A number of the at-home arm-chair critics viewed the whole the Czechs were to win the tournament, but had bowed to the Russians simply because they had to do what the big Red bosses in Moscow said. Their opinions probably surprised a lot of the Czech Nationals had defeated the Russians twice by 2-1 scores in Moscow. They couldn't smell the excellence of the first game-attack. The McFarlands did, and took one widely-publicized victories with a grain of Czech salt.

However, it was the consensus of tournament journalists, especially those from the free countries, with-Poland thrown in, that the last-minute juggling of the schedule which pitted the Macs against the Russians before they met the Czechs had something to do with the Canadian defeat in the final game.

The element of surprise at the announcement had the reverse effect to what the Red elements expected. Hill-debrang had the Macs "up" all through the tournament but this decision, instead of tossing them off stride, only fired them with greater determination to win the title victory. They went out and handed the Russians a 2-1 defeat.

However, psychologically it may have resulted in a slight let-down for the McFarlands. Previously they had handed the Czechs a decisive 7-2 defeat, and they could have figured the final game would result in victory. However, they met an inspired Czech team before 15,000 home town fanatics and were shaded in defeat.

But no one, even that Toronto "expert," will ever convince this agent that the Czechs were a better team at that time than their counterparts from Moscow.

The Kitchener Dutchmen have drawn a tough assignment in the Olympics' round robin. They meet the United States on a Wednesday, take a day off, then take on West Germany. Then comes the big test. On Saturday, February 17, they face the Czechs and meet the Russians on Sunday.

Olympics Round-Robin Hockey Schedule Scrapped

Nations Play Pools Series Calling for Eliminations; Time Element Forces Change

By AL COLLETTE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — The organizers of the 1960 winter Olympic games at Squaw Valley, Calif., Monday forced the International Ice Hockey Federation to scrap its round-robin Olympic hockey schedule and substitute another one calling for eliminations.

A U.S. Olympic official said the organizers protested that it would be impossible to run off the 36-game schedule approved earlier by the IIHF. The organizers insisted they could handle no more than 30 games.

The IIHF quickly went back to the same system that was used during the 1956 winter games at Cortina, Italy.

THREE SESSIONS

Under the schedule drawn Monday, nine countries were divided into three pools of three teams each. The first two in each pool, after three days of round - robin play, will advance to a six-team round-robin final. The three third-place teams will meet in a consolation tournament to decide seventh, eighth and ninth places.

Canada, Sweden and the U.S. were placed in the first pool. Russia's defending Olympic champions, Finland and Germany drew the second pool and the United States, Czechoslovakia and Australia were in the third.

The six nations that scored to reach the finals are Canada, represented again in the Olympics by Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen; Russia, which defeated the Dutchmen at Cortina 2-0 to win the 1956 title; Czechoslovakia; Sweden; Germany and the United States.

POINTS DECIDE WINNER

The victor will be decided on total points. In the event of a tie, the goal averages will be used. Two points are awarded for a victory and one for a tie.

The schedule for the elimination pools:

Thursday, Feb. 18 — United States vs Czechoslovakia, Canada vs Sweden, Russia vs Dutchland.

Saturday, Feb. 20 — United States vs Australia, Sweden vs Japan, Germany vs Finland.

Walter Brown of Boston, U.S. member of the IIHF directorate, said the organizers turned down the IIHF's original schedule of 36 games. Under it each country would have played eight games in the single round-robin.

HOURS OF DISCUSSION

The IIHF, after hours of discussion, agreed on the round-robin setup late Saturday night. Some members wanted to stick to elimination play, others pressed for an equal chance for all the countries.

Brown said the new schedule was drawn up by the technical supervision of J. F. (Bunny) Ahearne of London, president of the IIHF.

Ahearne himself commented: "I thought this must have been the setup from the very beginning."

MAKING THE PASS WORK

Seventy percent of the passes made never reach the intended receiver. The chief reason is the lack of passing skill by the average player. Here are two key points to remember:

Sweep the puck smoothly toward the receiver, letting the blade of your stick follow the direction of the pass. Try not to bang or slap your passes. Practise passing to both sides.

Keep calm and relax when you pass and take a look at your target, passing at least ahead of the receiver especially if he's moving quickly. Except in making drop or fly passes, pass quickly since fast passes are harder to intercept.

Chatham Plays McFarlands Here Tonight

Chatham Maroons with an eye on second place meet the McFarlands in Belleville tonight, the game starts at eight o'clock.

The Maroons have eight games to play, including tonight's tilt, three of them with the McFarlands.

They have 49 points, and with the Windsor Bulldogs, stand a chance of demoting the second-place Kitchener Dutchmen (54 points) to perhaps fourth place in the standings.

With Sotty probably out of the line-up due to a sudden attack of the mumps, and Benoit away with the Olympics Dutchmen, the Macs needs must depend on Crawford, Marineau and Chasrewski for their defence corps.

The Windsor Bulldogs will be here Friday night, and Tommy Jamieson's crew can tie the second place Dutchmen with a victory here.

Tessier First 100-Pointer in EP League

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Orval Tessier became the first Eastern Professional Hockey League player to hit 100 points when he counted a goal and an assist as Kingston Frontenacs defeated Troois-Rivieres Lions 5-2 Monday night.

Victory put the Frontenacs into sole possession of first place with 51 points, two more than Lions and six behind Montreal Royals.

Tessier has almost two points for each of the 52 games he has played this season—45 goals and 54 assists. He is the first player of runner-up Tom McCarthy of the league - leading Sudbury Wolves.

Frontenacs outplayed the visitors in the first two periods and led 24-10 in shots on goal as well as 2-1 on the scoresheet.

Bob Dawkins got the game early in the third period, but Frontenacs made a whirlwind finish with goals from Tessier, Gord Gardiner and Barney Kraker.

Earlier Kingston goals were scored by Reg Fleming and Kraker in the first period. Lorne Hochefort scored for Lions in the second. Goalies were Claude Evans of Lions and Norm Jacques of Kingston, were outstanding.

The game was scheduled for Feb. 16, but was moved up so that date could be cleared for Kingston Frontenacs to play an exhibition game at Kingston.

Bronco Has Shot Opposition In Hawks' Murray Balfour

Kamloops Scares Dutchmen in Fifth Victory

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, tuning up for the Olympic Games, demonstrated a swooping attack and a fourth defensive network Monday night as they defeated Kamloops Chiefs 7-6 in an exhibition hockey game.

Using speed and smooth passing to deadly effect, Dutchies scored four second-period goals, then held off a last-ditch drive by the surprisingly-strong Chiefs to post their fifth straight win on their western tour.

The Dutchmen meet Vernon Canadians, leaders of the Okanagan Senior Hockey League, tonight. In Vancouver Wednesday night they play Trail Smoke Eaters of the Western International League, the only western Canada team to defeat Moscow Selects on their recent tour, then leave for the Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley, Calif.

TEAM BOLSTERED

Kamloops, second in the OSHL, was strengthened by the addition of six players—four from Kelowna and two from Penticton and Vernon.

The Chiefs, who outshot the Dutchmen 29-28, just fell short in their attempt to erase a four-goal lead held by the Kitchener team less than 10 minutes remaining in the game.

Starting at 11:51 of the third period, Kamloops scored three unanswered goals but was unable to find the equalizer.

WANT 70 YOUNGSTERS

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four Football Union announced Monday they are on the lookout for 70 youngsters to attend the team's training camp starting May 30. Boys who make the grade will get a chance to try out for the regular Alouette team.

MONTREAL (CP)—The name at the top of the National Hockey League scoring list is Bronco Horvath, as usual, but it would be Murray Balfour if the dead-lockers were listed in the second row.

The National Hockey League's statistics, released today, show Boston's Horvath once more leading the league with 84 points on 35 goals and 33 assists, Balfour is tied with 15 goals and nine assists.

As of the first two-thirds of the NHL schedule, Balfour had taken 53 shots on goals and scored 12 times, for an average of 4.528 shots a goal.

Horvath was way back there in the averages, taking 5.23 shots per goal, but he shoots like mad. It's the secret of his success.

Jean Beliveau, last week tied with Horvath at 65 points, was held back by a groin injury and collected only a single goal. He has 32 goals and 33 assists.

POOR AVERAGE

Beliveau has to work harder than anyone in the NHL to get his goals, the statistics say. He scored 30 of his goals on 228 shots —the most of any player—for a relatively poor average of 7.60 shots per goal.

The week's work left the top five scorers unchanged — Chicago's Bobby Hull is third this week with 80 points on a net week with 60. Montreal's Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard and Boston's Vic Stasiuk are tied for fourth, but each has two points more for a total of 58.

The biggest jump of the week was made by Montreal's Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, who piled on six points on four goals and two assists and now has 52 points and 31 assists for 53 points, just one less than Detroit's Gordie Howe who holds seventh place.

HARDY CHOICE

Among goalers, the most notable addition to the league has been Detroit's Terry Sawchuk, called up from Edmonton of the Western Hockey League to give regular goaler Terry Sawchuk a rest.

After a shaky start in which he gave up nine goals in two games, Bigpin emerged through with a 5-0 shutout of Chicago Black Hawks Sunday and has a respectable 3.00 goal-against-per-game average.

Montreal's Jacques Plante has let, in 126 goals in 52 games and bowls the best average at 2.42. Plante's lead in the Vezina Trophy race—which goes to the goaler who plays the most games for the least-scored-on team—is a comfortable one. He has all but two games played at Montreal's games.

Ladies Curling

SARNIA (CP) — Rinks from Chicago, Toronto, Chatham, Galt, Brantford and Kitchener scored first-round victories Monday at the 10th annual ladies' bonspiel held at the Sarnia Curling Club.

They were joined in the second round competition by nine rinks from Sarnia, whose teams won eight of the 18 games.

Six Bentleys to Form Team In Coast Oldtimers Game

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sports writers covering the old Alberta Senior Hockey League hated to see the smaller Miners come to town. It meant a rough night.

The size of the lineup was made up of five brothers—Doug, Max, Reg, Roy and Scoop Bentley.

The writers had to have sharp eyes—was it Doug or Max who scored, or perhaps it was Scoop?

The men in the press box often soled themselves with the fact that a sixth brother—Jack—was not on the team.

This will not be the case here on Feb. 13 when the brothers form a complete lineup in the B. C. Benevolent Hockey Association's oldtimers' game.

TWO NHL GREATS

Jack Bentley will play goal, Roy and Reg will team up on defence, and Max will be centre forward between Scoop and Doug.

Max and Doug are the best-known of the Bentleys, since both had great careers in the National Hockey League, Doug with Chicago Black Hawks and Max with Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs.

Reg was the only other Bentley to get a trial in the NHL but he failed to stick, and soon returned to minor hockey.

Ron (Scotty) Milne, one of the 19 directors of the BCBHA, says that with the Bentleys on the program the game is certain to be a success.

Milne says he can think of only one way to top the complete Bentley lineup.

"If we could get the only girl in the Bentley family, Mary, that would be something. The boys always said she was the best player in the family."

The oldtimers' games, held here every two years since 1948, have always been popular. Milne said the average crowd has always been close to the 3,000 seating capacity of the Exhibition Forum.

The fans love the wide - open style the old-timers play," said Milne. "They also get a big kick out of the novelty games we include in the program."

Funds from the games go to people who have been connected with hockey and are in need of assistance.

Many former players come from all parts of Canada to participate. Milne says they pay their own expenses.

RETURN TITLE BOUT

BOSTON (AP)—Promoter Sam Silverman said Monday that Paul Pender will defend his limited version world middleweight title against old pro Sugar Ray Robinson in Boston April 29.

Johnny Buckley, Pender's manager, said Robinson agreed to the April 29 date Monday and the Pender camp signed for the bout Monday. The fight, to be televised with a 100-mile blackout, is set for 15 rounds for the middleweight title that is recognized only in Massachusetts and New York.

Mr. Smythe Covers for Cote Claims He Is Drawing Card

TORONTO (CP)—Roger Cote, Toronto Marlboros defenceman whose rugged style and thumping body checks have been a crowd-of-town attendance and the ire of many coaches and fans, was not passed over lightly Monday night at a meeting of the seven Ontario Hockey Association Junior A owners and managers.

In a telegram Jay MacDonald, St. Catharines TeePees secretary, said OHA president Ken MacMillan of Georgetown to investigate a penalty handed out to Cote when the Marlboros visited into TeePee forward Pete Berge. Berger, caught skating with his head down, was sent flying to the ice. He suffered a bruised knee and concussion in a game played here two weeks ago.

MacDonald's wire, his telegram, said: "We feel the penalty levied to Cote by the referee was far from adequate for the infraction that might have had far more serious consequences."

MacMillan said, after investigating the incident and the referee's report, that the five-minute major penalty handed out at the time was sufficient. The referee is solo judge of the play and Cote was penalized efficiently.

Marlboro manager Stafford Smythe suggested that he ask Cote to curb his body-checking but pointed out whenever Marlboros play out of town there are always good crowds on hand.

DISCUSS FINALS

Time and the mutual opponents will decide the length of each series in the Junior A playoffs which start Thursday. Both series could be five out of nine, the junior council meeting decided.

Monday's meeting also decided the league must declare a winner in time for the opening game of the Eastern Canada finals April 6.

The first-place team will play the fourth team, second plays fifth and third plays sixth.

At the next council meeting, dates will be set for the B and C series to be completed. The winners of this will meet the A series winner in time for a championship to emerge.

The number of games each series will consist of will be decided by officials of the teams that play each other. They could be three-of-five, four-of-seven or five-of-nine. The first play-off game will be played in each series on the first Tuesday after the end of the schedule.

A decision to withhold the draft meeting until the end of March was approved by all but Toronto.

Toronto Marlboros manager Johnny O'Hanley asked the council to urge Guelph officials to arrange a truce between the visitors' bench and the dressing room to prevent further clashes between players and fans.

"We've had trouble and I understand the Marlboros did, too," he said. "The fans in that 30-minute period between periods spit at them, call names and there should be police there to see that those seats are not occupied by ruffians."

Snow Averts Near Disaster At Olympics Squaw Valley

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Snow at a critical hour averted possible disaster at this site of the 1960 Winter Olympic Games. But the temperatures climb above freezing flood danger could recur.

A storm raged through Squaw Valley Monday night after the danger of flooding and damage to ski races and courses became critical, rain turned to snow and the threat subsided. The storm dumped 32 degrees—just enough.

Rain melts snow with a resulting runoff of both.

Early in the day H. D. Thoreau, managing director for the Games, said the site "is now in serious condition because of the continued unprecedented rain storms in the Sierras. All possible measures are being taken to protect the Olympic facilities from the potential damage."

Protective measures helped, but nature provided the real answer when temperatures dropped in early afternoon and snow fell.

Still, the compacted snow parking spot was nearly washed out and some ski runs were damaged. Thoreau had said the winds ranging from 30 miles an hour in the valley to 100 miles an hour on the mountains had pushed down 30 feet behind the Olympic administration building, leaving a main power line dangling.

Troubles developed in the water systems and Dr. William Stiles, medical director for the Games, said there was "great danger of water pollution" at Squaw Valley Lodge in which officials and some other Olympic personnel are lodged.

Meanwhile, more teams arrived for the Games, including the West Germans, Norwegians, Swedes, Finns, United States and even the Japanese hockey team.

Only the Italian and Japanese skiers ventured onto the slopes during the storm. They had a brief workout on the lower slopes.

Kingston Star Leads League In Point Race

OTTAWA (CP)—Orval Tessier of Kingston Frontenacs moved into second scoring pace of almost two points a game in the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

The 26-year-old native of Cornwall has 98 points in 52 games—a total of 37 assists, 61 goals. He points ahead of runner-up Tom Williams of Quebec Aces.

Statistics released Monday include Sunday's games.

Tessier has no service but despite his current performance he never has been able to click with the junior-league team.

He played several games with Junior Canadiens three years ago but was relegated to Quebec Aces, where he played for two seasons until called to Kingston in the newly-formed EPHL.

Last week he scored three goals and got three assists in three games to put himself just about out of reach of the rest of the league. There are six weeks to go in the regular schedule.

Cal Gardner, Kingston playing coach and Tessier's linemate, occupies third place with 81 points, two behind McCarthy.

Three men who have done goaltending duties for Montreal hold goaliesticks' leadership for another week.

Jacques Plante—Southern group 2.58 average.

League-leading Sudbury leads in the penalty department with 619 minutes while Dino Mascioli of Toronto Flyers ranks still is the bad man of the league with 161 minutes.

Wings Retain Dennis Riggin

EDMONTON (CP)—Goaltender Dennis Riggin will remain with Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League for another week.

Sports broadcaster Bryan Hall of Edmonton radio station CHED received the information in a telephone call Monday from general manager Jack Adams of Detroit.

Rule Changes Will Apply to Junior Gridders'

TORONTO (CP)—The nine rule changes announced Saturday for professional football by the Canadian football League will apply also to minor football in Canada, Harry McBrien, secretary of the CFL and the Canadian Rugby Union, said Monday.

Mr. McBrien said the new rules will be adopted by all football and intermediate leagues in the CRU. Other unions, such as high schools, will have the option of adopting some of the changes.

One major change has been made with CRU consent for the past two seasons by the semi-professional Ontario Rugby Football Union and the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Union.

This allows blocking over the length of the field for linemen and the two "privileged" halfbacks on running plays and screen passes.

DelGreco Signs With Phillies

NEW YORK (AP)—This is the czar that counts for Bobby Del-Greco.

The fancy-fielding outfielder got his first big league chance with the Pittsburgh Pirates eight years ago. Since then he's played with the Cubs, Cardinals, Chicago Cubs and New York Yankees in the minors and sundry clubs in the minors.

DelGreco's fielding has been compared to that of Joe DiMaggio, Terry Moore and several other outstanding centre fielders but Bobby's trouble has always been the plate.

Last year, however, he found the batting range for Buffalo of the International League, hit 45 doubles, 21 homers and compiled an average of .286. His performance enticed Philadelphia Phils to purchase his contract for 1960.

Juniors Hand Trenton 10-4 Defeat In Rough Penalty-Riddled Battle

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Lambert —Rollins chalked up their seventh consecutive OHA Eastern Junior "B" victory here last night, downing Trenton Lafleur-Lumbermen 10-4 in a penalty filled fixture that threatened at times to develop into a full-scale brawl.

It was a low-scoring duel for two periods with penalties playing and intermingling the order for the CHU. Other unions, such as high schools, have the option of adopting some of the changes.

One major change has been made with CRU consent for the past two seasons by the semi-professional Ontario Rugby Football Union and the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Union.

This allows blocking over the length of the field for linemen and the two "privileged" halfbacks on running plays and screen passes.

Referees Tim Williams and Ted Hurst had their hands full right from the opening whistle, as couple players on both sides had chips on their shoulders that forspread among the others, and just about everyone wound up throwing their weight around for the rest of the night. 26 penalties were assessed, in fact, Belleville drawing 15 and Trenton 11. Nine were called in the first, five in the second and 12 in the third, including two majors and two misconducts in the last.

Meanwhile in the playing department Garry Goyer excelled with a hat trick performance to spark the victors' attack. Goyer scored three times and added four assists. Ronnie Hull also had a big night with two goals and three assists while Joe Hunter contributed two goals and one helper. Pat Aselstine had one and one, as well as a misconduct and three minor penalties. Bill Devlin had two for L-R uniform. Bucky Ethier and Kenny Brown had two assists each to Ralph Plane, Jerry Mann, Denny Hull, Gary Hawbolene and Jim Hunter.

Trenton's leading scorer, Jimmy Ellis, topped his club with one goal and one assist. Garry Long, Ron Rutherford and Gary Hamilton each had single goals while fall and Lloyd Rose drew assists.

Belleville survived over-lapping penalties without damage to start the hot fuss. Ethier-Goyer took advantage of Trenton's first two penalties to give the locals an early 2-0 lead. Ellis got one back before Aselstine made it 3-1.

Gerry Greenacuss stopped many a Belleville scoring attempt but Bert Goyer got his second in the middle heat, again while his club was a man up at 16.10 Seconds later Gary Long made it 4-2.

Hunter-Hull combine gave Belleville a 6-2 lead before the penalty parade became too heavy and Ron Rutherford got one back while Trenton played its men to five but Hunter, Goyer and Ron Hull all scored in a matter of 21 seconds to open up a 9-3 lead. Aselstine was shorthanded for the first one.

Plane and Rutherford mixed it for majors at 18.43 and a number of players from both benches in the battle. Aselstine and Ethier of Belleville and Hess of Trenton drew majors. Fuller of Trenton while others got off scott free in the penalty box. Referees Williams and Hurst were sent to the dressing room between periods to sit in the box from an earlier penalty when teammate Hull made it 10-3. The same Hull was serving time when Trenton's Ethier closed the scoring at 18.45.

The Junior Booster Club draw was postponed last night and will be held at the senior game here February 16. The draw is for tickets to an NHL game and also for a transistor radio.

Trenton — Genereaux, Titterington, Ellis, Hooper, Jones, Ellis Rutherford, Hess, Westfall, Yardley, Long, White, Rose.

Detroit Lions Players Seek Other Lairs

DETROIT (AP)—More than a dozen members of the Detroit Lions' football team have had discussions with other teams about the 1959 season ended.

Interests representing Canadian teams and the American Football League have made overtures to Howard Cassady, Jerry Reichow, Jim Martin, Gail Cogdill, Wayne Walker, Nick Pietrosante, Ken Webb, Jim Steffen and others.

Cassady was reported to have been offered $6,000 more than he receives from the Lions.

Many players in the National Football League have asked Creighton Miller, the attorney representing the players' association, about restrictions in their contracts.

"There is no doubt that many players would like to be traded or move," said Miller.

"Naturally when a lot of players will elect to play out their option, so they can become free agents after the 1960 season. It'll take some guts to play out the option in their last year when they will take that chance."

The gamble is that a player might get hurt, or that he might have a bad season, thereby depressing his market value.

Playing out the option is also unlikely to bring a 10 per cent of his salary. A clause in the standard NFL contract entitles owners to cut a player's salary by 10 per cent if the player is not re-signed after playing out the option.

Miller said he believes the sparring is over as the free rival leagues will develop into a full scale court fight.

TRIAL OPENS

NEW YORK (AP) — Cus D'Amato, manager of former heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson, went on trial Monday in special session on a charge of failing to answer a subpoena of the state attorney-general's office. After hearing D'Amato and several witnesses, Judge Benjamin Gottsman recessed the case until Wednesday. The subpoena called for D'Amato's appearance at the attorney-general's office about his operations in professional boxing.

'Red' Kelly To 'Think Over' Toronto Deal

TORONTO (CP) — Red Kelly has been asked if he would be willing to join Toronto Maple Leafs should a hockey trade deal be worked out with Detroit Red Wings.

The all-star National Hockey League defenceman, who "retired" Friday, Detroit said announced it was trading him to New York Rangers, has promised King Clancy, Leaf assistant general manager, that he will think over the Toronto offer.

It is reported Leafs are ready to swap defenceman Marc Reaume, a 26-year-old, for Kelly, who is 32.

Riders Sign Ray Reese

OTTAWA (CP) — The Ottawa Rough Riders announced today the signing of Ray Reese, an offensive end and defensive linebacker or offensive end.

After attending Bowling Green University he was drafted by Cleveland Browns in 1959 and was one of the last three men cut by the Browns last season.

SLEAVER CASE ENDS

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. '(CP) —John Sleaver of Sudbury Cubs of the Eastern Professional Hockey League was ordered Monday by Magistrate J. Edmond Veillet to post a $500 bond to keep the peace for one year. Sleaver, represented by Trois-Rivieres Lions lawyer Roger Laroche, was accused of attacking referee Lionel Beauchamp Dec. 27 during a game between the Wolves and the Lions.

Glover Nudges Indians' Smith

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran Fred Glover of Cleveland Barons has moved into second place behind Springfield Indians' Floyd Smith in the American Hockey League scoring race.

Glover scored nine points in last week's games, lifting his total to 64 on 27 goals and 37 assist. Smith has 67 points, on 42 goals and 43 assists.

The statistics released today include Sunday's games.

Bill Sweeney of Springfield and rookie Stan Baluik of Providence Reds are tied for third with 60 points each. Rudy Migay of Rochester Americans, the circuit's leader in assists with 44, and teammate Bob Irwin are deadlocked for fifth in points with 59 apiece.

Stan Smrke of Rochester has 29 goals to top that department while Ed Chadwick, also of the second-place American, is the leading goaltender with a goals-against average of 2.66.

OHA Confirms Suspension of Cobourg Junior

COBOURG (CP)—Suspension of Cobourg forward Gary Sharpe was confirmed by the Ontario Hockey Association Monday night at a subcommittee meeting.

Sharpe was suspended for the balance of the season but had appealed.

His suspension followed an incident in a Belleville - Cobourg game here January 23 in which Dennis Kerulish was slightly injured.

Sharpe insists that the injury, a cut hand, was accidental. Referees Bob Simcoe of Oshawa and Bill Hurst of Belleville, who

The squirt playoffs got under way with four close games last night with the result that none of the clubs gained much ground in the two-game, total goals-to-count series.

Red Wings led their series by one goal after edging the Browns 6-5. Bruce LaRue had a pair of the Wing goals with singletons going to Wayne Brown, Doug Grant, Paul Vinkle and Teddy Dunnigan. Larry Moore starred in a losing effort with four goals while Doug Spicer had the other.

Rangers hold a slim lead by virtue of a 7-6 victory over the Maple Leafs. Pete Bishop and Tom Hamilton potted the Ranger goals apiece with Gilbert Wilson, Ron Reid and Allan Jones getting the other. Maple Leaf goals were divided among Mark Hamilton, Jimmy Howe, Allon Lambert, John Meens, Peter White and Warren Hay.

Canadiens came out of the night's play one goal up on the Barons winning a close 4-3 decision. Brian Melbourne fired a pair of hat-trick efforts with Fred Wheeler and Terry McQuigan getting the others. Grey Kaye, Ted Bennefort and Tom Boulter were the Baron marksmen.

Black Hawks and Bruins fought to a 5-5 stalemate in the other contest. Joe Lumsden had the three-goal hat trick for the Hawks while Gilles Cousineau and John Burley scored the spiece. Alex Bradley equalled Lumsden's performance for the Bruins with Neil Goyer and Mayne Muir also scoring.

The same clubs will meet in the second games of their series next Monday evening.

Football Loops Agree on 'No Raiding'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The commissioners of the two rival professional football leagues met for four hours Saturday and it appears that a "no - raiding" agreement has been reached.

National Football League commissioner Pete Rozelle told a press conference Monday he had a meeting with Joe Foss, commissioner of the new American Football League, at St. Louis Airport.

"We agreed there, should be no tampering with players in the two leagues," Rozelle said.

Rozelle added:

"I was very impressed with Foss' sincerity and his whole outlook on how his new league should function. We talked about double contract signings.

"Foss said one he has not had an opportunity to investigate the double signings, but that he would look into it."

Possibly the most optimistic man in the country concerning Canada's Olympic hockey chances this month at Squaw Valley, Calif., is Len Taylor, sports editor of the Kitchener-Waterloo record.

"No one, and that goes for the Russians, too," will beat the Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, Taylor said last week when Dutch men officials finally got around to naming their 11-man team. He figures the squad is stronger than the Dutchmen team that lost 2-0 to Russia in the 1956 games.

"In addition, look at it this way," Taylor said just before he took off to catch up with the Dutchmen in Vancouver. "The ice area at Squaw Valley suits the Dutchmen right down to the ground. It's 180 feet by 85 feet, exactly the size of the arena in Kitchener."

"It's an indoor arena and with artificial ice. Right down our alley.

"Another thing, the Dutchmen have an old score to settle with the Russians. Our guys hit the goalposts five times in that 2-0 game in Italy. That won't happen at Squaw Valley. The Dutchmen will be 'up' for this one and anybody who bets against them is nuts."

STEWART UNSURE

There's one fellow who isn't sure. He is Bill Stewart, who coached Chicago Black Hawks in 1938 when they last won the Stanley Cup. The Hawks weren't given a chance that year and they beat Toronto Maple Leafs three games to one in a best-of-five series.

Stewart warned in a speech at Montreal recently that "we are in danger of losing our hockey supremacy in general to either the Russians, Czechs or Swedes."

Stewart made a tour of Europe with an All-Star team and has said he noted that in Stockholm hundreds of youngsters played hockey. He added he was "appalled" at the lack of physical fitness among Toronto American youngsters.

Stewart will be a timekeeper at the Squaw Valley Games.

FOOTBALL EVERSEE

After Jake Gaudaur, president of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, recommended that Canadian football should be converted into an 11-man game at a Big Four meeting in Toronto, Walker searched his files and noted this was an opposite view expressed by Gaudaur 20 years ago.

"Back in September of 1958," Walker says, "the suggestion of an 11-man game was thrown out by Ottawa's Jimmy McCaffrey, who advocated unlimited interference at the same time. Mc-Caffrey pointed out the change to 11-man football would reduce the cost of operations by one import. He figured that in the 12th man in the Canadian game wasn't needed.

"Among the detracting comments on the proposal were these words from Gaudaur:

"Maybe the 12th man doesn't perform any function on the Ottawa team, but he certainly does on ours. The extra man adds something, particularly in a disorganized attack."

The Big Four meeting simply talked about Gaudaur's 11-man proposal a couple of weeks ago. It likely will be given a full-scale discussion when the annual four-day meeting of the Canadian Football League opens in Winnipeg on Thursday.

Gilbert Shades Team-Mate In Points Race

Playing on a line with Rod Gilbert, the league's top point-getter, Ratelle moved into second place after the second week of action and has failed to tie or pass Gilbert since then. When Gilbert scores a goal, Ratelle assists. And then their left wing partner, Bert Brown tallies, Ratelle and Gilbert find their names in the bracket.

Official statistics released Monday including Sunday's games, show Gilbert a centre, has scored 34 goals and 45 assists for 79 points, two goals more than Ratelle, who patrols right wing. With nine games remaining in the schedule Ratelle to date has 36 goals and 41 assists.

Chico Maki of St. Catharines TeePees, last year's top goal-scorer, has managed 30 so far this season and is in third place with 69 points, seven better than Toronto Marlboros' right wing Jim Pappin who has 35 goals and 29 assists.

Jerry Cheevers of Toronto St. Michael's College Majors has followed his netminding average to slip to 2.97 goals-per game but continues to pace the rest of the pack. His four shutouts are also tops. Second place is held by Cheevers' understudy, Dave Dryden, who has only played 11 games for a 3.35 average.

Police said Baldyga told them he had been beaten during a fight in the restaurant about four years ago. He recalled the fight when he, he drove past, police said, and decided to toss the ball through the window.

Some patrons mistook the ball for a bomb, police said, and ran from the restaurant. Baldyga was charged with malicious mischief.

OSD Girls Win From Trenton In Basketball

OSD girls blew an early lead but came back in the dying minutes of the game to edge Trenton 27-24 in an exciting Ladies' Basketball League fixture at Trenton last night.

The Modern Maids held 10-4, 18-6 and 21-12 leads at the quarters but Trenton scored six consecutive baskets in the last to tie it 24 - 24 and then scored the winner before OSD got the last victory at 27-24.

Di Mosher led the OSD girls with 15 points while B. Massicotte collected six, E. Caldwell four and M. Smith two.

J. Donnett, G. Young and J. Osenski pitched up six points apiece for Trenton while C. Connors had four and O. Empey two.

Many Bids For Buffalo Hunt

TORONTO (CP)—With seven months to go, more than 300 bids have been received for the 100 licenses expected to be issued for Canada's second wild buffalo hunt of the century.

Ed Olson, superintendent of Wood Buffalo National Park in the Northwest Territories, said Monday night that bids have been received from Britain, Germany, Australia and South Africa as well as the United States and Canada.

He said the bids probably will be dealt with on a first-come first-served basis.

The hunt, September 30 hunters from Canada or the U.S. each shot one buffalo during the first hunt ever allowed on the 17,300-square-mile game reserve's borders.

Riders Outline New Policy of Player-Signing

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders outlined Monday a new player-signing policy tilted in favor of candidates who have failed professional football.

Emphasis will be placed on finding players with previous pro experience rather than bidding for untried rookies fresh from U.S. college ranks, Rough Riders' George Terlep told a press conference.

Terlep, the Big Four club's general manager, added:

"In view of the tremendous competition from both the American and Canadian football leagues, we feel we're better off by getting chaps who have had a year or two in the pro ranks. That goes both for Canadian and American pro leagues, as you'll notice later when we have our complete import list released."

Terlep added the new emphasis has nothing to do with the club "challenging."

"We'll pay the money if we want a chap badly enough but, at the same time, we're staying within our budget while trying to get a player clash on the salary question."

Harvey Kuenn Not Keen On Signing

DETROIT (AP)—The American League Tigers are having difficulty in contracting outfield star outfielder Harvey Kuenn, who rejected the club's latest offer Monday.

Kuenn, 29, and general manager Rick Ferrell engaged in a two-hour verbal duel and were only "slightly closer" in their talks after the session, Ferrell said.

The former Tiger field captain, switched from shortstop to centre field to right field in the last couple of seasons, batted .353 in 1950. His salary was about $37,500 last season, when he led the league with a .353 batting average.

The Tigers, who finished fourth, 18 games out of first, are also having major contract difficulties with Al Kaline, Charlie Maxwell, Jim Bunning, Frank Lary and Eddie Yost.

To Produce Lolita Whether Censors Approve or Not

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lolita will reach the screen whether or not the censors approve, says movie maker Stanley Kubrick.

Kubrick and his partner, James B. Harris, own film rights to the controversial novel about a middle-aged man with a passion for little girls. They have hired the book's author, Vladimir Nabokov, to write the script, and hope to start filming in a few months.

I asked Kubrick how the Johnston office feels about the project.

"We haven't discussed it with them," he replied." We will try to get a (production code) seal, but if it isn't forthcoming we'll go ahead without it. The seal doesn't seem to matter much nowadays."

Kubrick said he has spoken to Sir Laurence Olivier and David Niven about playing the deranged Humbert Humbert and "both are interested." Despite publicity to the contrary, he said no one has been approached about playing the 12-year-old "nymphet."

Many on the inside and outside of the film industry are alarmed that filming Lolita on the screen Kubrick said he had no opinion about whether it should be played with an "adults only" tag. He added: "I do think the parent would judge by the title that it is not a Walt Disney presentation."

Must Handle Yourself Well In Places in Strange Towns

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Mike Connors, the well-tailored young man who plays the nameless hero—an undercover man—in a CBS police-action series called Tightrope, has learned that TV stardom isn't all bliss.

"You've got to learn to handle yourself very carefully sometimes if you want to avoid trouble," said Connors. "Particularly if you're in a public place in a strange town.

"There always some guy who is a little bit loaded and comes up to you with some sort of remark like 'I've seen your show, and I don't think you can really handle yourself so good.' Or 'you don't look like a real gun-slinger to me.' Then you've got to handle it real easy. Some of these drunks just want to start a fight so they can brag about it later."

It would seem that any ambitious crook could learn his trade from the TV script writers. But apparently the criminal element isn't the only one looking for bright ideas.

ABC continues its efforts to dilute its strong program mixture of westerns and adventure. Next year it will have a half-hour series called The Great Barnum, based on the life of the 19th-century showman . . . live TV still trips over problems eliminated by tape and film such as the crew member who walked in front of Dinah Shore's camera during a production number Sunday night. . . .

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Monday, February 10, 1960

General Tendencies: This is a fair day to take some time out to think out the policies under which you would most like to operate in the future. Think big as you want to get big. Then you will be able to show someone you especially like a depth of your affection for, and devotion to, them by a more direct attitude.

Aries (March 21 to April 19). In the one you love should be given some tangible proof today of your deep affection. Do one day to contact those persons who can help you to progress with your talents. Praise and generosity will work wonders for you.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20). In your home and closest ties would be uppermost in your mind now and you should give much of your time to this position. Also, get out of the ordinary conciousness and begin to think big so that you know real abundance and to spare.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21). A fine day to shop, fill out reports, questionnaires and the like. Be sure you visit with kin, customers or neighbors concerning something important. Cement better relations, make agreements, etc. P.M. do some serious studying.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 23) Take care you do not keep too busy with small matters and leave the really big issues to fall by the wayside, especially where property is concerned. P.M. take the treatments that will improve your health. Do not overstrain your heart.

Leo (July 24 to Aug. 23) Use the direct approach in surprising others of your ambitions and goals. These allies will give you further support and co-operation. They make your appearance more charming by bringing out your best points. P.M. get into society.

Virgo (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Secretly confer with the most powerful individuals you know and discuss your career progress and the possibilities for the future. You will get moral and financial support so that you begin a real upswing in your affairs.

Libra (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Ideal day to be among charming and influential people, or to meet such whom you do not already know for their good will and esteem. P.M. go out socially and be very charming.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) Civic affairs are very important for you right now. Be very intelligent in handling them. Contact as many powerful persons as you know and get their advice, opinions and support. See that your credit is A-1.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 to Dec. 22) Here is one of those days when you can get marvelous ideas from your newspaper and other printed media, and the persons you meet now will also be very helpful. Enlarge your circle of friends appreciably.

Capricorn (Dec. 23 to Jan. 22) Your intuitions are excellent now just how to advance more quickly in business or career life, or simply adding to your holdings. Thinking big is the real key to success and taking practical steps in that direction.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Remember your commitments to others today and be sure you take the steps that will help you follow through with them. This will inspire confidence in you and you succeed in getting added support when needed. Be adroit.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) Invest a little money wisely in articles that will help to make your immediate surroundings more lovely and operate efficiently. You have no idea what a bit of paint and the right color scheme can do, even to uplift your own spirits.

If your child is born today . . . The interesting child born today is a bit of a show-off, but that is the secret to his, or her great charm. So do not try to curb this child's imagination and colorful ways of doing things. Adulation and praise goes far with this delightful personality. An excellent chart for the actor or actress, the designer or any profession where wealth and fame go hand in hand.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations. In many cases, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Pain was promptly relieved. And in the gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide number of apparently confirmed cases, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in ointment or rectal suppository form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

BIG STRIKE ENDS

LONDON (Reuters) — Factories of the giant British Motor Corporation went into full production again Monday after a two - week strike estimated to have cost the equivalent of $2,000,000. About 25,000 workers idle by a dispute between electricians at a Fby factory in Birmingham went back to work after the electricians' demands for increased bonuses

Twelve Names Should Not Appear on List

TORONTO (CP) — The CBC said Monday night at least 12 names on a list of 87 imported performers submitted by the Association of Canadian Radio and Television Artists should not be there.

The list, covering the October-December period of last year, was submitted by the ACRTA to back up a complaint that native artists are being squeezed out of television by imported talent.

"Going by the association's original terms of reference and policy and drama—at least 12 of these names should not be on the list," said Don Hudson, director of information services.

"Some of these people appeared on panel shows and in interviews," he said. "They services were brought in without themselves."

In an earlier statement, the CBC said that nearly 18 performers were imported during October-December.

(In a Toronto story on the controversy Feb. 7, The Canadian Press erroneously attributed to the CBC a statement that the ACRTA list included 58 Canadians.)

Two Factors Blamed for Rising Costs

TORONTO (CP) — Advertising costs and distributor mark-ups were blamed for increasing the cost of food by a former Saturday dp the recent report of the royal commission on price spreads.

The forum, sponsored by the Ontario Woodworth Memorial Foundation, decided more co-operative marketing and buying organizations were needed to reduce food prices.

Commission member Cleve Kidd, research director of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) who introduced the report, said consumer prices have risen since 1951 while prices paid farmers have decreased.

Five cents of every consumer dollar spent on food goes to the advertising industry, Mr. Kidd told the forum.

Gordon Greer, Ottawa president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, said farmers had lost 15 cents of the consumer food dollar in the last 10 years.

MARKET OWN PRODUCTS

The only way the primary producer can help himself, Mr. Greer said, was to process and market his own products.

Douglas Hartle, University of Toronto political economist, said consumers wanted packing lots and more completely processed foods. He said informative advertising was justified, as distinct from promotional or persuasive advertising.

Co - operative merchandising was one solution of soaring food prices, Leonard Harman, general manager of the United Co-Operatives of Ontario told the meeting, but the co-ops had to have the support and assistance of wholesalers.

CUT ROCKET FUNDS

WASHINGTON (AP)—An administration - directed cut in money requested by the Atomic Energy Commission for development of a nuclear-powered space rocket is expected to delay that project by a year or more, it was learned Sunday night. The AEC has reported the situation to the joint congressional committee on atomic energy and its chairman, Senator Clinton P. Anderson (Dem., N.M.) is understood to be seriously concerned about it. He is expected to call a hearing.

Canadian, Who Made Mark In British TV as M.C., Wants To Come Home to Hunt Talent

By STEWART MACLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Carroll Levis, one-time wrestler and deckhand who became one of Britain's best-known masters of ceremonies, is wasting longing glances at his native Canada.

"I want to go home," says the genial extrovert.

The thick 235-pound frame of the Vancouver native has been filling British television screens since 1936, the year TV began here. His rich, Canadian accent has been beamed on the BBC just as long, and his unbroken record on the stages of music halls and theatres is even longer.

The magazine Picture Post has called Levis the "No. 1 Discovery Man," estimating that the poly - poly Canadian has turned 30,000,000 talented Britons since he crossed the ocean. They include such stars as Harry Secombe, Max Bygraves, Charlie Drake and Anne Heywood.

Levis himself estimates that he made £3,000,000 in Britain. And this is a subject he likes.

He sat wide-legged in the lavish lounge of a Mayfair hotel—where the staff bowed to every snap of his fingers—and let his monetary philosophy pour out in a torrent of words.

Why, asked a reporter, do you want to return to Canada?

"Because there's a new challenge there. And because there are tons of talent there. And because I know that if I do a one-hour show in Canada I can sell it in the United States within three months.

"I know what I am talking about. I've already gone into it with the Americans."

He tapped his cigaret on a table, leaned forward, and said: "Listen, it's time Canadians stopped leaving home to make good. They need a Canadian show that will give them a big name—one that will be sold internationally."

He leaned back, lit his cigaret and announced casually, "I am the man to do it."

Levis, 44, hasn't made any definite plans yet for his return to Canada, but he says he is working on it. "First I have to start a new TV serial here called 'Doctor.'"

He owns all rights to the serial, already sponsored, and it's now a question of who will take the lead. "I might take it myself but if I do it will mean I won't go home for a while, 'I'll see."

Although best known as a master of ceremonies in variety, Levis has acted in several plays; he has produced others, and he has had a finger in some movies. "I've done just about everything," he says with characteristic enthusiasm, "but variety is my field."

He got started his career when still attending a Vancouver high school. His first job was a barker with a touring wrestler who challenged all comers. Eventually Levis graduated to the ring and that ended when he "took a devil of a beating" in Trail, B.C. Later he worked in radio variety in Vancouver and Winnipeg and during that time "travelled through every tank town in Canada."

"When I say there are tons of talent in Canada, I'm not fooling. I've given breaks to hundreds of Canadians who came to Britain. And don't forget, I go home every year."

At the moment, he is doing a Sunday afternoon TV show called "Carroll Levis' Junior Discoveries," made up of school-age variety acts. He also has stage variety touring the country.

"You know," he says without any attempt at false modesty, "just about everybody in Britain with a TV set knows me."

Then he proved his point by walking through a hotel lobby where he wasn't registered. Nearly everyone called him by name.

EYES CANADA — Carroll Levis, one of Britain's top masters of ceremonies, is thinking of returning to his native Canada to start a "big name" television show that can be sold internationally. A former wrestler ,the Vancouver-born Mr. Levis has been on British Television screens since 1936 and has been credited with discovering 200,000 talented Britons on his shows. He says there is plenty of talent to be uncovered in Canada. Besides being MC in variety shows, Mr. Levis, 44, has produced and acted in plays and has done work in the movies. (CP Photo)

ARE LABOR UNIONS GETTING TOO POWERFUL?
"Yes!" says Management. "No!" says Labor. What is the truth in this fight, so vital to us all? Find out in this week's Star, Weekly.

Merged Airliner Not Wanted by United States

LONDON (CP) — The Daily Mail says British civil aviation authorities have been told by United States government officials that aircraft of a merged Commonwealth airline would be refused permission to operate in the U.S.

The newspaper says the warning was issued by the U.S. Civil Aviation Administration "in the form of a 'tactful reminder' that a British air monopoly would be in danger of violating American anti-trust laws."

The Daily Mail says American resistance to the proposed Commonwealth merger is the latest of a series of quarrels between British and U.S. aviation officials that has resulted in both sides "deliberately balking each other in the simplest routine affairs."

It says Washington officials fear Britain is trying to form a bloc powerful enough to outvote U.S. airlines at the annual fare-fixing conferences of the International Air Transport Association while Commonwealth airlines "have long resented U.S. domination of the IATA."

The Daily Mail says the quarrel is likely to come to a head later this month at an Anglo-American conference in Barbados to revise the 1946 air agreement between the two countries.

Ont. Govt. Given Tongue-Lashing And Surprise

Three Charges Levelled But All of Them Denied

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's Progressive Conservative government got a levelled and repeated tongue-lashing and one surprise in Tue-day's throne speech debate.

CCF Leader Donald C. MacDonald delivered the lashing, charging that one cabinet minister acted "indiscreetly," another acted inconveniently in a libel dispute and that PC election funds benefitted Ontario oil refining and land deal near Sarnia.

The surprise came when Allan Lawrence (PC — East York George) criticized the government's liquor policy and suggested the $1 fee for liquor permits be abolished.

Mr. MacDonald said Labor Minister Daley, chairman of the Niagara Parks Commission, had acted indiscreetly and violated the "fundamental principles upon which the standards of public life are based" in purchasing property formerly owned by the commission for a fruit farm.

The 40 acres in question had been bought by Beniamino Bogdal-ese, described by Mr. MacDonald as "a long - time friend of Mr. Daley."

Then the property was sold to Mr. Daley through a real estate agent, Walter Shandro, while parks commissioner until his death a year ago.

Mr. MacDonald said the basic principle at issue is that there "must not be the appearance, let alone the reality, of conflict between a elected member's public and private business."

Calling Mr. MacDonald a "character assassin" Mr. Daley said the land he bought was sandy plus land not wanted by the parks commission.

"I don't think there should be the immunity of parliament for the kind of attack Mr. Daley has had," he said.

He said he had been surprised when Mr. Shandro offered the land for sale. He said Mr. Shandro has been active in negotiation in the Niagara area, donating a great deal of time to social and hospital work.

"I don't say that everything the commission does is perfect," Mr. Daley said. However, he added, "I'm as proud as I can be of the commission in the development of the park."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: An intense storm centred in Illinois has spread precipitation northward into Ontario. Snow and freezing rain are reported in central sections but the snow has changed to rain in southern regions. The storm centre will move across Eastern Ontario tonight and the rain and snow over Ontario will change back into snow. By Thursday a moderate to strong northerly winds will persist through the day over the province giving flurries in Southern Ontario with the snow continuing through most of the day in the northern sections of the province. The snowfall expected during today and Thursday will range from below two inches over Southern Ontario to six or more over Northern Ontario.

Spiritual Head Of Yugoslavia's Catholics Dies

BELGRADE (AP) — Aloysius Cardinal Stepinac, 61, spiritual leader of 7,000,000 Yugoslav Roman Catholics and a thorn in the Tito regime, died today in his native village of Krasave at the age of 60.

News of his death reached Belgrade this afternoon. He died early this morning.

He has suffered for several years from a blood ailment which made him susceptible to thrombosis (blood clotting) attacks. Seven years ago a thrombosis of his left leg required surgery.

Tuesday he was reported suffering a cold, but his personal physician, Dr. Benjamin Bogdanovic, said he thought that his illness was not serious.

Report Canada's Population up Ten Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's population reached 17,678,000 on Jan. 1, the bureau of statistics said today. That estimate was an increase of 2.3 per cent—or 394,000—from Jan. 1, 1959.

This compares with increases of 297,000 in 1958 and the record 543,000 in 1957.

The population has increased by 1,526,000, or 9.5 per cent, since the 1958 census.

The Jan. 1 figure is up 196,000 from July. 1 last year.

NEW ONTARIO HIGH

Ontario's population exceeded the 6,000,000 - mark for the first time, reaching an estimated 6,-060,000 compared with 5,887,000 Jan. 1, 1959.

TOPS 4,000,000

Quebec's population had passed the 5,000,000 - mark for the first time at the bureau's mid - year estimate when it was placed at 5,011,000 on July 1. At Jan. 1 it was estimated at 5,070,000, compared with 4,955,000 a year previously.

Ontario had the largest numerical growth with an increase in the 1956 census — 635,000. The estimated increases as of Jan. 1 were: 442,000, British Columbia 190,000, Alberta 144,000, Manitoba 41,000, New Brunswick 41,000, Saskatchewan 25,000 and Nova Scotia 20,000.

British Columbia's 13.9 was the highest percentage rise since 1952. The others: Alberta 12.9, Ontario 11.7, Quebec 9.6, Newfoundland 8.7, New Brunswick 7.4, Manitoba 5.2, Prince Edward Island 4.6, Sesella 3.5, Saskatchewan 2.8.

Other Jan. 1 population estimates by provinces with Jan. 1, 1959, figures in brackets: Newfoundland 463,000, (445,000), Prince Edward Island 102,000 (101,000), Nova Scotia 718,000 (715,000), New Brunswick 599,000 (584,000), Manitoba 924,000 (881,000), Saskatchewan 906,000 (896,000), Alberta 1-,-268,000 (1,228,000), British Columbia 1,594,000 (1,526,000), Yukon 13,000 (12,000), Northwest Territories 21,000 (21,000).

RELIEF PROJECTS BY GOVT. UNDER BITTER ATTACK

Call Winter Program "Puny Measure"

OTTAWA (CP)—Two of the federal government's biggest special relief projects came under blistering appraisal of the Commons opposition on Tuesday.

One, the $15,000,000 winter works program, was described by W. J. Pugesley (L—Burin-Burin-Twillingate) as a "puny measure" in view of 172,641 unplaced job applicants at Jan. 21. Frank Howard (CCF — Skeena) called it a "tawdry, peanut programs."

The other measure, the federal-provincial fish-packing program of aid for prairie farmers with inoperable grain, was rapped by Opposition Leader Pearson as requiring a Prairie man's blank cheque for $2,000,000—the federal share—to be paid out under the same ordinary conditions as proposed.

Mr. Pearson said Labor Minister Daley, chairman of the Niagara Parks Commission, had acted improperly and violated the "fundamental principles upon which the standards of public life are based" in purchasing property formerly owned by the commission for a fruit farm.

The 40 acres in question had been bought by Beniamino Bogdal-ese, described by Mr. MacDonald as "a long - time friend of Mr. Daley."

Then the property was sold to Mr. Daley through a real estate agent, Walter Shandro, while parks commissioner until his death a year ago.

'Leave the Queen Alone' Says Paper on Controversy

LONDON (AP) — With the Queen's third baby expected in less than a week, a controversy is swirling about her head because she changed the Royal family name to one with a German background.

Two newspapers complained Tuesday of the new name, Mountbatten-Windsor. Mountbatten is the English version of the German name Battenberg and was adopted by Prince Philip's forebears in the anti-German frenzy of the First World War.

The Daily Mirror asks that the issue be submitted to Parliament.

Canadian - born Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard says: "The warm affection in which the Queen is held will ensure that this ill - considered change will have been far better if no occasion for controversy and criticism had been offered."

To these complaints The Star replies with a six-column headline: "Leave the Queen alone." Public opinion, it says, is a matter that won't appear on anyone's birth certificate for two generations, and the Queen is Queen Elizabeth II.

In her proclamation Monday, the Queen announced that she and her children will continue to be known as the house and family of Windsor. The name Windsor will not apply to any future descendants in the direct line of succession to the throne, since royal princes and princesses do not have surnames.

The Queen's decision clearly was intended as a tribute to her husband, Prince Philip.

But supporters and opponents of the Queen's move also saw it as a triumph for Philip's uncle, Earl Mountbatten of Burma, supreme commander of British military forces.

Mountbatten has no son, but now his name will be kept alive in royal fashion.

Until 1917 the Mountbattens, related to Queen Victoria's family like the Queen, had the German name Battenberg. Mountbatten's father, Prince Louis of Battenberg, was hounded from command of the British fleet in the First World War because of his German name. Prince Philip is a Mountbatten.

The family anglicized it to Mountbatten in 1917 at the request

Forces Dismayed by Defence Budget Cuts of $99,000,000

OTTAWA (CP) — The armed forces are dismayed at the $99,000,000 reduction in the 1960 - 61 defence budget.

The consensus is that the government is thinking of defence policy is governed by money and by military strategy.

A survey of opinion in the armed services — those expressed by ministers and officials quoted—indicates they feel the defence budget should be increased more instead of less on defence.

The administration objects to it cut the defence budget to $1,360,272,-000 for the fiscal year beginning April 1 from $1,605,194,000 in the current year.

Progressive Conservative members of Parliament say their methods of defence forces indicate the public feels Canada is spending enough, if not too much, on defence.

The Liberals have not advocated this policy in defence conditures and the CCF more than once has called for a heavy cut.

In the opinion of armed forces officers, the cut in defence funds given the equipment to carry out their duties in the event of war.

Mr. Pickersgill said the winter works program illustrated the truth of "you can't have both, shall be given."

Municipalities able to take advantage of the federal offer were to have only about 15 per cent tax base. But in those areas where unemployment was the greatest, the capacity of municipalities to undertake capital works projects was the least.

Dies in Africa

BRANTFORD (CP)—Mrs. Beulah Mae Alloway, 34, formerly of Brantford, died suddenly Monday in Kenya, East Africa, it was learned here by relatives. She was the wife of Harley Misener.

Mrs. Alloway and her husband, the former Beulah Mae Lewis, with the Africa Inland Mission. They had planned to return home this year.

Mary and George Names Favored By British Public for Royal Baby

LONDON (CP)—If the royal baby is a girl, a British newspaper tells its readers, 24½ per cent of the British public wants her to be named Mary.

Another 10 per cent of the cross-section questioned by the newspaper Daily Mail favored both. Smaller percentages prefer Victoria, Ann, Jane, Elizabeth, Jane and a variety of other names. A significant 17 per cent registered as undecided.

In assisting the press by volunteering such information, the Mail's pollsters have created a need for a wealth of detail about the impending royal birth in which few angles have been overlooked. A few examples:

All the items in the baby's layette are white and trimmed with blue or pinmross. The Queen is not fond of pink.

The Queen's midwife, Sister Helen Rowe, wears uniforms of kingfisher blue because "its much more flattering that dull grey," Sister Rose loves bobbies.

The Queen has developed a sudden fondness for honey and has been eating it regularly every day. Another report says her real favorite is scones pears.

The hobby of Sir John Weir, the Queen's physician-obstetrician, is music. "I an instrument is had a tone out," he once said, "it is my hobby."

The Queen's choice of yellow and white as a suitable garment that she is truly a modern mother. There is a general trend away from the heavy furs from the usual pink-for-a-girl, blue-for-a-boy scheme.

And from one fearless paper: "As the whole world speculates —often quite muddy and inaccurately—about what will go on in the royal nursery, I can tell you one thing that I KNOW the Queen will whisper to Prince Philip as they both gaze down at their new baby:

"How Tiny! I'd forgotten they other two were ever so small!"

Scout Chokes Self Trying To Tie Knots

BOUCHERVILLE, Que (CP) — Scout Kevin Keith-Robertson, 12, strangled himself to death with a rubber belt he was experimenting in the bedroom of his home, police reported.

Chief Det. Marcel Lemay said the boy apparently slipped to the floor after one end of the rope in a door handle, leaving the other around his neck.

attitude that the public in peace-time won't stand for heavier defence outlays.

Regardless of whether this government judgment is accurate, defence spending has been continuing since 1952.

Cuts of maintaining about 120,000 servicemen and their equipment in the field while providing With a de-cending ceiling on defence funds, the money left available for new weapons. And each year new weapons cost more.

The defence budget tabled last year was divided into three operations and maintenance, $1,000,000,000; capital, $280,000,000 for weapons, a cut of $41,000,000.

The funds available for weapons have to be spread thinly because the bulk must be used built is that no one service can be adequately equipped.

Senior officers say neither the government nor the chiefs of staff committee has yet been able to come to grips with the problem of what equipment it should be done first and best.

De Gaulle Plans Tighter Control Over Algeria

PARIS (Reuters) — President de Gaulle has been given further today to approve new measures for tightening government control over rebel-ridden Algiers in Algeria.

Determined to avoid any repetition of last month's revolt against his authority, he was reported to have decided on:

1. Sanctions against officials and army officers involved in the settlers' revolt;

2. Separation of civil and military powers in Algeria so as to weed out army officers sympathetic to the settlers;

3. Reform of the penal code to permit the house arrest of rightist leaders instead of prison sentences.

Justice Minister Edmond Michelet flew back from Algiers Tuesday night to report to the cabinet after installing a new prosecutor who promised swift justice for those who broke the law.

De Gaulle has left no doubt that he intends to deal firmly with the leaders of the revolt against his policy of self-determination for Moslem rebels who have been fighting the French in the North African territory for more than five years.

Eighteen persons are reported facing court action for acts threatening the internal security of the state, and a dozen others are reported under house arrest.

Given 3 Years For Wounding Kingston Man

KINGSTON (CP)—Donald Clifford Kennedy, 21, of Kingston Tuesday was sentenced to three years in Kingston Penitentiary after pleading guilty to three charges in connection with the shooting of a taxi driver Everette Almont Kennedy.

McKenzie, who was not represented by council, told the court he was under the influence of alcohol and was not in his "right mind" at the time. He said he had taken the day before to avenge the robbery with the idea of using it on himself.

In passing sentence, Magistrate Garvin said perhaps liquor had influenced McKenzie but that he had stolen the revolver the day before indicated the robbery was premeditated.

McKenzie's sentences, to run concurrently were four years on a charge of armed robbery, three years for a charge of unlawfully wounding with intent to disable and six months on a charge of theft of the .38 calibre revolver from the farmhome of his employer, William Earl Shepherd.

LIQUOR BOARD HAD NET PROFIT OF $76,106,736

Up Ten Million Over Last Year

TORONTO (CP)—The Liquor Control Board of Ontario made a net profit of $76,106,736.19 in the fiscal year which ended March 31, 1960. This was an increase of approximately $10,000,000 from the preceding year.

The board's annual report tabled in the legislature Tuesday showed a profit $1,305,736 more than estimated in the budget.

Consumption of Canadian-made liquor was up in Ontario by 17.4 per cent over the previous year. Imported liquor sales increased 10 per cent. Wine sales were up but beer consumption declined.

Sales of spirits, wine and beer from LCBO outlets for the year totalled $172,852,519, an increase of $22,810,844 over sales for the 1957-58 fiscal year.

BEER SALES UP

Beer sold from Ontario breweries and brewers retail stores dropped 1.8 per cent, a net value of $145,653,764.

W. H. Collings, chief commissioner of the LCBO, said the general, provincial and municipal governments got a total of about $183,000,000 from levies on Ontario's alcoholic beverages and the building corporation and realty taxes paid by manufacturers and license holders.

The LCBO paid 259 municipalities $823,535—a proportion of liquor profits—and the $272,515 in business and realty taxes.

The LCBO has 400 liquor stores and 293 brewers' retail stores in operation. It had closed at the end of the fiscal year, Seventeen Ontario and four Quebec breweries were licensed to sell their products in Ontario during the fiscal year. Five Ontario breweries Brewing Company and Jubilee Brewing discontinued operations Dec. 31, 1958.

GALLONAGE FIGURES

Consumption figures also fluctuated figures for the previous year in brackets: Canadian spirits 2,735,333 (2,329,000) imported spirits 917,633 (831,221); Canadian wine 2,773,333 (2,624,000) Canadian beer 81,523,616 (80,382,-333).

Although not mentioned in the report, a strike of brewers' retail store employees in September of 1958 cut into sales of Canadian-made beer in the province.

There were 63,784 convictions under the Liquor Control Act during the year, 40,166 of the 1-ast involving intoxication.

The Hospitality Room, 1,206,124 individual liquor permits were issued, including 1,220,000 special permits to doctors, hospitals, druggists and others.

Painter Killed

OTTAWA (CP)—A painter was killed and another injured Tuesday when they fell 20 feet from beams of a new RCAF station Uplands here.

Vic Blogelle, 46, was killed. Leo Champagne, 47, suffered a fractured skull and fractures of an elbow and a knee. Both are Ottawa residents.

Vanier Helps Observe Bicentenary Of Coming of First Jew to Canada

TORONTO (CP) — National observances will be held to mark the coming of the first Jew to Canada reached a climax here Tuesday.

There was a civic luncheon, a reception by Lieutenant - Governor Frank Lo-a-ey and a play-reading attended by Governor - General Vanier and more than 4,000 Jewish citizens.

Hundreds were turned away from the luncheon in the downtown hotel Tuesday night after a sellout crowd had been packed to take the overflow from the main room.

The Governor-General acknowledged the part played by Jewry in Canada and congratulated the community for its high spiritual and civic standards. He presented a Jewish Congress for its proclamation of religious freedom and for the freedom found by Jews in Canada.

Saul Hayes, executive vice-president of the congress, said the Canadian Jewish community has to strive "to remain loyal to the values which make us Jews and at the same time an integral part of the Canadian scene". Foremost, he said, it is possible to have the best of both worlds.

Congress President Samuel Bronfman said the bicentenary observance of people from other countries was a lesson to the world.

Canadian Jews, he said, have set no one object in mind—to build a greater Canada.

At the civic luncheon Nathan Nemetz, chief justice of Manitoba, presented a city council testimonial to Lieut.-Gov. Lo-a-ey, national vice-president of the congress.

In the Ontario legislature Premier Frost, Opposition Leader Wintermeyer and CCF Leader Donald C. MacDonald paid tribute to the Jewish community.

Since the first Jew, Aaron Hart, arrived with Wolfe's army the Jewish community in Canada has grown from 250 persons in Ontario has 100,000 Jewish citizens. There are 30,000 members of Montreal.

Aaron Hart's son, Ezekiel, was the first Jew elected to the legislature of Lower Canada, but was prevented from taking his seat because of his race. However, this led eventually to legislation guaranteeing Jews equal rights in Canada.

Sailors And Sea Fight For Wine Tanker On Bar

Part of Crew Taken Off By Copter in Heavy Gale

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sailors fought the sea today for the $7,000,000 Angelo Petri, the world's largest wine tanker.

The coast guard responded to the Petri's distress calls and began evacuating the crew by helicopter. Fourteen of the 40-man crew had been lifted from the heavily rolling vessel when Capt. Edward A. Lehn of San Mateo, Calif., decided he might be able to save his ship and cargo—21,800,000 gallons of bulk wine.

POSITION PRECARIOUS

Two coast guard cutters and two tugs responded to the Petri's aid and found her in a precarious position.

The storm was still raging. Waves 20 to 40 feet high were battering the rolling tanker. And the Petri, with a 35-foot list, was in less than 60 feet of water. Two sandbars were nearby.

Rescues under ideal conditions, it would take sharp navigation to get the Petri out of about trouble," a coast guardsman said. "As it is, it's going to be keeping her from getting slammed onto a sandbar."

The coast guard cutter fired a tow line to the tanker. While this was being done, the crew of

A question - and - answer period was held following the address and the 40 members and guests showed interest in a display of broadband and single channel television distribution amplifiers.

Refreshments were served by the M and I Supply Company, Belleville.

Rawdon Council Names Convention Delegates

Only routine business was transacted by the Rawdon township council at its February meeting.

Councillors Fred Beckett and Burton Morton and Donald Brown were named to attend the annual meeting of the Rural municipalities, while Murney Johnston and Kenneth Mumby will be delegates to the Ontario Good Roads Association Convention.

MORE TEEN FATHERS

NEW YORK (AP)—The number of teen-age fathers on the United States is sharply increasing. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company said Tuesday children born to fathers less than 20 years old rose from 40,000 in 1940 to 106,000 in 1957, a gain of 163 per cent.

Rawdon Jr. Farmers Skating Party Hosts

After the party, about 75 persons met at the Masonic Hall for two hours of games and dancing.

Pat Merrill and John Craighead were in charge of recreation and Carol Fargey, Peter Heasley and Ken Martin were in charge of serving lunch.

Pat Merrill, president of the Rawdon Junior Farmers, thanked the group for coming and invited young people in the district to join the Club.

H.S. Furnace Breaks, Water Covers Floor

DESERONTO — Another headache developed for the Board of Education on Monday morning when the caretaker of the high school found the furnace had broken overnight. Vernon Mr. Davis went to the school on Monday morning and found the furnace out of commission and several inches of water over the basement floor.

Arrangements were made to accommodate the pupils at the public school where they will use grades 7 and 8 and 10 from 2 p.m. until 8.00 p.m. The public school classes have been rescheduled so that the two schools will not interfere with each other.

The Board of Education is calling in a heating expert who is expected to advise them of the course to be taken. It is hoped that a furnace will have to be installed and, if so, this will be done at once otherwise will have to be issued and tenders called for. If, however, repairs are possible the present arrangements will not be of too long a duration.

Born on the Dyendinago Reserve, Deseronto, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hungry. She was married in Belleville for the past 41 years and was a member of the Anglican Church.

Her husband, George Bay, predeceased her.

She is survived by two sons, Joseph and Calvin Bey, both of Belleville, two daughters, Mrs. Clayton (Sarah) Potter of Rock Island, Que., and Mrs. Angeline Bey, one sister, Mrs. Robert Smart of Cleveland Ohio, three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

PLAN HOVERCRAFT

LONDON (AP) — Britain has started design studies for a hovercraft to ferry 200 cars and 1,500 passengers across the English channel at more than 100 miles an hour, a government research agency said Saturday. The government engineers believed a 15-minute flight across the channel can be operating on a regular hourly service in five years.

REMEDY FOR LEAKS DUE TO ICE FORMING ON EAVES

A new type shingle has been manufactured known as Lowslope, which is 235 pounds per square and is completely cemented down to itself thus forming a watertight roof. By installing these shingles at the eaves of your roof for a distance of 4 or 5 feet, it prevents leaking into the house due to ice formation at the eaves. Quinte Roofing Limited, 93 College Street West are applicators for these special shingles. Phone WO 8-5716 for further information.

Wives Guests Of Kiwanians At Dinner Meet

Approximately 35 wives of local Kiwanians were guests of the club Tuesday at a special dinner meeting in the Kiwanis Centre.

The special guest — Valentine meeting was arranged by Dr. Harold Craig and Ken Burkett were in charge of the program.

The meeting was under the chairmanship of Kiwanian George Tripp, who welcomed the ladies, many of them members of the Kinette Club, and congratulated the Kiwanians on the excellent turnout.

He introduced Mrs. C. W. Coleman, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, who, on behalf of the Auxiliary members, thanked the club for inviting them.

The guests of honor were humorously introduced by Staff McKenna, the "club comedian," and each was presented with a red rose by Dr. Craig.

Mrs. Gordon Reid of the entertainment was provided by Bob Burke, a Northern Electric employee and owner of Bob Burke's Chalk Dust. Mr. Burke delighted the audience with a fast-paced comedy routine, and concluded his routine with a song dedicated to the ladies, "May The Good Lord Bless And Keep You." He was accompanied by Kiwanian Ken Graham.

A sing-song was conducted by Bill Stewart, followed by a hardy rendition of "Auld Lang Syne" by Kiwanian Leigh Thompson, and "Young Charms," by Phil Burke.

Entertainer Bob Burke, program chairman Ken Burkett and Chef Morgan were thanked on behalf of the club by President Tripp. Secretary Armstrong, and Canon A. S. McConnell respectively.

Past Club supervisor Don Rose announced that a Key Club meeting at which 150 have been invited from as far away as Peterborough, will be held February 20th at BCI. He also announced a tentatively a Key Club will be organized in Trenton next month.

Boat, Rod, Gun Club Reports Balance on Hand

DESERONTO — The regular meeting of the Deseronto Boating, Rod and Gun Club was held recently. There was a good attendance of members on hand to receive the report of the audit and the financial transactions for 1959. The treasurer reported a good balance on hand to begin the year 1960.

Mr. Ralph Lawlor was appointed auditor and Mr. Clute and Mr. Hall proper arrangements can be made, a course in the safe handling of firearms will be held in the near future.

The club has received the equipment to mark the sunken piers near the Club property and the year 1960 will be the first after the ice is out of the bay.

CHARTERED CLUB

The Deseronto Boating, Rod and Gun Club is a chartered club with 59 members and has 20 acres of land on the bay shore with space available for the launching of boats. The club has also a cement ramp available for the launching and loading of boats when the bay is open.

Electricity is available for all boat houses and one new boat house has an electric winch for raising and lowering his boat. The harbour at the Club House is one of the most sheltered on the Bay of Quinte and even in the rough weather, present no problem in the Canadian Club boats. There is also a dock available and plenty of deep water right to the shore line.

The property owned by the Club was formerly known as the Long Dock which was owned and used by the Rathbun Company in the days when the town was more prosperous.

Meetings of the Club are held on the first Wednesday of each month and prospective members are welcome to attend. Membership applications may be addressed to Box 250, Deseronto.

263 Trees Planted By City Last Year

It cost the city just under $2 each to plant 263 trees in Belleville last year.

Most of the trees planted were in the new sections of the city, although some planting in the older parts of the city was also carried out.

The cost of the planting as given in the annual report of City Engineer Malcolm Turnbull was $520.16.

are continued, he said, fewer able persons will volunteer to serve on them.

He said Mr. MacDonald's charges came from some "little vindictive person" who wants to harm the reputation of the commission.

DESERONTO PARTIES

He also termed inaccurate the charges that the park's police force is used as a taxi service for Deseronto councillors and their important guests, and that the park refectory is the scene of lavish liquor parties.

He said Mr. MacDonald had once accepted the hospitality of the commission and had even enjoyed refreshments in the refectory.

"You accepted the hospitality and snooped around, opening doors and drawers to see what you could find," Mr. Daley said.

Mr. MacDonald charged "hatchet men" and Roberts was undermining the labor movement when he "deliberately set out by emasculating employees of the Crown and then employing a well-known labor lawyer."

He called for amendments to the Crown Agencies Act to enable the city to acquire property by

SARNIA DEAL

Mr. Daley said deal, Mr. MacDonald said, was a "flagrant piece of political favoritism" in which public funds, through Hydro, were used."

He said the evidence showed Hydro paid nearly $7,000 an acre for land valued by farmers assessed for $2,300 an acre by the federal government.

The land was bought for a transformer and access lines to and from the site. The land was sold privately in the area in 1958 for $300 an acre.

"How much did the Tory election chest profit from this fishy deal?" Mr. Daley asked angrily.

Energy Resources Minister Dana Porter said he will present to the legislature all important affidavits connected with the land deal.

"I will be filing affidavits and statements with the house if they are contradicted," Mr. MacDonald said. He referred to the possibility that Mr. Macdonald would also file affidavits to substantiate his charges.

"Why didn't Hydro expropriate the land?" Mr. Daley asked.

"Why don't you wait until a statement is made in the legislature," Mr. Porter replied.

WOULD STAY OPEN LATE

In his three speech Wednesday, Mr. Lawrence said there was no reason why after midnight liquor stores could not remain open until 11 p.m.

"This would stop bootleggers in Toronto," he told the House.

Mr. Lawrence called public service advertisements by breweries "highly informative and meritorious"—more so than some of the public service advertisements by the sale of liquor should remain a government monopoly, he said, but the profit from it is no reason "for a continuance of liquor permits in this province."

Canadian Hog Prices Likely To Take Drop

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canadian hog prices likely will drop substantially during the next few months, it was predicted Tuesday of a ban on United States pork imports, the president of the Meat Packers Council of Canada said Tuesday.

J. R. Carroll of Winnipeg said removal of the ban on the cheaper American pork products will combine with recently established federal deficiency payments on Canadian hogs to force prices down.

American pork in the past has been too fat for the taste of Canadian consumers, he said, "but if the U.S. Department can't be big enough they might be willing to ignore that."

Drizzle Turns Streets Greasy, Stalls Traffic

Belleville streets were turned into skating rinks early this morning as a slight drizzle turned roadways into a greasy mass of ice, causing havoc to all parts of the city.

Possibly the biggest tie-up was along Bridge Street in the downtown area of the city as trucks and cars stalled on hills leading out of the area. Large trucks proved the biggest nuisance as they were unable to negotiate West Bridge Hill and this in turn held up private autos.

City sanding crews were called out in full force and it was only a matter of time until traction was restored on the graded and at intersections.

Police departments reported a busy time investigating fender benders but other minor accidents. By nine o'clock close to 10 such accidents had been reported, it was stated.

Provincial police reported several inquiries as to the condition of highways but up until morning no accidents had been reported.

Tweed bus driver Harold Emerson said that No. 37 highway from the city was improving as the result of the rain. From Plainfield to Tweed, Mr. Emerson said he was forced to proceed in second gear and the closer he got to the city the more slippery the road became.

IN MEMORIAM

CARLSON — In loving memory of a dear grandfather, who passed away February 10th, 1959.

He is gone, but not forgotten,
And, as dawns and days return,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him within us burn.
Days of sadness will come over us,
Tears will fall,
But this knows the sorrow,
But lies within our heart concealed.
—Ever remembered by grandchildren Carolyn, Jim and Grandson Kevin.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to extend my most heartfelt thanks to my many friends and neighbors for the lovely flowers, cards and thoughts to me during the recent illness and stay in hospital.

TORONTO STOCKS

The 11 a.m. volume totalled 452,000 shares, a shade heavier than Tuesday's turnover of 438,000 shares at the same time.

Royal Bank of Canada led industrial winners with a ½ point gain at 76. Algoma Steel was up ¼ at 37. On the losing side Imperial Bank lost ½ at 48¾.

Mines were quiet, Hollinger advanced ⅝ at 20¾ and International Nickel was ahead ¼ at 101¾. Senior uraniums were unchanged.

Final volume was 1,636,000 shares compared with Monday's 2,035,000.

Those Amazing Suburban Mazes

If, like us, you have heard of many lately, you are forced to the conclusion that the yen exhibited by Canadian planners for copies of the Cretan labyrinth must be caused by some other factor than the necessity of imprisoning a cross between a man and a bull.

Along about the end of the Second Great War, it was suddenly discovered that the typical Canadian city, with its square or rectangular blocks, was hopelessly monotonous. Graceful living, we were told, demanded something more imaginative. It became a sin against good taste to build a straight street. The ideal development was a mixture of curve, crescent and cul-de-sac.

This cult, far from having declined in power and influence, is now firmly established and the products of its handiwork are to be seen everywhere throughout the land—including Belleville's eastern and western outskirts.

We suggest that the contention these new developments are preferable to the old grid pattern is as mythical as the Cretan Minotaur.

There are many things wrong with the curve-crescent-and-cul-de-sac school of planning.

Specifically, such developments are inconvenient, costly to service and may well cause as many traffic accidents as they prevent.

The real mystery why there have not been hair-raising stories about some wanderers being lost for a week in these suburban labyrinths is that in most Canadian cities their expanse does not yet exceed that of the old, stodgy grid pattern, that unexciting expanse of streets which, if one walks or drives along the same road, one never ended up where one started.

Nobody should be permitted to engage in the work of planning until he has served a year's apprenticeship as a garbage collector. The garbageman knows what a well-planned development should be and he knows that the curve-cul-de-sac areas do not qualify. Too much doubling back on his route. Of course, he has company. The butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker, not to mention the snowplow operator, the bus-driver and the milkman, all face the same problem.

All of this back-tracking adds to the cost of servicing. In few cases does the cul-de-sac dweller pay all the extra cost. This means that the rest of us, who live on the grid pattern, pick up part of the tab. Take city services, for example, garbage collection and snowplowing. These are paid for on a frontage basis. The house on a crescent is assessed at no more than the same house on a straight block. Other added costs in these labyrinths include the extra time it takes the assessor to figure out the value of lots, no two of which are the same size and shape, and the extra cost of having water mains, power lines and gas mains follow a sudden halfmoon instead of leading on to the house next door.

One of the major arguments advanced by the planners for curving streets and cul-de-sacs is that they are safer for children. This is a half-truth and the half that reason may be considered the most outright falsehood. Children do play on the streets in reasonable safety. But what happens to them when they get out into the world of the grid pattern, if the family moves or when they venture into the older areas of the city? May they not be betrayed by a false sense of security?

Finally, there is the question of the economical use of land. We understand that developers like the curve and cul-de-sac because they are enabled to carve more lots out of a piece of land. We think this is an illusion. Less is true that square footage may result in backyards bigger than needed, but the arrangement typical of the older part of Belleville, on both the west and east hills, with long blocks between streets running approximately east and west and short distances between streets running approximately north and south, results in rectangular blocks which appear to us to use space economically. Besides this it has the additional merit of being easily serviced and of giving the stranger a reasonable opportunity of finding his way about.

Flying Bicycle on Way

By Kenneth W. M. Withers in Ulster Commentary

Man-powered flight, the dream of inventors down the ages, is within the grasp of students of aeronautics at the Jordanstown College of Technology.

2,000,000 pound Sir David Kelly Engineering and Chemistry Department of Queen's University, Belfast. Headed by Mr. Terence Nonweiler, 36-year-old senior lecturer in aeronautical engineering, they are designing the Ulster Queen, a flying machine which their calculations show will be capable of not only taking two men into the air for a short flight entirely by muscle power.

Their machine, a flying bicycle or "Pycycle" as they call it, will be not be the first bicycle to be fitted with wings. In 1912, a Frenchman, M. Pescod, offered a prize of 10,000 francs for a man- powered flying machine. It was won by a flying bicycle which raced up a ramp and then rose to the ground in a steep-angled glide.

Further progress by the other bicycle "Aviettes," as they were known, made with little success until two Germans, Hassaler and Vinninger, succeeded in 1936 in making a flight of 400 yards at 18 feet above the ground although only after their machine had been launched by catapult. The war put an end to further experiments and advances in other branches of flying removed the subject to intriguing and still unanswered question: was man capable of flying by his own exertions?

In 1955, when Mr. Nonweiler was teaching at the College of Aeronautics at Cranfield, Interest in the possibilities of man-powered flight was revived. Mr. R. Smeaton, the chief engineer of BEA had stated that it was possible for a man to do so and calculations showed that he was right.

Mr. Nonweiler then formed a committee and soon experiments were under way with the construction of light, wire structures and wind tunnel tests. The committee became the Royal Aeronautical Society's Manpower Aircraft Group — known as the "Man-pag".

Meanwhile, Mr. Nonweiler had taken up his post of Queen's. He saw the building of the Pycycle not merely as a means of proving a theory but as a valuable teaching aid. Senior aero students worked on design and eventual plans were laid for an extensive program of research, building and testing. A minimum value of 10,000 pounds was promised, but it was withdrawn when, in November, came the news that a prize of 5,000 pounds had been offered by industrialists. Mr. Henry Kremer, for the first successful flight by a man-powered aircraft.

The Queen's project — already well ahead of the contribution of the king — could win the prize, but only if it can get on and accomplish this ambitious program and concentrating on getting the aircraft into the air in the shortest possible time. Whether it will fly in six months or in 18 months will depend on whether it now receives any financial backing and the amount of spare-time work put into it. The committee — one of them an ornithopter (flapping wing) type, the other an inflatable wing flying bicycle are in the running for the prize.

The Belfast "Pycycle," simple in concept but difficult in detail, would carry its two cyclists tandemwise in an enclosed fuselage. It would be 26 feet long, 10 feet in height and fitting in a rubber covering would be 1-2 feet in diameter mounted high in the tail. The all-up weight would be 400 pounds. The take-off would be on level ground, with the machine being built up speed and then, at the critical moment, the pilots would (but air currents) and pedal power (a rubber engine) it should be possible to stay in the air for a day."

Ball Players' Superstitions

St. Louis Post-Dispatch

Never change your bat after hitting a home run. Never tuck your belt in-stand it never does. Never look before crossing. Chase that dog off the field before the first pitch; he will bring bad luck if he crosses to the other side. Always spit on the ground when you get the chance; one famous center fielder always stepped on the spit of middle and every time he went on or off the field. And split into the spits of your glove when things tighten up. There are few more effective calls on the bench than "Spit on it."

We have been reading "A Brief Dictionary of Baseball Superstitions" by Virgilius Fern, head of the department of philosophy at Mount Union College in Ohio, and find these signs under the heading of baseball lore. Mr. Fern also collected the pet superstitions of individual ball players. Rogers Hornsby, for a time, long time great manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, would wear the same undershirt until it hung in shreds. He always had a baseball bat handy to sit on in the button of his cap. The only time he ever got a hit for stealing was when the opposing pitcher had two strikes against him.

Eddie Stanky, pugnacious manager of the Boston Braves, would not allow anyone to step or kneel on a color inside the ball park. When his team began a slide he would position himself on the bench. No matter how uncomfortable it was, he would not change position as long as the rally continued.

Ty Cobb was glad to say that we take a bright view of Dr. Fern's notion of research. He got a hit at all this yearend lather over football and basketball, it is most pleasant to be reminded that in the game of games is still the game of baseball. Baseball season is coming up and in barely more than three months new pennant races will be on. Be careful when stepping over the base line, be sure to use the left foot first.

Gadget Saves Nurse's Feet

Cape Breton Post

A new kind of thermometer for taking temperatures of tuberculosis in hospitals is reported from Edinburgh. The idea is to take the thermometer without disturbing the patients, but it rather suggests something not to disturb the nurse.

Apparently, a device to save the nurse from running around, to keep her off her feet. Can't help but see a great deal of quick flipping switches, while the male patients want her to come back there and talk to them long enough to cause temperatures to rise dangerously.

A dubious device, and they had better take care not to get those wires crossed.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

GREAT WORD FROM A GREAT MAN

We are physical creatures. Basically, of course, we are spiritual beings. For the spirit is not only greater than the flesh — the spirit commands the flesh. A spirit of evil may dominate us and cause us to do evil. The spirit of the living God may dominate us and cause us to do good. But whether we do evil or good, we act primarily as spiritual beings.

We can be sure if we follow the teachings of the Bible, that we are meant primarily to dedicate our hearts so that they may receive the spirit of the living God. When flesh comes to be dominated by the spirit of goodness — then we are fulfilling the destiny to which God has appointed us. When spirit triumphs over flesh, then do we have peace.

Here is an interesting statement:

"There is no one in the United States who needs to be told or reminded that all free civilization rests upon a basis of religious faith. You can find this statement repeated in our own founding documents — in the Declaration of Independence. Recognition of religious faith was fundamental and advances in other branches of flying removed the subject to intriguing and still unanswered question: was man capable of flying by his own exertions?

After hoaging part of the Belleville Fire Department for a period of approximately fifty long and eventful years, the building known to Belleville residents as No. 1 Fire Hall will soon pass out of its present useful existence in that capacity. Acting in accordance with the decision arrived at during the last meeting of the Fire Committee, Mayor Ellis instructed Fire Chief Lynch to vacate the lower fire hall by the 16th of February. The building which is to house the Belleville Public Library and Museum Front St. in the future, is a well built structure 75 years ago, and for some years was used jointly as a city hall and also for housing the fire force before being turned over to the fire department.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johns, Miss Gena Burley and Mr. W. Leard motored to Peterborough.

The second in a series of concerts given at the Airport under the auspices of the Belleville WD Services Committee was held Sunday night when the guest artists were members of St. Michael's Band. It is planned to arrange such concerts each Sunday and Wednesday night for the entertainment of the men of the RCAF.

Phone Offers Bedtime Tale

Hamilton Spectator

The Telephone Company in Copenhagen, Denmark, must be going mad, too.

First of all, if restless kiddies need a bedtime story to get them to sleep, the subscriber soon will have to put in a call to the company for a three-minute recording of a soothing story. But then it's followed by menu-for-the-day service to housewives, a local entertainment bureau and facilities to transmit recordings for jazz fans.

There's a limitation to the network that even the Copenhagen company would think it a subscriber-service. I wanted to use his phone to have a conversation with another subscriber, then I thought, what nation could more logically appear in a domestic bedtime story service than Denmark, native land of Hans Christian Andersen and a shoemaker and one of the greatest children's story tellers in the world?

On this continent, it would be a different tale. Even if we all know North American kiddies, the only time they dial for a soothing bedtime story would be when those hore operas which tend to stop for a TV commercial!

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TAKE TIME

Only one thing can be done well at a time. This is a fact that cannot be disputed. Many people feel, however, that they can do a dozen things at once and thus show their ability as being unusual and striking.

It is a matter of record, the big doers of the world have always been those who did one thing at a time — and sought to do that one thing better than it ever had been done before. Take time!

Most things do not have to be finished today, although there are many things in the life of every man and woman that should be done at once. The main idea is to do the things that must be done, bearing in mind — if you have too many to do — that they do not all have to be done today. Take time!

There are more shattered nerves, more wornout bodies, more people never! round in the middle of "column."

"Assuage" should rhyme with "wage," and not with "tal."

There is no "bile" in "bluminal," and there is no "ex" in "exhaust," and no "pear" in "comparable" or "repairable."

There are three syllables, not two, in "cabinet."

"Brooch" should not rhyme with "mooch," but with "roach."

There is no "rat" in "procrastinate," no "meat" in "lamentable," and no "soo" in "lasso."

There is no "coop" in "recuperate," which is falsely associated with the word "recoup." Let us take the "p" from the end of "column," and put it where it belongs, in the second syllable of "recuperate."

Oscar Wilde once remarked that a bigot was a person who never used the word; but if the bigots had only known that at least they should pronounce the "t" and not elide it in the hideous "ladies and gzentemen."

One of the English words most often mispronounced by the uneducated is "sacrilegious," which is correctly pronounced as and with "say," and has no connection at all with the word "religious."

Lobsters Fly Across Ocean

St. John Telegraph Journal

The only living passengers carried direct across the Atlantic Ocean from the Saint John Municipal Airport, to date, have been Miramichi Brunswick lobsters—tens of thousands of them.

THE PACKSAK

By GREGORY CLARK

On the stage, in the movies and on TV, a comedian, in order to portray a real stupid, dim-witted bumpkin, has only to put his hat fair in the middle of the back of his head, and we get the impression instantly that he is a real, rectitude, worth and virtue. Not so much as one degree to the right or left, but right in the dell does the hat tilt. Not so much as an inch does it slip back or lean back. No, sir. Our great ones have built up a style that without even looking in a mirror to see how perfectly centred they sit.

Other signs of the stupid statesmen, industrial magnates and fathers of our country is the fact that they all wear their hats perfectly upright, dead in the middle of the front of their heads.

To wear the hat so is the mark of intelligence, of poise, rectitude, worth and virtue. Not so much as one degree to the right or left, but right on the dell does the hat tilt. Not so much as an inch does it slip back or lean back. No, sir. Our great ones have built up a style that without even looking in a mirror to see how perfectly centred they sit.

Dr. To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

"WALKING PNEUMONIA" IS A MILD CASE

"Dear Dr. Molner: What about walking pneumonia? Our doctor says we have it. Nothing seems to help. — Mr. and Mrs. F. H."

I dare say he advised you to go to bed and stay there, but you said no, you "felt good enough."

Pneumonia is inflammation of the lungs, and there are several varieties of it. Sometimes bacteria are involved, sometimes a virus. And not always the same variety of either.

Just as with a cold, you can insist on "playing on your feet" while being sick longer, or going to bed and giving Nature a chance to clear up the inflammation. But pneumonia is not a common cold. Don't fool around. Get well.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is taking tranquilizers in connection with alcohol harmful? — C. J."

Yes. Both of them dull one's reactions in sufficient doses. Together the effect is compounded. They do not mix.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Does a person's blood type change? Several years ago my blood was typed after donating blood. Now I am sure I am Type O. Recently I donated again and now I am Type A. If you'd find your memory is playing tricks on you. It happens to all of us.

As to feeling better after donating blood, it is natural to have to put that down to the emotional lift of having done a good deed. Donating blood (at suitable intervals) certainly doesn't hurt one. Some people have given over 100 pints! And every drop that it given is needed.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I drink a large quantity of soft drinks, but not coffee or tea. My druggist told me this is not good for the bladder. I would appreciate your opinion. — Mrs. L. T."

He is mistaken, because they are not harmful to the bladder. There are, however, other things to keep in mind. These tend to be overlooked. And if you are on the heavy side, the calories add weight. (About 80 calories to a six-ounce glass of the average soft drink or "pop.") Many dentists oppose soft drinks for children on grounds that most of them are quite acid, which could contribute to dental decay. Also the sugar likewise is criticized for the same reason.

Finally, some of the cola drinks are creatively high in caffeine. This should be regarded in the same category as coffee. If you are supposed to leave out beverages, the caffeine ones are substitute.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Can a pair of points (shoes with sharply- pointed toes) cause ingrown toe nails? My 13-year-old son wants to get a pair but I am afraid they will be harmful to our son. — L. C."

I agree with your husband. A shoe with a square toe is more sensible. I've seen feet ruined by pointed shoes, causing much trouble from wearing shoes that were too narrow.

"Dear Dr. Molner: There is a moderately greater danger of absorbing radioactive atoms to mothers in their 40's. This means that young mothers never have abnormal children, nor does it mean that older mothers necessarily will have. It's a matter of percentages.

Lunch Counter Segregation Protest Spreads

Charlotte thus became the fourth North Carolina city involved in the movement, whose backers say it is spontaneous and without organized support.

In Greensboro, where the protest action started eight days ago, Gordon Carey, white member of a group called the Congress of Racial Equality, said the Negro demonstration may spread soon to "a city in northern South Carolina."

MAY SPREAD FURTHER

Carey also said his group plans to organize picketing of F. W. Woolworth Company stores in New York City Saturday in sympathy with the North Carolina movement, which involved Woolworth outlets in Charlotte, Greensboro, Durham and Winston-Salem.

The Charlotte protest began when an estimated 200 students from Johnson C. Smith all-Negro university marched in orderly fashion on the downtown stores and asked service at the same lunch counters where whites are served sitting down.

A Charlotte Negro minister and editor, Dr. J. S. Nathaniel Troxs, objected to the demonstrations, calling them "uncalled for, unnecessary, ill advised and inexpedient."

Saying bitterness between the races will increase, Troxs urged "a meeting of responsible persons, white and colored . . . to resolve this problem because the situation holds the seeds of a disastrous explosion."

Former Member Guilty of Income Tax Evasion

TORONTO (CP) — Three Toronto businessmen, including Harold Fishleigh, former member of the Ontario legislature, pleaded guilty Tuesday to making false income tax returns.

Five firms, with which the men are connected, also pleaded guilty to tax irregularities. The firms are engaged in lands sales and subdividing in the Metropolitan Toronto area.

Mr. Fishleigh pleaded guilty to evading income tax payment of $6,500 in April 1954; James J. Walsh entered a guilty plea to a charge of suppressing income of $4,668 in a 1956 tax statement and John Cragg pleaded guilty to evasions totalling $177,723.

Companies pleading guilty are Derby Construction Company, Limited, Glen Sheppard Subdividers Limited, Active Subdividers Limited, Progressive Subdividers Limited and Hunters Glen Limited.

The firms admitting failing to record cash payments in their books and that on a few occasions they received "kickbacks" from road development firms.

Fifteen other charges were remanded for one week.

Members Claim Sunday Concert Bill Too Vague

TORONTO (CP)—A bill designed to legalize admission fees at some Sunday afternoon concerts in Ontario was criticized in the legislature Tuesday for lack of scope and vague wording.

Kenneth Bryden, CCF member for Toronto Woodbine, said the amendment to the Lord's Day (Ontario) Act, did not go far enough.

Elmer Sopha, Liberal member for Sudbury, claimed the vague wording would lead to a great deal of expensive litigation.

The proposed legislation allows non-profit organizations to charge admission to "any concert, recital or other musical performance of an artistic and cultural nature," they present.

"Would this include a rock 'n' roll concert or a player of a mouth organ?" Mr. Sopha asked. "And what about interpretative dances?"

"Various magistrates will have various ideas about what is artistic and cultural," Mr. Sopha said.

Attorney-General Roberts who moved the bill said the proper time to discuss the wording would be when the bill goes to the legal ills committee.

SAYS BILLIONS SAVED

Khrushchev Off On Asian Tour, To Visit Nehru

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev took off today for visits to India and three other Asian countries.

With members of his family and a group of high Soviet officials, he boarded his turboprop Ilyushin airliner after greeting diplomats and some Moscow officials who braved bitter cold weather to see them off.

Khrushchev's plane later landed in Tashkent, in Central Asia, and will fly on to New Delhi Thursday.

Khrushchev made no departure speech. Mrs. Khrushchev is not going on this trip. But with Khrushchev were his two daughters, Julia and Rada, and the latter's husband, Alexei Adzhubei, editor of the government newspaper Izvestia. He was also accompanied by a granddaughter, Julia, whose father was killed in the Second World War.

GREETING GOES ALONG

The party also included Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, Culture Minister Nikolai Mikhailov, and Georgi Zhukov, chairman of the committee for cultural relations with foreign countries.

Khrushchev will remain in India until next Tuesday, then push on to Burma for a brief stop. On Feb. 13 he goes to Indonesia, where he is expected to spend a week before returning home with a stopover in Afghanistan.

The Soviet press has been full of articles for the last two months telling how much aid Russia has given to India.

But the visit to India will pose problems for Khrushchev. Indian officials feel he is the only one who could induce China to give ground in the bitter dispute over the frontier between India and Tibet. This is expected to be one of the main topics Prime Minister Nehru will take up with his Soviet guest.

Radio Operator On Trial for Murder on Ship

William Van Rie, 31, of Utrecht, The Netherlands, has been in jail since last September in the death of Lyna Kauffman, 23, a pretty divorcee from Chicago.

Miss Kauffman's undressed battered body was found on the shore of a Boston harbor island last September, the day after Van Rie's ship, the Dutch freighter Utrecht, left Boston for New York.

The prosecution contends that she and Van Rie engaged in a 44-day shipboard romance that began in Singapore and ended with her death. Van Rie says there was no affair, no murder.

The first order of business in the trial was to pick a jury.

Police originally listed Miss Kauffman's death as due to accident or suicide, but medical examiner Michael A. Luongo overruled the finding, saying her death was not due to drowning, but to violence.

Mrs. Van Rie, loyal wife of the defendant, came here last October to wait for her husbands trial. They were married 22 months ago in Utrecht. She is convinced he will be acquitted.

Miss Kauffman, daughter of a Chicago industrialist, was an extremely pretty and talented girl. Since her divorce three years ago from a St. Louis lawyer she had been employed as a research assistant to Dr. Stanley Spector, 35, professor of Far Eastern studies at Washington University, St. Louis.

She was returning home aboard the Utrecht after spending a year in Singapore with Spector, his wife, Juanita, 39, and the three children.

Plan Guides' And Brownies' Auxiliary

DESERONTO — A meeting of the mothers of the local Guides and Brownies was held recently in the high school auditorium to form an Auxiliary. Location of a Mothers' Auxiliary of Guides and Brownies. There were about 30 mothers present to represent an enrolment of 60 girls in the two organizations that totals almost 120.

The commissioner, Mrs. Hunt, opened the meeting by welcoming the mothers and explaining the importance of forming an auxiliary. Apparently the local association previously in operation was small and the work is increasing beyond its abilities.

Since January 1st of last year the local association had spent $339.76, and in October each Guide and Brownie pack had received $10 for handicrafts. She told of the purchase of a permanent camp site near Picton, and explained how February was the most important month of the year for Guides and Brownies.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The meeting re-convened on January 25th for the purpose of organization. The following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. Dorothy Webster; vice-president, Mrs. Evelyn Mallory, secretary, Mrs. Madge Wemp; treasurer, Mrs. Nellie Claus; social committee, Mrs. T. Sherman and Mrs. B. Lord; camping committee, Mrs. B. Sherman, Mrs. T. Cole, Mrs. E. Gilbert, Mrs. M. Leafe, Mrs. M. Leafe and Mrs. Graham.

Commissioner Hunt again read the purposes of a group committee and the responsibilities and purpose of a Mothers' Auxiliary which is to assist all Guiders and not interfere in any way.

The monthly meetings will be held on the last Monday evening of each month with the first regular meeting on February 29. The executive meetings will be held a week previous to the regular meetings.

Contact Club Plans 'Variety Night'

Monday evening the Contact Club of Christ Church met at the parish hall, Everett Street, for a business and work meeting. President Doris Stewart presided.

Correspondence and minutes were read by Marg Niles, in the absence of the secretary, Molly Kerr.

An invitation was extended to the Contact Club from the Evening Branch of the W.A. to attend their "Variety Night" being held later this month.

Mary Fletcher gave a report from the past president's committee, which revealed their views on missionary work. It was decided that a new project be undertaken this year.

While the ladies were busy sewing, knitting and working on various articles, a successful business discussion was carried out.

Long Life Due To Hard Work Says Woman

UNITY, Sask. (CP)—A bowling wind that blew fire as it leaped across the prairie, scorching all in its path.

Mrs. Charles Anderson and her nine children watched in fear as the flames swept toward the sod shanty in which they lived in Cayuse, Alta. Mr. Anderson was working on the railroad several miles away.

The fire threatened to jump the narrow firebreak about the shanty. Mrs. Anderson, her feet bare, rushed outside and beat the sparks from the dry sod.

The wind died, the fire burned out as quickly as it had flared, and the pioneer life of the Andersons continued.

Mrs. Anderson, who recently celebrated her 100th birthday, now is the matriarch of a family extending to five generations. She attributes her longevity to hard work.

Once, she recalled in a interview, she dug a neighbor's cellar to raise money to buy a cow.

"I've always been strong, and my children too," she said. "We're a healthy family.

"See—I'm not grey, still fair as when I was a girl. You should have seen me at 17."

Mrs. Anderson and her husband, who died in 1934 at 87, moved to North Dakota from Sweden in 1886. They went to Minnesota in 1894 and in 1910 came to Saskatchewan to homestead in the Swift Current district.

Mrs. Anderson has seven living sons and daughters, 36 grandchildren, 62 great-grandchildren and 35 great-great-grandchildren.

Music Examiner Talks to Teachers On Examinations

The regular monthly meeting of the Belleville Branch of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Egerton Boyce. Due to illness, Mr. John Willsers, president of the Association, was unable to be present and Sister Mary Avila, vice-president, took charge of the meeting.

Sister Avila called on Mr. Boyce to introduce the guest speaker of the evening, Mr. David Ouchterlony. Mr. Ouchterlony was in Belleville presiding over the February Local Conservatory of Music examinations. He kindly reminded the teachers that Mr. Ouchterlony was the organist at Eaton Memorial Church, Toronto; supervisor of the Toronto branches of the Conservatory, and a well known examiner and adjudicator, too.

The speaker, in spite of a busy day, gave the teachers an inspiring address. He talked about the examinations from the standpoint of the four people involved, the pupil, the parent, the teacher and the examiner.

Of these four, the most important is the pupil. A pupil should be given examination because of his or her own desire to try, not because the parent or teacher wants it.

A parent should not over supervise but on the other hand the pupil should be given every encouragement. The interest of parents in the work of the pupil is of vital importance.

The teacher first of all has to teach the examination pieces, but should not limit a student's work to just the examination requirements. A pupil needs the extra pieces, outside the examination work, to improve musicianship. Mr. Ouchterlony expressed the importance of sight reading and ear training. Time must be found for these.

Mr. Ouchterlony wished that pupils could be relaxed at examinors as ogres just ready to take off marks for every slip and that they could be made to realize that they are not the enemy and how ever get nervous. Nervousness is universal.

Sister Avila, on behalf of the music teachers, thanked the speaker for his splendid address and then took charge of a short business meeting.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a social half hour was enjoyed.

Conduct Japanese Weddings On Assembly-Line System

By YUKO NAKAMAKADO

TOKYO (Reuters)—Japan has more happily married couples than ever before, at least statistically. For Japanese wedding ceremonies are being conducted on a sort of assembly-line system, at the rate of one couple every 36 seconds—the highest in history.

The divorce rate in this nation of 92,000,000 people, which totalled only a third of this the crest of the emancipation of women after the second world war, now is on a gradual decline. The rate is one divorce every seven minutes.

"Automation" of some sort is necessary to handle the current wedding rush. The whole affair from the match-making to the wedding ceremony and the honeymoon can be arranged, at inclusive rates, through special organizations.

The hall has two Shinto altars for wedding ceremonies. And to handle the rush, it arranged that each day, each ceremony must be completed in 20 to 30 minutes. A Shinto priest officiates.

As soon as the ceremony is over, the married couple are ushered into a photographic studio a few steps away.

When the ceremonial room is vacated, the priest and his attendants prepare the room for the next couple. When everything is set, the priest presses a button on the altar. A "go-ahead" signal for the next couple.

After the photographs have been taken, the couple is led to a reception room in the same building.

The reception also is closely timed. When it is over, a car will be waiting outside the hall to take the newlyweds on their honeymoon, usually to a hot spring resort about 30 miles southwest of Tokyo. The man who runs the wedding hall also runs the hotel.

The welfare ministry estimates marriages in Japan in 1958 totalled 870,000, compared with 836,000 in 1958 and 770,000 in 1957.

Commander Jones Visits Legion L.A.

WELLINGTON — The Canadian Legion Ladies' Auxiliary, Wellington, held their regular monthly meeting in the Legion Hall. President, Comrade Adela Ogilvy, opened the meeting and welcomed the members and their visitors and Zone Commander, Miss Jones, of Picton, who was on her annual visit to Wellington.

It was decided to hold two card parties one on February 19th and 29th, in the Legion Hall. Also to purchase two large riverme jugs to be presented to the local firemen.

After the meeting adjourned, lunch was served by the food committee in charge.

Comrade Ogilvy thanked Zone Commander Jones for attending the meeting and presented her with a nice gift on behalf of the Auxiliary.

Roy Barnum Gives Talk on Drugs to W.I.

RLYSTONE — On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Ray Sleeper was hostess to Rylstone Women's Institute when they met in the Sunday' school room of Zion church, Petherick's Corners. Fourteen ladies were in attendance.

Mrs. Don Kerr, president, was in charge of the executive part of the meeting and presided. Kerr gave the financial report. The roll call was answered by a display of homemade valentines and original valentine verses. Judges were Mrs. Bob Spencer, Mrs. Ellis Jones and Mrs. Alf Atkins. They awarded the quilt, a vase and bouquet of yellow roses, handmade from plastic foam to Mrs. Carl Reid for her crocheted lace valentine with a red plastic foam heart.

A card of thanks was read from Mrs. Fred W. Barnum for the help and sympathy she received from the community in the recent Campbellford.

Mrs. Alf Akins who has moved to the Wellman's community, was also presented with a cup and saucer. As she was present at this meeting she thanked the members personally.

Mrs. Don Stewart was convener for the balance of the program.

Special speaker for the meeting was Roy Barnum, well known druggist in Campbellford and a native of the Rylstone district, who was introduced by a former schoolmate, Mrs. Ellis Jones.

Mr. Barnum gave a splendid talk on the history of drugs and medicines, recent drug and chemical discoveries and their uses and some of the types of drugs expected in the future. He entitled his talk "Take, as Directed."

Mrs. Don Kerr thanked the speaker.

Mrs. Bob Spencer played accordion solos, "Tennessee Waltz" and "Side by Side." Mrs. Percy Reid played a reading "It Takes So Little," and Mrs. Jim Gray read "Vestidea." Mrs. Ellis Jones gave a demonstration on making "Aunt Dinah" covers for toasters or mixers.

Mrs. Gerald Barnum conducted a "Riddle" contest.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her committee, Mrs. Carl Reid, Mrs. Ella Jones and Mrs. Percy Reid.

Trinity WMS Elects Officers

MADOC — Mrs. Roy Taylor kindly opened her home to the members of Trinity United Women's Missionary Society for the February meeting on Wednesday afternoon. The first item on the program, following the opening exercises, was the installation of officers by the minister, Rev. R. A. Miller, who addressed the members briefly after the installation on their duties as WMS members and workers.

Newly elected president, Miss Annie Holmes, thanked the members for the honor of being selected as president and asked for their co-operation during the year ahead.

Following the business, the roll call was answered by each member drawing a slip and speaking on the subject mentioned. This proved interesting.

Conveners of the different committees gave their reports. Supply convener Mrs. K. Burnside, reported that gifts sent to the past worker at Halifax would be acceptable and these to be brought to the next meeting. Mrs. Rev. R. H. Naylor extended appreciation to Mrs. A. Empey, the retiring president, who had given of her time to the society during her term of office.

Mrs. Bennett gave a short reading on Christian stewardship and repeated prayer for the missionary, Miss Olive Shaw, of Winnipeg.

The members were reminded of the WMS Presbyterial to be held in Tabernacle Church, Belleville, on February 21 - 22, also the World Day of Prayer on March 4.

Mrs. Empey was in charge of the worship service, assisted by Mrs. W. McCoy, who read the Bible lesson from Isaiah and Mrs. Empey gave a reading. Mrs. E. Burnside gave a talk on the Study Book, Africa.

Officers installed for 1960 were: hon. pres., Mrs. R. A. Milley; pres., Miss Annie Holmes; 1st vice pres., Mrs. Ken Gordon; 2nd vice pres., Mrs. A. Savory Pies

by Mary Moore

The two savory pie recipes I am about to divulge have three common denominators: cheese, onions and pie crust.

If ever there is a time of year when savory pies are seasonal, when hot nonsensical dishes are welcome it is smack in the midst of February.

I've been shovelling snow and I'm hungry and could eat a whole one myself.

The Onion Pie is ideal for Lenten observers — clip it now for March meals.

CHEESEBURGER PIE:

3 1-2 lbs. lean beef, ground 2 cups soft whole wheat bread crumbs, 2 eggs, 1-2 cup strong coffee, 1-4 cup evaporated milk, 1 1-3 tablespoons minced onion (instant if desired), 2 teaspoons seasoned meat tenderizer (optional), 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 4 slices process cheese.

Combine meat, bread crumbs and eggs. Combine coffee, evaporated milk and minced onion and let stand 10 minutes. Add to meat mixture with meat tenderizer, Worcestershire sauce and mustard. Mix thoroughly. Pack into 10" pie pan. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 1 hour. Cut cheese slices in half, on the diagonal, and place around edge of pie. Pass under broiler until cheese melts and browns. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

WEDNESDAY

ONION PIE:

3 cups, 1-2 cup milk, 1-2 cup cream, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon Tabasco, 1-8 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-4 pound Swiss or old cheddar cheese, grated, 1-4 pound Gruyere cheese, grated (or 1-2 cup grated Parmesan), 1 tablespoon flour, 1 9" baked pastry shell, 1 large Spanish onion, thinly sliced and cut into quarters.

Beat together eggs, milk, cream, salt, Tabasco and nutmeg. Combine grated cheese (reserve a little for top), and flour; sprinkle evenly in pastry shell. Pour in cream mixture. Top with onion slices and remaining grated cheese. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. 15 minutes; reduce heat to 325 deg. and bake 30 minutes longer, or until point of knife inserted in centre comes out clean.

A reader asks for a potato pie. I think this may be it.

GRANDMOTHER'S POTATO PIE:

5 large potatoes sliced, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 1-2 teaspoons salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 1 tablespoon flour, 3 tablespoons water, pastry for double crust pie.

Line a flat baking dish with pastry. Cut potatoes in thin slices and place in shell. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, flour and parsley. Add water and dot with butter. Place crust on top and fasten securely. Cut a few holes in it to keep it from running out. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour.

Important Evening

By VERA-WINSTON

Pastel cotton tapestry makes the sleeveless bodice and the jacket of this full-skirted dress a delight for little evening events. Organza is used for the gathered oval bodice neckline. The colors are lovely, combining a soft celadon green and soft rose, with the tapestry in strong contrast.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

We are told that the weather has been discouraging people from going shopping. Even though we are lucky if we don't have a great many attractively decorated shop windows, we find we do only what we have to until suddenly, maybe subconsciously, there is a break in the long season when, in the distance, we get a suggestion of a change in season.

The fashion experts and designers and manufacturers have been working like mad throughout all this time and we begin to hear murmurs about the results. Phrases like "tremendous coats", "exciting suits", "a great deal of attention for shoulders", and "lengthening torso line" begin to appear.

We hear imaginative names for particular creations, such as "Caramel" for a dress of silk matching in two shades (rather beige and brown) which creates the illusion of cashmere. Another is called "Kind Sir" and has ruffles of starched lace on the bodice and cuffs of a dress and jacket of checked grey flannel. The word bodice always makes us feel as if we were back in the era of ruffles.) There is also a "Moonlight and Roses" gown, a flowered one with sequins on its coat.

This news is not nearly as interesting, however, as the news that lingerie is now being sold in cans. No more seeing or handling the items — that is quite a revolution. Canned Slips, panties and leotards were the first items offered, with not even a single sample displayed. Even the idea of a transparent window in the canisters was ruled out — it was thought that women would break the window to pull out the merchandise.

The cans are actually rigid containers made of cardboard with colorful labels indicating size, color and price. One firm in Canada has started this and retailers believe in the selling system; they predict a larger number of items will eventually be sold in this way.

A teacher in New Hampshire finds that his pupils have a pessimistic view of the future. He writes this to a paper: "One of my courses covers novels of the future and utopias. As part of this course I have been having them write essays predicting the shape of things in the future.

"I find it rather alarming that a third of them take it for granted that the human race will be extinct or nearly so by then. Half of the rest expect annihilation on a scale that will make war almost welcome. These are college freshmen, who by temperament ought to be optimists. But a third of them soberly expect — unless we change, our ways — to be dead of radiation before they are 45".

In contrast to this, we were told this story by the mother of a teen-age boy at one of our secondary schools in the city. She and her husband had been talking about the vexing problem of the "population explosion" which has been given a great deal of prominence lately. However, their worries were soothed by their son who is very interested in science. He calmly said, "Oh, you don't have to worry about that; we'll just populate the planet Mars."

When they looked at him in disbelief, and expressed that disbelief, he answered, "No, I mean it. A way will be found to get safely to the other planets, and if they are not the same as we have been used to, we will find ways to live there. So there's nothing to worry about".

The parents have decided they have even more to worry about now.

SPECIAL PAINT

ATIKOKAN, Ont. (CP)—Amateur artist Mrs. Marl Hegler developed a new native Canadian paint for the scene of the nearby Steep Rock iron mine which she plans to present to the mine. She combined pigments obtained by crushing iron ore with oil, turpentine, water and eggs.

Swirly Skirts

By ALICE ALDEN

A bevy of blouses and sweaters and a nice assortment of skirts permit a wide range of wardrobe possibilities, especially for the college girl and the young career woman. Here is a handsome skirt with that campus-to-city look. Full and well shaped, it comes in grey, navy or authentic flannel. A handsome leather belt is the thing to consider for this type of skirt.

MODIFICATIONS IN WEDDING INVITATIONS

Through the years, tradition has dictated the form that you follow when wording a wedding invitation. In former years, it was imperative that these conventional "musts" never be deviated from.

However, necessity is the "mother of invention," as the old saying goes, and divorce now has made it necessary to modify even the old traditional wording used on the wedding invitation. Where because when these customs were evolved, divorce was unknown. Common sense has to be resorted to at times to clarify the invitation in such a way that the recipients will be able to clearly identify who's who!

Take, for instance, the case of Mrs. John Doe and her former husband, Mr. Samuel Smith, who wish to send invitations for the wedding of their daughter Jean. Both parents have remarried, the daughter having made her home with the mother ever since the divorce. Now an impasse has arisen. Both parents insist that their names appear on the invitation. The mother thinks that since the daughter has lived with her, she alone should issue it; the father feels that since he is footing the bills for the wedding, his name also should appear.

There is only one solution to this problem, and that is to word the invitation as follows: "Mrs. John Doe and Mr. Samuel Smith request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Jean Smith, etc." Frankly, this is is extremely bad taste, but if the parents cannot come to an amicable decision, there is no other alternative. If possible, in this situation, the mother should issue the invitations, since the girl has lived with her, the father being willing to keep down. He should of course, be allowed to do the honors in the church, by giving his daughter in marriage.

If it is possible to arrive at such a satisfactory agreement, (and it should be!), the wording would be as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. John Doe request the honor of your presence at the marriage of Mrs. Doe's daughter, Jean Smith, etc."

There are two things to note in this wording. First, that the mother should always include the name of her present husband, and second, that the daughter's surname should be included for the sake of clarity. This of course, is not done on the conventionally worded invitation.

If the mother of the bride-to-be has not remarried, the correct wording would be: "Mrs. White Smith (or Mrs. May White Smith) requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of her daughter, Jean, etc."

Question: A friend of mine recently gave me a bridal shower. I personally thanked all of those who gave me gifts. Is it necessary that I write them a letter too? I also received four wedding gifts. Do I write and thank them? — Miss E. J. S.

Answer: It is not necessary to write a note of thanks when you have expressed your appreciation personally. It is very unusual for wedding gifts to be presented at a shower and is definitely not good form. I would suggest waiting until shortly before your wedding to write and thank them for these gifts, even though you have already done so initially. A wedding gift is the exception that calls for written appreciation.

QUESTION BOX

There seems to be many questions regarding the sending of wedding gifts. The following, and their answers, are the most frequently received:

1. Is it a must that a gift be sent when you are invited to a wedding? In years gone by, if you received an invitation to attend the ceremony only, a gift was expected. If asked to the reception, a gift was considered obligatory. Today the individual makes his own decision about sending a gift, in either case. Tip: It's nice to follow the old custom.

2. When and now should the gift be sent? Send it as soon after receiving the invitation as possible. It is inexcusable to wait until just before the wedding. It should be addressed to the bride, using her maiden name, and sent to her home.

3. Should a message be placed on the card enclosed with a gift? Actually, only the name of the sender is necessary. However, it is not incorrect to add good wishes if you care to. By all means, use your full name. Not just "Mary" or "Mary and John." The bride may know several bearing such names, and detective work is necessary to find out who sent what.

ROUGH CROQUET

WELLINGTON, N. Z. (CP)—Most severe sports casualty of the week here was in a game of croquet. A woman referee, bending down to watch a follow-through shot, received the full force of a player's mallet on her mouth. Her denture was broken and her lip required four stitches.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Judy K. — My sister is nuts — she should go to a psychiatrist.

Mrs. L. K.— We don't want her stigmatized.

Judy K. — I am a working girl of 20 and I am very much concerned about my 14-year-old sister, Dorothy, who is becoming a problem child.

Dorothy is the most irresponsible girl who ever lived. She tells lies, plays hooky from school, never does any homework and never takes care of her own clothes and things. When I was her age, I not only took care of my clothes but hers and sometimes my mother's as well.

Now that Dorothy's old enough to go out with boys I think she might get into serious trouble. Sometimes I think she's really mentally off. I have been trying to get my parents to take her to a psychiatrist, but they won't do it. They're ashamed to admit she is nuts.

Mrs. L. K. — Dorothy is more of a headache than Judy was at her age, but I'm not sure which of them is more of a headache right now. Sometimes I think Judy will drive me out of my mind with her screaming that Dorothy is a mental case and we'd better watch out.

I feel that Judy makes Dorothy worse by constantly keeping after her for every little thing. Dorothy just wants to get out of the house and I don't blame her. It's true I think there is something to worry about as far as boys are concerned, but I don't think going to a psychiatrist will stop her from anything.

My husband and I feel that Dorothy is just a kid and should not have the stigma of being a mental case attached to her.

The Council: We definitely agree that Dorothy should not be stigmatized as a mental case and we think the L. K.'s must insist that Judy stop referring to her sister in those terms.

The L. K.'s should also know that visiting a psychiatrist does not involve taking on any more of a stigma than going to any doctor. Thousands of people are under psychiatric treatment — among them, friends and business associates.

Whether or not Dorothy should go to one is, however, another matter. We do not think she should be dragged off to a psychiatrist against her will, but if she shows a desire to discuss her problems with A competent doctor, her parents should give her the opportunity. Our guess is that this doctor might be interested in having a chat with Sister Judy.

The L. K.'s and Judy should be aware that Judy's role in this family drama reveals some distortions in her own personality. She is far too concerned with her sister and her parents' problems with her sister. A young woman of Judy's age should be involved in too many of her own activities to get mixed up in the bringing up of a kid sister. This is her parents' problem.

The Biblical story of Cain and Abel dramatizes man's long history of brother hatred. Judy imagines herself as taking on a good and considerate role when she shows concern about her sister's problems, but she reveals herself as a Cain when she condemns her sister as "nuts."

Underneath is the desire to have her sister taken away or discounted as a human being — at the first step toward the kind of murder that has no legal consequences but is filled with emotional and moral meaning.

Like many emotionally disturbed individuals, Judy may be ashamed or afraid to admit that she would like to have some help. She may translate her own desire for help in terms of her sister's need. She should think it over and try to give herself an honest answer.

Electricity Key To Canadian Prosperity, Progress

Outdoor Living Expands Electrical Use, Increases Need for Outdoor Wiring

—Ah, for the outdoor life — in your own backyard! Plug in a radio or phonograph or television, and the back on your chaise lounge and enjoy the balmy breezes. Take along that portable appliance, and in the evening, with the family around (and maybe a few guests) turn the lights down low but let the spots play on those colorful plants you've been laboring over all day, and start to enjoy your outdoor electrical living.

And if you can't do all that because maybe you haven't got the proper outdoor wiring, then call in a competent electrical contractor (not a handyman) who knows about all these new electrical applications and let him install adequate outdoor wiring so you can live outdoors electrically as well as you do indoors.

What do you need? Well, there are myriad ways to fulfill your outdoor electrical life. You'll want your contractor to install, for example, a sufficient number of outdoor weatherproof outlets. These will take care of your portable radio and TV sets, and appliances such as a rotisserie, electric casserole, coffeemaker, frying pan and other cooking appliances.

Floodlights will come in handy for night badminton, croquet or other games. The outlets will serve for your electric lawn mower and hedge clippers as well.

Part of the evening atmosphere can be established early and automatically with a yard light that will turn on, by means of a photoelectric cell, when darkness descends and will turn off automatically at daylight. Your electrical contractor will understand the new wiring devices designed to increase your enjoyment of outdoor living, and he'll be able to install them efficiently and safely.

Some specific tips:

On the Terrace — install one weatherproof outlet for each 15 feet of house wall bordering the terrace or patio. It is recommended that these outlets be controlled by wall switch from inside the house. Installation of an outlet on the building wall or on a post centrally located is recommended for providing flood general illumination.

If you plan to cook and dine in this cooler out-of-door area, be sure to provide a circuit of number 12 wire. It will assure efficient operation of such appliances as the rotisserie, coffee maker, toaster or grill.

On the Porch — consider the advantages of doing some of the household chores in this area during hot weather. It should be wired for its many possible uses (perhaps ironing, sewing, cooking, dining, as well as for reading and recreation). You will need, at the very least one duplex outlet for every 15 feet of wall. A three-wire split receptacle is a highly efficient method of bringing electric current to any possible dining or cooking area where small appliances will be used. Such an outlet properly wired would allow twice the amount of electric load to be plugged in. In effect, you would have the benefit of two circuits. Ask your contractor about how this can increase the efficiency of your appliances.

For general illumination, install at least one lighting outlet, controlled by wall switch controlled on the porch or breezeway or other similar areas. You should install, as well, a multiple-switch control at the entrance when the porch is used as a passage way.

In the Yard — Electric tools and gardening equipment can be used most efficiently when special outdoor wiring is available. For handy use of an electric lawn mower and hedge clippers, install weatherproof outlets on the outside walls of the house near spots where the tools will be used. The outlets also will provide convenient plug-in spots for portable lighting when needed for gardening after dark.

In addition, special wiring may be installed for electric cooking appliances and lighting—the certain areas and for decorative garden lighting to dramatize flowers and shrubbery after dark, and for floodlighting for night sports and garden parties.

The trend in Medallion Homes is to well-planned and attractive kitchens. Many boast the new built-in electric oven and surface units. These new built-ins provide the ultimate in modern design with a choice of decorator finishes to compliment any kitchen plan. The deluxe oven above features all-chrome oven interior, completely automatic clock control, eye-level control panel. Matching two-element top units with a handy built-in griddle-in-the-middle top off the extreme flexibility and convenience offered in this new built-in kitchen. A choice of six striking exterior oven finishes is offered to go with any decor.

How the Electrical Industry Helps Provide Better Living For Canadians at Modest Cost

Canada is a country of many servants. The average family retains a staff of at least nine, whether it employs a maid or thirty. Servants are cheap. One servant will wash linen enough for ten families for as little as five cents.

Can you imagine an explorer from outer space making just such a note in his diary? Yet in any Canadian community today, these are the true facts. Canada is a country of many servants — electrical servants who work out not only in the home but everywhere, the life force of Canadian economy.

Industrialization began in Canada with the birth of electricity. Abundant electrical energy and the use of power equipment in industry has increased productivity to the point where it is the keystone of Canadian prosperity and progress. We are no longer a pioneer nation of fishermen, lumbermen, miners and farmers. We are an industrial nation, maintaining the second highest standard of living in the world. The development of electricity gave us the means to achieve it, the electrical industry gives us the leisure to enjoy it.

Perhaps nowhere is the actual meaning of this high living standard more apparent in terms of actual enjoyment than in the home. Here the electrical industry — which provides the Canadian household with its personal staff of "servants" — allows a way of life heretofore undreamed of in history. Surrounded as he is by his quick, efficient, obedient retinue, the ordinary Canadian householder is better served than many wealthy slave owner of old ever dreamed possible.

Besides lighting, the average home is served by nine or more electrical appliances, all accomplishing household tasks for "next-to-nothing". Consider the automatic "laundress" who does the family wash for $\frac{1}{2}$ a cent a load — and the whole wide range of cleaning and cooking help in the form of vacuum cleaners, polishers, stoves, refrigerators, toasters, kettles and others . . . do the household entertainment "staff" of radios, television and phonographs . . . Canadians get more electrical service in the home for less money than any other people in the world.

Canada's average household consumption of electricity is the world's record: about 4,000 kilowatt hours. It is about 15 per cent higher than that of the United states and many times greater than that of Russia. And Canadians pay least. One kilowatt hour costs only 1.6 cents per capita as against 2.5 cents in the United States.

In fact, as G. L. Wilcox, president of the Canadian Electrical Manufacturers Association recently pointed out, electricity is today's best buy by far. Where the "good nickel cigar" has long been 5 cents, and the "good nickel" with the nickel tram fare and even the nickel 'phone calls, a nickel's worth of electrical service yields astonishing returns. "On the average farm, Mr. Wilcox reported, "it will pump about 1,000 gallons of water, it will lift or carry 1,000 bushels of grain forty feet, it will cook a feed for 1,000 layers for three days, or it will inflate about 50 automobile or trailer tires.

In the average home it will run a TV set for 17 hours, a refrigerator for 3 days, it will toast 200 slices of bread, do 10 washes in an automatic machine, or operate an electric fan for 60 hours, or a radio for 24 hours . . .

And still the miracles increase. With some 70 home appliances available today the electrical industry promises even more wonderful ones to come. Some, like color TV, are already on the threshold of the popular market. Electronic cooking is on the way. New, easier, faster ways of heating and lighting our homes are moving up. Automation promises us a way of life which only a few short years ago seemed an implausible fantasy of science fiction.

But what of the industry itself? Busy now drafting the wonders of electronic marvels of tomorrow, providing the accepted marvels of today, and sustaining the vast supply of automatic devices which power almost every aspect of Canadian economy from factory to farm, the electrical manufacturing industry with its highly skilled labor force of over 80,000 is a vital part of the Canadian economy.

Through every segment of the industry, Canadians everywhere enjoy benefits of better living. Utilities provide us with electrical manufacturers develop and build the 70 "servants" available in modern homes; appliance stores make purchasing convenient; Canadian Standards Association safeguards the safety of product designs; the electrical distributor assures the smooth flow of materials all across Canada; the electrical contractor is responsible for installation; the inspector adds a further check on installation.

It is these seven segments, totalling almost 200,000 Canadians which comprise the Electrical industry, each in a different way dedicated to helping us Live Better—Electrically. Electrically today. Electronically tomorrow — better and better all the time.

Some Don'ts About Your Home Wiring

DON'T put in a new fuse or reset the circuit breaker without first disconnecting lamps and appliances which were in use when the circuit went off. Otherwise, you may blow the new fuse, cause the circuit breaker to trip out immediately.

DON'T blame the manufacturer or the dealer if your iron, toaster, electric sauce pan, etc. seem to heat slowly. Have your wiring checked first.

DON'T change a fuse when your hands are wet, or when you are standing on damp floor, and don't poke your fingers into the opening.

DON'T use appliances, especially portable ones, anywhere in reach of the bathtub. This includes radios.

DON'T allow the installation of outdoor outlets, or outlets in areas where the floor may become wet (basement or garage), without a grounding connection. Be sure the appliances connected to them have a similar grounding wire in the cord.

DON'T try to plug all your kitchen appliances into a single outlet at one time. Spread them around among different outlets and different circuits if you can.

DON'T connect stationary motor operated appliances (washer, oil burner, freezer, etc.) to circuits which also serve lights. It causes lights to blink annoyingly.

That's Our 'Furnace Room'

No furnace—no ducts—no pipe—no chimney. This electric heat panel eliminates all those items and more from the family budget. It is a wall-mounted convector which moves in the cold air via a gentle cycle, warms it, and distributes it to all parts of the room. Each room is controlled by its own thermo-

Silent, Clean, Safe 100 Per Cent Efficient

Here's what it will do for you:

1. Room-by-Room Temperature Control—Each room has its own instant heating system and thermostat. Each room can be kept as warm as desired without overheating the rest of the house. Unused rooms need not be heated.

2. No Flame — No Ash — No Furnace — Electric heat takes the furnace out of your home and puts it in the electric power plant miles away. There's no need to order or store fuel. The entire system's as safe as an electric light.

3. Complete Efficiency — No heat loss through chimney, pipes, or ducts. It eliminates the hard-to-heat problem in areas such as bathrooms, nursery, basements, attics, enclosed breezeways and porches. Householder gets and uses all the heat he pays for.

4. It's Clean — It's Convenient — There are no radiators. You decorate and place furniture anywhere. Square-foot building costs drop by hundreds of feet otherwise wasted for the usual chimney, heater, ducts. Entire house stays cleaner longer.

5. And When You Expand — Adding an extra room or wing is no problem as to whether the present heating system can stand it. Just run a new electric cable —less than 1" in diameter—and hook in the new heat.

Members of the CEMA — the nation's leading house heating equipment makers who joined to promote these efficient and economical systems — recommend use of units in the wall, baseboard or ceiling.

BASEBOARD PANELS NEWEST

Baseboard panels, the newest innovation, are installed against the wall in place of ordinary baseboards. They provide instant, no-draft, heat throughout the room and each room is controlled with its own thermostat.

There are two types of electric heaters which are built into the wall. The radiant-convection type pulls in the air, heats it and gently distributes it throughout the room. The other type is a radiant panel made of glass, metal or ceramic.

Since the face of almost all these units can be painted any color, they virtually disappear in the decorating. A fourth system disappears completely. This is the one in which the heating cables are embedded in the plaster ceiling.

All the systems operate on 240-volt current, the same as is used for electric ranges, water heaters and clothes dryers. And, of course, they are completely silent.

Controls on Dryers Keyed to Fabrics

This year's automatic dryers are hand-tailored to suit modern fabrics and to save wear and tear on a family's wardrobe.

Manufacturers have developed a wide variety of drying cycles to provide the right temperature and time for every type of fabric on the market. Special low-temperature, high-air flow cycles, for example, are featured for certain synthetic fabrics requiring careful treatment.

Simple two-step settings are the preliminaries for working some dryers on the market. With one model, the first step is to set temperature controls marked by fabric names or requirements, and the second step is to set the proper time. With another model, controls are set for fabric and load size, and the load size, and the machine automatically stops itself when the clothes become dry.

In some new models, one-step controls are available. For example, you may press a button for the type of fabric and the machine does the rest of the thinking for you. Here are other features offered by some dryers today:

Wash-wear cycle provides drying at correct temperature for synthetic fabrics, followed by a 10-minute fluffing and cooling-off period at room temperature.

Damp dry cycle for all fabrics.

17-minute sprinkler cycle so that clothes come out ready for ironing. Sprinkler is filled through an opening in top control panel.

Drying with heat and air without tumbling.

Air drying with neither heat nor tumbling.

Kitchen Needs Good Venting

Kitchen ventilation to reduce heat, cooking odors and smoke is a welcome feature in many up-to-date Medallion Homes.

There are several kinds of ventilating fans available, from very simple units easily fitted in windows to decorative hoods over the range. Properly engineered and installed, they make the kitchen far pleasanter to work in, and keep kitchen curtains, walls and ceilings clean and bright beyond the norm.

SUB DEVICE USED

Among the newest ventilating devices are ones which purify the air and re-circulate it without exhaust ducts. They are the same kind used on atomic submarines and probably will be used as well when man starts making trips to the moon.

Ventilating systems that reuse air without exhausting IL can save on heat in winter. Future models may incorporate a small air conditioner, or may vent the air to a central air conditioner, for cooling in the summer months.

Kids Need Good Light

Make sure your children use proper room lighting when they read or do homework. Turn on the ceiling fixutre for general light, then use an off-centre pulley or spotlight fixture to cast light in the specific study area.

OPEN DESIGN TRENDS

The need for good fixture Lighting is becoming more pronounced with the continuing trend to open design rooms and the use of textured surfaces. These open designs and texture are light-absorbing, and call for more than the usual amount of fixture light.

Medallion Home Music-Conditioned With Addition of Stereo Hi-Fidelity

Matching all of the other pace-setting features of the Medallion Home is the modern component high-fidelity system. It makes the home a centre of culture and entertainment.

A stereo system reproduces an actual, musical performance as closely as modern methods make it possible. This means that distortion, noise and imbalance are practically eliminated. Precision components focus the music to suit your room acoustics and personal listening tastes.

TWO CHANNELS USED

Stereophonic sound is achieved by recording a performance on two separate channels. With an orchestra, microphones would be placed in front at the left and right sides. At home, these left and right sounds are piped from the record or tape through two separate amplifier and loudspeaker systems. Result: an unbelievably faithful reproduction of the original performance, almost as if the orchestra were in the same room.

Even monophonic or one-channel records sound infinitely better when played on a stereo system.

LITTLE CURRENT NEEDED

According to the Institute of High Fidelity Manufacturers, one of the greatest advantages of high fidelity component systems is their flexibility. Today's components are designed by experts whose eyes are as keen as their ears, most units will fit on a bookshelf, room divider or table top. They are reasonable to run, too — even some of the most powerful amplifiers consume less electricity than two 150 watt bulbs, or a fraction of the current used by a household toaster.

Best of all, high fidelity systems mean years of music entertainment for every member of the family.

END SHAVING CUTS

Make-up mistakes and shaving cuts can be reduced with proper mirror lighting in the bathroom. General ceiling light should be supplemented by fixtures on both sides of the mirror.

Here's How You Can Cut Eye Fatigue With Good Desk Lighting

Builders of schools and office buildings give careful consideration to proper lighting because they are well aware of its importance to comfortable and efficient seeing, and to the avoidance of eye fatigue.

But all desk work is not done in schools and offices. A lot of it is done right in your own home — your children's homework, and a lot of grown-up "paper work," too.

The Electrical Bureau of Canada, a national organization which fosters better use of eyes and light, suggests that the homemaker also give careful consideration to the environment in which this critical "eye work" is conducted. Have a definite "study centre," with adequate desk or table space and the proper sort of chair to promote the good posture so necessary to comfortable concentration over long periods. And above all, be sure that adequate and comfortable light is provided.

Select a bulb that provides enough light, at least 150 watts is recommended for sustained visual seeing.

Pick a lamp that is tall enough and that has a shade big enough to distribute light over the entire work area. For example, the height of the lamp from table top to the bottom of the shade should be 15-18". This provides for maximum light distribution while at the same time shielding your eyes from the direct glare of the bulb. The bottom of the socket should be in line with the bottom edge of the shade. A proper shade for a table lamp of this type would be about 15 inches across the bottom and at least 10 inches across the top. "Bullet lamps" and other spotlight types, as well as the old-fashioned gooseneck, are not recommended for study desks because they provide a small, bright spot of light on the work, surrounded by comparative darkness.

A light-colored blotter on the desk top will eliminate annoying reflections and at the same time reduce the contrast between a dark desk and light paper.

For easy reading, prope your book up so that it is in a plane parallel to your face.

These tips from the Electrical Bureau of Canada will help lighten the desk work in your home and lessen eye fatigue. For additional lighting ideas, consult your local electric light and power company.

REMOVE FUSE FIRST

If you replace an old fixture with a new one, be sure you remove the circuit fuse first. The Electric Service League recommends this as a safeguard against shock. The fuse is reinserted when the job is done.

Electrical Industry Trains Lighting Consultants

"Academy of Lighting Arts" Excellent Basic Courses in Residential Lighting.

So successful was Canada's first "Academy of Lighting Arts," held in the spring of 1959, that four provinces have announced plans for this outstanding training, starting in early 1960.

Leading utilities in Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta and British Columbia were quick to see the advantage of sponsoring the 12-week course for all those seeking to advance the science, art and business of home lighting. This includes: architects, builders and contractors; interior decorators and consultants, dealers, distributors, manufacturers and others.

The Academy is a complete lecturing-and-demonstration kit developed at the world-famous lighting research centre in Nela Park, Cleveland, at a cost of over $500,000. It comes complete with films, film strip, records, demonstrations, quizzes and individual assignments. Graduates receive a certificate that qualifies them as "Certified Residential Lighting Consultants." The course can be put on in any community, at any time — and lecturers need have had no more than a general knowledge of lighting. Since the equipment is portable, one instruction kit can be used for three courses simultaneously. Attendance on each course is restricted to 25, to provide full individual participation.

Each graduate receives about $10.00 worth of permanent reference material, including a complete illustrated recap of the 12 lectures. These cover such subjects as: seeing needs; light sources; lamp and fixture design; lighting layouts; sales techniques.

GOOD LIGHTING

The three main purposes of adequate fixture lighting are: first, to cast general room illumination; second; to provide light for certain visual tasks such as cooking, reading, sewing; and third, to provide accent light to enhance interior decor.

Any Effort to Reduce Huge Wheat Surplus in U.S. Will Be Opposed by Farm Bloc

WASHINGTON (CP) — As an effort to reduce the huge United States wheat surplus, President Eisenhower's new farm proposals to Congress might be comparable to digging into a mountain with a pitchfork.

In his presidential election year there is, in fact, no indication that any great change in U.S. wheat production will take place. To that extent the immediate outlook for Canadian wheat exporters is for more tough competition with the U.S. for foreign markets.

While inviting Congress to make any reasonable proposal which would ease the surplus problem, Eisenhower indicated Tuesday in his farm message a preference for at least two measures: Lower wheat price supports and an increase in acreage taken out of crop production.

FARM LOBBY STRONG

The powerful American farm lobby is likely to fight hard against any major reduction in the price support, which averages $1.77 a bushel. Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, who describes present supports as "unrealistic" and "idle," will tell Congress Feb. 18 how much of a reduction the administration wants.

The other suggestion is to increase the acreage taken out of cultivation through the government land rental methods—to a total of 60,000,000 acres from the present 30,000,000 for all crops including wheat, cotton, corn oats and rye.

The government pays farmers an average of about $11 an acre to plant grass or trees, use the land to feed wildlife or flood it.

RUSH TO BANKS

The rental program has proven so attractive that the government has been swamped with land offers under the present limitation. So an increase in the ceiling would prove popular. Critics maintain it would be a give-away program in that the agriculture department has been allowing farmers to plough unused land and claim it as land under production.

In any case, U.S. wheat production hasn't changed much with the rental program.

"We have cut back wheat acres and we have moved large quantities of it from much of it made by means of special disposal programs," Benson has stated. "Still the surplus grow bigger."

Energy Board Nearing End Of Hearings

OTTAWA (CP)—The National Energy Board today neared the end of its lengthy inquiry sitting on five natural gas export applications.

The cities of Edmonton and Calgary were scheduled to complete evidence by intervenors, allowing final arguments later this week.

Calgary representatives were ordered Tuesday to revise their submission to correct a series of statistics affecting forecasts of future gas demands.

S. J. Davies, engineering consultant to the city, made a number of withdrawals before board chairman Ian McKinnon finally ordered the revision on grounds the brief was no help as it stood.

The statistical errors brought out in cross-examination were all in figures on file before the board. Calculations of future needs were much higher than those submitted by other consumer.

Finch Tells Jury Of Relations With His Wife

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Why did Dr. Norman Finch blow up plate detectives to follow his wife before she was slain last summer?

"I knew that Barbara wasn't getting any . . . loving at home— and I figured regardless of the fact that she had been cold and frigid toward me she may not (have been) toward anybody else."

When she was shot to death July 18, Barbara Jean Finch had pending a divorce suit which could have cost the doctor just about everything he owned.

It was to fight the divorce, he testified, that he hired the private detectives.

FIRED ONE FIRM

He said he fired a Los Angeles investigating firm after one of its operators tried twice to tail his wife—but lost her both times.

Deputy District Attorney Fred Dutcher asked Finch if he knew that Mrs. Finch's divorce suit demanded all their community property—plus the wife's estimated at $750,000.

"Well," asked Finch, "isn't that sort of routine?"

"Weren't you told that on either cruelty or adultery the court can award all the community property to the innocent spouse?"

"No," said Finch.

Finch, 41, is charged with Carole Tregoff, 23, of murdering Mrs. Finch so that they could marry without incurring the community property.

WIFE AWARE

Carole, once the doctor's receptionist, was his mistress at the time Mrs. Finch was slain. Finch has testified that he knew his wife was aware of his affair.

But he never caught his wife in an indiscretion, he admitted.

Finch denied that he talked his wife into executing a will three months before her death. Which also noted that the will set up trust funds of $200 a month for their two children and left the rest to Finch.

Coroner Says Man Was in State of Shock

KINGSTON (CP) — Trial of Frank Baker on a charge of criminal negligence in connection with a fire in his home last November which claimed the lives of three children opened here Tuesday.

Coroner P. M. Macdonnell, who conducted the bodies of Baker's son Rita Mae, 5, Joanne, 3, and Evelyn, six months, said he believed they died of carbon monoxide suffocation, heat and smoke. He said their burns were "not serious."

Dr. Macdonnell said he talked with Baker the night of the fire. "He told me he had been drinking and he seemed to be in a state of considerable shock," Mr. Macdonnell said. "He was not seriously injured, however."

Fifteen Unions Sign up in New Political Party

TORONTO (CP)—Morden Lazarus, political action director of the Canadian Labor Congress, says 15 unions from St. Catharines to the Lakehead have combined the formation of a new political party sponsored by labor and the CCF.

He says response to the new party is proving so great it has been a good response when the statement [illegible] is debated at union meetings."

"We are reaching unions that have banned political politics," Mr. Lazarus, For instance, a carpenters' local in the Lakehead has signed."

The statement of support does not commit a union to pulling dues or affiliating with the party.

Mr. Lazarus says the OFL and Canadian Labor Congress officials are trying to get as many local unions as possible to endorse the party before the CLC convention in April.

Murder Charge Laid in Death

GRAVENHURST (CP)—Robert Leslie Armstrong, 47, of Kilworthy, was charged with murder Tuesday in connection with the shooting of Eugene Beales, 38, father of six children.

Jones, who was shot with a bullfrog rifle, died of multiple wounds in the back of his head while being taken to Toronto by ambulance.

Eugene Jones, 33, and Anthony Jurica, 25, of Gravenhurst are being held as material witnesses.

FLU ALL RIGHT

DOTHAN, Ala. (AP)—You can't tell Dr. Bruce McConnell that there's no influenza epidemic—at least at his house. Five of his 10 children are in bed with the flu. The physician, who says his other two youngsters will probably come down with the ailment, also divides his time treating his family's ills with those of his patients.

Hespeler Mayor Not Happy With Events

HESPELER (CP)—Mayor W. M. Day said Tuesday night a police commission meeting he called to discuss how the death of Mrs. W. H. Kinzel, found in her home Thursday with three bullet wounds in her body, affects "the town itself."

Mr. Day said Police Chief C. R. Dale's departure on his holidays the morning after the shooting has been criticized. The case was left in the hands of Cpl. Ernest Levitt.

Police at first ruled the death a suicide but provincial police later called it a homicide and questioned the possibility of Mrs. Kinzel having fired three shots into her body.

Inspector Jack Craig of the provincial investigation branch said Tuesday night the evidence still indicates the wounds were self-inflicted.

A pathologist's report said there were powder burns around all the wounds. The two chest wounds were penetrating, but although the head wound would have caused immediate death.

Bank Bandit Gets $3,000, Wounds Teller

TORONTO (CP) — A bandit escaped with $3,000 Tuesday after he shot a bank teller, held the manager at gunpoint and eluded him in a car chase.

Police Inspector Bernard Loveridge said he believed the shooting was accidental. He said the gun went off after the robber tossed a bag over the teller's cage in an Imperial Bank of Canada branch in suburban Don Mills and said: "Put her up."

The bullet struck Colin Beales, 23, in the head, knocked him unconscious and bounced off the ceiling tile. Doctors said Beales has a fractured skull but was not seriously injured.

As Beales slumped, Douglas O. Dunning left the himself on the burglar alarm. The bandit pounded on the counter, brandished his gun and ordered Mr. Dunning to "get the money from the safe."

"I went into the vault room and convinced him I couldn't open the vault," Mr. Dunning said in an interview. "I told him to take what was in the till and get out." The man fled after stuffing his pockets with money.

Macmillan's African Speech Called Historic Milestone By British Journalists

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Prime Minister Macmillan is returning from Africa to something like a hero's welcome in Commons.

His "winded-change" speech in Capetown will be quoted for months to come. It has spent enthusiastically welcomed by the British press and has made a deep impression on members of Parliament.

Among many Conservatives, there is the exhilarating feeling of relief that comes when a tricky problem of long standing, mentioned only in whispered asides is finally faced fairly and squarely.

As for the Labor party opposition, it may be forced to concede that Macmillan has done just what it has been urging him to do.

One result is that Conservatives and Labor may edge closer to a bipartisan approach on Africa, confounding commentators who predicted that the handling of black nationalism would constitute the major difference between the parties.

Internationally, the Capetown address may improve relations with a sense of its isolation in the world.

"As a fellow member of the Commonwealth," Macmillan said last Wednesday, "you must have always tried to give South Africa our support and encouragement, but I hope you will not mind my saying frankly that there are some aspects of your policies that make it impossible for us to do so without being false to our own deep convictions about the political destinies of free men in which in our own territories we are trying to give effect."

Macmillan's firm though friendly warning is hailed here as an historic declaration and as a milestone in Britain's relations with South Africa.

Writing in The Observer, Anthony Sampson says it is by no means certain that Prime Minister Verwoerd will want South Africa to stay in the Commonwealth now that its membership has been put to the test.

Sampson, whose experience of South Africa includes several years on a newspaper there, says there is "already doubt" whether Dr. Verwoerd will attend the conference of Commonwealth prime ministers starting in London May 3.

One report is that Macmillan has told Dr. Verwoerd that Britain can no longer support South Africa at the United Nations on the apartheid issue.

There is also a U.S. implications apart, reaction here suggests that Britain's new prime minister has registered another personal triumph.

Criminal Charges Likely Justice Minister Tells House

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton says there's "a definite possibility" of criminal charges as a result of evidence seized by the RCMP in its investigation of bridge toll collections at Montreal.

He made the statement to the Commons Tuesday shortly after its bridge toll inquiry in the wake of a series of RCMP raids in Montreal, Sherbrooke, Que., and nine northeast of Montreal: St. Johns, Que., and the Laurentian Mountains.

Mr. Fulton said the Montreal raids produced "a great deal of additional information and a number of documents."

Montreal reports said the RCMP seized documents relating to the financial situation of the men concerned, including bank books, bank statements and property accounts.

The raids were a renewal of earlier RCMP investigations into toll collections on the Jacques Cartier bridge. Police and Crown officials have said the bridge revenues rose sharply following installation of automatic toll-collecting devices last year. January tolls were $206,000 compared with $130,000 for the same month last year.

The Montreal Star said Tuesday that information from extremely reliable sources indicates some bridge toll collectors in the Montreal area were able to pocket from $50 to $700 a day before automatic devices were installed.

The newspaper also said bridge tokens now in use are reported to have been sold near the bridge for $10 a thousand. Regular price is $0 for $4.

Football Star Denies Smoking Any Marijuana

TORONTO (CP) — Dave Mann, 27-year-old Toronto Argonaut football player, denied in a packed city hall courtroom Tuesday that he had ever smoked marijuana or knowingly ever associated with persons who did.

The California athlete said he had no knowledge of a brown envelope containing a few ounces of marijuana found by police in his Toronto apartment last August.

Mann testified he went to sleep fully dressed 10 or 15 minutes after Kane and two girls, since convicted for possession of marijuana, gathered in the apartment.

"The next thing I remember", he said, "Jack Kane was waking me and saying he was going for some groceries".

Mann said when he discovered Gail d'Arcy, dressed in slacks and sweater lying beside him he moved to another couch, took off his belt, his basketball shorts, and went to sleep again.

He said Miss d'Arcy woke up and came over to talk to him.

"No sooner did she come over, than the investigators came to the door and said they were looking for narcotics", he testified. He said he told police he had no narcotics.

Mann said he was surprised when a search revealed he had never seen any marijuana in his life.

CCF Leader Asks Further Probe Of Gas Deals

TORONTO (CP)—Charges that the Frost government failed to carry an investigation into natural gas deals in 1958 to its logical conclusion were levelled Thursday in the legislature by CCF Leader Donald MacDonald.

Mr. MacDonald asked for a further investigation of gas stock transactions and said it is common knowledge in the north that a high municipal official in Sudbury made money in a deal with a natural gas company.

He said the Sudbury official influenced other city officials from establishing a local gas company and, shortly after, was hired by the Northern Ontario Natural Gas Company.

"In return for his efforts, this leading municipal official was compensated, among other things, with a block of stock," Mr. MacDonald said.

Rising on a point of order, Premier Frost said Mr. MacDonald said if Mr. MacDonald knew of such a transaction he should disclose it to the authorities.

He asked for a ruling of the Speaker, John Root, on Mr. MacDonald to name the person charged or withdraw the charge.

Speaker William Murdoch said he would consider the case in a ruling and announce it later.

"When the government investigated these deals in 1958 it found that this person negotiated with and sold, substantial blocks of Windsor Natural Gas Co. to a part of November, 1955, and January in February and March, 1957.

"If the government doesn't know of whom I speak, then I suggest it is another case of deliberate ignorance."

Woman Insane, Witness Says At Murder Trial

SUDBURY (CP)—Mrs. Molly St. Louis was in a drunken rage her two children were stabbed to death, a Toronto psychiatrist testified at the spring assizes here Tuesday when the housewife went on trial for murder.

Mrs. St. Louis, 32, is charged with murdering her three-year-old son David, Nov. 26.

David and his one-year-old sister Elizabeth were found dead in the St. Louis apartment at nearby Coniston. Mrs. St. Louis later stumbled into a neighboring apartment bleeding from knife wounds in the chest.

Dr. Kenneth G. Gray, associate professor of psychiatry at the University of Toronto, said he interviewed Mrs. St. Louis and concluded she was not capable of appreciating the nature and quality of her acts on Nov. 26. Her condition had since improved.

CITY TRAFFIC

VANCOUVER (CP) — Out-of-town logger Clement Couture, 28, fined for impaired driving, told the court his city traffic scared him so much he was driven to drink.

Guilty of Trying to Smuggle Arms to Cuba, Man Arrested For Complicity in Bond Theft

CHICAGO (AP)—Norman Rothman, 44, of Miami Beach, Fla., pleaded not guilty Tuesday to federal charges of complicity in a multi-million-dollar bond robbery in Brockville, Ont.

Judge Michael L. Igoe of U.S. district court will set a trial date April 26.

Rothman was one of six men convicted in Pittsburgh last week on charges of trying to smuggle stolen weapons to Cuban rebels. He is under $50,000 bond pending an appeal of this conviction.

Rothman and four others were indicted in Chicago in June, 1959 for the burglary of a messenger $3,500,000 in bonds plus a small amount of cash and jewelry was taken May 3, 1958 from Brockville Trust and Savings by a gang of safecrackers using blowtorches.

The charges include pledging of stolen securities, concealing of bonds, a scheme to defraud and obtaining money by false pretences.

GLOBAL SEARCH

Federal investigators have girdled the globe in pursuing the trail of the loot since the indictments were returned.

Rothman's co - defendants are William Rabin, 38, a member of a Chicago business consulting firm; Sam Mannarino, 62, of New Kensington, Pa., and Thomas Vincent, 37, and Rene Robert, 31, both of Montreal.

Federal investigators said they pieced together this account:

Cotroni, reputed head of the Canadian arm of the Mafia, acquired possession of the loot and called on Mannarino to help consummate the negotiations for cash. Mannarino turned to Rabin for help.

Rabin set up an account in Basle, Switzerland, and posted bonds as collateral for a loan. When Rabin abruptly withdrew the money from his account, Swiss bank officials asked the FBI to investigate.

The agents traced Rabin to a Miami Beach hotel managed by Rothman who was arrested during the contact man for disposal of some of the stolen bonds in South America.

BONDS RECOVERED

Stolen bonds have been recovered in Argentina, Switzerland, Cuba, New York, Miami, Boston, Chicago, Montreal and Toronto.

Bonds worth $1,200,000 were recovered almost immediately. Of the remaining $2,300,000 in all but about $300,000 worth have been recovered.

Cotroni's brother, Vincenzo, whom U.S. narcotics agents say is one of the biggest dope wholesalers in the Western Hemisphere, was deported to Italy in default of $50,000 bail on charges of importing narcotics.

Cotroni was arrested at Dorval International Airport as he arrived from Italy.

U.S. Narcotics Bureau Chief Harnsh Rudd told the U.S. commissioner Roger E. Davis that Cotroni's brother, Giuseppe, had been a Canadian agent in authorities with more than $1,000,000 worth of heroin about a year ago.

Indian Council Offers Land to Foreign Power

BRANTFORD (CP) — Six Nations Council of hereditary chiefs passed a resolution Wednesday offering for sale to any foreign power all land owned by the Indians by Great Britain in the Mississippi and Treaty of 1784.

The offer excludes Canada and the United States.

Leroy Logan, a council spokesman who acted as interpreter, said the resolution was passed on whether the Canadian government would "live up to and respect the treaties made with the Six Nations in years past".

In Haldimand Treaty, he said, the Six Nations were granted all the land for six miles on either side of the Grand River from its mouth to its source. This parcel of land is now known as Galt and Kitchener. In 1822 the Indians agreed by treaty to relinquish most of this land.

The land offered for sale is all territory west of the Treaty and exclusive of the present Six Nations reservation.

Said one confederacy member through interpreter Logan: "We are gradually losing the land anyway. By various means it has been taken from us over the years. We might just as well sell it to some foreign country than let it be lost to the white man and the Canadian government.

House Briefs

OTTAWA (CP) — The government still has under consideration a request that Canada be the host country for the Winter Olympics of 1968, Northern Affairs Minister Hamilton said Tuesday.

In a Commons reply to John Taylor (PC-Vancouver Burrand) he said Calgary interests have applied for the Olympics. He indicated no decision had been reached.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker indicated he will make a detailed statement in the Commons today on plans for celebrating Canada's 100th birthday.

The Commons gave second reading—approving in principle—to a private bill changing the name of the British and Foreign Bible Society in Canada to the Canadian Bible Society.

Canadian scientists may go to Russia next month to see what success the Soviets have had with tests of a live-virus polio vaccine. A reply tabled by Health Minister Monteith said steps have been taken to arrange for Canadians to attend a Russian meeting in Moscow.

Labor Minister Starr indicated in a Commons reply that the federal government has received no information of retaliation by the Seafarers International for being in communication with a labor certification vote in British Columbia.

The government should consider a law to prevent discrimination against job applicants over 45, Senator J. W. Gershaw (L-Alberta) told the Senate during throne speech debate. Employers should not turn an older person into a company pension plan could usually be worked out, he said.

No Speedy Pacts With Reds on Key Issues Seen

British, Canada, France, Italy and the United States will be represented at the closed - door meetings which open today amid doubts here over the prospects of any speedy agreement with the Reds on key issues.

Disarmament and Germany are the two major problems slated for the summit discussions in May, involving President Eisenhower, Premier Krushchev and the British and French government heads.

On the German question, the belief that the summit parley will yield little has mounted. The allies are still dead set against yielding isolated West Berlin to the Reds.

MOSCOW WILLING?

On disarmament, there remains sharp differences between East and West over how much control is needed to make disarmament safe. There is also some optimism that Moscow really does want disarmament despite continued opposition to the control and inspection systems the Western powers are asking.

All five Western powers at today's meeting agree controls are needed to make sure that international arms-ban measures are carried out.

Amateur Musicians Enjoy Summer Resort in Hills

By EDNA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — While skiing in the Laurentians in the winter of 1952, brothers George and Carl Little dreamed of a summer resort for amateur musicians. By 1953 the dream was a reality.

The group now has blossomed into a year - round organization with an active membership in several cities.

As indicated by its title, CAMMAC — Canadian Amateur Music Making or Musicien Amateur du Canada — the organization encourages bilingualism.

Although CAMMAC now is the parent body, it was actually an offshot of the Otter Lake Music Centre at Round Lake Inn, 65 miles north of Montreal.

The Inn, except for its pub, is taken over for the month of July by amateur music makers who combine their summer vacations with their hobby.

RADIO PRODUCER

"We set about our plans with some trepidation," po - founder Carl Little recalled in an interview. Formerly of Montreal, he now is a CBC radio producer in Toronto. Brother George is conductor of the Montreal Bach choir and organist and choir director of Erskine and American United Church.

With a $200 loan, they bought letterheads, placed advertisements in newspapers and made contact with amateur musicians. In the summer of 1953, the centre opened to 20 people for two weeks in August.

By last year the school had expanded to a month and was attended by 250 musicians. Some came for a week and others for longer periods. The price was $80 to $85 a person including room, meals and musical instruction.

Mornings are devoted to music. Otto Joachim, violinist with the Montreal String Quartet, instructs the group in chamber music in an old schoolhouse. Other classes are held in a church hall and at the hotel.

WEEKEND CONCERTS

Afternoons are free and the evenings are devoted to concerts. Weekends are occasions for gala concerts. Special performances are given at the orphanage gymnasium at Huberdeau or the high school at Arundel.

CAMMAC also co-ordinates the winter activities of its growing membership. In Quebec City 25 members meet weekly for recorder lessons. In Toronto 15 to 20 have formed a choral group. In Montreal regular music sessions are held.

"We hope eventually to have a fulltime director," says Carl.

Within a few weeks a music library will be established in Montreal to provide musical scores at low rates to amateur groups.

U Nu Party Has Clear Majority In Burma House

RANGOON, Burma (Reuters)—Former premier U Nu's party has secured an absolute majority in Burma's new lower house of Parliament by winning 134 of the 184 results declared so far.

The new lower house will have 230 seats, 225 of them elected.

If U Nu's sweep with his "clean" faction of the Anti-Fascist People's League may be so complete that he is considering formation of steering committees of non-parliamentarians to keep watch on Parliament and the government.

Main opponent of the "clean" faction was the "stable" faction of the same party led by U Ba Swe, also a former premier. It has secured only 30 seats so far in the last Saturday's balloting and observers say it will be lucky to pick up 10 more seats.

U Ba Swe was defeated personally by a "clean" candidate. Among crushing defeat for the "stable" faction came the ousting of Daw Ezu Lawn, minister for Kachin state, who was beaten by an unknown rival.

U Nu formed his government over to an army-backed caretaker government in the fall of 1958 to clean up corruption and ensure free elections. A "clean" faction spokesman now says the party will call a conference before the April opening of Parliament to decide on a government program and a cabinet.

Soybean Growers Say No Future In Institute

TORONTO (CP)—R. E. Merry, president of the Institute of Edible Oil Foods, said Monday night he is surprised and puzzled by the withdrawal of the Ontario bean farming in Canada.

Soybean Growers' Marketing Board from the Institute.

The soybean board, in a letter sent to institute directors by Secretary-Manager K. A. Standing, said the institute is using the board as "an agricultural lever with government."

Mr. Merry said he can't understand the board's view that there is no future for soybean growers with the institute.

He said there would seem to be unbounded opportunities for soybeans in Ontario . . . any expansion of a market for soybeans will be supplied by imported soybeans."

AIR POLLUTION

Atmospheric pollution from gases and soot is estimated to have reduced agricultural output nearly 50 per cent in some British areas.

"We know that coloring of margarine is the major aim of the institute," said Mr. Standing. "This will not increase the price of soybeans in Ontario . . . any expansion of a market for soybeans will be supplied by imported soybeans."

Hawks' Hay

Didn't Play Pro Until 23, Is Mining Engineer Grad

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

William (Red) Hay, Chicago Black Hawks' prize rookie, has to overcome two obstacles to become a National Hockey League regular—education and money.

Either one can destroy the chances of many young hopefuls say some NHL executives, but together they're almost insurmountable.

The way the hockey bosses see it—and some evidence supports their view—a young athlete has to be "hungry" to succeed as a professional.

And the hungry athletes are usually those from low-income families where sport is an avenue to better things.

But Hay's father is an oil company executive and the young centre didn't play any professional hockey until he was almost 23 and the holder of a degree in mining engineering who could have had a executive position with an oil company.

OVERCOME DRAWBACKS

Despite these drawbacks the 205-pound Saskatoon native is the centre of Black Hawks' highest scoring line, with a personal record of 13 goals and 24 assists after 54 games and a ton contender for the Calder Trophy as the league's outstanding rookie.

Two favorable factors were a good father's physique—five 200 pounds is spread over a six-foot, three-inch frame — and a solid sports background.

His father Charlie was in nets for the Regina Pats in 1921 when they met Toronto Granites for the Allan Cup; his mother Florence (Stringy) Hay was one of Canada's outstanding women track and field stars and her brother Earl Miller played for Black Hawks from 1934 to 1941.

When Bill graduated from Colorado College Montreal snapped him up and loaned him to Calgary Stampeders, a Chicago farm team in the Western Hockey League.

In 54 games there he scored 21 goals and assisted on 26 others.

Hawks then purchased him from Montreal.

And there's no suspicion that Hull, the league's highest scoring left winger, is carrying Hay. The tall rookie can dig a puck out of the corner or hold his position in front of the net during a scramble.

Soo Birds Tie Royals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A third-period goal by Fred Hilts of Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds earned the last-place Eastern Professional Hockey League team a 3-3 tie with Montreal Royals Tuesday night.

The home-ice deadlock carried Thunderbirds into a fifth-place tie with Hull-Ottawa Canadiens and boosted Royals to within two of the league-leading Sudbury Wolves.

A crowd of 2,406 saw Lulu Donda score two goals and Kelly Burnett one for Montreal while Soo scorers were Merv Kuryluk, John Offidani and Hilts.

Royals' goalie Gerry McNeil was cut on the upper lip by pregame practice shot and the game was delayed 20 minutes while Soo emergency goalie Bill Tibbs dressed for Royals. Tibbs stopped 26 shots on goal compared with Dejordy's 23.

Holdout Hank Won't Have to Play Second

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Hank Aaron need shudder no longer—his boss says he doesn't have to play second base.

"Let's get Henry to sign his contract," manager Charlie Dressen of Milwaukee Braves said Tuesday night. "Then he can start belting that ball, running those bases and throwing the runner out at home. He won't have to worry about playing second base."

Aaron, the National League's 1959 batting champion, had been considered by the Braves for second base during the 1960 season. The Braves were in trouble at the post last season because Red Schoendienst was out with tuberculosis and none of his replacements filled the bill.

Aaron, who is a holdout, said Tuesday he "shudders every time I think of playing second base. It is the hardest position on the field."

10TH SEASON

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Del Crandall, Milwaukee's durable National League all-star catcher, signed Tuesday for his 10th season with the Braves. The contract called for an estimated $17,500.

COULD LOSE TITLE

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—The National Boxing Association announced Tuesday night it will strip Archie Moore of his lightheavyweight title unless he agrees by Friday to defend the crown against Harold Johnson of Philadelphia.

Anthony Marceroni, NBA president, said he had told Moore as far back as September that he would have to agree to the match with Johnson, the No. 1 contender, by Feb. 12.

"He also was told of the NBA's firm intention to enforce the six-month rule calling for defenses by champions in all divisions," Marceroni said.

Canadiens Hold Mile Lead But Blake Has His Troubles

NEW YORK (AP) — Everyone has troubles, even Toe Blake.

The coach of Montreal Canadiens has his powerful club 19 points in front in the National Hockey League race. Yet, Blake isn't smiling—at least, not all of the time.

"With this kind of a lead you're bound to have complacency creep in," he said Tuesday. "You try to tell the players something and they don't listen. It's tough getting them up for a game, particularly those against the bottom teams.

"Dickie Moore, Jean Beliveau and Marcel Bonin are out with injuries. Beliveau can win the league scoring championship, but he told me he would rather rest even though the title carries a $1,000 prize. I'll go along with him there. If we can clinch first place in a hurry, I'll rest quite a few of the other players".

His disappointment include Maurice Rocket Richard, all-time goal getter who has only nine goals this season. He was out for weeks with a fractured cheekbone.

"The Rocket is not going well" said Blake. "But you can't count him out. The chips aren't down yet. When Stanley Cup time rolls around he's liable to be back in form and win it for me.

"Billy Hicks and Ab McDonald also have been disappointing. They have been given every chance, but they haven't produced". Hicks, the American League's rookie of the year last season was sent back to Rochester on 24-hour recall 10 days ago.

Canadians Lose Second Round British Curling

FALKIRK, Scotland (Reuters) Canada's touring curling team, skipped by Milt Baker of Yorkton, Sask., was defeated 14-13 Tuesday in the second round of the British open curling championship in a close match with former world champion Willy Young.

Young led at the first end but lost five shots to the Canadians in the next.

With two ends to play Baker led 12-11, but Young was three shots in the lead at the start of the last end.

It was Young's first win against the Canadians in seven games.

Members of the Canadian rink include Alf Childs of Fort William.

Says Russians Will Sweep Skate Medals

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Olympic champion Irving Jaffee predicted Tuesday Russians probably will sweep all eight of the 1960 Olympic speed skating gold medals at Squaw Valley, Calif.

"This is the year they've been waiting for—this is their goal. Indeed. This is when they expect to make the big hill in our backyard," said Jaffee.

GLASGOW (Reuters) — Rangers and Dundee drew 0-0 on Rangers' ground in a Scottish League First Division game Tuesday night.

Olympic Skiers Look for Clearing Skies

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP) —An international field of athletes from 30 countries looked hopefully today for clearing weather and the chance for some final hard winter Olympic Games training.

Eight days remain before the Feb. 18 opening ceremony. Rain and snow during the last three days in this high Sierra Valley have drastically curtailed practice. Exceptions are the figure-skaters who work inside the $3,500,000 arena.

Despite Monday's storm and flood threat, the area was gradually returning to normal.

However, skiing was permitted only on Papoose Peak, site of the women's slalom and giant slalom, NTRZ, scene of the men's giant slalom and women's downhill, and Squaw Peak, where the men's downhill is scheduled, remained closed.

HOPE FOR LETUP

"We can have them ready two days after the storm clears," said Willy Schaeffler, director of events. Predictions were for a letup in the storm today, with inches of new snow in this 21-mile valley.

Anderl Molterer, one of Austria's best men skiers, said: "The snow isn't good and it isn't bad. At any rate, you can't do more than fall down a couple of times anyway."

Austria's girl skiers didn't get out in the snowstorm because coach Hermann Gamon said they might catch cold.

Cross-country skiers from Italy, West Germany, Britain and Japan worked on a practice course at McKinney Creek. It was built hastily but gave the distance skiers a chance for work. Others, including the French, limbered up by skiing around Squaw Valley.

Stamps Fail To Sign Frank Tripucka

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union said Tuesday they have been unsuccessful in attempts to sign Frank Tripucka as a backfield coach.

General manager Jim Finks said Tripucka turned down a Calgary offer to accept one to play quarterback for Denver of the new American Football League.

Believed to be one of the reasons for Tripucka's decision is that in Denver he would play under head coach Frank Filchock, who was also head coach when Tripucka played for the WIFU Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Tripucka was traded by Saskatchewan to Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four last season, but was released by Ottawa and returned to Regina as head coach.

Trenton Cagers Down Lightfoots By 72-39 Score

The league-leading Trenton Wildcats continued their winning ways Tuesday night in a Bay of Quinte Basketball League game played at Moira Secondary School by defeating the Belleville Lightfoots 72-39. The Wildcats have yet to meet defeat in league action. Trenton got off to a fast start but came out on top in the scoring by half time with a 23-21 lead. In the second half the Wildcat, led by Murray Prior with 20 points, outscored the Lightfoot team 49-18. Murray Prior of Trenton with 32 points, was high scorer in the game.

Line-up:

Lightfoots 39 — Farnsworth 9, Faulkner 7, Smith 11, Benoni 4, Scott, Masters 1, Walmsley 7, Savage, Deacon, Reynolds-Bovay.

Wildcats 72—Prior 32, Kowk 6, Williams 5, T. Jeffrey 2, M. Jeffrey 5, Webb 14, Crew 8.

Playhouse 90 Still Remains Enduring Delight of TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Playhouse 90 embarked Tuesday night on its new phase as a CBS nomadic special. It will turn up 750w and again, here and there. We'll miss it in its own regular niche, but the 90-minute show remains one of television's enduring delights. The cast of Trumpets was the night's play, and while it probably won't win any awards, it provided an entertaining three acts. Stephen Boyd and Dolores Hart played a pair of star-crossed lovers who, after meeting somewhere between the front lines and Paris during the First World War, struggled with their respective problems.

Conscience, of course, wins in the end. But the moral was incidental to the love story.

NBC's Startime consisted of a lot of bands playing the songs they made popular during the late 1930s. It was just fine for those who like to watch musicians play.

There were such old favorites on view as Bob Crosby, Count Basie, Guy Lombardo and Gene Krupa.

Everybody seems to complain about the constant commercials on the Jack Paar show, and finally somebody has done something about them. A trade magazine assigned a monitoring service to report on the commercials one night—Jan. 14—on four of Paar's 146-minute lineup.

It found the commercials occupied between 22 and 23 minutes of the 105-minute show—just under the maximum allowed by the National Association of Broadcasters' TV code.

But it isn't so much the time consumed by the commercials that drives this viewer to bed, but the way they chop up the show. Sometimes there is time for about two sentences of entertainment between the hard sells, the station breaks and more sales pitches.

Hoeg said he never had a mishap but officials withdrew his certificate when they found he could not distinguish between red and green running lights.

George Peppard Had Hard Time Making It to Top

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If you don't think it takes dogged determination to become a film star, consider the case of George Peppard.

George has made it, or so the previewers proclaim. I thought he was a cinch for stardom three years ago when he played a lead in The Strange One. But the film was such a bomb that it nearly exploded his acting career.

Right from the start, George had no easy time being an actor. The start was in his native Detroit, and he claims that's decent country for anyone interested in the arts.

SYMPHONY STRUGGLING

"Culture has never fared very well in Detroit. There are two legitimate theatres, but not enough patronage to keep one open all the time. The symphony orchestra has had a hard time surviving over the years."

George left Detroit, worked in all kinds of jobs around Pittsburgh, and made his stage debut at the Playhouse there. He went on to New York and the Actor's Studio, that noted spawning ground of talent.

But the important showcasing is The Strange One didn't do it for him. In fact, the public smell of failure almost shattered his confidence. Producer Sam Spiegel didn't pick up his option.

NOTHING HAPPENED

"I had had a big role in an important picture and nothing happened," George says. "I began to face the possibility that maybe I didn't have it."

He took such a low point that he even applied for a cabbie's licence in New York and worked as a mechanic in a motorcycle shop. "It was a good thing for me, really," he says now. "It made me realize that I couldn't be happy doing anything but acting."

His luck changed with TV shows like Little Moon of Alban and Suspicion, and the hit play, The Pleasure of His Company. He did Pork Chop Hill with Gregory Peck, then MGM talked him to play Robert Mitchum's illegitimate son in Home From the Hill. The picture makes him a star. Now he's doing retaker of The Subterraneans, playing a beatnik opposite Leslie Caron.

BIG FIELD

A total of 323 moving pictures, including 217 produced in the U.S., are eligible for Oscars at the Hollywood presentation April 4, 1960.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

This column may be as out-of-place as a bikini-clad gal on an ice floe, but the best remains things spring-wise are stirring in the minds of many.

About this time of the year the softball aficionados recall the glories and achievements of the past, and perhaps with a lot of wishful thinking, cast a wondering eye into the future.

Harry Morgan, who did a grand job master - minding the Belleville and District Softball League last season, and deserves at least a third term in office; Bob Temple, who fathers thoughts or signing a Bobcat squad during his upcoming European safari, and many others including Don Lee, are beginning to feel the urge.

The top echelons of softball look back with pride on OASA achievements last season. Under the fine guidance of president W. C. Perkin, ably assisted by that very able man of the records, L. G. Pickard, the association had one of the best seasons of its long and honorable existence.

The 1959 season came up with a number of records. Topping the parade was the 21-inning game between Brooklin and Tweedsmuir won by the former, which featured the master hurling of pitchers Verschour and Mulemeister, who went all the way.

Mound marks were also set by the Peterborough wizard, Ray Judd; Charlie Martin, Long Branch; Ron Jones, Mount Zion and palsy-waisy Sleepy Dawe of Cobourg. Metri Szeryk of Sudbury, struck out 29 of 32 batters in an 11-inning game to win the Dominion senior "B" honors and Johnny Edwards of Jarvis, whiffed 50 in a two-game series intermediate "B" final.

The B and D League had a good season, too, although it did not bring home any championship beacon. Temple's Tabbies came mighty close, being nosed out of the Intermediate "AA" finals by the Niagara Falls squad after the Cats' pitching corps was riddled by circumstance and other ills.

The Cats and Cobourg furnished plenty of fun, fireworks and sometimes wacky diamond calisthenics in their league elimination battles, before the Tabbies eliminated Sleepy Dawe and his lakesiders.

The Trenton Junior squad who trailed the league all season scored a big upset against Phil Lott's Point Anne Cemeters, dropping the first three tilts, then roaring back to grab the four games to oust a humiliated Point crew.

Lakefield's Ray Judd whirlwinded the Pointers out of contention in the OASA playdowns, while in league play the Trenton kids threw a scare into the Cats before saying "uncle."

But that is water under the bridge. This is another year. Word from the upper brackets has it that loops, teams and other softball entities in many parts of the province are organizing, or calling organization meetings in the near future.

The OASA annual convention slated for Woodstock this year is scheduled for April 1 and 2. The association has gotten away from the traditional Good Friday get-together which has met with the approval of all concerned.

"Tempes Furtis" but fast and B. and D. League prexy Morgan and his executive cohorts should survive that blood-stir and give thought to a gathering of the clans in the near future. It usually takes two or three league sessions to get things finally straightened out and as in former years, all should be in readiness before the date of the annual association confab.

This is important since nominations for office and amendments to the constitution and rule changes may be prepared and forwarded to the OASA secretary, and delegates to the convention named.

Just a suggestion, mes amis: Winter is still with us but it won't be too long before spring comes out from behind that corner.

Bep Guidolin Fired as Huskies Coach

KAPUSKASING (CP) — Bep Guidolin has been dismissed as coach of Kapuskasing Huskies of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A league, Rene Picho, club president, announced Tuesday night.

Guidolin did not appear for a game last Friday night but was back with the team Sunday. Huskies have 10 games left in the regular schedule.

Campbell Stymies Kelly Deal With Maple Leafs

Trade for Reaume Delayed Until Waiver Deadline Past; Likely Board Will Approve

TORONTO (CP)—The future of defenceman Red Kelly, who announced his retirement from the National Hockey League six days ago, was up in the air again today.

It was announced here Tuesday night that Kelly, a star with Detroit Red Wings for 13 seasons, had been traded to Toronto Maple Leafs in exchange for rearguard Marc Reaume. Kelly balked last Friday when Wings traded him to New York Rangers but was happy to join Leafs.

However, league president Clarence Campbell said the deal couldn't go through immediately because Kelly was on waiver and couldn't be traded for a five-day period. Campbell said in a telephone interview from West Palm Beach, Fla., where the NHL board of governors are meeting, that likely the board will approve the deal with Toronto.

Punch Imlach, manager-coach of the Leafs, said he hoped to use Kelly here tonight against Montreal Canadiens.

DEAL FELL FLAT

The 33-year-old Kelly hit the trading headlines last Thursday when Detroit general manager Jack Adams announced that he and forward Billy McNeill had been dealt to Rangers in exchange for defenceman Bill Gadsby and forward Eddie Shack.

The two Rangers players approved of the deal but Kelly and McNeill said they would retire.

The trade was called off and neither Kelly nor McNeill has played since.

Leafs received permission from the Wings to talk with Kelly Sunday. Reaume, 28, had been sought by Wings earlier this season.

The complications arose because Kelly had been placed on waivers by Campbell as a preliminary to placing him on the voluntarily retired list. This means that should Kelly decide to play in the NHL, New York, Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins, in that order, would have a right to his services before Leafs.

COULD BE HURRIED

Campbell said "these waivers are without right of recall. This is technically must be cleared first. But, he added, this would be done "in five minutes" at today's meeting of the board of governors.

Told that Imlach intended to use Kelly tonight, Campbell said he doubted if Kelly him until he is cleared. If they did, it "would just be an automatic loss."

Toronto and Detroit expressed satisfaction with the "maybe" trade.

Leafs would get a player who has been a frequent All-Star and trophy winner. Kelly, a native of Simcoe, Ont., has been on the first all-star team six times and the second team once. He has won the Lady Byng Trophy three times and the James Norris Trophy, awarded the most valuable defenceman, once.

Adams said "Reaume is the type of player I want on my club. He's young, aggressive and has good years ahead of him."

Wilt the Stilt Sets Record But Warriors Lose the Tilt

DETROIT (AP) — Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain broke the National basketball Association's all - time single season scoring record with a 43-point burst Tuesday night against the Detroit Pistons, but the Philadelphia Warriors lost the game 123-113.

The fabulous rookie now has scored 2,134 points breaking by 29 the old record of 2,105 established last season by Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks.

Pettit set his record over a 72-game span. This was the Warrior's 57th game, though Wilt has only played in 56, so the seven-foot - two phenomenon, only 22 years old, has 13 games in which to add to the record.

STOPS THE GAME

Chamberlain broke the record in the early moments of the second period with a jump shot from the key. The game was stopped and Pistons' general manager W. Nick Kerbawy presented Wilt with the basketball.

Wilt established his feat under trying circumstances. Several of his teeth were jammed into his lower lip when he was hit in the face in Sunday's game at St. Louis. He said he had no career anything solid since.

Chamberlain wore a plastic guard. "Rocky goalies" when he was working out in pregame drills, but tossed it aside when the game started.

Chamberlain, who nearly got his team back into the game in the final moments by swishing in three field goals and two free throws in the third player to crack the 43-point barrier.

George Yardley was the first, scoring 2,001 points in the 1957-58 season with the Detroit Pistons. Pettit did it last year and Cincinnati's Jack Twyman has a good chance to do it this season.

Chamberlain also set a league rebounding record for one season. His 16 rebounds Tuesday night gives him 1,813 for the year, one better than the mark set last season by Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics.

This Could Make Cows Hockey Fans

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — A hockey rink in suburban Grandview Hills is using skim milk for its ice surface.

Officials here recently flooded the rink with 250 gallons of skim milk and found it better than frozen water because it doesn't chip in extreme cold weather.

The milk is normally dumped by a local dairy here because there is no economic use for it.

Teeps, Irish Win Over Cubs, Petes

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A goal by lanky Doug Robinson with only 22 seconds to play Tuesday night gave St. Catharines TeePees sole possession of fourth place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A standings.

Robinson's tally broke up a see-saw battle with Hamilton Tiger Cubs to give TeePees a 4-3 victory.

In Peterborough, 2,100 fans saw Toronto St. Michael's College Majors come from behind to defeat Petes 4-3.

The win put St. Michael's within two points of Barrie Flyers and nine points behind league-leading Toronto Marlboros. Guelph Biltmores are two points behind TeePees in fifth spot, one point ahead of Peterborough. Hamilton is deep in the cellar.

Chico Maki, TeePees' right winger, gained three assists to move him within seven points of top position in the league scoring race. He now is third.

A major and five minor penalties were called as TeePees outshot Hamilton 40-17.

The major went to Hadfield for punching Hamilton's Jim McLellan.

In the Peterborough - St. Michael's game it was 1-0 for Petes in the first period, and 2-2 going into the third.

Dave Draper, Larry Keenan, Dave Keon and Les Kozak scored for Majors while Wayne Boddy got two and Gary Mork one for Peterborough.

St. Michael's drew four of eight penalties, majors going to Draper and Gene Rebellato for fighting.

SEEK RULING

VANCOUVER (CP) — The WIFU Big Four will ask commissioner Syd Halter to rule on a dispute with Winnipeg Blue Bombers over quarterback Mike Davies. The Canadian player was released by Lions and played intermediate football, Bombers have placed Davies on their negotiation list but Lions claim they are allowed to protect 12 intermediate players until July.

In Australia
Outside 100 Degrees of Heat Inside Puck Team Practices

By RUSSELL ELMAN

MELBOURNE, Australia (CP) — While thousands of holidaymakers sweltered on the beach in the summer's worst heatwave, Canadian coach Bud MacEachern was putting the first Olympic hockey team in Australia's history through a series of stiff workouts.

With the future of hockey in Australia largely bound up with the team's showing at Squaw Valley, the players struggled valiantly, ignoring the 100-degree heat and humidity outside Melbourne's ice rink.

Our purpose in entering the Olympics is to gain international recognition," said team manager Russ Carson, formerly of Kenora.

"If we can do that, we feel confident we can stimulate interest in hockey in Australia and compete in the 1962 world championships."

He was confident that the team will make "more than a creditable showing."

"We have some brilliant skaters. I think the natural aptitude of Australians for sport is fantastic."

FROM LAKEHEAD

Carson, catering manager for a Melbourne automotive plant, came to Sydney in 1952 with three other Kenora boys to join an all - Canadian hockey team which helped revolutionize the style of play in Australia. MacEachern, a Charlottetown native who once played for Sydney, N.S., Millionaires, coached the Northwesterners Olympic team in 1952 before emigrating to Australia. He is sales manager for a Melbourne car dealer.

They conceded the odds are heavily against Australia, due to lack of ice.

A weekly peewee coaching class has been instituted in Melbourne but most hockey players are much older than in Canada. The average age of the Olympic team is 27.

Hockey has been played in Australia since the beginning of the century but the game was at low ebb in 1953, until the Victoria Australia Ice Hockey Association sparked a revival in Melbourne where five teams, including several Canadians, compete.

Won't Switch Dates for Winter Games

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Postpone the winter Olympics?

It can't be done, H. D. Thoreau, managing director of the games, said Tuesday. Specific events can be postponed from time to time but the games must be held in their specified 10-day period — Feb. 18-28.

Thoreau said there's plenty of precedent for switching events. In the 1952 games at Oslo, hockey and figure skating sessions were changed.

One freeze-out happening on the games here as scheduled is the $20,000,000 investment.

Thoreau said there is no such thing as insurance against bad weather in this Sierra area, where several feet of new snow in one day isn't considered unusual.

Chatham Marconds Gain Ground In Position Race

Creep Closer to Top Teams With 7-3 Victory Over Macs; Third-Frame Splurge Does It

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

The Chatham Maroons pulled ground on the win, place and show race in the Ontario Senior "A" Hockey Stakes here last night, defeating the new also-rans MacFarlands by a 7-3 score.

The successful stretch-drive bid gave Johnny Herrekr's horses 31 points, one behind the third-place Windsor Bulldogs three in arrears of the Olympics-bound Kitchener Dutchmen, and seven points off the league-leading Whitby Dunlops' pace.

Herrekr's farm help paid off well. Larry Millman, a goalie brought up from the Maroons' affiliate, the Woodstock senior "B" club, played like a veteran and was no small factor in the team's victory. He kicked out 32 of the 35 shots fired at him. Senior at the other end threw back 24.

The Maroons grabbed a 2-1 first-period lead with the teams splitting a brace in the second frame. It was the same old third-period story for the Macs as they yielded four markers without a single return.

Ted Power and Fletch paced the Maroon attack each scoring twice with singles going to Shatpe, Bathgate, Hildebrand, Bathgate, Leyrie and Fletch each had two assists.

Ike Hildebrand, Bart Bradley and John Chaszewski were the McFarland lead-pipers. Each had a goal that saw only six minor penalties assessed. Two of them went by; with the teams splitting the sentences. "Wiener" Brown had two assists, Hall, Power and Bradley one each.

The Macs were reduced to three defencemen since Moe Benoit is now with the Olympics Dick Paterson and Lionel Bird ly sidelined with an attack of the shingles. He will be out for a week.

The Macs' playoffs fate hinges on a "closed" meeting of the OHA tomorrow night in Toronto. Press reports from western Ontario state the proposed round, robin will not meet with unanimous approval. However, closer sources say there will be a five-team playoff.

Sharpe sent the Maroons into the lead at 8.18 of the first period, blasting a high corner shot on a play with Bathgate and Hildebrand. Play was loose at this point with both sides' passes going astray.

Two minutes later, Hildebrand knotted the count on a three-way foray with Muir and Fayette, his shot slithering along the ice in a corner. Millman hasn't seen it yet. He stood there without moving.

Play speeded up and both teams missed from close-in. With seconds to go and with the Macs defence watching him, Clegg circled the net effortlessly picking up a loose puck and calmly poked it into the far corner past Lemier to give the Maroons a 2-1 lead. The Macs outshot the Maroons 14-9.

Driving in hard the Macs maintained a steady pressure but were stalemated by a stiff Maroon defence and the fine work of Millmann in the nets. The goalie had luck and ability going for him.

Fletch gave the Maroons a two-goal margin at 8.01 when he planted home a loose puck from outside the crease with Sharpe and Bathgate in on the play.

McGregor drew the first penalty of the game at 15.36 and the Macs loosed their power-play that paid off a minute later. Wiener Brown's sizzling slapper from near the point was deflected into the net by Bart Bradley.

Less than three minutes to go, McGregor and Gribbons started a high-sticking tussle that resulted in double misses for both. Up to this point the game had been clean if slightly lethargic.

Bathgate sent the Maroons away on their third-period four-goal spree after Millman and his defence had stymied a sustained MacFarland offensive. Unbanged home Fletch's pass on a play with McGregor.

MacDonald was chased for high-sticking and the penalty paved the way for Sharpe's second fifth goal, Fletch smashing in Sharpe's goalmouth pass. The Macs came back and two minutes later Chaszewski scored his second goal of the season with a backhand drive from close quarters.

The Macs roared back to the offensive but again they failed to dent the defence or shot wild. Millman, kicked out everything they fired at him.

The Maroons tucked it away with two goals in a little over a minute midway through the heat, Power scoring from Leyrie and Malo and repeating with Malo and Forban.

Referee — Bob Simcoe, Oshawa.

Linesmen — Vern Goyer, Ted Hurst, Belleville.

Dutchmen Win; 'Imports' Do The Scoring

VERNON, B. C. (CP)—Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, Canada Olympic hockey representatives, made it six straight victories on their Western Canada exhibition tour by dumping Vernon Canadians 8-3 Tuesday night.

Butch Martin and Jim Connolly each scored three times as the Dutchmen baffled the Vernon defence with superb passing. The Canadians are leaders of the Okanagan Senior League.

Fred Sabo and Bobby Attersley scored Kitchener's first two goals. Frank King, Joe Young and Johnny Harms rounded for Vernon.

The Dutchmen head for Squaw Valley, Calif. after an exhibition game in Vancouver tonight against Trail Smoke Eaters, leaders of the Western International League.

Tonight's opposition promises to be tough. Smoke Eaters, reinforced by players from Rossland Warriors, were the only team to defeat Kitchener Selects on the Russian's recent - Western Canada tour.

Smoke Eaters edged the Russians 7-6 and will put a similar team into action tonight.

Cat Directors Reject Bid For $170,000

HAMILTON (CP) — A $170,000 bid for the Hamilton Tiger-Cats Football Club by Ernest Whelpton, Toronto publisher, was rejected Tuesday at a meeting of the team's board of directors.

Mr. Whelpton, publisher of business magazines and sports programs, made the offer for the Big Four team Jan. 29.

In a letter sent to Mr. Whelpton, the board stated that directors of the club unanimously resolved to reaffirm their previous decision to continue the club, as presently constituted, for 1960.

At the club's annual meeting Jan. 21, team president Jack Gardiner stated the Tiger-Cats for the present at least, would continue to operate as a non-profit organization without shareholders.

Mr. Whelpton's lawyer, J. G. Lange, said it was a mystery to him why the club was rejecting the offer of $170,000 when the Big Four and certainly all of its teams to switch to private enterprise. Hamilton is the only team not obeying the league's rules.

Cougars Edge Canucks 2-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Victoria Cougars edged the Western Hockey League-leading Vancouver Canucks 2-1 Tuesday night for their first win of the season in Vancouver. Winnipeg Warriors, in hot contention for a playoff berth three weeks ago, were beaten 2-1 in overtime by Edmonton Flyers, their sixth loss in seven games.

Vancouver is nine points ahead of Seattle Totems and Edmonton, third for second. Warriors are sixth.

Marlene, Pal Qualify in U.S. Doubles

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Bob Cochran of St. Louis and Barbara McIntire of Lake Park, Fla., turned in a six - under-par 66 over the Country Club of Florida course Thursday to lead qualifiers in the 25th annual U. S. amateur mixed foursomes golf tournament.

Mrs. Boyd Somerville of Toronto and Don Stiles of Richmond, Va., qualified with 40-36-70.

Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto, the Canadian champion, and Mrs. Robert Lyle of Montreal and their partners took the last qualifying places for match play, which begins today.

Both pairs had 72s, Mrs. Streit and Jim Raymond of Delray Beach scoring 39 on both sides of the course.

ALL AGREED

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League said Tuesday he had reached an agreement with the National League, Big Four and Western Interprovincial Football Union that there would be no bidding of players.

HOCKEY STYLES — Montreal Canadiens' Jacques Plante takes off the original glass-fibre mask that started a netminding style early in the 1959-60 National Hockey League season. Improvements have since been made on goalie masks. This picture shows Plante with a stitched gash on his nose, the type of injury the mask was designed to prevent. Since he came into the NHL, the Montreal netminder has had each cheek bone fractured once and his nose twice. The snug-fitting original mask was made of flat weaves of glass fibres with openings for the eyes and mouth. Innovations have changed the mask into a bar-type protector, similar to those used by baseball catchers. (CP Photo).

By W.R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Pick up how a handful of glass marbles and you have the makings of a face mask like that worn by goalie Jacques Plante of Montreal Canadiens.

When you're finished with the job you will have something that can withstand the impact of a puck travelling 100 miles an hour, fired from 15 feet.

When a puck strikes Plante on the mask — as he has found out often — the puck from the blow is only general. He can't tell at just what point the puck struck.

The process of constructing the mask is highly interesting in itself. Essentially it is the same for both the old - type and new-type mask worn by Plante.

PROTECTS FACE

The old type covers the face fairly snugly for holes for the eyes, nose and mouth. The new type has the appearance of bars, something like a baseball catcher's mask. It has 30 open spaces.

Advantages it provides over the old type are more air, a minimum of perspiration and, if anything, better vision.

Jean Burchmore, of the sales promotion department of Fiberglas Canada Limited, is the fellow who knows most about the mask. He has been collaborating with Plante since last summer.

Burchmore's company makes only fibre - glass as such; it does not make air and product. It sells the fibre - glass to other companies for manufacture into various products. In the mask - making, Burchmore is on his own. He has spent his own money and has protected his types of mask by patent.

STRANDS OF GLASS

The marbles are melted in a furnace of 2,400 degrees temperature and become hair - like filaments or strands. One marble makes a single strand of 27 miles.

The glass strands then are woven into a cloth. There are various types of weave, depending upon the use required and the impact to be withstood.

Meanwhile, a plaster of Paris mould of the face is needed. Plante had his first one made at a hospital. A home - made mould can readily be turned out. Vaseline first is applied to the face, then the plaster. When the plaster hardens the mould is lifted.

Now for the mask. Layers of the woven glass are combined with a solution called polyester resin. A hardening chemical is added as the layers are placed on the mould. In his first mask Plante had five heavy and three light layers of woven glass cloth. The first weave is also contained some nylon.

HOLES DRILLED

When the layers — now one solid piece — have hardened they are lifted from the mould. They are sanded, to make them smooth, and the holes for eyes, nose and mouth are drilled.

The mask then may be tried on and checked for vision. The next step is re - sanding and an application of a resin coat to seal in all the fibres.

There's your mask. The finished product is 80 to 85 per cent glass. Plante's old mask weighed 13 ounces and was three-sixteenths of an inch thick. The new bar-type mask weighs 10 ounces. The bars are about one-quarter inch thick.

The working mould — the same plaster mould of the face — is used for the bar - type mask.

This time the glass strands are bunched into rope - like pieces or bars of the desired thickness. There are 540 "ropes" in one of Plante's mask.

The ropes, still - flabby bars are saturated in the polyester resin. The hardening chemical is added as the bars are laid upon the face mould in the required pattern, which can be moulded to the mould.

When the bars have hardened the complete mask is lifted and the trimming and sanding and other steps are done.

Both masks fit the face snugly. The inside of each can be padded with sponge or other material, if found necessary, at particular points.

Plante's mask has a bar from forehead to point of chin. There is a series of bars from forehead to chin, along sides of the face and around the eyes, and three bars from nose point to chin. Two bars run across the forehead and one from ear to chin on each side.

Burchmore now is working on a type of fibre - glass arm pads for Plante to replace the cotton and bulkier types at present used.

MASK MAKER — Bill Burchmore of Fiberglas Canada Limited, Montreal, is the man behind the scenes in the current National Hockey League trend to goalie face masks. Burchmore has been collaborating with Jacques Plante, netminder with Montreal Canadiens, since last summer in developing the glass fibre masks. His latest style (right) is a bar-type mask with 30 open spaces. Burchmore is shown here marking a plaster mould on Plante's face to determine the position of the bars. The material in the bars is made from glass marbles (centre foreground) melted in a furnace at 2,400 degrees temperature. The heated marbles become long threads or glass fibre and these are bunched into rope-like sections over the plaster mould. After the bars have hardened, the mask is trimmed and sanded. (CP Photo).

"YES — BUT I WANT A NEW ONE AND I'LL NOT MOVE OUT TO THE NEW SECTION"

Where has my brick style excursion before? We have heard it from many buyers. Well we have now what you want — a new home in the old area — a couple of years old — and yet it is right in the heart of things. It is a 3-bedroom bungalow, with a real stone fireplace in the living room and a beautiful kitchen with oil, and there is a garage. It's a wonderful place to live yourself and collect the rent from the other unit. We would be glad to talk to you about it.

CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION
FAMILY OF 3 GIRLS—Vivian 9, Lois 10, Barbara 11 years, all attractive Catholic Anglo-Saxon backgrounds. Vivian is a lovely, beautiful red hair and grey eyed, typical Irish colleen. Lois has eyes. All have fair skin with a healthy glow. Barbara is a pretty, dainty miss. All are above average in progress at school. They are happy, well-behaved children in a close relationship to one another but each has her own individuality. Each is most reserved and feels the re-sponsibility of her own personality. These children are warm-hearted parents who can give them normal home.
If you are interested in adopting them, please write:

'LEAVE THE QUEEN'

ANTI-GERMAN REACTION

The Daily Mirror reflects the anti - German reaction to the latest name change most strongly.

The Mirror notes that Prime Minister Macmillan and other Ministers were informed about the name change but not asked.

"Were they merely informed—or did they agree?"

It cites Labor Member Lena Leader Hugh Gaitskell or Liberal Leader Jo Grimond were consulted.

The Star calls The Mirror's attack "insulting, offensive, nasty and silly." Other London papers which Earl Mountbatten of Burmma has come to be this country are so splendid that they need to be likened.

The Daily Telegraph thinks the decision will be greeted with some preservation.

"The English are conservative about royal names—and Windsor is as English as the oak," it says.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Thursday, February 11, 1960

General tendencies: This can really be one of the strangest of days and you would be wise to study carefully and double-check whatever arises in order to get the correct solution. The morning brings some very confusing conditions that require calmness in approaching and the P.M. is likely to bring a desire to make changes before th. right moment. Keep poised.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) Morning brings many temptations to buy things, but be very careful and wise in your choice. Learn to economize. P.M. utilize all that excessive energy for fun on some worthwhile hobby that will also be very profitable in time.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Simply ignore that associate who is acting in such an unusual fashion this morning. He, or she is upset with personal problems. P.M. take care you do not do something startling yourself and disturb the tranquility at home.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) If you are less than perfect with your work this A.M., there may be rather serious results. After lunch, be most careful while out driving or walking, and be sure to be on guard when you shop and in conversation. Gentility pays.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) Since you cannot decide just how to amuse yourself this morning, do not take any chances of spending unwisely on something worthless. Then you have an opportunity to increase abundance appreciably. P.M. be economical.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Simply give half an ear to the jabber of a family tie, but do not attend in any way. Be off to the constructive endeavors that bring rich rewards. P.M. bring home goodies, act very kindly and all will be just fine.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) A private worry could curtail your activities seriously in A.M., if you permit. Spend a good part of this day thinking out intelligently the ways and means of getting ahead faster with present associates. Work relaxed.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be loyal to far-seeing associate who wants to help you instead of going along with fast operator who wants to capitalize on your ignorance of facts and methods. Get support you need from true friends.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Act in such a way today that you do not lose prestige. You will then have many opportunities to gain the favor of influential persons who can help you materially careerwise. Be wide-awake to new and improved methods.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Rather than waste time and energy fretting over seeming lack of opportunity, get into the world of outside activity and meet people, study current trends. Find the ideal new outlet for your talents.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be certain you comprehend the valuable advice being give you by an expert of principle. Avoid that individual with inflated ego. P.M. read the great philosophers and increase own wisdom. Live the Golden Rule.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be neutral where some situation needs adjustment between an associate and a higher-up. Evening is then ideal for being with all allies to clear up any misunderstandings and work out better systems for the future.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) Your regular associates and friends have nothing but the wrong advice for you today, so be sure to go to experts in your field for the best ways and means to operate in the future. Persons in different financial brackets to yours will be helpful, too.

If your child is born today .. The delightful child that is born today is the type who will require guidance and encouragement in earliest years so that the right pattern for living can be cut out, otherwise there may be some confused thinking and acting. Give fine religious training early, too. Adult years can then be very successful in whatever profession requires novel ideas and practical handling of finances.

Plane Overshoots Malton Runway, No One Injured

Pilot Making Instrument Landing in Rain, Fog

TORONTO (CP) — A big Super-Constellation airliner overshot the runway at nearby Malton airport Wednesday night, skidded on its belly and crashed through a fence. The 53 passengers and six crew members, all uninjured, filed quietly out the doorway as gasoline spilled from the ruptured fuel system.

The Trans-Canada Air Lines plane, nearly two hours overdue on a flight from Vancouver to Montreal, crashed at the pilot, Capt. Douglas Hallman, came in on an instrument landing in rain and heavy fog.

The plane appeared at 9.03 pm. EST. The aircraft—flight No. 20—had previously touched down at Uplands, RCAF and civil navigational aids were serviced before the plane left for Toronto. It is understood they were still operational on landing. The TCA officials questioned the crew members until late today.

PASSENGER'S STORY

Among the passengers was Michael Mandel, who said he was being transferred from Montreal to Paris, also to France. He was sitting with his wife Norma and holding their 10-months-old daughter Michaela as the plane started to land.

"I've been quite a bit of flying in the air force and I know that landing wasn't normal," he said. "It was damned scared. I was shaking.

"We hit hard and then the pilot seemed to take her back into the air and then there was a lot of bouncing. The pilot did a pretty good job and had the airplane under control at all times.

"Then we stopped, the stewardess said to leave everything and get out of the airplane. The lights never went out and although it was foggy we knew we were still at Malton. Several people came running to us very quickly and the crash equipment got there awfully fast too. We walked across the field to a hangar."

VISIBILITY POOR

Poor visibility at the airport later Wednesday caused delays and flights from Malton and several other airports. Aircraft were diverted to Montreal and the United Kingdom to the U.S.

Most of the passengers were bound for Toronto. Others were heading for Ottawa, Montreal, New York and Cleveland. Airline officials declined to disclose their names and addresses.

All the crew members are based at Malton. Flight engineer was Wayne Kirby, the flight engineer. Pilot and co-pilot stewardesses Jill Bowerman, Marjorie Stephens and Frances Crosby.

U.S. Drafts New Plan for Limited Ban on A-Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today announced a new four-point U.S. plan for international restrictions on nuclear tests.

Eisenhower told a press conference the plan was being introduced immediately at Geneva where the United States, Russia and Britain have been negotiating over a test prohibition for more than 15 months.

In a statement Eisenhower said the proposal "would end forthwith, under assured controls" the following types of explosion:

1. All nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere.

2. All nuclear weapons tests in the ocean.

3. All such tests "in those regions in space where effective controls can be agreed to".

4. All tests "beneath the surface of the earth which can be monitored."

GENEVA (Reuters — The United States today formally presented a plan for a limited ban on nuclear weapons tests: It was immediately rejected by Russia.

Tito Orders Cardinal Buried In Own Village

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — The body of Aloysius Cardinal Stepinac lay in state today in the little parish church of Krasic, denied burial in his cathedral at Zagreb.

Yugoslavia's Communist government refused permission for the cardinal's body to be moved to Zagreb, seat of his archdiocese where he would have been buried. The authorities said he would have to be buried at the church in Krasic, his native village, where the Communists keep him confined as a paroled prisoner.

Sub Surfaces At North Pole

WASHINGTON (AP)—The navy announced Wednesday the feat of a ship by United States atomic submarines to the North Pole.

The submarine Skate broke through the ice at the pole Tuesday and the raising of Skate's flag from which the nuclear boat had been launched.

The cruise, in the midst of arctic winter, re-emphasized the ability of American nuclear submersibles — including Polaris missile subs — to take position at any season in the international waters above Russia.

MYSTERY TOSSED INTO FOREIGN POLICY DEBATE

Disarmament Plan Kept Dark Secret

OTTAWA (CP)—What disarmament proposals has Canada up its sleeve?

This is the mystery tossed into a Commons foreign policy debate Wednesday by External Affairs Minister Green. The debate concludes tonight.

Mr. Green said Canada is putting forward proposals in preparation for the 18-nation East-West disarmament committee negotiations scheduled to begin in Geneva about March 15. Canada is a member of the committee.

He said he wasn't at liberty to divulge the proposals now, but that if the negotiating countries felt the same way as Canada about disarmament there would be benefits to mankind.

ASKS MPs BE TOLD

Paul Martin (L—Essex East) said that if the government thinks disarmament so important the proposals it has in mind should be aired in the Commons.

He could not be argued that the proposals are secret, he said. Britain and Russia had already made specific proposals to the UN and France had announced a number of her suggestions.

Parliament now should have a chance to learn what principles Canada intends to follow as well as the specific proposals it plans to make, Mr. Martin continued in his speech today.

Mr. Green said the next decade could be Canada's year in world affairs. He said Canada can play a vital part, perhaps as vital as that played by any other country.

"The time has come to take an independent approach," Mr. Green said. He said applause for Canada has only friends and no enemies.

GEORGES MIDDLEMAN

It was time to drop the idea that Canada's role should be that of the honest broker. Instead, Canada should determine the right stand on world problems and use "Canadian common sense."

This country would gain more respect and exert more influence if it forgot the role of the middleman.

Mr. Green said he didn't want to give the impression that the former Liberal government hadn't taken an independent approach. But Canadians had been misled on that by this country's role was to interpret the United States to Britain and the United Kingdom to the U.S.

"This used to appeal to me," Mr. Green said. But Britain and the U.S. now were as close as they ever could be and he didn't need interpreter.

Youth Arrested Here Jailed in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — David Alexander Nelson, 18, picked up in Belleville and returned to Picton County Jail Wednesday for trial, Wednesday was sentenced to nine months definite and nine months indefinite for breaking into a store here.

Alexander pleaded guilty. Police recovered 225 packages of cigarets stolen from the store.

Cock That Crowed on Muckheap Gets Comb Clipped in Libel Suit

LONDON (Reuters)—A British air vice-marshal Wednesday lost a libel action in the High Court over a cockerel that crowed on a muckheap.

A High Court jury ruled that Australian-born air Vice-Marshal Donald Bennett, founder of Britain's Pathfinder squadrons in the Second World War, had not defamed his fellow officer.

The plaintiff was Air Vice-Marshal William E. Staton, who complained that passages in Bennett's book Pathfinder were invented to "smear" his reputation.

Bennett, who conducted his own defence, denied defamation. He said the two passages were true.

The passages said Bennett, then a civilian in charge of ferrying planes, rebuked Staton, then a group captain, for wearing shorts in Montreal and later found himself under Staton's command at a British base.

Bennett told the court Tuesday that when he checked in at the British base, Staton said: "I hate shorts. But it's a waste of time to try to get rid of them. I've left this muckheap."

Unclaimed 19-Foot Satellite Tumbles Silently Over Poles

WASHINGTON (AP)—A mysterious satellite that the United States defence department said may be of Russian origin tumbled through space silently.

Moscow has said nothing about it.

Here's all that the defence department knows about the object:

It appears to be in a near-polar orbit. It is dark and is probably less than 19 feet long. It is silent, as far as U.S. monitors are concerned.

American space scientists have not ruled out the possibility that the satellite could be sending messages when triggered by a remote receiving station in Russia. However, these scientists have learned from experience that it is difficult to receive signals from a space vehicle tumbling in orbit, as this one appears to be doing.

At Jodrell Bank in England, scientists using the radio telescope said they knew of no satellite sent aloft by the Russians recently and that they have no information on any new satellite in orbit.

U. S. Navy tracking stations first spotted the object about a month ago. Nothing was said about it until Wednesday.

Scientists tended to rule out the possibility that it could be a part of Russia's Lunik III that took a picture of the far side of the moon last October.

The Lunik III satellites have been fired into polar orbits. The only one still circling is Discoverer XIII, launched last Nov. 20 from California. Navy trackers said they knew the whereabouts of the Discoverer rocket casings—but that this object was not one of them.

Politically-Minded Algerian Army Loses Much of Power

PARIS (AP) — President officers.

Charles de Gaulle has cracked down on his politically-minded army in Algeria and ordered much power returned to civil authorities.

His cabinet Wednesday night approved sweeping reforms which would be argued that the proposals are secret, he said. Britain and Russia had already made specific proposals to the UN and France had announced a number of her suggestions.

Parliament now should have a chance to learn what principles Canada intends to follow as well as the specific proposals it plans to make, Mr. Martin continued in his speech today.

Mr. Green said the next decade could be Canada's year in world affairs. He said Canada can play a vital part, perhaps as vital as that played by any other country.

Khrushchev in India Speech Offers Soviet Aid to Cuba

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev has told Russia's "friendly and selfless assistance" to Cuba in its struggle for independence.

Khrushchev was addressing a joint session of India's Parliament shortly after his arrival here on an official visit.

A large portion of his address was devoted to the United States nations for oppressing and "plundering" the peoples of Latin America, Asia and Africa.

He declared:

"It would only be fair if Western countries now returned to the peoples back in colonies what they took in the past at least part of the wealth appropriated by them.

"One must say that Britain and the U.S. now were as close as they ever could be and he didn't need interpreter.

Czechs Play Five Games In Canada

SIMCOE (CP) — Czechoslovakia's Olympic hockey team will play a five-game exhibition series in Canada early in March.

DISPUTE DELAYS SIGNING OF CF-104 CONTRACT

Canadian Wants To Sublet Work

OTTAWA (CP)—A dispute over subcontracts between the defence production department and Canadair Limited, Montreal, is holding up signing of the main contract for production of the supersonic CF-104 jet plane for the RCAF, it is learned reliably.

Canadair had expected that the $90,500,000 contract for 200 CF-104 airframes would have been signed last September. There is still no signed agreement though it should not be inferred that the CF-104 program will fall through.

The problem arises from the fact the defence production department is a $90,500,000 ceiling on the airframe contract—Canadair's low bid for the airframe job.

But Canadair made this bid on the understanding it would be able to subcontract a lot of the work to companies which could supply components at the lowest cost.

U.S. PRICES LOWER

These firms happen to be American companies already established in Canada and the same plane—the Lockheed Starfighter—in the United States.

Canadair has subcontracted about $25,000,000 worth of CF-104 components to U.S. companies. But the defence production department has told the subcontract even more to Canadian companies to make work for them.

Canadair is understood to be willing at this because the more it has to pay for parts the less chance it will have of breaking even or making a profit.

The same situation may apply to the engine contract going to Orenda Engines, Downsview, Ont., and the government control system going to Canadian Westinghouse, Hamilton.

As far as can be learned there was a misunderstanding in the first place between the defence production department and the contractors on how much work could be subcontracted in the U.S.

If the Canadian prime contractors—Canadair, Orenda and Westinghouse—have to pay more for components than they bargained for, the CF-104 prodgram may be delayed.

LOCKHEED POSITION

Lockheed officials say they were able to sell the CF-104 to the Canadian government on the understanding that the Canadian firms would be able to subcontract with the Canadian firms.

Lockheed is building 66 starfighters for West Germany and has given Canadair a $1,556,000 contract for components for these planes.

Lockheed says it could have sold Starfighters to the government at $900,000 apiece compared with $1,200,000 per unit price it is costing to build the plane in Canada. However, the Canadian government wanted a share of the up the difference in personal and corporation income tax revenues.

PARIS (Reuters)—Negotiations opened here today on the granting of independence to Madagascar under the Franco-Malagasy accord. French officials said the talks were expected to progress rapidly and easily.

Painting Chimp Dies of Broken Leg in Zoo

BALTIMORE (AP) — Betsy, the famous ape artist, is dead.

The 9-year-old chimpanzee was internationally known because of her finger painting. Her work has been exhibited by the Russians, commissioned by Russia and commented on by surrealist Salvador Dali and French abstractionist Georges Mathieu.

Her seven-year career with the paint brush netted her $600 for the Baltimore zoo. "Betsy originals" brought up to $125 apiece.

Spunky, unclaw ether, playful 60 of the 80 pounds of the cage. This broke Betsy's leg and she went into fatal shock.

Zoo director Arthur Watson said she would be buried in the back yard, anyway. An autopsy disclosed cancer of the intestines, stomach and liver.

The Winnipeg newspaper Soviet Culture cilled her work as "the most shining example of the best in modern painting."

Dali said he "would expect something great from Betsy and Mathieu said the chimp was more likely an objective realist than an abstractionist.

Russian art critics have condemned modern art as "bourgeois decadence."

Khrushchev received V.I.P. treatment upon his arrival today but with none of the big crowds that welcomed President Eisenhower in December.

Between 100,000 and 200,000 persons turned out to cheer the Soviet premier as he started his Asian tour — a marked contrast to the million and more who welcomed the American president.

Later this afternoon Khrushchev paid a 45-minute courtesy call on Prime Minister Nehru and political and economic talks.

Also Asks Power To Pay Private Firm A Subsidy

Motion Releases Rawson Bus Co. From Liability

Belleville city council will seek authority by way of a private bill in the Ontario Legislature to open the way for a municipally owned and operated bus system.

At the same time the private bill will ask that the city be empowered to enter into agreement with any private operator for the operation of a bus service with or without payment of subsidy.

This was the decision of city council late yesterday afternoon at a special meeting called by Mayor A. M. Haig. A resolution passed by council released the Rawon Bus Company from any liability in connection with its unexpired contract with the city.

The resolution also empowers the special committee of Aldermen Ben Corke and Jack Deacon to continue exploration of all ways and means to maintain without interruption a public transportation system in the city under either public or private ownership.

Action of council was motivated by the recent announcement of Mr. Fred Rawson, operator of the bus service in the city for the past 35 years, that he will cease operations after March 31st. This was in spite of the fact that his contract with the city does not expire until January 31st, 1960.

NOT ENFORCEABLE

City Solicitor, E. Guss Porter, yesterday told council by way of a letter that the city's agreement with Mr. Rawson was still in effect but in his opinion was unenforceable.

He said there was no penalty clause in the Rawson contract and any recourse the city might have was by way of injuncting for damages for interruption of service. He said it would be very difficult to assess damages.

Mr. Porter said a private bill would be necessary for the city to enter into a public transportation system and indicated this could be obtained by way of an amendment to the present private bill covering the Rawson contract.

FAVORS PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

Speaking in support of his resolution asking for authority to operate a bus service for the business, Mayor Haig said he felt it was the duty of city council to take immediate steps to ensure the continuation of a public transportation system.

He said the bus transportation should be maintained as a service the same as parks, sport facilities and so on.

"I am not enjoyed by all, yet it is the responsibility of all to provide for the convenience of those who need them and use them," he said.

Mayor Haig said he had been consistently opposed to the payment of a subsidy to the operator of a bus franchise in any way, shape or form.

"But I think if buses could not be operated without the corporation providing a subsidy to a private operator, then, for better or worse, the time has arrived when municipal operation would have to enter the

What Was Disc Jockeys' Breakfast, Whisky Waffles and Ham on Rye?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Why did record companies pick up a $117,664 tab at a disc jockey convention in Miami Beach last summer?

Chairman Oren Harris (Dem., Ark.) speculated Wednesday that the convention will be explored when the house interstate and foreign commerce subcommittee resumes hearings next month into payola payments to disc jockeys.

Part of the story came from Edward E. Eicher, special service director for the Americana Hotel where the convention was held last May 29-31.

There have been reports, not yet brought into the testimony, that many of the 2,000 disc jockeys attending were entertained with girls and lavish parties.

There was no mention of girls in Eicher's testimony today. He noted that Capitol Records picked up a $12,357 bill for a cocktail party on the night of May 30.

Eicher also was questioned about a $15,415 expense item attributed to Roulette Records of New York for a combination breakfast-luncheon which listed a bar bill of $8,850. Why so much booze? Eicher replied that it was for several disc jockeys.

Eicher listed 18 record companies and the Storz Broadcasting Company of Omaha as financial underwriters for convention expenses.

Health Minister Asked to Order Open Inquiry

TORONTO (CP)—Health Minister Dymond has been asked to order an inquiry into the death Wednesday of Mrs. Mary Richardson, 45, of Toronto, seven hours after she was released from hospital.

She was released from St. Michael's Hospital following examination after being struck by a car. An autopsy showed she had a ruptured spleen and massive abdominal hemorrage.

Alderman Frederick Beavis, city representative on the hospital board, sent a telegram to Dr. Dymond urging "a full inquiry into this woman's death."

Panfilo Di Giallocardo, 'of suburban Scarborough has been charged with manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Richardson.

Sister Janet, superintendent of St. Michael's Hospital, said the woman was thoroughly examined by two doctors and received treatment for cuts and bruises.

They took her blood pressure and there was nothing to indicate internal injury," Sister Janet said.

Body Recovered

LINDSAY (CP)—The body of four-year-old Derrick Hinton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Hinton, was recovered Wednesday night after 36 hours of dragging operations in the Scugog River here.

The body of a companion, Peter Wilson, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Wilson, was recovered Monday. Apparently the boys wandered out onto the ice while playing.

Belleville Man Gets Two Years In Penitentiary

KINGSTON (CP) — Gerald Dorian Sudds, 32, of Yarker, Ont., and George Keith McFarland, 28, of Belleville pleaded guilty Tuesday and were given fall sentences on three charges of breaking, entering and theft.

The men admitted breaking into a high school and two all commercial pany offices in the Kingston area, destroying sales in two of the business buildings. They made off with only $110 but left damage behind estimated at $1,500.

Sudds was sentenced to 15 months in jail. McFarland was sentenced to two years in Kingston Penitentiary.

Danger of Over-Education Theme of Address at Conference

PICTON — The danger of over-education was the theme of a talk by Prof. E. E. Goldsmith at a recent education conference for District 23, Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, held at Picton. Professor Goldsmith, associate professor of engineering at Carleton University in Ottawa, was flown to Picton by two members of the Picton Flying Club, in order to attend the conference after his lecture duties at the University.

Dr. Goldsmith noted in conclusion that the teacher is confronted not with the ignorant, but with those possessing many scraps of information. The uncritical, accepting attitudes of pupils, and the number of pupil-teacher contact hours, is theoretically measured in terms of the most backward pupils, contribute to boredom and drive the "elite" out of the public best pupils. Education should be cut in half for time, rules and methods, and still cover the same work.

PROF. E. E. GOLDSMITH

As a consequence of this reduction, he commented there would be less danger of impressing personality on the pupil and student ingenuity and fresh endeavour of approach, rather than overdependence on rules, would result.

Dr. Goldsmith set as the chief aim of education contemplation rather than doing. Education should be a training of minds, not a crowding of memory for quiz shows. Ideally it is the contact of first class minds in discussion to bring out ideas. It is too often anti-intellectual; cramming facts and neglecting the human and spiritual values — technical competence without knowing.

The morning sessions of the conference were concerned with the programs of the various subject groups. Discussions and considerations of the specialty fields included, among the speakers, Mr. A. Shape, Department of Education; Mr. Lorne Johnston, Department inspector for the district; Inspector J. F. Kinlin of the Department of Education; Miss Hall, Director of Ontario College of Education and Dr. H. M. Love of Queen's University.

NO SETTLEMENT

QUEBEC (CP) — A prolonged wage dispute between Dominion Textile Company and the National Federation of Textile Workers (CCCL) was dumped back into the lap of the provincial government Wednesday during a meeting between union leaders and Deputy Labor Minister Jacques Casgrain, Mr. Casgrain said he will attempt to find a formula for settlement of claims by 1,500 striking workers at the company's Magog plant.

Merchants Loan TV Sets for Daily Lessons

Thanks to the generosity of three city appliance dealers, pupils of three of Bellleville's public schools are now taking part of their daily lessons by television.

Schools chosen to take the television programs are Bayview, Queen Victoria and Prince Charles Schools.

According to schools administrator Lawrence Hall, the daily TV school programs are being tuned in locally on a trial basis and only at three of the public schools.

"School finances did not permit us going out and buying television for all schools and the ones we are using are being loaned by three Belleville merchants," Mr. Kells said. "So far the board's only investment has been for antennas and for wiring."

The school TV series is for two school age groups, grades 4-5 and 6-7 and beginning in March will be extended to include grades 7-8. The TV school series was started about the middle of January.

With the TV school programs still to run for a month and a half, Mr. Kells did not think there should be comment until the series was completed March 31.

Following the completion of the series, the value of the programs will be assessed locally and advice forwarded to the Ontario Department of Education.

Careless Driver Kicked Officer When Stopped

BOWMANVILLE — A Belleville transport driver, Ernest Howard Haw, 29, of 206 Coleman Street, was Tuesday fined $100 and costs in county court and totalling $17.55 or six months in default after pleading guilty before Magistrate R. B. Baxter to a charge of resisting arrest.

Haw admitted kicking OPP Constable R. S. Diamond on the hand and the face when Diamond stopped the transport on Saturday to check accused on his driving.

On a second charge of careless driving Haw was fined $200 and costs or 10 days. A third charge, assaulting a police officer, was not proceeded with, at the suggestion of Crown Attorney Harry D. Harper, QC.

PC Diamond told the court he intercepted Haw on Highway 401 at the detour to Highway 115.

Men's Annual Spiel Opens With Full Quota of 48 Rinks

Due to unfortunate circumstances, the men's annual bonspiel, sponsored by the Quinte Curling Club is running into serious difficulties but the committee in charge is hopeful its head up and hopes to wind it up in a blaze of glory. During the winter a heavy accumulation of snow and ice on the roof forced the water back up and start dripping on the ice surface, which caused cancellation of some of the games and forced others to travel to Trenton and RCAF to play out the schedule. Only two games were cancelling and this morning the first round of today's play will take place at the RCAF rink at 8RD It is hoped that the rink will be ready for play later in the day. The president and board of directors took the matter in hand early and the last evening the fire department was engaged to flush all the ice and snow off the roof in the hope that it would stop the dripping. Excepting for the inconvenience the bonspiel was a howling success. Ben Corbett, veteran of the curlers on behalf of Mayor D. McLean Haig, while as bonspiel chairman he hoped that the curlers would have lots of fun and good curling. Many games were exceptionally keen and as always in a bonspiel there are surprise wins in some of the day's play. Rinks that were expected to win were beaten and rinks were taken and some of them left the bonspiel.

Each day for three days there will be sixteen different rinks in action, some from all parts of the province and the two three-game winners and two two-game winners will come back on Saturday to compete for the lovely prizes that are being offered for competition. Unfortunately, due to the trouble only one three-game winner was declared on Wednesday, that being the rink of Adam Wilkinson from Bicroft and Kingston skipped by Wilkinson. The other three-game winner will be between Dr. Dorsey Craig of Peterborough and Moe Sugarman of Kingston. They will play their games before getting the two-game winners were a Quinte Rink skipped by Bert Sills and one skipped by D. Bakay of Kingston. The results were:

IN MEMORIAM

RODGER. — In sacred memory of a dear husband, Wilmot Rodger, who departed this life on February 11th, 1955.
"Our God, Father, link each broken heart
As one, that we meet again."
—Ever remembered by wife Ethel.

LADYBOD. — In loving memory of our husband and father, Joseph Ladybod, who passed away 12th February, 1951.
We who loved you sadly miss you,
As is dearest words can tell,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of you are with us well.
—Lovingly remembered by wife and children.

MORGAN. — In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Roy McMurray Morgan, who died suddenly February 11th, 1951.
Years have passed and years have gone by Left us.
For time cannot make us forget;
The silence we feel at the parting,
The grief in our hearts lingers yet;
His words could soothe your sweet nature,
So loving, so tender and kind;
Your memory will always be cherished,
By the dear ones you left behind.
Just a memory, but oh, so dear.
—Sadly missed, still loved and remembered always by Mom, Dad, sisters and brothers.

RCAF Rink Gets 8-Ender

TRENTON — A Trenton RCAF rink, skipped by Larry Moffatt scored an eight-ender during a game with a Belleville rink this morning during the 8:30 draw of the Belleville Curling Club bonspiel at the RCAF Curling Rink at No. 6 RD. The eight-ender, which is as rare to curling as the hole-in-one is to golf, was scored through the fifth end of the game. On the previous end the RCAF curlers had scored a six-ender, but it, six scoring ends out of a possible eight), against the Belleville rink skipped by Frank Creeggan.

The members of the RCAF rink were: lead — Bob Beche, second — Ed Armstrong, vice-skip — Sid Shore and skip — Larry Moffatt. The Belleville rink consisted of Enos David, lead, third; deacon J. B. Corrigan, second, Steve Tripp as vice-skip and skip Frank Creeggan. The latter were unable to overcome the tremendous lead set up by their opponents.

Flood Picture Different From 1959

With an inch of rain falling over the Quinte district within the past 24 hours, and considerable depth of snow lying in the upper Moira watershed, local officials are again thinking in terms of the annual spring breakup of ice and flood.

But they point out that a quite different set of circumstances exists this year, as compared with the exceptionally deep snow and ice conditions of last year when everything pointed to the possibility of a flood in the downtown Belleville area.

City Engineer Malcolm Turnbull stated today that his department has been maintaining a regular check on river ice conditions but reports the river is fairly open from the Upper Bridge north to Cannifton Dam and even where there is no open channel in the lower river, the ice is relatively thin.

South of the CPR bridge there is now only one foot of ice as compared to the two feet in the same area last year.

"As far as I am concerned there seems to be a completely different picture this year", Mr. Turnbull said.

Snow depth checks in the upper watershed have been taken by the Moira River Conservation Authority and here again there is considerably less snow than last year.

Michael Chubb, Conservation Authority field Officer noted that checks taken at the municipal dump last week revealed an average of from 17 to 20 inches of snow at that point. Similar checks were made at ten different spots at the 1959 conservation dump north of Madoc, at the Price Conservation Area at Actinolite and at the Eagle Lake area in the Hills in Sidney township.

Water content of the snow at these points averaged from 4.59 inches to 6.15 inches at the O'Hara Mill property.

3 Men Wanted Here Arrested At Toronto

Three youths wanted here on charges of passing bad cheques have been arrested at Toronto. Wayne G. Yuill and Robert Thomas McIntyre, both 19, and Holly Sam Brown, in his twenties, were among four men arrested at Toronto. The fourth man arrested was not wanted here, but there is another man being sought in connection with the local charges. The three youths arressed apparently have no fixed addresses.

It is charged that on or about Jan. 22 they and a fourth man passed cheques, drawn on a local firm, at local stores, the cheques totalling $200.

The three are said to face charges in other Ontario centres. They will be brought to Belleville to face trial but instead the charges will be heard in Toronto.

Legion Curlers To Take Part In Bonspiel

TRENTON — Hundreds of curlers are preparing themselves for one of the largest curling bonspiels in the Province. They are members of the Canadian Legion who will be competing for the Legion provincial Trophy and the Labatt Trophy, which are emblematic of curling supremacy within the ranks of the Ontario Command.

The rinks participating have emerged from branch, zone and district competition, with each of the nine district winners entering the Provincial championships.

This outstanding curling event will be held in London, Ontario, the home of last year's champions on Saturday and Sunday, February 13th and 14th.

It is expected that Harold Eaton, Ontario President of the Legion, as well as other Provincial officials will be in attendance. Besides the team from Trenton skipped by Rusty Miller, will be Zone Sports Officer Bill Milne and 2nd Vice-President Carmen Livingstone who has been looking after curling since these 'spiels commenced.

Board Approves Annexation Of 30 Acres

TRENTON — At Trenton, word has been received by Co. O. W. Larry, clerk-treasurer, that the Ontario Municipal Board has approved the annexation by the town of 30 acres of land in Murray Township, directly west of Trenton Heights area.

This land was formerly owned by Ross McCauley, and is now the property of Stanco Klemencic. The annexation will become effective on March 31st, after the intention to annex has been duly advertised and if no complaints are lodged against the annexation.

Mr. Klemencic is preparing a plan of a housing project comprising 30 or 40 lots, the type to be found in Champlain Heights, for the consideration of Trenton council and the Municipal Board. He expects to commence construction early in the spring. The overall plan calls for the erection of over 100 homes.

Mr. Klemencic has been associated with housing projects in Trenton for the past eleven years. He has been a resident of Trenton for the past four years.

Coroner's Jury Rules Deaths Accidental

TRENTON — A coroner's inquest was held at Brighton yesterday concerning the death of three former Trenton men on December 26th, 1959. The three, Gerald Ostrom, 28, a Robert Thompson, 18, and Ralph Jackson, 20, were instantly killed when a car in which they were travelling hit an icy patch of road on Highway 2 near Smithfield and careened into a telephone pole. Death was ruled as accidental.

A ruling of accidental death was also arrived at in the case of Donald James Kerr, 58, who lost his life when hit by the door of an exploding boiler at the Delta Gelatin plant in Trenton last October.

Senior Women Hold Valentine Tea, Sale

TRENTON — The Senior Woman's Association of King Street United Church in Trenton held a Valentine Tea and Sale in the church parlors yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. J. C. Coutts was the convener of the tea and had arranged the charming tea room decorations. A bouquet of white carnations and red double tulips with their green spikes folded out to make the flowers resemble cups, with red satin streamers tied at the end in love knots, graced the centre tea table.

Taking tickets were Mrs. E. A. Baker and Mrs. C. McCall.

Pouring tea throughout the afternoon were Mrs. Morton Mrs. Weeks, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Patrick, Mrs. Burke, Mrs. Alvin, Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Irwin.

Valentine identification japet "rose-gays" had been made by Grace Ann Preston.

Mrs. T. W. Spear was hostess and she was assisted by several members of the W.A. who served and sell small tea tables, and received bake goods tables.

Members of the Canadian Girls in Training group at the church convened a candy table.

Police Ball Attracts Record Valentine Crowd

TRENTON — A sell-out crowd waltzed, polka'd and jitterbugged in the Legion Hall last night at the Trenton Police Ball. A number of lovely floral gowns were evidenced among the fair sex as they danced to the rhythm of the Starlighters orchestra.

Valentine motifs decorated the hall for the function, one of the most successful this year which was sponsored by the Trenton Police Association. Constable Jack Graham, president of the Association, was unable to be present, as he was on duty.

One of the evening's highlights was the hula dancer in full Hawaiian costume "Miss Swivel-Hips," otherwise known as Freda Smith of Belleville. Miss Smith caused a great sensation as she swayed and wove down through the supper tables. Jack Wilson, the emcee, also caused much merriment by their antics at the microphone.

Lunch was served at midnight, and dancing then resumed until the playing of "the Queen" brought the much enjoyed event to a close.

Among those present were Mayor D. James MacDonald and Mrs. MacDonald; Chief Constable John F. Taylor; Mr. and Mrs. George Bilgh, Colborne; Mrs. Tom Oakes; Mr. and Mrs. A. Mulley; Mr. and Mrs. M. Walt; Mr. and Mrs. S. Galloway; Mr. and Mrs. G. Galloway; Mr. and Mrs. R. Whitley; Mrs. E. Bedford; Mr. and Mrs. D. Atkins. The door prize a piece luggage set was won by Mr. and Mrs. Sproule Currie.

Women's Club Visits Bancroft

TRENTON—Miss Anne Johnson, Mrs. Jenny Wills, Miss Verna Nelson, Mrs. Doris Stewart and Miss Lillian McPhail, members of the Trenton Business and Professional Women's Club, motored to Bancroft on Monday night to attend the charter meeting of the Bancroft B. and P. W. Club.

Flood Control Discussed By Conservation Authority

Flood control was discussed at a meeting of the Moira Conservation Authority held in the Belleville City Hall on Wednesday evening.

Chairman Ross Thompson presided over the meeting which was attended by 15 members and officials.

Mr. Thompson reported that the Authority had received a letter from the Ontario Water Resources Commission stating that the Commission would be willing to assist the Authority in the preparation of a flood control plan for the Moira River watershed.

The Commission would provide the services of a hydrologist and a hydraulic engineer to assist in the preparation of the plan.

The plan allows for a population of 13,700 by 1980 and stipulates that 970 acres of residential land will be in use by that time. The second stage of the plan covering the 15-year period allows for a population of 17,500 and an additional 215 acres of land will be in use as residential area.

A suggestion that church sites be "deleted" from the official plan, and designated merely as residential, commercial, industrial, etc., according to the particular zone in which they are placed, met with a facetious counter suggestion that the headline in local newspapers, "Planning Board deletes church sites from official plan" would attract a great deal of adverse criticism.

After a great deal of discussion as to the suggestion of the planners to re-locate Highway 33 through the town to by-pass what with traffic congestion at the corner of Dundas and Front was ended with the resolution to let the route of the highway remain as it is with some modifications.

FIRST MARRIED PRIEST

COPENHAGEN (Reuter) — Denmark's first married Catholic priest will soon begin his duties at a little parish on the outskirts of Copenhagen, it was disclosed Tuesday. Rev. Olav Gustenhoff Bonnevie, a former Lutheran pastor, joined the Roman Catholic Church in 1945. He is one of few who have been granted special papal, dispensation to be ordained priest though married.

Planning Board Discusses Problem of Land Annexation

TRENTON — Donald Sutherland, a member of the Trenton and Suburban Planning Board, expressed himself adverse to the annexation of land outside the town at the expense of letting land inside lay idle, at the last night's meeting of the board.

"Someone who owns land outside the town limits gets a free ride bear to get the land annexed in order to get town services, and builds a housing development on the annexed land while our land inside the town sits empty," Mr.-Sutherland said.

He added that he thought the town should have on a policy of annexation and that the planning board should work along with council to plan future staging of the annexed areas.

Howard Langdon felt that the board had enough to do to stage on the land within the present incorporation limits without concerning itself about staging of land which might possibly be annexed.

O. W. Larry said that he felt a committee should be set up to study annexation on a "grand" scale, so that the town could study and plan for the extension of services in such an organized manner and plan that would not be haphazard.

Mr. W. A. L. McDonald, chairman of the board, read a letter from N. Koyama of Project Planners Associates. Mr. Koyama's letter was in reply to a circular, met with members of town council representing on the Trenton Public Utilities Commission, representatives of the Trenton Board of Education and the Trenton and Suburban Planning Board in early January to discuss aspects of the official town plan and invite suggestions for changes or modifications in the plan from the viewpoint of the bodies concerned.

Mr. McDonald said that no word had been received from the commission, other than a suggestion that a meeting of advising staging could be broken down into parts since a period of two parts as suggested by the planners for the whole period covered by the official plan.

In reference to the wording of the official plan that 10 per cent of the residential, commercial, industrial and park areas must have been utilized for the purposes designated by the plan, before any new land could be entered upon, Dr. McDonald wondered if the clause could be made to read "50 per cent of the usable land." To allow for certain areas which would not be suitable for the use designated.

There was also some discussion about just who would decide that 50 per cent of town land had been used before proceeding with the second stage of the plan.

Much Ado About Little

Amongst those things which we consider none of our business are the surnames by which people still a couple of generations from being born will be known to their contemporaries.

Unfortunately this disinterest is not shared by many of our own contemporaries and British (which means British newspapers) is now plunged into a heated controversy over the Queen's decision to link Prince Philip's family name of Mountbatten with her own (adopted) family name of Windsor at some time in the distant future.

Now we will grant that Britons in particular, and all the Queen's subjects in general, have some passing vested interest in the family name of their monarchs. But the Queen, evidently recognizing this fact, excluded those in direct line to the throne in her decree that her descendants should be known by the surname of Mountbatten-Windsor, rather than by Windsor.

For this reason, the name Mountbatten-Windsor will not be claimed by any person for some forty or fifty years—not until the Queen's great grandchildren are born. It is unlikely that many of the writers of editorials on the subject in London newspapers will be around by that time, yet they all appear to be stirred to condemnation or commendation for the prospect which lies beyond their lifespan.

Personally, we think the Queen has every right to decree that her descendants should be known by any name she chooses—and that her descendants, when they come of age, have every right to alter the choice if they see fit. It being remembered that those to whom the altered name applies will not be monarchs, nor princes or princesses of the realm.

Muzzle Misplaced

Up in Larder Lake, Acting Police Chief Bernard Winstanley made some disparaging remarks about dogs, after one had bitten a four-year-old girl.

Two days later, Police Chief Larder Lake council gave him a second probationary six-month term, instead of confirming his appointment of chief of police. Council members declined to reveal their reasons for this action, but since the reeve had ruled on Saturday that Winstanley must make no further statements without prior approval of both the council and the police committee, it is not difficult to guess the cause for council's action.

Council seems too touchy. It is true that a policeman does not make the laws, but only enforces them. Still, the public is served when any part of its servants are not permitted to draw attention to serious hazards. That there are many things on which a policeman should not comment we will agree; that these things include the danger to children from large numbers of stray dogs we doubt.

Long-Headed Westerners

Prospects of strong prairie opposition to the proposal that the Federal government buy the railways a subsidy on western export grain shipments may sound strange at first. But Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba, who led off the campaign, is a long-headed politician. Roblin is not so much opposed to a subsidy as to tying this to the grain trade. A subsidy would be a compensation for various rate inequities which he must attack to defend, at some later date, than might a subsidy granted specifically to compensate the railways for the low rates on grain. If the days should return when Western grain growers are really "in the chips," and if at that time other sections of the country economy were facing bad times, pressure for the removal of a subsidy granted solely because of low export grain freight rates would certainly be strong.

Paul Martin says that the Canadian delegation to the forthcoming international disarmament conference should be prepared to stand up to both Russia and the United States. We have no objection to this procedure, providing that the process of "standing up to" the big boys is guaranteed not to affect our later ability to put plain stand on

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

HONESTY

We often hear the expression that honesty is the best policy. Undoubtedly it is. Experience has proved that through the ages.

But we never really become honest by pursuing it as an advantageous policy. We should be honest because it is right. To be honest and wrong to be dishonest. Practically everybody would agree with that statement.

The disagreement begins when the matter comes as to whether or not a little compromise of honesty once in a while is not advantageous. May it not be that sometimes the end justifies the means? We may cross the line just a little bit and, we reason, no one will be too much hurt: I will be benefited, and probably everybody else.

It is this little type of thing

Future English Language

New York Times

W. Somerset Maugham made a prognostication on the eve of his eighty-sixth birthday that has been gaining followers in recent years. This is the belief that some day soon English is going to be the language of the world, replacing all of its illustrious predecessors. "I have an idea," he wrote, "that in two or three hundred years English will be the universal language spoken all over the world. Of course, it won't be the English language as we know it, probably be even more strange than the language of Chaucer is to us now, but it will be founded on the language of today." The noted authors' opinion is weighted with merit, and there are many scholars the world over who insist, and have insisted, that it is only a matter of time before the English language succumbs to the role for which it was destined ever since the United States came into being.

Mr. Maugham's statement that it won't be the English we speak now is also becoming chronicled. Only days before he made his remarks in Bangkok, a Swedish professor addressed the Royal English at Stockholm University and made a similar prediction, and proposed that simplification of the language begin at once. The Swedish professor believes that only 10 per cent of the words in the English language need, or will be altered for our language to become internationally recognized. He calls his proposed new Americanized English and urges that more words be spelled as they are pronounced. Thus, the educator suggests simplification of spelling by dropping such things as the way words are spoken. As an example, he says, his name "wood bring grief advantages" to foreigners. Schools and conferences have been held to learn the new language. This example would make Mr. Maugham's prediction about a language even more strange than it is. Churchill has seem not the least bit far-fetched.

There is little doubt that it is spelling that makes the English language so troublesome for so many. According to one of the junior textbook publishers in this country, there are more mistakes made for the speller in our language than in any other. "I believe the reason for the increase in the number of poor spellers," he said, "is the tendency to move away from all educational groups, are graduating college, rather than the 'cream of the crop,' as was the case many years ago." The pointed out that the public believed words have to be used correctly. Alarmed, that is why just a matter of changing letters to fit the way words were spoken, Textbook publishers, he noted, believe that only poor spellers would think that the entire language, start over again and eliminate the stumbling blocks.

It is quite likely that the publisher is not far wrong; although Mr. Maugham and others like him believe in the universal acceptance of English as the international tongue only on the simplification of the spelling of words. To learn to spell, textbook publishers think, only simple rules must be followed. First one should look at a word carefully, then pronounce it phonetically, noting the sounds and the presence of silent letters. It should be noted whether or not sounds are duplicated as you might expect and, lastly, to be sure the difference between fourth step consists of writing the word without help and finding out if the way you are writing until it is entirely familiar."

* * *

Talk about an international language has been a popular subject for the past 40 years. The present generation has been told by high school that English language and Spanish are the languages that would be most helpful in the years to be enjoyed. There is probably why there has been such an emphasis in college programs on these three languages. Here of late, however there is evidence to support people like Mr. Maugham who believe it is the English language that is going to be the international link in the centuries to come.

Letters To the Editor

Two Views on Tourist Editorial

Reprint of a letter in The Picton Gazette

A recent editorial from the pages of The Ontario Intelligencer, Belleville dated February 3rd, caught my attention.

First the very name of the publication in which the writer seems to lack and that is intelligence.

Secondly that he had nearly destroyed a message from the Canadian Travel Association before Dr. Mackie arrived and did not due to the timely figures presented by Dr. Mackie he might decided to give some attention to us all.

Then his desire to poke fun at the tourist industry he misses entirely the point that the main value of the tourist industry is not to the operator but to the community at large.

Whether we like it or not, the tourist industry is here to stay and able to us than our home grown. Why? Let's suppose that we in the picton area were entirely solely dependent on say residents of Toronto.

How many of such people would think in July or August of buying a fur coat or furs in Belleville or Picton?

But such requests are fairly common and Belleville has benefited from some of the guests from our own small community.

Such items as English china are in demand and it is rarely that at least one shop is not shopping in Belleville by the tourists from the resort.

Might I suggest, Mr. Editor that you visit some of the merchants who advertise with you and ask them to think back to the many dollars they have collected from many people who were formerly tourists but are now home town and taxpayers.

You might also remember that two years ago your presses turned out 20,000 folders for The Quinte Isle Tourist Association. And just again the project is being handled locally, which is as it should be. "We all hang together or else".

"Come over and see us some time — bring hammer and nails and a paint brush, because we have to keep up appearances".

T. E. Watson,
Picton.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

FEBRUARY 11, 1940

Canada mourns the passing of Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of the Dominion since 1935 as one of greatest representatives of the Crown in her history, and as a man who has filled public office with distinction, and achieved through his services to literature. Throughout the Empire there is deep sense of mourning in the loss the Empire has sustained. In his native Scotland his death has come as a shock to his fellow Scots of whom he was so fine a representative and exemplar. His passing brings an especial sense of sadness in the fact that his death came to us in the midst of a war, while not yet old in years. The man who had served Canada so well was appreciated by the people of the Dominion as few had served Canada. His illness has been the subject of great concern. It was the influence of a good and noble man, high in ideals, rich in sympathy and wide in knowledge of the human heart, which will not be forgotten in Canada.

Past becoming a place of year-round sporting activity, the Oak Hills sector was again the haunt of dozens of adults from Belleville and district over the week-end, as lovers of the great winter sport took full advantage of almost perfect conditions. Not apparently not satisfied with the thrills of ordinary skiing, one party was noticed still aboard their skis, trailing behind their car in aquaplane style on their homeward trip. The lads were risking their necks in an effort to add a few more thrills to a dull afternoon's run.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

MOST HEART CASES CAN BE HELPED BY TREATMENT

"Dear Dr. Molner: When you discussed heart murmurs, you dwelt on the less serious and slight ones. I have been told mine is bad and I have many ear, pretending that all is well. Now I want to know more about it.

Keep in mind the nature of a murmur. The heart is a pump with several chambers, the blood moving through the valves from one chamber to another, the lungs, back to the heart, and then out through the arteries to all parts of the body.

"Murmurs" are sounds from the "pump". You know how a faucet, at times, when it doesn't shut off, will make a sound.

The same thing can, and does, happen in the heart. Let's say that a valve does not close quite tight. The pressure in the next chamber then causes a little of the blood to eddy back into the chamber which it has just left.

Or there may be a leak in the "wall" between the two chambers. The same thing results. Blood eddies back and forth, instead of travelling only in the proper sequence of chambers.

The sound these eddies are the sounds we call "murmurs". Doctors listen for these sounds but they all come down to the same thing: eddies, gurgles or the like as the blood is forced through the heart.

The important statement in saying that something can be done in most cases — and that is why I am very glad that you have decided to stop "pretending Grr. After my drive refreshments were enjoyed in the Sunday School rooms.

Mr. Stewart Robertson is spending a few days in Toronto.

FEBRUARY 11, 1910

This winter will go down in history as having given the most wonderful display of colents who benefit by other treatments. Low salt diets are one of the simpler, but very effective methods. If the murmur (or dwelt on the less serious and slight ones. I have been told mine is bad and I have many ear, pretending that all is well. Now I want to know more about it.

Keep in mind the nature of a murmur. The heart is a pump with several chambers, the blood moving through the valves from one chamber to another, the lungs, back to the heart, and then out through the arteries to all parts of the body.

"Murmurs" are sounds from the "pump". You know how a faucet, at times, when it doesn't shut off, will make a sound.

The same thing can, and does, happen in the heart. Let's say that a valve does not close quite tight. The pressure in the next chamber then causes a little of the blood to eddy back into the chamber which it has just left.

Or there may be a leak in the "wall" between the two chambers. The same thing results. Blood eddies back and forth, instead of travelling only in the proper sequence of chambers.

The sound these eddies are the sounds we call "murmurs". The doctors listen for these sounds but they all come down to the same thing: eddies, gurgles or the like as the blood is forced through the heart.

The important statement in saying that something can be done in most cases — and that is why I am very glad that you have decided to stop "pretending that all is well" — is that even your occasional listlessness or headaches. If they were causing by the murmur — but it isn't the murmur — but the condition that is what the murmur means.

The most spectacular corrective measure is, of course, heart surgery. Thousands of these operations are being done every year now, although a decade ago they were very rare.

But for every case of heart surgery, there are many more patients who benefit by other treatments. Low salt diets are one

Invent a better mouse trap, goes the old crack, and the world will beat a pathway to your door. Certainly, the best mouse traps in the world have been, given a better by us than the ingenious youthy hoping for pathways beaten to our doors.

Among the best mouse traps in our part of the world are the buzzard hawks like the red-tail, the rough-legged and the broad-winged which is the commonest. I sometimes cast our eyes upward and think of them as the "Big Five". All the owls, even the little ones, are to be classed as "good" by biologists are of the opinion that the fox is perhaps the greatest mouse trap of all.

Imagine the astonishment of Conservation Officer Lawrence Powell, of Orono, Ontario, on receiving a request from a Christmas tree farmer in his region for a few live foxes, a male and a female.

Eastern Canada was visited, not by a plague of locusts, but by serious outbreak or rabies which caused grave concern. The fox population of many areas was almost wiped out by the disease. And now there is the fear that the population explosion among the winged wildlife of Canada is going been practically wiped out, the mice are swarming.

The tree farmer reports many of the fields young trees girdled by mice. He could make all kinds of mouse traps, poisons, but he wants live foxes instead.

But he knows better. He wants the product of the best inventor of all.

Strictly Personal

Says Nursing Grudge Sign Of Small Mind

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: Most conversational grudges become corrupt and repressive because the very conversation that make men successful revolutionaries are the ones that make them poor executives — the man who can overthrow is not custodarily the man who can stabilize.

In the main, conversation established by Le Rochefoucauld on the subject is usually irrelevant and indistinct, which is why most conversations get absolutely nowhere.

The love of life is not something rational, or even justifiable; it is a spontaneous sense deep in the core of being, and when this sense is lacking or blunted (as in suicidal-minded persons), no logic or argument can restore it.

Both laughter and tears are social acts; it is not much pleasure to laugh alone, and neither the pleasure of crying is missed if there is no friend to console and comfort you.

In my view, the decision to drop the bomb on Hiroshima will be seen by history as the biggest mistake — politically, morally and morally — of the first half of the 20th century.

One of the reasons self-improvement is so difficult was noticed by La Rochefoucauld: "We give ourselves credit for the good faults of those we have: when we are weak, we boast of being obstinate."

The most certain sign of smallness of mind is the habit of nursing grudges for a long time; to me, nothing is so infantile — or childish (and ultimately self-consuming) as nursing a grievance beyond the normal span.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

MOVEMENT IN ART

It is wonderful to look upon something that moves, speaks a silent language, and which warms the heart. Robert Henri speaks of the art of Rembrandt as of people engaged in the regular work of the day. That is so interesting, and explains much of the work of this great artist.

I have a most interesting cast in bronze of a young girl, by Albert-Ernest Legros. Every student is to have gotten a touch of the personality of the model. It has movement, beauty, and explains itself. All art should do this.

I have a beautiful hand drawing by the same artist. I was told that it is a drawing of the hand of his young daughter. It is full of movement and expresses dignity. It affects you as a soft, brief bit of music from a distant violin. Art does so much to clarify life.

I have several small art items that teem with beauty and understanding. A small wood-carved statue is one of these "joys forever." The figure of Mary and her child is pupils to draw. It would keep their interest keen and add greatly to a wonderful experience. I can testify to this fact personally, for I once had a dream about becoming a great artist!

Life should be beautiful. It would be if people would only even the beauty. And then pass the results around! There cannot be too much fine art in the world. It would tend to make all people kinder and their sense of life would always welcome the dreams of youth.

DAWSON CITY MAYOR — Michael J. Comadina, 51, has been mayor of Dawson City in the Yukon for the last four years. A native of Prince Rupert, B.C., Mr. Comadina settled in Dawson City 25 years ago after walking 425 miles from Whitehorse. He hopes one day to see an all-weather road from Dawson City to the Alaska Highway, a distance of 175 miles. (CP Photo).

Dawson City Mayor Walked 425 Miles Over Klondike Trail to Town 35 Years Ago

By ATHOL RETALLACK
Canadian Press Correspondent

DAWSON CITY, Yukon (CP)—Sights along the Yukon River have changed since 1924 when Mike Comadina and three companions trudged into Dawson City from Whitehorse.

The steamwheelers are gone. In their place float - equipped aircraft fly supplies into the Peel River country. Where wood cutters once worked to supply the steamers with fuel, an all-weather gravelled highway now dips from the hills for a view of the river.

Michael J. Comadina, 51 - year-old native of Prince Rupert, B. C., has been mayor of this Klondike city for the last four years. He was re - elected Jan. 26.

Mr. Comadina and his friends walked the 425 miles of the Trail of '98 leading to the Klondike from Whitehorse, now the territory's admin istration centre. They were broke. They stopped at roadhouses, spaced at 100-mile intervals, or slept in the open.

ARDUOUS ROUTE

It was spring and the swollen streams forced them to make detours into the wilderness and to wade icy streams.

Looking back over the last 35 years in Dawson, he laughingly recalls when "no currency smaller than a quarter was accepted."

Gold mining 25 years ago, as in the days of the 1896-99 gold rush, was the major industry and still is. Wood cutting was also important.

Each wood - burning steamboat used 168 cords of wood on a round trip. The six boats in service made 16 round tripe between Whitehorse and Dawson during the season.

Another source of income was trapping. Both the wood - cutting and trapping industries now have vanished from the central Yukon.

PLACER MINING

"Twenty - five years ago there were more small placer gold mining operations, too," said the mayor. Placer mining is still carried on in a limited manner on the creeks of the area.

Mr. Comadina said that in the last six years oil exploration has made some difference in the town's economy. And the actual discovery of oil 250 miles north of here last August has assured the town's future, he added.

A grocery store clerk when he's not sitting behind the mayor's desk, Mr. Comadina discussed in an interview some of the problems of his administration.

The municipal government, consisting of mayor, three councillors and city clerk, must handle many matters peculiar to a community of 800 residents not built to accommodate 30,000.

OLD BUILDINGS

One of the most ticklish is what to do with many old wooden buildings, now dilapidated.

"To tear down or not to tear down" is difficult to decide, he said. "Any standing building involves a certain expense upon the city."

Mayor Comadina likes his job. "The high point of my career as city host was the visit of Prince Philip last July. The overnight stay of Prime Minister Diefenbaker was a great honor, too."

The mayor's chief ambition is to see an all - weather road leading 175 miles from Dawson to the Alaska Highway. A ridge road across as the "Sixty Mile" now exists but can be used only during the summer months.

Friends, Relatives Honor Mr. and Mrs. George Oram At Their Golden Wedding

PICTON — Many relatives and friends gathered at Crofton hall on Monday evening to honor Mr. and Mrs. George Oram on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary. Members of Crofton W.A. catered and the variety program included reminiscences of past days. The table was centred with a lovely anniversary cake flanked by tall tapers, while streamers and bells and baskets of golden mums brightened the hall. The esteemed couple was presented with many lovely gifts. Guests were present from Comberemere, Stirling and Waterford.

Mr. and Mrs. Oram, who reside at R.R. 1, Bloomfield, were married at Montague Valley parsonage by Rev. Thomas Wallace. They spent their honeymoon at Niagara Falls. Their attendants were a sister and brother-in-law, the late Mr. and Mrs. Chris Bartlett.

Mrs. Oram was formerly Janet Rutledge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Rutledge, and her early life was spent in Montague Valley, Hastings County. Mr. Oram was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Oram and he spent his early life at Comberemere, moving to Prince Edward County where they have farmed.

FISHING A HOBBY

Mr. Oram is a member of Bancroft Lodge No. 402, A.F. & A.M. His hobbies are fishing and hunting and he enjoys his cottage at Massasaga Beach. Both are members of the United Church. Mrs. Oram being a valued and active member of the Crofton Women's Association and Gilbert Mills branch of the Women's Institute. Both enjoy good health and look forward to joyful lives.

They have a family of four—Phyllis (Mrs. H. Regensburg), of Belleville, Johnson and Ephin Oram, Belleville and Lloyd Oram of Bloomfield. Mr. Oram has a brother and sister, Wesley Oram, at Comberemere, and Mrs. Mrs. Fred Bellchamber of Stirling. Deceased are Mr. Oram's two brothers, Derwent and Edward and a sister, Mrs. Ed Wannamaker (Effie), Mrs. Oram was the last of her family. Deceased are five brothers and a sister, John, George, Johnstone, Wesley, Isaac Rutledge, and Mrs. Chris Bartlett (Jean).

Mr. and Mrs. Oram feel that they owe their good health and long married life to having kept busy. Mrs. Oram still does. They recall that is was very cold with lots of snow when they were married fifty years ago. Then, Niagara Falls was the mecca for honeymooners and they travelled there by train.

Prince Edward Wheat Growers Name Committee

PICTON — County wheat producers met in Picton, Thursday, to hear Dick Stevenart of Peterborough and Pete McKinnon of Bath who explained operation of the Wheat Producers' Marketing Board. A committee of Roy Hamilton, Gerald Spriggins, George Bartlett, Arnold Foster, Howard Alexander and Alex Mann was named to represent Prince Edward growers.

Will Be Home To Friends on 50th Anniversary

PICTON — Mr. and Mrs. George Semer Jinks are marking their golden wedding next Sunday, though the anniversary actually falls on February 16. The will be at home to their friends in the afternoon from 2 to 5 and in the evening from 7 to 9 when many are expected to call to extend congratulations to the esteemed couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Jinks were married at the new Anglican rectory in Picton by Rev. W. Leslie Armitage. Mrs. Jinks was formerly Myrtle Rolston, daughter of Robert and Emily Rolston and was born on October 27, 1888. Mr. Jinks was born on November 13, 1888, son of Chester and Matilda Jinks, who resided at Demorestville. Following their marriage they resided on a farm in Greenbush community (Carson Street). Following their retirement, they moved to their home on the Waupoos Road, R. R. 4 Picton. Mr. and Mrs. Jinks are members of St. John's Anglican church, Waupoos.

Mr. Jinks has one sister, Mrs. Calvin Storms. They have one daughter, Mrs. Ivan Bird (Titus) Brooks of Salmon Point. Mrs. Jinks' only sisters and a brother are deceased.

Sewers Plugged By Sand Washed Off City Streets

The warm weather which the community has been enjoying for the past few days has not been a happy event for the public works department. Sewers have been clogged by sand and grit washed from the road during the heavy rain. Sewer Engineer Malcolm Turnbull said this during the city sewer maintenance required to meet the current conditions can not hope to be completed for a period of at least ten days.

Mr. Turnbull has four of the department's crews, two sewer crews and two sewer crews worked throughout the night, burying themselves with answering some 12 calls for flooded basements. Fortunately these calls were not as numerous as anticipated which is, perhaps, indicative of the success of the preliminary work which the department has been doing in preparation for the present conditions.

The road conditions have required much attention, especially in the annexed areas, and grading and patching has become a major operation and the road crews have been working for the past 12 days, weekends included. Mr. Turnbull says that the annexed areas have been the cause of much concern since they will not start to come up to condition for very long due to the poor drainage conditions. City Engineer Turnbull reports that even if some of them were graded and stoned every day they could not be kept in a reasonable state of repair in the majority of the time. A road improvement program is required in the future in order to remedy the situation. It is hoped that some of this work might be done in 1960, said Mr. Turnbull, but any work of this nature will have to have the necessary funds allotted by council, in the annual estimates.

THAW CULVERTS

A steam unit has been in constant use for the thawing of culverts in order to facilitate water drainage. It is expected that an extra unit will be hired for the next two or three weeks to assist in this program, said the city engineer.

The present warm weather with all its attendant difficulties and extra work load does not mean that the department needs only be concerned with the current difficulties. There is a sudden cold spell the remaining winter will undoubtedly turn many of the city's roads and sidewalks into "skating rinks" stated Mr. Turnbull. The department must be prepared for this eventuality and be ready to turn on a full scale sanding operation on the shortest possible notice, in order to render the roads fit for use.

Watch is also being kept on the Moira River at regular intervals as well, said the City Engineer, as a part of flood control program. There has been no significant rise on the river over the past few weeks, but it should be realized that it takes some time for rainfall further up the river to make its effect known at the rivermouth, he added. One observation is clear, however, and that is that ice on the bay is rotten and should not be walked on in any case. The department has been placing signs on the shore at various intervals around the bay.

CAUTION LONG LOAD — HEAVY WEIGHT — Approximately 70,000 pounds is the weight of this 65-foot chunk of concrete girder, one of 12 being manufactured by Wilson Concrete Products of Belleville, to go into the construction of a new Ottawa Transport Commission structure. Size of girder is seen in contrast with the two over six-foot figures standing on truck. First of the 12 girders was taken to Ottawa Monday and the second is seen loaded and ready to go today.

Man Charged With Murder of Stenographer

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) A 27-year-old laborer, Patrick Joseph Byrne, was charged in court today with the murder of Stephanie Baird — the stenographer whose head was hacked off in a girls' hostel two days before Christmas.

The prosecution said Byrne sneaked into the YWCA hostel on his way home from work on the evening of Dec. 23 "and committed this very savage and brutal murder."

Stephanie,' 29, was found lying in her room, her partly-naked body horribly mutilated and her head severed.

About 20,000 men have since been interviewed by police in what was described as the biggest murder manhunt since the Ruthless search for Jack the Ripper.

Prosecutor D. Emrys Morgan told the day after the killing Byrne left his Birmingham lodgings—they were about half a mile from the hostel—and went to his mother's home at Warrington, 20 miles away. He was picked up there Wednesday.

CASE HELD OVER

The magistrate ordered the case held over for a week.

Byrne, wearing a black leather jacket, gave no testimony and said he had no questions to ask.

Chief Superintendent James Haughton of Birmingham's detective force said extensive inquiries still had to be made before the prosecution completed its case. He wanted to put Byrne in an identification parade.

One vital witness who will watch the parade is 21-year-old Margaret Brown, who ran into Stephanie's killer in the corridors of the hostel. Margaret screamed the alarm.

The police will also invite to the parade people who saw a blood-drenched man travel away from the hostel on a bus.

St. Joseph's C.W.L. Sponsors Attractive Valentine Tea

Yesterday afternoon St. Joseph's C.W.L. sponsored an attractive Valentine tea in the Knights of Columbus Hall, Bridge Street, with a rewarding number of patrons present in spite of the unpropitious weather conditions.

Receiving at the door were Mrs. H. J. Carr-Brain, convener and the president, Mrs. A. J. Baker, with Mrs. B. Beirne as treasurer, and Mrs. J. Allen in charge of the tickets.

The large assembly room was festooned with entwined ropes of red and white, while little red cupids bearing arrows and hearts danced their happy way around the walls.

ATTRACTIVE TEA TABLE

The long tea table with its white linen Madeira cloth was most attractively appointed with silver and white candelabra holding aloft tall red and white candles rising from lacey collars. A lovely red and white floral arrangement of pom pons and carnations mingled with spikes of white snapdragons, silver — touched British Columbia pinecone branches, with one red heart ball hidden among the boughs, made a fitting accent for the tea. The little guest tables also bore out the theme of St. Valentine's day with their tiny lace-edged serviettes.

POURING TEA

Those who presided at the silver tea services were: Mrs. R. Pitt and Mrs. H. O'Neill; Mrs. L. Cotterell and Mrs. A. Berube, with the gracious tea room hostesses, Mrs. P. Mercier and Mrs. A. Beck, escorted the guests to the tea room.

Those who served included: Mesdames, R. Hilbig; C. Murphy; B. Smith; E. B. Barrett; E. Grignon; T. Black; L. Briand; D. Green; and J. McCabe. Assisting in the kitchen were Mrs. L. Bone; Mrs. E. Cooper; Mrs. F. Mulkins; Mrs. L. Labelle. Mrs. E. Poirier was in charge of the tea making.

There were two booths which drew steady customers, that of the religious articles, which included attractive sacred pictures and figurines; pretty rosaries in pink and blue and gold pearls; rosary chaplets in pearl; prayer books; children's medals; St. Christopher car medals; pencils and sacred cards.

DELICIOUS HOMEMAKING

The homecooking booth, with its gardens of red and white, was a hive of activity with all the mouth-watering confections displayed; lemon and pumpkin pies; loaf cakes topped with coconut and Maraschino cherries; date loaves; buns; jelly centred cookies; nut-topped chocolate squares; jars of tempting apple jelly; chocolate cup cakes, and delicious fudge which soon found eager purchasers.

In charge of these were: Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. P. Beaver, Mrs. L. Kennedy; Mrs. H. McDonald; Mrs. B. Bankey and Mrs. A. Bushill. The three tier delicious looking cake with its white lace doily adorned with pale pink fluting, and pink heart at the top, donated by Mrs. J. Wilson was won by Mrs. F. Domenico who was also the lucky winner of the Pitt cake. The centre piece was won by Mrs. T. C. Baker.

Tabernacle WA Hears Talk on Meaning of Lent

The regular monthly meeting of Tabernacle United Church W.A. was held in the Church parlor on February 4 at 2:30 with Mrs. Percy Kerr presiding.

Treasurer gave her report.

Mrs. Kerr had charge of the devotional, the topic was, "The Meaning of Lent."

Passages of Scripture were read from Isaiah 58: 1-8; 1-Corinthians 15: 51-58; Luke 23: 1-46, and Matthew 4: 1-11.

Thursday, Lent was studied turn our thoughts, particularly, to these subjects namely the temptations of Jesus in the wilderness and the need in our lives for self-examination and self-discipline. The significance of Jesus' death upon the cross and the message of the Resurrection.

"In this way we will enrich our spiritual life much more than by the traditional Lenten self-denial of many people. To deny oneself rich food for six weeks may seem to be a fitting form of self-sacrifice for many, but to the devout Christian self-sacrifice is nothing less than the offering of one's whole life to God."

An interesting play about, "The Marriage in Cana of Galilee," was put on by Mrs. Oaland, Mrs. Gerald Brickman, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Way and Mrs. Davidson.

One of the players read a piece describing a typical home in Cana of Galilee at that time, the preparations for the feast and the guests. Then the play was given by Mrs. F. Domenico who was also the lucky winner of the Pitt cake. The centre piece was won by Mrs. T. C. Baker.

'Geography Through Grades' Topic At F.W.T. Assoc.

"If a group's enthusiasm can be judged by a lack of numbers, due partly to "open house" being held in two of the public schools, then the February meeting of the Federation of Women Teachers' Associations in Ontario members, and their guests, was an outstanding one held last Tuesday evening, at Tabernacle United Church.

The delectable turkey supper, which the ladies of the church provided, during the evening of most satisfying beginning, and they were thanked by Miss Olive Elsey, for their efforts.

In the business portion of the meeting, presided, Miss Barbara Brown, reminded the federation members of the reading conference to be held in Toronto on June 30, July 1 and July 2.

A preview of the qualifications of the guest speaker was given in Mrs. Grace Anderson's introduction, who explained that he is a CBC television consultant and writer in social studies, the author of two text books in this field, "Geography Through Children's Corner" in the Toronto Telegram, and at one time was editor of the Canadian representative of the Toronto Department of Education.

INTERESTING TOPIC

Mr. Lloyd Dennis not only covered a most interesting subject matter and teaching method for his topic "Geography Through the Grades", but he presented his topic in a manner that held his audience from his first word to the last.

While carrying through his theme, and explaining that concepts of geography should be presented at each grade level, he suggested that teachers begin by developing the idea in the home situation, then the neighborhood, the community, and finally, as the child's mind has developed enough to grasp it, in the farther areas of the earth.

TEACHING METHODS SUGGESTED

He suggested methods of teaching at each level, but which we better help the child understand the world, and thus increase interest in it.

Mr. Dennis concluded his talk when had been warmly dotted with classroom wit and wisdom, and wrinkly illumination by colorful charts, by saying he felt that Canadian teachers on the whole, were giving their students a grounding in geography of the earth that could be matched by very few countries.

Mrs. Muriel Nightingale thanked Mr. Dennis for his lecture presentation.

ACTRESS TO WED

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Anne Baxter will marry a cattle rancher in Hawaii next week. Her engagement to Randolph Galt, an American with business interests in Australia, was announced by her parents Wednesday. Galt's parents live in Hawaii, where he was born. The wedding date will be set after she finishes her current film.

African Culture and Christianity Topic at St. Andrew's WMS

The February meeting of the W.M.S. was held in the church auditorium last Tuesday with Mrs. Parsons presiding and Mrs. Hoopes at the piano.

The Welcome and Welfare committee gave a report of the calls made to the sick and shut-ins.

There was a solo by Barry Fraser, accompanied by his brother Douglas at the piano. Doug has also played a piano solo. Both were greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. Kane and Mrs. Yorke had charge of the devotional period and had as their topic, "Africa". Girls were married off at the earliest age possible and unmarried women did not exist. The Africans try to turn their own tradition to good account. They are like the householder in the parable of the Kingdom who brings out of his treasure what is new and what is old.

"Down through the ages people in every land have been conscious of a power beyond themselves. That power has been called by many names, worshipped in many ways by whatever name, however worshipped, there was in it the desire expressed by Job when

"It is in respect to family life and marriage customs that the world's face is set in most difficult problem and where God's love looks down on us even today," said Mrs. Kane. Mrs. Kane's mother grew as his wife increased in numbers. Mrs. Beavis, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Eggleton.

Mrs. Beavis read the Scripture and Mrs. Eggleton led in prayer.

Mrs. Kane and Mrs. Yorke took the topic from the study book.

AFRICAN CULTURE, CHRISTIANITY

"One of the fallacies that should be exploded, once and for ago, is the notion of the untutored savage; the idea that the so called primitive people do not possess either intelligence or a culture.

"Culture embraces the whole knowledge, skill and relationships by which any group of people live as organized community and in relation to their world without culture. Certainly this is true of Africans to say one who gets below the surface.

"From birth to death an African belongs to his family, clan and tribe, and apart from them he could not live; hunting, farming and everything else is carried on together, never alone.

"Let it be made quite clear that I am no missionary but even set foot in Africa the isolation of the people could not have continued, inevitably the people of Africa would have been drawn into the stream of the world's life.

"The ancient barriers of confusion of tongues are beginning to fall and now almost any African can converse with some other African or European outside his own community. From this time forward the most significant news on African languages will be done by African scholars rather than Europeans. Africa has hundreds of languages. Even today no one has counted them all

MODERN MANNERS

Carolyn Wagner Shaw

MANNERS ON PARADE

Many of us are unconcerned about our behavior in public when we think we are unobserved. This was brought to mind recently while I was seated in a hotel lobby waiting for a friend for dinner guest.

It soon became aware of a young lady who was pacing back and forth — evidently also waiting for someone who was late. Obviously out of sorts, she was checking her wrist watch with the hotel clock and restlessly peering around corners.

Finally she sat on the arm of a chair, dangling her bag and tapping her foot. After a few minutes of this, she seated herself, opened her bag and proceeded to completely re-do her make-up. Then she was on her feet again to resume her pacing.

When her escort finally put in an appearance, he was greeted by a thoughtly annoyed young lady who petulantly whined: "You said six o'clock." Not his apology — "the boss called me in for a last minute conference" — brought no understanding smile. There isn't much doubt that the evening which followed was not successful.

The moral of my little story is this: If you must wait, why not do it gracefully? You don't know how many people may be watching you. The well-bred person tries to be inconspicuous as possible at all times. The young woman of whom I speak should have tried to look at ease. If she preferred to stand, she should have done so quietly. While waiting, she should have made an effort to do so gracefully. Pacing on the arm of the chair certainly was not graceful. Using the lobby of a hotel — and public place, for that matter — in lieu of a dressing table is definitely in extremely bad taste.

By allowing her irritation to become obvious, she only called undue attention to herself. Others had keeping others waiting is unforgivable in most instances, there are times when it is unavoidable. What is the sense of working oneself into a thoroughbad humor? At least try to take it philosophically until you find out why the person is late.

If it turns out to have been sheer thoughtlessness, then get mad — if you think it will do any good. From our experience, it won't. The habitually tardy person is usually pretty thick-skinned and makes little effort to change what is really a major breach of good manners. How to take such a person? Wait ten minutes and then go on your way.

Question: Should cards be removed from floral tributes when they are received at a funeral parlor? If the services are held in place in the home, would you handle it the same way?

Answer: Cards should never be left on floral tributes, no matter where the services are held. At a funeral parlor, they will make a list describing the flowers received and the names of the senders. If the funeral is held in the home, someone should be asked to take over this task. Usually a close friend of the family is asked to do so.

Question: When it is generally accepted that a woman may smoke in public without criticism, why is there so much said about how wrong it is for them to smoke on the street? What difference does it make where they smoke, if it is considered all right in the first place?

Answer: It makes a lot of difference. Let's face it. There are times and places for a woman to smoke. The street is not one of them. Why? Simply because it is anything but attractive to see a woman puffing away while walking; or waiting for a bus. Today she may smoke in public places, such as restaurants, without fear of criticism. On the street? No. Ask any man what he thinks. You will get the answer in no uncertain terms.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and families.

Myrna S. — Bertha has illness to do with people.

Bertha F. — You can't escape the loneliness of old age.

Myrna S. — I am a widow in my late 60's living with my daughter and her family. I am concerned about my close friend Bertha, who lives alone and has very little to do with people.

Bertha is kind of bitter because both her son and daughter made marriages she disapproved of. She sees them, but not too often. She has no really close friends except me. She used to belong to some clubs but gave up her activity in them.

Lately she has grown a little odd in her ways and dress and I think this is the result of not seeing people. I want to help her and I try to see her as often as possible, but sometimes I think she is annoyed with me.

Bertha F. — Myrna and I have been friends for 20 years and she should know that I am never really angry at her, though sometimes I get annoyed when she bothers me about not seeing people.

The way I look at it nobody can escape the loneliness of old age. Even though she lives with her daughter and a young family, Myrna says she often feels lonely. Her son has his own husbands and some of the good friends we've had who have passed on.

I dropped out of club work because none of the women were the really nice type that used to belong to those clubs. I would rather be alone than have to be with a lot of catty women.

The Council: Myrna is right to be concerned about her friend because withdrawal from people, the world and its activities is a cumulative process. The individual thinks only in terms of going down a step or two, but suddenly finds himself at the bottom of the stairs without the strength or desire to get up again.

The fact that Bertha expresses loyalty and affection for Myrna is one bright sign. As long as she can care for one person, she keeps up the vitality of her emotions. Without even one good reason to live, personality would wither like a flower that gets no water.

Unfortunately, individuals whose world is shrinking all too often chase away the one or two persons who cling to them. They get more and more self-centered and "peculiar" and healthy-minded friends find them intolerable. So we think Bertha ought to accept Myrna's help and get involved with friends and activities while there is time.

Bertha's statement that "nobody can escape the loneliness of old age" is not accurate although it is true for too many older individuals. The deaths of mates, sisters and brothers, and friends take a great deal from the world of the older person, and he can only escape loneliness by making an effort to break through to other people. This effort in itself will keep his emotions vibrant and his socializing muscles in tone.

An older person may actually enjoy being alone for longer stretches of time than younger persons. If the older person has set a motion and learn to like and accept those who are alive and with him, he must be some nice people left in the world.

ST. ANDREW'S GUILD

Mrs. Bell — The regular meeting of St. Andrew's Guild met at the home of Mrs. A. Davern last Thursday evening. There were 11 members present.

Thank you cards were received. A card is to be sent to Mrs. Bell.

A discussion took place re bazaar. The president announced that Mrs. J. Callow had invited Guild members who were interested to attend the instructural sewing meeting sponsored by the W.I. in the Town Hall on February 10th at 1.30 p.m. It was also decided that $15 be given the treasurer, Mrs. Lane and Mrs. Evans to purchase material for the bazaar. Goods were on display which were donated by T. Eaton's Company.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Davern assisted by Mrs. Boyle.

"Lines on Life"

By Dr. Stuart E. Rosenberg

In our age, to-morrow is no longer the future; it is often the past. Newspaper magazines are outdated in October. This year's cars are last year's cars before the year is up.

Passing fads clamor for our attention and we invest our emotional strength in total response. We never seem to discover that we have wasted ourselves in one "flash in the pan" after the other. We're unaware that we've been robbed, robbed of our best energies, poured out on trivia.

Nor do most parents have a right to complain of their children's, in this regard. Teen-agers who go wild over frenetic and foaming musical madmen, simply reflect the rock and roll civilization which their parents helped to create. There is only temporary consolation: Today's stars of limited exhibitionism will soon fade and fall; they will be dumped on the high piles of obsolete heroes.

But be yet prepared for short-lived greatness. For now a new meteor will zoom forth into the horizon and the idol-worshippers of "the latest craze" will once again give their "all" to what is, in reality, nothing at all.

"Rock and roll" is but the latest shape in which a basic symptom of our social ills has taken form. It will be replaced over and again by many other forms. The symptom, however, remains. And it is this: We put forth our first-rate efforts on third-rate causes. We lack the zeal needed for the bigger, broader, inclusive loyalties to God and man. We have no staying power. We've lost the virtues of patience and endurance. We refuse to struggle, to lose, to wrestle, with our problems. We want the quick, the sure, the easy way. We yearn for facile, sudden, insured pleasure — because we've given up hope in anything bigger or better. Anything else appears to be obsolete, old-fashioned, out-of-style, because "nobody's doing it."

Parents have themselves rebelled against authority and responsibility. Now they find themselves with responsibility but without authority. They have long ago given up their personal commitments, their idealism, their spiritual values and traded them in for the shiny new models of fun and frolic. They have flitted from fad to fashion, from one mania to another madness. They were "living modern." Now their children have gone beyond them — they are "post-modern."

There is a good deal of tragedy in all of this; much misdirected effort and misplaced sentiment. For, two great spiritual qualities characterize teen-age: exuberance and idealism. That is the time of life when we are given new wings to test, new heights to climb, and exciting powers to use. And use these teen-agers must. If there is some great example to follow, some great commitment to cherish, some beckoning promise to seek, teen-agers will fly high with strengthened character. But when there is barrenness and emptiness all about, when adult society is drab and bleak because it is dispirited, teen-agers will reflect the void in which they are living. It is then that they use up their exuberance on something that is nothing. And the pity! They are hitching their stars to a wagon — wasting potential goodness and greatness on fleeting littleness.

Teen-agers are people in a state of searching. They surge forward in a passionate quest to identify with something. They want to belong; they need something to belong to. If you give them a world in which nothing counts, wherein grown-ups are restless hedonists, who move from one jaded novelty to another, then expect to find them disturbed and disturbing, jumping without rhyme or reason, moving about but getting nowhere.

Water does not rise higher than its source. Rock and roll youngsters are the product of a rock and roll world.

Congregational Meeting

ST. JOHN'S UNITED

TWEED — The annual congregational meeting and pot-luck supper of St. John's United Church, was held in the church hall with a large congregation present.

The Rev. Douglas Loule, B.A., acting as chairman, called the meeting to order and asked Mr. T. C. Graham to introduce the guest speaker, Judge J. C. Anderson, of Belleville, who chose for his subject, "The Challenge of the Modern Age In Which We Live."

The speaker began tracing the ages of civilization through 50,000 years to the present day. It was evident that the past 15 years, in Judge Anderson's opinion, were the most progressive in the history of the world. He felt that if all key nations of the world would spend but a quarter of their budget on armaments for the advancement of backward countries, and another quarter on the advancement of its own peoples, it would be "a brave new world" where taxes could be reduced 15 percent; the two-thirds of the world population now undernourished, would be adequately fed and the standard of living of all would be raised.

In conclusion, he noted that, on the one hand we are faced with a civilization that could be made extinct, and on the other hand, this era of the drogen bomb could lead to the greatest development of all nations the world has ever experienced.

Thanks were expressed by Canon C. Atkin a personal friend of the Anderson family.

Mrs. Kenneth Fisher presented Mrs. Anderson with a bouquet of roses and also voiced the appreciation of those in attendance for the presence of the Andersons at the meeting.

Following the address, reports of the various organizations were distributed in pamphlet form and featured the fine publications were that the church is in excellent financial condition.

The pastor thanked the board of stewards, all organizations, and the congregation for the co-operation he had received during the past year. The following is a list of the church officers for 1960.

Session — A. C. Montgomery, C. B. Porritt, C. C. Alton, F. Craig, G. H. Cotton, L. Elliott, D. Foster, T. C. Graham, D. K. Kleinsteuber, J. Price, D. Bateman, A. Foster, H. Foster, J. Sager, S. H. Conner, W. M. Donnelly, H. Coulter, F. B. Forfey, T. Graham, R. A. Hewitt, S. B. McGee, M. Bush, J. Grant and A. Davis.

Board of Stewards for two years — M. Rannie, Albert Metzgart, Herb Reed, Dougal Hodgins, Clarence Thompson, J. A. Thompson, Borden Countryman and Kenneth Fisher.

For one year — C. E. Way, Harold Emerson, Thomas Bronson, Wallace Hagerman, Nelson, Carman Deshane, Burton Conner and S. J. Anderson.

WOOLER M. B.

WOOLER — The Wooler Mission Band held its February meeting in the basement of the church on Sunday morning. Due to the 'flu' only a small attendance was recorded.

Margaret Dorland led in prayer. The song, "The Many Many Children" was also sung. Roll call was taken by Mrs. Crosby with nine members and one visitor answering.

Offering was taken by Janice Scrivver followed by the offering prayer.

Tommy Leavitt placed the W.M.S. seal on the Mission Band certificate. This seal was given the Mission Band at the Presbyterial meeting in January for having ten meetings last year and a good attendance.

The study book story was continued due to lack of time.

Front Road L.A. Honors Young Couple

WELLINGTON — The Front Road Neighbors' Aid friends of Mrs Harvey Jenkins, nee Marilyn Callow, gathered at the home of her grandmother, Mrs W. Callow, recently, to honor Marilyn and her husband on their recent marriage.

The evening was spent playing cards, with prizes won by Mrs. Barton Cronk read an appropriate address to the honored guests, after which Bonnie Conley and Gordon Parks presented them with two lovely step-end tables, on behalf of those present. Marilyn and Harold both expressed their sincere thanks to their friends.

Mrs. Lorne Cronk, assisted by several ladies, served delicious refreshments.

With Love From Mary

by Mary Moore

If I had my three little grandchildren here I'd feed them pink heart-shaped cake and ruby jelly and they'd know it was Valentine's Day and were loved for sure by one doting grandma. However, their mother will do that or better so I'm not necessary — I am yearning.

If you have eager little ones who respond to every little bit of excitement — or if you are young and in love or old and in love how would you like to make a pink heart-shaped cake and pretty it up with red hearts and stuff?

I-LOVE-YOU-CAKE

1-2 cup shortening or margarine, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 eggs, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 2 cups sifted cake flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 3-4 cup milk, few drops red paste coloring.

Cream shortening, sugar and vanilla until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs thoroughly. Sift together salt, flour and baking powder. Mix milk and food coloring. Add alternately with flour to creamed mixture. Beat until batter is smooth. Pour equal amounts into 2 paper lined layer-cake pans (see directions for cutting cake into heart-shaped below) or heart-shaped pans. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes. Cool for pans 5 minutes then turn out on rack to cool. Cut each into heart shape: First spread Fluffy Boiled Frosting (below) between cooled layers. Then cut a circle 3 1-2" wide by 2" deep from 1 side and place it opposite the cut with wide side against cake form point for "heart". Don't worry about the crack between — the frosting covers up all irregularities. Cover cake generously with

FLUFFY BOILED FROSTING:

2 egg whites, 1 1-2 cups granulated sugar, 5 tablespoons water, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Mix all ingredients, except vanilla in top of double boiler. Beat over gently boiling water, with rotary or electric beater until frostings and in peaks — about 7 or 8 minutes. Fold in vanilla.

Congregational Meeting

ST. THOMAS' ANGLICAN

MINTO — The annual vestry meeting of St. Thomas' Anglican church was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Tanner with a splendid attendance present.

A pot-luck supper was served at 6.30 following which the Rector, the Rev. F. Fleming opened the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Ed. Colden was re-elected vestry clerk and read the minutes of last vestry meeting which were approved as read.

Mr. Fleming welcomed everyone and gave the yearly statistical report of the parish. He also expressed thanks on behalf of Mrs. Fleming and himself for the many remembrances and kindnesses shown them during the past year.

The Rector's warden, Mr. Ted Preston presented his report, also Mr. John Courtney, people's warden, reported. These reports showed substantial balances.

Miss Edna Tanner gave the W. A. report, also reported for the Budget Appeal stating that all appointments had been met in full.

CEMETERY FUND REPORT

Mr. John Courtney presented the Cemetery Fund report which also showed a balance.

Mr. Fleming congratulated the congregation on their most successful year, and read a letter from Bishop Evans, expressing congratulations and compliments to Mr. John Courtney on his 25 years of faithful service as people's warden of St. Thomas' Church, to which Mr. Courtney very suitably replied.

Mr. Fleming re-appointed Mr. Ted Preston as his warden for 1960 and Mr. John Courtney was re-elected people's warden for 1960. Miss Edna Tanner was also re-elected treasurer of the Budget Appeal. A bonus was voted Mr. Fleming and an expression of gratitude given him for his conscientious and most sincere interest in the little church.

Mrs. Lindsay Tanner moved a vote of thanks to the wardens, organist and caretakers.

Mrs. W. J. Tanner thanked Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Tanner for the use of their home. Mr. Fleming closed the meeting with prayer after which a social hour was enjoyed.

SCHOOL MEALS

LONDON (CP) — Schoolboys now prefer rice puddings to chocolate puddings, but they like baked beans as much as ever, according to delegates attending a two-day course on ways of improving school meals.

No Inhumane Practices Exist On Ontario Race Tracks Says Chairman Racing Body

TORONTO (CP)— Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow, chairman of the Ontario Racing Commission, has assured the legislature's standing committee on government commissions that no inhumane practices exist on Ontario pari-mutuel tracks.

The three tracks—Woodbine, Old Woodbine and Fort Erie—operate on a federal charter and are controlled by the commission and three stewards at each track. The commission licenses all persons earning a livelihood from racing.

While a horse may be injured during a race, each mount is checked by a veterinary team three times before every race, Magistrate Bigelow said Wednesday. He was speaking in reply to a question by Ken Bryden (CCF-Toronto Woodbine) that the legislative committee invite a former ORC veterinarian to comment on charges made in a magazine article in 1955.

SAYS WARNING IGNORED

George Cairns of Oakville, employed by the commission between 1951 and 1952, was quoted in the story as saying he had warned the track stewards repeatedly that a particular horse was lame and not fit to race. He was reported to have said the stewards ignored his warning and allowed the horse to race.

Magistrate Bigelow said decisions of the veterinarians alone can be overruled. Each track is under the control of three stewards, two appointed by the commission and one by the Jockey Club Limited, which holds the charters to the three tracks operating in Ontario.

"This struck me as wrong," Magistrate Bigelow said. But he added that not once in seven years has professional advice been overruled by the stewards.

Magistrate Bigelow said horse racing earned $5,097,000 for the provincial treasury last year as compared to $4,113,000 in 1950. Although betting in Ontario amounted to $64,852,000 last year as compared to $32,925,000 in 1950, the provincial share had been reduced to six per cent of the gate from 12½ per cent by federal law.

Magistrate Bigelow told a questioner he is not aware whether the federal government has received any applications for racing dates in Ontario in recent years. There are 14 pari-mutuel days in June in Ontario, all held by the Jockey Club, although only three are being used.

HOLDS MONOPOLY

Ross Whichelo (L-Bruce) said the Jockey Club holds a monopoly on horse racing in Ontario.

"It certainly is a benevolent monopoly, but it is a monopoly," he said.

John A. White (PC-London South) asked whether it was harmful for one group to control all the tracks.

"No," said Magistrate Bigelow. "Racing has benefitted the province."

He did not appear before the committee again Friday to give the commission's views on night harness racing. Premier Frost has given a record as opposing night racing.

At a meeting of the education section of Conservation Minister Roberts said "we anticipate the time" when the province will assume the responsibilities of educating retarded children attending classes operated by local associations.

He said the first step would be a large number of local associations to indicate they were willing to assume the costs placed within the regular school system.

In the legal bills committee, Vernon Singer (L-York Centre) said the fewer clauses in the Crown Witnesses Act to increase fees for witnesses.

The bill, already given second reading, proposes that an ordinary witness be paid $6 and an expert witness be paid $15 per day. Mr. Singer said the amounts should be doubled to $12 and $30 on the grounds a worker would lose more than $6 a day by being absent from work to go to court.

Attorney General Roberts said money matters can only be decided by the government.

The committee on standing orders cleared four private bills involving universities and private colleges at Sudbury. The bills now will be discussed in the House.

Doyle Hearing Scheduled to Re-open Friday

MONTREAL (CP) — Lawyers, witnesses and court officials got into a day's practice with the intricacies of high finance today but the hearing of John C. Doyle, charged with misusing $4,000,000 of his mining company's stock, is scheduled to re-open Friday.

The hearing, which will decide whether there is enough evidence to warrant a trial, was adjourned Wednesday because the lawyers involved had other commitments today.

Wednesday the private prosecutor called witnesses to testify that stockholders of Canadian Javelin Limited, of which Doyle is president, got only a few crude sheaks in exchange for $4,800,000 supposedly spent on mine - site construction in Labrador.

Lawyers for James Scotland Bentling of Montreal, Javelin shareholder who instituted proceedings against Doyle, called the company's former chief pilot, and a mining engineer, to help describe the camps at Lake Wakuach and Ross Bay in western Labrador.

'CRUDE' BUILDINGS

The pilot, Robert Jones, 38, of Moncton, N.J., said the buildings at Wakuach were "very crude."

Richard Hawkanson, 42, mining superintendent for Wabush Iron Company, said the Wabush camp was a "high-calibre bush camp."

During cross - examination by Hawkanson, Joseph Cohen, one of Doyle's lawyers, asked if the prosecution were aware of the "tremendous benefit" that Canadian Javelin got $7,800,000 for the properties.

He said the document—not produced in court — was a sales agreement between Javelin and Pickands Mather, mining engineers.

Later, outside the court, Doyle said Pickands Mather, in cooperation with the Steel Company of Canada and a number of U.S. companies set up Wabush Iron to developed the ore properties in the Wabush Lake area.

Jones said he has suits pending in New York and New Jersey against Doyle. The New York suit seeks $500,000 d a m a g e s for slander.

Professor Fires Both Barrels At Those Responsible for 'Bias' Against Suburb Living

OTTAWA (CP)—A university professor stormed to the defence of suburbia Wednesday.

Mild-mannered, soft-spoken S. D. Clark of the University of Toronto political economy department let go with both barrels at those responsible for the "bias" against suburban living.

"Whereas a generation ago it was the big city which was seized upon as symptomatic of the sickness of our society, today it is suburbia," he said in a brief to a committee of the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada.

The committee, financed by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, is on a cross-Canada coast-to-coast series of hearings on residential development and redevelopment.

Prof. Clark emphasized that he was in no sense idealizing suburban living. It had many objectionable and even ugly features.

NOT TRUE PICTURE

In general, however, there was little similarity between the suburban article and the picture painted by sociologists.

"The picture which some sociologists hold the view that "all the ills of modern society threaten ing people's mental health become concentrated in suburbia." is not a true representation of a segment that suburban development is. It has taken place in North American "poses a serious threat to the future welfeing of our society."

In his own field work he had turned up evidence of suburbanites' tendency to conform to the values, way of thinking or behavior patterns of the group.

"But responses of this sort lending support to the general thesis about suburban life showed up so rarely that they could scarcely be considered anything other than exceptional.

TERRIBLY SERIOUS

"What was found for the most part was people excited by the fact of home ownership and taking terribly seriously their responsibilities as parents."

Most of those moving to the suburbs—often a depressed downtown area—were young people. In a great many cases their new homes were hardly more than shacks.

"It is easy to describe such communities as blots on the landscape. But the sociologist cannot escape asking the question whether these people would have been as well off had they remained in the city, even, indeed, if subsidized housing had been provided them."

The committee also heard a brief from the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities for action on such questions as suburban farm land.

Taxation of suburban tracts as farm land, when they are being held for speculative resale, represents one of the glaring "potholes" in the municipal tax structure, the federation said.

Minister Warns Canadians Must Help Selves

HAMILTON (CP) — Canadian business was warned Wednesday night by the Hon. Alvin Hamilton that Canada cannot afford to start off this new decade on a business - as - usual basis.

He told the Niagara District Electric Club he did not with to suggest foreign investment is not welcome or needed—"without it, Canada would not have attained the prosperity and stature which it has today."

However, Canadians "can expect less control over the use of foreign funds than they can over the use of Canadian funds and it is therefore up to all of us who are Canadian to provide increasing amounts of Canadian capital to Canadian enterprise engaged in Canadian development."

COMPETITION A CHALLENGE

Mr. Hamilton said international competition now is a dominant challenge to Canadians — "and like walking off the end of a gangplank it has recently produced a sudden sharpening of the wits of certain sectors."

He added:

"To Canadian business this means that if there are any concealed inefficiences they will be exposed. It means that if there are hidden high-cost factors they will be revealed. To those organizations who are self-sufficient and who rely upon and exploit natural advantage, who are strong and lean, this experience should prove exhilarating and profitable."

Labor and management should share leadership in keeping Canadian production at a competitive cost.

Threat of Indians to Sell Land to Any Foreign Power Not Causing Chills in Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Rebellious chiefs claim a hereditary right to govern the Six Nations reservation near Brantford. On Monday the rebellious chiefs passed a resolution offering to sell about 2,000 acres of Southern Ontario to any foreign power. The offer excluded Canada and the United States.

The chiefs say the Six Nations confederacy was deeded the land by the British Crown in the Haldimand Treaty of 1784. However, the Indian affairs branch of the federal government says all the land, except the Six Nations reservation, has been surrendered or sold with the consent of the Indians.

RUN BY COUNCIL

The reserve has been run since 1924 by an elected council which is the only government recognized by the Indians affairs branch.

The council system was adopted in the required majority of the Six Nations Indians. The council has never made any claim to land other than that occupied by the reservation.

Last year the hereditary chiefs opposed the elected council and proclaimed the reserve an independent nation. The action of the elected council system was arrested by a so-called police force and convicted of treason before police stepped in and restored order.

The chiefs claim that the elected council system is illegal and that the reserve should be run by the descendants of early chiefs. They took their case to the Ontario Supreme Court last fall and lost.

Irvin Logan, spokesman for the hereditary chiefs, said Monday that in the Haldimand Treaty the Six Nations Indians were granted all the land for six miles on either side of the Grand River, from its mouth to its source.

This is an area of about 2,000 square miles. The 175-mile Grand River rises northwest of Orangeville, flows south through Fergus, Kitchener, Galt, Brantford and then southeast to Dunnville and into Lake Erie at Port Maitland.

An official of the Indian affairs branch said the time to comment on the offer will be "if and when a foreign power offers to buy all or part of the land."

A government official said in the court could determine whether the Indians have a valid claim to the land. However, he added that it is a foregone conclusion that Canada would not give up a chunk that it would permit part of the country to be sold to another power.

Fire Started When Heater Knocked Over in Home

KINGSTON (CP)—A jury today was to deliberate a charge of criminal negligence against Frank Baker, 35, accused after the death of his three children in a fire which swept the Baker home last November.

Baker was charged after investigation into the fire which claimed the lives of Rita Mae, 5, Joanne, 2 and Carolyn, six months. The fire started when an oil space heater was knocked over.

Highlight of Wednesday's proceedings was the admission as evidence of a statement Baker made to police shortly after the fire.

In it he said he returned home and became involved in an argument with his wife over money. He grabbed her by the arm but she still would not give him money.

"So I ran wildly into the hall and knocked the stove over," the statement read. "When I realized it was over on the floor I grabbed it and set it up again, but it was too late."

Baker told police he saw Vincent Rouleau, a friend who was in the house when fire started, running for the door with the three children in his arms.

"When I got outside I saw him standing there and he said to me, 'I couldn't get them out.'"

Baker then tried to get into the house through a back door, the statement said, but was met by a solid sheet of flame.

Crown witnesses, cross-examined by defence counsel L. S. Willoughby, testified the Baker home was nearly a "fire trap" and was "falmost a shack."

Earlier Mr. Rouleau testified Baker came towards him as he was leaving and "flames were all over on its side. Baker called me to help him get the stove back up but when I got there the flames were too bad."

He said they started toward the back of the home and he remembered the children in the bedroom. "I ran back, kicked down a partition and got the three kids under my arm but when I got to the hall, the stove pipes fell down and the flames got worse."

"I dropped the kids and went out the door," Mr. Rouleau said. "If I hadn't I wouldn't have got out myself."

Football Star Acquitted on Drug Charge

TORONTO (CP) — Halfback Dave Mann, 27, of Toronto Argonauts was acquitted Wednesday of illegal possession of marijuana by a verdict Argos general manager Lew Hayman called "exonerating the Canadian football."

A jury under Judge . F. Mc Rae decided that neither Mann nor Alan Ashe a travelling salesman charged with him, had knowledge of a package of marijuana found when police raided their apartment last Aug. 11.

Mann, impassive during the three-day trial, wept when the verdict was returned after a 45-minute deliberation. Later he said he wants to play football "more than anything else."

In Winnipeg for the Canadian Football League's annual meeting, Hayman said the acquittal was "the greatest story in Canadian football history."

"Of course we want him with Argonauts," he said. "With Mann to go with Dick Shatto and Cookie Gilchrist in the backfield and with Tobin Rote at quarterback we don't have to look up at any other backfield in Canadian ball."

During the trial, defence counsel Charles L. Dubin said the Crown was relying on evidence by two women, Geraldine Chipman, 25, and Gail D'Arcy, 25, who visited Mann's apartment the night before the raid.

Both women are serving six-month sentences for possession of marijuana. Mr. Dubin said they admitted in testimony they were confused about events at a midnight party in Mann's apartment. Neither would swear Mann and Kane were smoking marijuana.

Judge McRae told the jury, "There is no question about Miss Chipman giving a lot of different answers in her evidence." He asked that both men be acquitted if their explanations left the jury in doubt whether they knew the marijuana was in their apartment.

Woman Found To Be Insane

SUDBURY (CP)—Mrs. Molly St. Louis, charged with the murder of her three-year-old son, David, Nov. 26, was found not guilty by reason of insanity by a Supreme Court jury here Wednesday.

Mrs. St. Louis was detained at the pleasure of the lieutenant-governor.

The bodies of David and his one - year - old sister, Elizabeth, were found in the St. Louis apartment at nearby Azilda after Mrs. St. Louis stumbled into a neighboring apartment bleeding from knife wounds in the chest.

Western Negotiators Facing Deadline on Disarmament

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The new Western disarmament talks in Washington are being conducted against a noisy background of propaganda on behalf of the domestic United States debate on defence.

It must give some satisfaction to the Russians to see the sharp divisions existing in American political and military leaders at the very time when they are looking to the U.S. for leadership in forthcoming East - West disarmament negotiations.

Perhaps the disarray on the American scene is more apparent than real, but the fact is that the U.S., Britain, France, Italy and Canada — the five Western negotiators on disarmament—are facing a deadline in their current talks.

Less than five weeks remain before March 15 when the Western five are scheduled to meet with Russia and the five countries of the Communist side in Geneva on disarmament, or so it is believed everywhere as the most pressing problem of the day.

AGREED POSITION

Authorities say it isn't necessary—and perhaps isn't even desirable—that the Western powers draw up a hard-and-fast plan.

But apparently it is believed the Americans must be at ease in their own minds about defence matters before they can talk convincingly about disarmament.

While serious public argument among politicians is inevitable in a presidential election year, it is considered essential that at least the military commanders — now sharply at odds — be agreed on what is the U.S. position as compared with Russia's.

Sources see a discouraging prospect for disarmament in that it isn't even mentioned in the big Washington debate over defence. They also see an opportunity for further propaganda by the Russians who are taking advantage of their missile superiority to retard Western forces.

SCORED HEAVILY

Since his speech before the United Nations general assembly last September, Soviet Premier Khrushchev has scored heavily in propaganda terms with his proposal for "general and complete" disarmament within four years.

Sharp differences have been between East and West over how much control is needed to make disarmament work but the apparent simplicity of the Russian proposal appeals to millions who do not understand the intricacies of real disarmament.

Canadian Skater Will Go To Olympics for Fourth Time But This Trip as a Coach

By AL VICKERY

WINNIPEG (CP)—This month 54 - year - old Frank Stack will go for his fourth winter Olympic games. But for the first time it will be as coach of Canada's skating team instead of competitor.

Stack, a top - ranking skater for more than 22 years, started his Olympic string in 1932 at Lake Placid, N.Y. In the 1948 games he tied for sixth in the 500 metres and in 1952 he suffered a torn knee cartilege while practicing at Oslo, Norway, a few days before the games and couldn't compete.

"It will be tough standing on the sidelines, cheering instead of skating," Stack said as he glanced over the lineup of the Canadian team which will compete Feb. 18-28 at Squaw Valley, Calif.

"I only hope we'll have something to cheer about. The Russians and Scandinavian countries are always tough."

FASTER TIMES

The veteran skater, who retired in 1955 after winning the Canadian championship four times and practically every Manitoba title, said he believes Canadians will show faster times at Squaw Valley than they've ever turned in, "but it may not be good enough."

Johnny Sands of Montreal, formerly of Saskatoon, "should do well if he's in shape."

"Johnny could get us some points; so could Ralph Olin of Hinton, Alta." Stack considers the third member of the men's team, Larry Mason of Calgary, a dark horse.

"Condition is the big thing in this game. Our skaters don't get the chance to train like those in other countries. In some places they don't do anything else but skate.

"Some of those countries have paid trainers who do nothing but keep their skaters in shape, rub-pair had not done their share of pacing the field to act as "wind breakers" in accordance with regulations and suspended them.

"Canadian officials threatened to withdraw all their killetes from the games unless the suspensions were lifted. The decision was reversed, a re - skate of the heats ordered and Stack and Hurd qualified but didn't get the choice positions for the final.

FINISHED THIRD

In the final Stack finished third. He was moving up from far back to take over fourth place when early leader Eddie Wedge of the U.S., dropping back with his fast pace, fell. Wedge jostled Stack and grabbed him, pulling him off stride. Although there was no official protest, Canadian newspaper men at the games claimed Stack could have finished at least second.

Canadian women skaters competed unofficially in the 1932 Olympics, Stack recalls, Jean Wilson of Toronto won the 500 metres and was second in the 1,000 - metre race and Lelia Brooks-Potter, also of Toronto, was fourth.

"In the 1,500 - metre final, Lelia and Jean were waging a terrific one - two race when Lelia fell," Frank said. "An American girl, Kit Klein, slipped past to win as Jean faltered under the pace."

This year the Olympics have recognized women skiiers and Canada will be represented by Doreen Ryan of Edmonton and Peggy Robb of Saskatoon.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Now is the time for all good major league managers to come forth with their pre-training season predictions.

First to bat comes the American League mastermind, led by the canny, if astute, one and only Casey Stengel.

But Casey IS canny. He won't come out forthright with the statement that his Yankees will win the flag let alone the series, but remarks, "I'll mark 88 years in baseball this season and I couldn't think of a better way of celebrating than regaining the pennant and the world championship."

However, he says his catching, via Yogi Berra, is the best in the league; Bill Skowron is fit and ready; the infield is in good shape and the outfield should be improved with Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle showing a return to form.

The pitching? Casey is depending on Whitey Ford and a Bob Turley comeback, backed by Shantz, Coates and Short with a good ballpen headed by Duren.

The Chisox manager, Senor Lopez, makes no bones about it. "The world series flag will be firing over the White Sox Comiskey Park come October."

He says the team's offence has increased 30 per cent by winter deals without endangering the defence. The pitching will be better with 23 victories expected from Pierce and Donovan.

"We have the best down-the-middle defence with Lollar, Nellis Fox, Luis Aparicio and Landis."

The Chisions' Joe Gordan says a team that finished such a close second last year is entitled to pennant hopes. He is delighted with the roster changes, such as acquisition of Bubba Phillips and Johnny Temple. Johnny Roman gives him punch in catching and pinch hitting.

He thinks his young hurlers will pick up the slack now that McLish has gone, besides Herb Score can pick the club up. "I believe Score will come back all the way and replace McLish as the top man at the staff."

Jimmy Dykes of the Detroit Tigers is optimistic. "We will be stronger this year for the team showed its ability with its comeback last season from dead last to a challenging position."

The front-line pitching looks good off past records, as the four starters are solid. Jim Bunning, Frank Lary and Foytack won 65 games. "But we'll need some relief help and that will be a major job for me at spring training."

New men will help the infield, says Jimmy, "and, of course, we are thinking pennant."

Paul Richards thinks his Baltimore Orioles will be vastly improved over last season, because the outfield and pitching will be a lot better. Milt Pappas and Jerry Walker will be more effective through experience, with Jack Fisher the number three man. Hoyt Wilhelm and Hal Brown add depth to the staff.

Jackie Brandt who came from the Giants, will greatly improve the outfield both offensively and defensively, says Richards.

The Red Sox' Bill Jurges comes out frankly with "I don't know where our club or any other club will finish this season."

He believes all American League clubs have strengthened 25 per cent over last season. "It's going to very interesting all round."

The five deals made by the Sox will stabilize the club, Jurges says. Dave Hillman and Tom Sturdivant will improve pitching staff while Bobby Thompson will help greatly the outfield youngsters.

Frank Malzone is the best third baseman in the league and "we got a slick infielder from Cleveland in Ray Webster." Sammy White had a fine year behind the bat."

Kansas City will be stronger with Hank Bauer and Norm Siebern from the Yankees to bolster Tuttle, Carr and Snyder in the outfield, says Bob Elliott. Don Larsen's arm is okay and he will be of tremendous help to the pitching staff.

The power attack developed and better pitching later made the other teams sit up and take notice of the Washington Senators, says Manager Cookie Lavagetto. "In 1960 I believe they're going to fear us as well as notice us."

"We have more experience. Last spring only three regulars played 100 games in the season, Roy Sievers, Jim Lemon and Clint Courtney. Now we can add Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison to the list. Experience can make a big difference."

Versalles and Consolo could be the infield pair to spark the club, Cookie believes. As for pitching, 17-game winner Camilo Pascual and Pedro Ramos will be starters. "I feel pretty good about our club in 1960. This could be our break-through season to a bright future for many years to come."

There you have it, men. You places yer money and takes yer choice.

Sunny Weather Returns To Snow-Covered Squaw Valley

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (CP) —Sunny weather has returned to snow - covered Squaw Valley, creating almost ideal conditions for athletes anxiously trying to get in shape for the Olympic Games.

Sun bathed the area Wednesday as a story returned to the mountain slopes, hit earlier this week by snow and rainstorms.

But dangers were crossed. There was a storm in the Pacific which weather forecaster Hal Root said might reach the northern California coast Friday, bringing possible heavy snow.

RUSSIANS COMPLAIN

There were the usual pre-Olympic complaints.

Russians complained the speed-skating oval contained pebbles and the Finns' bus from the Kinney Creek cross - country course broke mired in mud.

Skier Filippo Rigat of Spain suffered a sprained ankle and Canadian Lovella, a Swedish cross-country skier, broke a bone in his wrist. Whether the former will compete remained in doubt but Miss Lovella said she will.

The 90-metre ski jump was opened for the first time since the storm, but most of the jumpers called impatiently for the 80-metre one to be ready for use. Canadian figure skating coach Bruce Hyland of Toronto worked with the four-member South African figure skating team.

South Africa's chief de mission Cliff West said he wanted the skaters to have additional instruction.

Rocket, Pocket Sock It, Lock It Up For Canadiens

Freres Account for 2 Goals In 4-2 Victory Over Leafs; Black Hawks Rout Blues 5-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Like the old grey mare, Rocket Richard ain't what he used to be. But what he is and still give fans opposition fits.

At 38, it's the legs and reflexes which made him the National Hockey League's highest scorer have slowed. But the fire and the knowledge are still there and sometimes, when everything is right, he looks like the Richard of old. Wednesday night was one of those times. Montreal Canadiens, missing three of their more potent marksmen, were in Toronto against the Maple Leafs and the Rocket took up the slack, scoring twice in Montreal's 4-2 victory.

In Chicago, the Black Hawks whipped New York Rangers 5-1 for their ninth victory in 11 games against New York this season.

TOTAL MOUNTS

For the statistically minded, Richard's goals were the 536th and 537th he has scored in regular-season play during a career that began back in 1942, and the 18th and 19th he has gotten this season.

They came before 14,551 fans, the largest crowd in Maple Leaf Gardens since Nov. 13, 1946 when the same two clubs met. Game time Leafs won 3-0.

Richard began things at 2:32 of the second period—the first was scoreless—and he completed a pretty passing play with Bernie Henri. Less than two minutes later Dickie Moore relayed to Johnny Bower with a 15-footer to make it 2-0.

Billy Harris, who scored both Leaf goals, made it 2-1 at 17:36 of the third period and the second before the period ended Richard scored his second goal, again on a pass from Henri.

HITS EMPTY NET

After Harris made it 3-2, Leafs were forced to pull Bower in an attempt to tie the game by play goal. The manoeuvre backfired as Claude Provost put the puck in the empty net at 19:30.

Plante was brilliant all night, making a total of 36 saves, 16 of them in the final period.

Kelly, one of the league's best defencemen, was used at centre and took a turn on the point on power play.

In Chicago, where their victory over Jack Hawks once again is sole possession of fourth place much of the action was of the illegal variety.

Referee Frank Udvari handed out 25 penalties, 13 to Rangers. But despite four different brawls the only number sent to rookie Bill Hay of Chicago, for inflicting a stretcher-job near-death facemen Jack Bownass right eye.

On Balfour's goal, goalie Glenn Hall was given an assist—the first for a netminder this season. Hall cleared the puck to Glen Skov who passed it along to Balfour.

Bolton Loses Star Goalie; Breaks Leg

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Eddie Hopkinson, who started the current soccer-mixing craze in British international goalkeeper, climaxed the most disastrous year of his career Wednesday when he broke his left leg in a practice session.

Hopkinson, shortest goalkeeper in the football league's first division at five feet 6½ inches, paced the England job when Sweden's tall Ronnie Simpson was injured three times to score a 3-2 victory at Wembley Stadium and signalled England's fourth successive bowled for his head.

But his consistent play had kept Bolton Wanderers in the upper half of the league standings with the best defensive record in their division. The hairlike fracture, expected to keep him out for two months, set the club scrambling for a replacement to oppose Nottingham Forest next Saturday.

OUT FOR LONG

The loss of the 24-year-old Hopkinson, together with earlier injuries to centre forward Nat Lofthouse and Doug Edwards, severely lengthened the odds against Bolton in the championship race. The Wanderers currently trail runaway leaders Burnham Hotspur by eight points with a game in hand.

Fulham, 11th with Bolton in the standings, also lost a third regular for a London rivalry with Chelsea when wing-half Allan Mullery wrenched his knee last Saturday. Inside right Johnny Key is sidelined with a similar allment and centre-half Tony Macedo is out of action.

Tottenham, virtually free of injuries all season, is in the lowly Leicester, Burnley, the runaway, while Birmingham City, a side struggling to escape demotion, is the second division.

Third — place Wolverhampton seeks consolation at Everton, where the Merseysiders will test their lineup Wednesday by assisting Roy Vernon, a Welsh international inside forward, from Blackburn Rovers.

In exchange for Vernon, Blackburn got £15,000 ($40,000) plus Eddie Thomas, Everton's top goal-scorer.

Will Appeal Stanley Park Soccer Plans

TORONTO (CP)—A delegation fighting city council's plan to move soccer to Stanley Park warned board of control Wednesday that it would appeal to Queen's Park and Ottawa.

The delegation claimed that increased traffic around the park will endanger the lives of nearly 800 small children in the neighborhood. The park would take four acres from the "inadequate" six-acre Stanley Park playground, leaving the children "a two-acre mudhole."

Apparent Stanley Park as a new home for the National Soccer League followed riots last year at Varsity Stadium in a week-end football district. Stanley Park is in a mainly industrial area.

About 500 persons attended the meeting. Extra policemen were called to keep order.

Three Seek 1st Base Spot

NEW YORK (AP)—There's little doubt about the regular first base when St. Louis Cardinals open their spring training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla., in a couple of weeks, Stan Musial, Bill White and Joe Cunningham will be after the regular job.

All three have played the outfield, so manager Solly Hemus can shift them around if he so desires.

White, acquired from San Francisco Giants last spring, was one of two Cards to sign his 1960 contract Wednesday. The other was relief pitcher Lindy McDaniel. Elsewhere, the signees were pitcher Jim Owens of Philadelphia, outfielder Sandy Amoros of Los Angeles, catcher Robie Leadrith of San Francisco and catcher John Blanchard and pitcher Harold Stowe of New York.

Hockey Hints

by Lloyd Percival

STAY ON YOUR FEET

Most great goalkeepers have used a "stand up" technique. They have stayed on their feet as much as possible when playing a shot and even during scrambles. Many young netminders are down on the ice more than on their feet.

Some coaches feel that as long as the goalkeeper stops the puck they don't care how. This is true but study shows the chances of making a save, of keeping in front of the puck, of staying in the play, are best when the goalkeeper stays up.

Sometimes he must go down, diving to the ice to cover puck, for example, but generally the odds are best for the goalkeeper when he "stays up".

On the Track

He accepted only four mounts Wednesday and won with all of them to increase his total to 28. J. L. Rotz had two to run his total to 21.

MIAMI (AP)—Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, 86-year-old trainer, apparently has lost his best chance of saddling a fourth Kentucky Derby winner.

Fitzsimmons, son of Hinchliffe from the Wheatley stable, broke down and was destroyed Wednesday after running fourth in the eighth race at Hialeah Park.

Mr. Fitz won the Derby with Gallant Fox in 1930, Omaha in 1935 and Johnstown in 1939.

Yesterday's Stars

Maurice (Rocket) Richard who scored two goals to lead Montreal Canadiens to a 4-2 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs.

Goaler Glenn Hall, who scored an assist and held the New York Rangers to a near shutout to give Chicago Black Hawks a 5-1 victory.

SEVENTH SEASON

Booth TV Tops Industrial Loop, Bobby Brooks Wins Scoring Title

Booth TV's and a number of the team's wheel off with top team and individual honors during the Belleville Industrial Hockey League's regular schedule according to statistics released this week.

Booth's finished in first place in the four-team grouping, five points ahead of their nearest rivals, while defenceman Bobby Brooks captured the league scoring championship. The 7-1 club won eight games, tied two and lost two, good for 18 points, five ahead of second place Williams Brothers. Chris' Drive-In was third with 11, while Ellis Printers had six points in the final spot.

The three-of-five semi-final playoffs will get under way this weekend with Booth's meeting the Printers while Williams' clash with Chris'.

Brooks chalked up six goals and 13 assists for 19 points and finished the schedule with a lead ahead of his nearest competitors in the scoring race. Bert Faulkner of Williams' Brothers and Leo "Wiener" St. Denis of Booth's tied for second place with 15 points apiece, including 7 goals leading nine goals. Chuck Rowbotham, an earlier leaders was next with 14 points. Following are the final team standings, scoring records and the first three playoff dates.

Around the Tee

The genial chairman of the Bonspiel committee, Ben Corbe, doubled in brass at the opening of the third annual men's bonspiel. Being an alderman, the lady boss was busy at the early curlers on behalf of His Worship A. McLean Craig for the city and as chairman he welcomed them on behalf of the club. He wished for all good curling, lots of fun and good fellowship.

Due to the really bad weather, rinks from Kingston and Peterborough were a little late getting away by the time of the third draw the curlers were back on schedule and everything ran very smoothly. Distinctive insignia were given each curler and the new-cut red sweaters and tams made a picturesque sight on the ice. Speaking of ice, it was exceptionally keen and the boys had a hard time holding the rocks back. Unfortunately the mild weather caused a number of drips but the ice committee under Percy Fleming worked hard and the curlers had no complaints.

Since the 'spiel was inaugurated in 1958 the club has been noted for its wonderful hospitality and the city being the home of the bonspiel, it is only fitting it should be prominent in the 'spiels. The committee has provided a centre table, suitably decorated by the various members and on it has been placed a half cheese with cracker trimmings. A spray over the cheese received all one could hope for and the club house was compliments for the thoughtfulness. As one curler remarked, it is to be the 'spiel to get my fill of beautiful cheese.

As usual the women's section of the club was the busiest of any in the clubhouse. This year they decided to operate a snack bar on their own and directed the members into sections with each responsible for the day's food. To say the least the food was delicious and the snack bar was well patronized at all times.

The mild weather caused a change in schedule of games. On ice four the dripping from the roof caused the rink to be unplayable and in the afternoon other rinks on that ice tournyed to the Trenton club to play their game. The thanks of the club were extended to Trenton club for their kindness in allowing the use of the ice.

Other surprises were seen in the opening draw and many of the supposedly good rinks were eliminated while the rinks in the Many of the Quinte Curling Club rinks are just the average run of curlers with the boys taking part for the pure love of the game. But in the first draw they were not disgraced and were bopped with prizes when they came off the ice—unfortunately as the winners were matched against each other in the second draw and some had to be eliminated.

Pat Houston, the efficient president of the club, was a busy man, after it was found the ice was unplayable due to "drips" from the roof. The roof was fully inspected and assistance was obtained to take all the drips of the snow as soon as possible.

Proposed Interlocking Sked Gets Another Boot Around

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP) — The proposed interlocking schedule between the Big Four and Western Interprovincial Football Union will get another kicking around at the first meeting of the Canadian Football League's annual meeting.

High on the agenda at previous sessions, the subject will have to be cleaned up quickly if the two professional leagues are to make progress on such matters as television and radio rights and schedules.

Delegates were to meet under the CFL banner early today, then break up for separate Big Four and WIFU meetings this afternoon and Friday. Saturday will be confined to CFL meetings. All sessions are closed.

So far only the presidents of the nine clubs have been a brief on a partial interlocking schedule submitted by Frank Gilmour, president of Rigid Parliament of Winnipeg, appointed by the CFL last year to make a detailed study of the idea.

Out of Snarled-up Deal Red Kelly Became Maple Leaf

DETROIT (AP) — Leonard (Red) Kelly, star defenceman for Detroit Red Wings for 13 seasons, became a member of the Toronto Maple Leafs Wednesday in one of the most snarled-up trades in National Hockey League history. Kelly played for Leafs in the last to Canadiens Wednesday night.

And Marc Reaume, a little-known Leaf defenceman, went left Toronto to join Detroit at Montreal against the Rushmen.

It was an even swap. The trade was announced Tuesday night but got started in Palm Beach, Fla., in rules and regulations of the NHL's board of governors.

Kelly, already in Toronto, was ordered by the board to report back to Detroit immediately or go on the league's retired list—from which he could never emerge if even one NHL club objected.

Kelly reported back by simply picking up a telephone and calling Detroit general manager Jack Adams. NHL president Clarence Campbell said that was sufficient.

KELLY PICKS TEAM

Campbell said he understood Kelly "will get more than $7,000 a month" from Detroit. That was Toronto, Kelly's choice.

The 32-year-old Kelly and forward Billy McNeill both told the Detroit Wings last Friday they were quitting hockey rather than be traded to New York Rangers. Detroit Adams said he didn't want either one back.

Kelly's return marked back defenceman Bill Gadsby and forward Eddie Shack, who were traded to Detroit in the four - player swap.

McNeill threatened disciplinary action. Meanwhile, Kelly was being wined and dined and understanding with the Leafs. He owns a bowling alley and a tobacco business in Detroit and commutes midway between Detroit and Toronto.

The Red Wings went along with the Toronto deal. That was the big part of the Palm Beach meeting.

McNeill left Saturday for his home in Edmonton. The Wings expressed no interest in McNeill and they assumed his retirement was permanent. McNeill said he hoped to launch a career as a salesman.

ROY MACK DIES

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Roy Mack, 69, a former owner of Philadelphia baseball clubs, a son of the late Connie Mack died today of a heart attack in hospital.

Minor Hockey

The midget division of the BMHA wound up its regular schedule last night with eleven games being played at Memorial Arena.

Canadiens finished atop the heap, two points ahead of Rangers, by defeating the Maple Leafs 7-2. Jim Rutherford led the Canadiens with three goals and two assists while Gary Duvall picked up two goals and one helper. Bob Bidley had one and one, Pete Emerson a goal, Billy Bushman and Don Morgan assists. Bruce Symons, with one and one, John Onderdonk with a goal and Richard Jones an assist were the Leaf pointmen.

The runner-up Rangers came through with a 7-3 win over the Black Hawks. Norm Richards, Jimmy Woodcock and Don Holloway fired two goals each for Rangers, Dave Fisher potting the other. Bob Jefferys had two assists, Bob Boyle and Gary Talbot one apiece. Gerry Jones triggered three Hawk markers, Bob Clarke a goal and two assists and Jack Archer the other goal.

Bruins kept the Red Wings in the basement by edging them 3-2. Bruin markers were Jerry Soden, with a pair, and Brona DeGenova. Bruce Seams and Uema were the Red Wing goals with assists going to Rushlow and Ted Turner.

Belleville Juveniles chalked up a 6-3 exhibition victory over Trenton, the winners all the way, 1-0 at the end of the first, 3-1 after two periods, before doubling their output in the third.

Belleville goals were scored by Billy "The Kid" McGuire, Gray Dafoe, Bill Ashton, Bill Pete Weston, Jim Sheridan had two assists, Lewis, Dafoe, Duggan and Kellar one each.

Trenton markmen were Rue and Tilley, Kinney assisting on one goal.

Dutchmen Sweep West Tour, Reach Squaw Valley Today

VANCOUVER (CP)—Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, a string of undefeated exhibition games behind them, leave today for the 1960 Olympics at Squaw Valley, Calif.

They recorded the seventh victory of their western tour Wednesday night, beating Trail Smoke Eaters of the Western International League 6-4 before 2,700 fans. Dutchmen play their first Olympic game against Sweden Feb. 18.

Coach Bobby Bauer of the Dutchmen said the aim of the tour wasn't to win every game.

"We wanted to learn and mould the team together on the way west. Moose Jaw was the best spot. The reception there helped bring the squad into a working unit."

TWO BIG GAMES

Dutchmen defeated Moose Jaws 5-2 in the game which team would be the one to beat in Olympic competition. Bauer said: "In my opinion there is no special team to beat. Each club plays its best as it comes. But the big ones may be against the Czechoslovakia crowd."

Dutchmen, playing their third game in as many nights, ag- ainst Trail, were without Jeff Wilson of the WIHL, but had good control after a slow start.

They outshot Smoke Eaters 27-13, pulled ahead 1-0 in the first period and fired three goals in the second.

Bobby Moberley, a Whitby Dunlop donation for the Olympic trip, scored three goals. Jim Connelly, Fred Eicher and Bobby Rousseau added singles.

Trail's marker came in the third period from Norm Leander.

Hubbard Loses To Rodriguez In 4th Round

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Luis Manuel Rodriguez strengthened his rating as the No. 1 welterweight challenger Wednesday night with a bristling four-round knockout over previously undefeated Carl Hubbard.

Rodriguez used left hooks to floor Hubbard in the third round for a mandatory eight count and finished him off in 1:33 of the fourth of a scheduled 10-rounder.

HOME RINKS WIN

SARNIA (CP) — Mrs. F. C. Smith's Sarnia rink won the 10th annual Women's Imperial Bonspiel here Wednesday with a 9-7 win over another Sarnia four-some skipped by Mrs. Cliff Baldwin. Mrs. Marion Sayle of Brantford captured the second event trophy. Other trophy members included Mrs. T. S. Miller of Sarnia and Mrs. Ken Crawford Mrs. H. Hindman of Owen Sound 11-6.

Weather Halts Soccer Games In Britain

LONDON (CP)—Six Old Country soccer games—two in the English League, three in the Scottish League and one in the Irish League — were abandoned before completion Saturday because of fog and bad weather. They will be replayed.

In the English League Second Division, Liverpool led Derby County 1-0 when play was abandoned after 71 minutes and in the Third Division the Grimsby Town - Tranmere Rovers game was abandoned after 36 minutes with Grimsby ahead 1-0.

Hearts - Hibernian led Clyde 4-3 when their Division I Scottish League game was halted at halftime, in Division II, two scoreless ties were stopped — Dumbarton and East Fife at 12 minutes and Morton and Montrose after 55.

The Irish League game between Ballymena United and Portadown was called after 77 minutes with the score tied 2-2.

The Canadian Press, in its list of scores of Saturday's games, failed to record that these six games had been abandoned.

Flyers Rally To Tie Bilts

BARRIE (CP)—Barrie Flyers came from behind three times Wednesday night to gain a 3-3 tie with Guelph Biltmores in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A contest.

Bilts scored first in each of the three periods and Rod Gilbert, Bert Brown and Al Lebrun doing the honors. Nelson Leclair got the Flyers' first-period goal and Billy Knibbs and Pierre Gagne hit for the hosts in the finale.

Flyers outshot the Bilts 30-21 in an unusually close contest. Only three penalties were assessed.

The tie for Barrie moved them three points ahead of the third-place St. Michael's College Buzzers and left them six points behind league-leading Toronto Marlboros.

Red Wings Call Farm Hands

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Red Wings have called up two farm hands in the shuffle accompanying the trade of Leonard (Red) Kelly to the Toronto Maple Leafs and the retirement of Billy McNeill.

Forward Barry Cullen, 24, was recalled from the Amarillo Hockey League club at Hershey, Pa., with which Detroit has a working agreement. Lloyd Gray, 20, 21-year-old defenceman, has been called up from Detroit's Western League farm club at Edmonton.

Both will be with the Red Wings at Boston today.

To replace Haddon, Detroit sent Lou Marcon, a 24-year-old defenceman who had been with the Red Wings all season, to Edmonton.

The apprentice jockeys went on strike six days ago for better living conditions.

Wolves Dump Montreal 5-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sudbury Wolves, shooting at their own sub-goaltender Rolly Giacomin, Wednesday night, collected Bronfman Bowl to move four points ahead in the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

Giacomin, playing his first game since he was called to help out Montreal after regular goalier Gerry McNeil was injured in a game against Sault Ste. Marie Tuesday.

McNeil, who only recently returned to the Royals after weeks of recovery from injuries suffering, was hit in the mouth by a puck. He suffered broken teeth and a possible jaw fracture. He is expected to be in hospital at least three days.

Royals own sub-goaler Claude Carr was originally scheduled to play with the team but was stranded in Toronto due to poor weather after flying from Montreal.

Rommy Burton, Wally Boyer and Jimmy Moore gave Sudbury a 3-0 lead in the first period before Ray Burnett replied for the Royals.

The American Soccer League opened the third-period goals for Sudbury.

Number of Big Stars Seem Unhappy With Networks

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Alfred Hitchcock has decided to leave CBS after a long relationship and hitch up with NBC next season. CBS' Jack Benny is supposed to be flirting with ABC. ABC's Frank Sinatra is rumored to be interested in both CBS and NBC. A lot of other big stars are said to be unhappy with their set works.

The networks are busily peddling in—lightly—next fall's schedules and sending their salesmen to advertising agencies and sponsors.

One thing seems fairly evident—both on the basis of audience ratings and the expense involved, TV's 1959-60 passion for special programs seems to have run its course. Rumor has it that both NBC and CBS will cut back sharply next year. It is even possible that NBC's weekly Sunday Showcase productions and Startime may never return from summer vacation.

The American Cowboy, Wednesday night's CBS special, was a bright and highly entertaining 60 minutes. It was, however, less a satire about that improbably and legendary figure than a series of revue sketches involving everything from male vanity to method acting. Everyone was all dressed up in horse opera clothes. There was a talented and amusing cast too: Fred MacMurray, Wally Cox, Edie Adams and Carol Burnett.

Won't Televise Russia, Canada Hockey Game

TORONTO (CP)—The CBC announced Wednesday that the Olympic hockey game between Russia and Canada at Squaw Valley, Calif., will not be televised because the Columbia Broadcasting System has exclusive TV rights to games.

CBS plans only to televise the contest between Russia and the U.S., which will not be seen on Canadian channels, said CBC information officer Don Crossley.

He said a series of 15-minute taped excerpts of Olympic highlights will be available from CBS and carried on the Canadian network.

Now or Never For Mr. MacKay

NEW YORK (AP) — This is "now or never" year for Barry MacKay, the erratic giant who is America's chief hope for recovering the Davis Cup.

"If I'm ever to make my mark in this game, I figure this must be the year," the six-foot-four racket - swinger from Dayton, Ohio, said Wednesday. "I've set myself for two goals—Wimbledon and the Davis Cup."

MacKay, now 21 and honed down to his finest edge by a recent Asiatic tour, is in town fulfilling a 30-day obligation to the Air Corps and preparing for the United States indoor championship, starting Feb. 19.

"The way it looks, this may be the last Wimbledon for the amateurs—it may go open in 1961," MacKay said.

MacKay regards Aussies Neale Fraser and Rod Laver, as his biggest obstacles during the next season but he thinks both can be beaten.

There's Many a Bride Wishes She Had This Jill's Problem

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What to buy the man who has everything is one of the problems faced by Jill St. John in her forthcoming marriage to five-and-dime heir Lance Reventlow.

"It's a problem," sighed the redhaired actress, whose problems you and I would probably enjoy. "What could I possibly get him as a wedding gift? A watch is the usual thing. He has two watches — plus another one he uses under water in skin diving.

"The only thing I can think of is little carved animals, which he has started collecting. They're kind of expensive, though."

In preparing for her marriage a month or so hence, Jill faces a different situation from "the usual bride - to - be. Take the matter of showers.

"They're a racket," she claims. "I suggest they're all right for a couple who start out with nothing. But otherwise, they're just a device of putting the bite on your friends for gifts.

"It would be silly for me to have them. A kitchen shower? I'm moving into a house that Lance has lived in for two years and that has every appliance conceivable."

It is a large hilltop home given Lance by his mother, Barbara Hutton. It is complete with indoor - outdoor swimming pool and cost an estimated $400,000.

When Jill will marry is a question. It was scheduled for late next month, but Jill's booming film career may interfere. The date now appears to be early April.

OFFERS MOORE $200,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Humbert Jacki Fuqazy, director of boxing for Empire Sports Inc., said Wednesday he has offered light heavyweight champion Archie Moore $200,000 to defend the crown against Germany's undefeated Erich Schoeppner this summer. Schoeppner, European 175-pound champion and No. 2 contender, was offered $50,000.

The promoter said the site and dates would be set later.

Feature Sports is the new boxing group which has virtually swapped up the Ingemar Johansson - Floyd Patterson return heavyweight title fight.

Only Tuesday night Moore was warned by National Boxing Association president Tony Macerel to agree by Saturday to a title defence against Harold Johnson or face loss of his crown. Johnson is No. 1 contender.

At The Park

First Belleville and District Showing "Gene Krupa Story"

SAL MINEO

Chances are that if Sal Mineo hadn't decided on an acting career, he'd be a drummer.

"Drums have fascinated me ever since I was about seven years old," says Mineo, who today stars as the famed drummer man in "The Gene Krupa Story," the Philip A. Waxman production at the Park Theatre also starring Susan Kohner and James Darren, with Susan Oliver.

"I always had a drum around the house and used to keep time to records, playing everything from a Sousa march to the latest top tune."

But Sal turned to acting and, while he was 10, attended a dramatic school next door to the New York Paramount where he would regularly watch his idol, Gene Krupa, whenever he was playing that theatre. Years later, Sal was signed by Columbia Pictures to do Krupa's life story on the screen.

"For the film, I do some 15 numbers that Gene made famous, matching his drumming from the soundtrack," young actor said. For this feat, Sal spent a year learning the Krupa style from his records, watching him in nightclubs and working directly with the famed musician.

Featured in "The Gene Krupa Story" are Red Nichols (a himself), Bobby Troup as Tommy Dorsey, Anita O'Day as herself, Shelly Manne as Davey Tough, Buddy Lester as himself, with the drums recorded by Gene Krupa Writers by Orin Jannings, who also served as associate producer, "The Gene Krupa Story" was directed by Don Weis.

Added Feature In Technicolor

Victor Mature, one of the screen's great action stars, is cast as "The Bandit of Zhobe" in the CinemaScope - Technicolor added feature now showing at the Park Theatre. Anne Aubrey and Anthony Newley are also starred. The Columbia picture a Warwick production, features Sean Kelly, John Gilling wrote the screenplay and directed the new drama of adventure and romance on India's northwest frontier.

AT THE BELLE — The tangled web of the lives of the people in Jerry Wald's CinemaScope, De Luxe Color production of Rona Jaffe's best seller, "The Best of Everything", a Twentieth Century-Fox presentation today, Friday and Saturday at the Belle Theatre. A composite of scenes from the film: (L. to R.) Hope Lange and Stephen Boyd, Suzy Parker and Louis Jourdan, Robert Evans and Diane Baker, Joan Crawford as "Amanda Farrow", and Brian Aherne and Martha Hyer. The story of young career women in New York also features several new actors, including Betty Halsey, Donald Harron, Lionel Kane and Ted Otis.

BY CARROLL RIGHTER

Friday, February 12

General tendencies: This is a wonderful day to think out whether you are free from the mental disturbances and errors and conclusions that can be a part of man's thinking. It is one of those times when the swift action of today's Full Moon can bring to light the lessons taught us by the Great Emancipator, which permits us to rid ourselves of the unwanted and the undesirable. Be generous to all in spirit.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — During free hours during day and evening it will be possible to have a delightful time with compatibles. However, be certain you labor most efficiently and creatively during work time. You can make great strides forward in this way.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Experts can be consulted today who will gladly give you and close family ties the right kind of advice that will make the future far more profitable and happy. F. M. do all in your power to bring greater happiness within the home.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Fine day for purchases, whether on a large or small scale. Excellent for travel and writing, also. Any political interests should be handled wisely. P. M. ideal for social affairs. Be with friends of long standing. Have fun.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — A good day to confer with clientele, attorneys, doctors. Get their advice and talk over important matters tentatively. This can mean a happier and more abundant future for you. Be adroit and to the point.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Get your appearance at its very best now, then off to the personal aims and ambitions closest to your heart. Make fine contacts. P. M. be very sociable and enjoy your long - time friends, visit with relatives, etc.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — You require a day for relaxation and serious thought, and this is just the ideal day for that. Take closest friends into your confidence, then decide wisely on important issues for the future. P. M. be romantically inclined.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — Go about your favorite activities today with an entirely new attitude that will make you more happy and successful. You can also travel, be happy with friends, shop, study, etc.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — You can get considerable backing today if you perform your civic duties efficiently. Impress bigwigs with your special abilities. Later, take the steps which will bring your credit rating very high.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) — Leave dull routine behind you now and be off to the bustling world of activity where you can find more profitable and interesting outlets. Make really fine contacts. P. M. study seriously, do research work.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Better be double sure you are carrying through with commitments made. Check insurance, security, other records, also, and be sure you know your exact financial position. P. M. ideal for any romantic inclinations.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Getting together with associates and comrades today will give you an opportunity to adjust any misunderstandings or problems as well as have a delightful time co-operatively. Go to new and charming places.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Have you contacted those who are able to help you in your work as well as increase your bank account? This is the ideal day for you to do so, otherwise, or this evening. Be generous with fellow workers, too.

If your child is born today ... The lovely child born today will have tremendous vitality, but will early require much appreciation in order to exercise to fullest advantage the fine intellect in this chart. Be certain how to give excellent elocution or music lessons, since there is decided talent in either direction. Most promising horoscope for any professions dealing with the general public, particularly in the entertainment field.

FRIENDLY BIRD

LONDON (AP)—Slippery Sue is a handsome hen pheasant which flew into the London zoological gardens three months ago and refuses to leave. It can't be lured into a cage, so officials let the bird have the run of the place.

Indigestion; Headaches Backache Couldn't Sleep

Suffered From Awful Gas, Heartburn, Soureness. Tired All the Time. Tells of Grand Relief by Taking Syntona.

"If you haven't tried Syntona Herbal Compound, let me assure you it's a great medicine", said Mrs. W. J. Ellis, 23 Ontario St., Stratford, Ont., in a recent letter.

Felt Sick All Over

"I was troubled with awful indigestion, acid rising and heartburn after meals. Gas choked me and my head ached terribly. I felt sick all over and couldn't sleep. I kept on taking it and in a few days I noticed a big change. I got up in the morning feeling fine and ate a hearty breakfast. I slept so soundly that I was surprised when I awoke bus business and operate a bus system as a public utility."

"In my opinion," Mayor Haig went on, "subsidies are like blackmail or tribute. Once they begin it is no end to them and they go on and on in increasing amounts. Subsidies in my opinion are wrong in principle and they unavoidably end up by impoverishing the corporation that provides the subsidy and enriching him who receives it."

CRITICIZES GROUP

Mayor Haig was mildly critical of the "group of public-spirited Belleville citizens, but unnamed citizens" who wished to protect council from taking any illegal steps in regards to the bus franchise.

The mayor was referring to the group of citizens said to have approached former city solicitor R. A. Pringle with the view of taking legal action should any illegal agreements be made by council to the Rawson Bus Company.

"It is rather unfortunate that such a group of citizens with able leadership, had not been able to take more interest in municipal affairs and municipal administrations, because if they had, I am quite sure that some of our more pressing problems and unfortunate situations would have been avoided."

In view of the unenforceability of the city's agreement with Mrs. Rawson, Mayor Haig said the existence of a contract was merely an academic question and he felt that it would be a useless discussion on the problem involved in entering into a contract, thus perpetuating the impression that Belleville is not a place to be respected by the private industries.

He said it seemed rather futile to spend money on the industrial commission and industrial commissioner and at the same time be a party to public discussion which reasonably and openly offsets any gain which otherwise could be made.

JARVAH OPPOSED

The recommendation releasing Mrs. Rawson from certain duties in connection with its unexpired franchise with the city, did not receive unanimous approval from council members.

Alderman William Jarvah, as chairman of finance, said it was difficult for him to reconcile the city solicitor's view that the contract with Mr. Rawson was not enforceable. He asked why the city should be bound by the contract and not Mrs. Rawson.

He said also that the sudden reversal of the bus company's attitude with respect to request for a subsidy for bus operation aimed strange. It seemed that at one time the company had expressed a subsidy and now when it was indicated that a subsidy was not likely it would be changed had suddenly reversed its thinking and refused to accept one.

"I would like to know why the contract with Mr. Rawson is not enforceable and also why he cannot be forced to continue operation of the bus system beyond March 31st."

Alderman Jarvah said also that he was not sure that those who owns shares in the Rawson Bus Company.

FORTUNATE IN PAST

Alderman John Deacon noted that in the past Belleville had been fortunate in that it was the only municipality which had not been forced to pay for a bus service.

"When you turn around we are about the last of the Mohicans in that respect," he said.

He said that over the past few years conditions with respect to bus operation had changed drastically and many municipalities had discovered that there was no alternative but to get into the bus transportation.

The motion releasing Mr. Rawson from liability in connection with the bus franchise was carried by an 8-5 vote.

Approving were: Mayor Haig and Aldermen Bailey, Corke, Deacon, Ellis, Harrison, McDougall and Reid. Opposing were: Aldermen Barlow, Jarvah, Temple, Thalen and Wishart.

The motion to apply for a private bill empowering the city to go into the bus business was carried unanimously.

Mr. Green reiterated that under present conditions Canada should not recognize Communist China because the latter would require that Canada also accept its entry into the UN and Red Chinese occupation of Nationalist Formosa.

Mr. Green said "nobody in Canada" favors apartheid (race apartness) but that Canadians should stop and think before calling for ejection of South Africa from the Commonwealth. If members started being thrown out, no Commonwealth would be left before long.

Everybody who has had any connection whatever with the Army knows of the rank of "Queen's Corporal". Usually we are told the rank is won on the field, and therefore the holder cannot be demoted below the rank of Corporal by any command of the reigning monarch.
The old fact about the whole thing is that there is not, nor ever has been, any such rank! It is pure you-know-what gosh.
The nearest thing to fact about it is that if the Army, for any other branch of the Services, calls on you to move to another part of Canada to put your household goods in storage 'til you come back, you'll be proud of the service Fox Cartage and Storage Ltd. gives to corporal and commander alike — for you could get nothing better even by command of the reigning monarch!

TRANSPORTATION EXPERT — Murdoch A. McPherson, Regina lawyer and former politician, studies books and briefs as head of the royal commission on transportation. A native of Grande Anse, N.S., on Cape Breton Island, he is an expert on railways, freight rates and grain shipping problems. He took over as chairman of the royal commission last year when Charles P. McTague resigned because of ill health. (CP Photo).

Transportation Commission Headed by M. MacPherson, Lawyer, Politican, Patriot

By ROBERT RICE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA (CP)—Murdoch Alexander MacPherson and his five royal commissioners are sitting as judges on one of Canada's most complex, most vital and most perplexing problems—transportation.

It's a mammoth riddle, steeped in antiquity, bedevilled by geography, confused by the odd economics of a nation sprawled across 4,000 miles.

Yet few Canadians are more qualified to unravel that riddle than Murdo MacPherson, lawyer, advocate, politician and patriot.

He is a Cape Bretoner who went west, a farmer's lawyer, a Conservative who has counselled Socialists, an expert on railways, freight rates and grain, and now, chairman of the royal commission on transportation.

Quiet, incisive, humorous Murdo MacPherson took over the chairmanship of the royal commission last year after its original chairman, Hon. Charles P. McTague, former Ontario supreme court justice, resigned for health reasons.

The commission, now meeting here, will go on to Edmonton, Victoria and Vancouver this month.

For years, Mr. MacPherson had fought Saskatchewan's battles before the board of transport commissioners. And more than a decade ago he was prominent in the Prairie fight to keep export grain freight rates under Parliament's control, a major issue when another royal commission investigated the problems of transportation.

Yet when a news dispatch in the Regina Leader - Post was taken to suggest that he was a partisan in one of the key issues before the present royal commission—the controversial Crowsnest grain problem—his old railway adversaries, his former colleagues and others rallied to affirm their confidence in him.

Born in Grande Anse, N.S., April 16, 1891, Mr. MacPherson went west when he was 22, a freshly-graduated arts graduate from Dalhousie. He picked Swift Current, Sask., to start his law career.

FRONTIER TOWN

"It was a real frontier town in those days, back in 1913," he recalled. "There were eight bars and cowboys with 10-gallon hats and leg chaps."

There he met his wife, an American girl named Iowa, after the state where she was born. And there he was married on Christmas Eve, 1915. They had two daughters and three sons, one of whom was killed in Burma.

He left Swift Current for overseas service in the First World War and was wounded in 1917 in the leg, a scar he still carries.

When he returned to Saskatchewan, he became solicitor for the soldiers' settlement board, working in Regina to help veterans get farmlands in the still-woolly West.

CAREER IN POLITICS

In 1921, at the age of 30, he was defeated in a bid for a seat in the House of Commons, but in 1925 he was elected to the Saskatchewan legislature, one of three Conservatives in opposition. Four years later, he was re-elected to the provincial House when a coalition of Conservatives, Progressives and Independents took office. In this co-operative melange, he became attorney-general of Saskatchewan.

In 1931, with depression, drought and doubt gripping the Prairies, he also shouldered the provincial treasury portfolio. In 1935, he attended a London conference that led to the International Wheat Agreement, a new marketing formula for Prairie grain.

"In 1934, the Depression caught up with us and we were all cleared out in the provincial election," he said in an interview.

By then, R. B. Bennett had met the earnest young lawyer-politician and the long arm of Ottawa reached out to name Mr. MacPherson administrator of the Farmers Creditor Arrangement Act in 1934-35, helping to solve the farmers' financial plight.

HIS OWN IDEA

The idea for the act itself had been largely thrust to Ottawa's attention by Mr. MacPherson and Prime Minister Bennett phoned him to offer the job personally.

In 1936, Mr. MacPherson took the wheat pools case before the Turgeon commission on grain. On this time, he was known nationally. In 1938, he journeyed to Ottawa as a delegate to the Conservative national convention and as a last-minute candidate was drafted as the party's national leader. He tried again in 1942 but lost to John Bracken.

"I've occasionally wondered how I would have happened if things had been different, but I have no regrets," he said. "I've had a most interesting life—and a full one."

After the Second World War, when Canada's major railways launched their freight rate revenue demands, he became counsel for Saskatchewan at transport board hearings.

"Freight rate work gives one a tremendous knowledge of the country. You get acquainted with the whole of Canada, its varied resources and its various problems."

As Saskatchewan's advocate, he was in the peculiar position of being a Conservative opposing a CCF government's case, even more defending—successfully, too—Saskatchewan Premier T. C. Douglas in a libel action undertaken by provincial Liberal leader Walter Tucker.

He became a director of a bank and joined the Board of a construction company, a realty firm, a trust company, a new wild oil, pipeline, merchandising and investment company.

In the post-war succession of freight rate cases in Ottawa he was accepted as the doyen of western spokesmen, a sharp adversary of the railways.

SUDDEN APPOINTMENT

And then last May, he was appointed to the royal commission, rising to acting chairman when Mr. McTague was stricken with a heart attack just as the commission started its public hearings.

His task now is delicate and fraught with political overtones as the commission delves deeply into all aspects of the railway problem in Canada.

"We want to bring out all the angles without making it a lawsuit," he said. "We want to pick the brains of everybody without accentuating their local grievances."

He has said publicly that the Town Council Assumes $2,300 Arena Debt

COBALT (CP)—Town council Tuesday night assumed $2,300 indebtedness run up by the community centre board in bank overdrafts and fuel bills on the operation of the town arena.

Councillors said they would not permit further overdrafts and called a meeting for Feb. 17 between the board and local service clubs to see whether some club might not take over the arena and make it pay.

Commission is seeking a Canadian solution to the myriad problems—a remedy that tries to take care of the railways, the shippers and regional interests.

"We need a solution that is in the best interests of Canada."

Subsidy Would Make Grain Rate Political Issue

WINNIPEG (CP)—An annual battle in Parliament over prairie grain freight rates was forecast Tuesday if the railways win their bid for government help in hauling export grain.

W. J. Parker, president of the 35,000 - member Manitoba Pool Elevators, told the royal commission on transportation that the railway subsidy proposal would shunt the grain rate issue into the realm of politics.

He said prairie MPs would have to fight for money in Parliament each year to pay the subsidy sought by the CPR and CNR to cover alleged losses on export grain traffic moving at rates pegged by law at a pre-1900 level.

Backing the Manitoba government opposition to any change in the grain rate structure, Mr. Parker called for a solution to the problem of unprofitable branch lines.

He proposed economic and social investigations into the impact of proposed branch line closures before services are abandoned, said.

If certain branch lines are shown to be necessary in the public interest, the federal government should underwrite the losses, he said.

Prime Minister Bares Arms Ideas In House Debate

Given After Repeated Prodding by Opposition

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's proposals for disarmament and world disarmament were unwrapped in the Commons Thursday night by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Only 28 hours after External Affairs Minister Green told the United Nations proposals could not be divulged at this time and five hours after Art Smith (P-C—Calgary South) had said it would be "sheer folly" to do so, Mr. Diefenbaker outlined three broad initial objectives:

1. Acceptance by all nations of compulsory arbitration by a stronger and more effective international court of justice.

2. A declaration by all nations that no part of outer space or any celestial body may be appropriated by or subject to the jurisdiction of any particular nation.

DISARMAMENT PRINCIPLES

The prime minister also outlined principles governing the Government's thinking on disarmament. In the order listed by Mr. Diefenbaker, they are:

1. Maximum disarmament and reduction of armed forces within the limits of what could be controlled without endangering the security of any nation or group of nations.

2. Disarmament by stages, beginning with the nuclear warhead missiles and agreement on designation of the location of rocket bases.

3. Banning of the manufacture and use of nuclear and other special weapons.

4. Banning of outer space to other than peaceful purposes and outlawing of the mounting of armaments on satellites.

5. Cessation of the production of fissile material for weapons and transfer of existing stocks to peaceful uses.

6. Formation of an international military force capable of restraining violations from aggression.

MARTIN PROBS

Mr. Diefenbaker outlined the principles after repeated prodding by Paul Martin (P-C—Essex East).

He did not elaborate to any extent except on his proposed initial steps toward disarmament.

Mr. Diefenbaker said all the nations really desire disarmament but lack confidence in the jurisdiction of an international court of justice.

"I believe that if we were able . . . to make stronger and more effective the International Court of Justice, giving it a compulsory element accepted by the right of compulsory decision, many of the problems we face today would be solved.

He suggested Canada, Britain and France should take the lead in this field.

SPACE LAW OUTDATED

The prime minister said the space law declared in 1914—each nation's space to be above its land —and still in effect has been outdated by satellites and intercontinental missiles.

"I believe that if we could bring about international jurisdiction over space we would have taken the most important step in the preservation of mankind."

Mr. Diefenbaker said the police force in the case downtown Toronto in the man pushed a knife against her side and said "don't cause any trouble or I'll stab you, I'm facing two years now."

Toronto Woman Abducted, Raped Freed at Windsor

ESSEX, Ont. (CP)—The young wife of a Toronto doctor told police she was abducted from a downtown parking lot in Toronto Thursday night and forced at knife-point to drive a man 200 miles towards Windsor, Ont.

She said she was ordered during the drive, bound with her own stockings and abandoned early Friday when the car ran out of gasoline near this town 12 miles southeast of Windsor.

Police said today they had picked up a man for questioning in connection with the abduction.

The man was being taken to Essex, 15 miles northeast of Windsor for questioning at the provincial police headquarters.

Police identified the woman as June Vaile, 23, wife of Dr. Sigmund Vaile of the University of Toronto's Banting Institute. The couple was married in 1958.

In Toronto a police spokesman said Dr. Vaile called Thursday night when his wife did not return home from a bal-dressing appointment and a shopping trip in downtown Toronto. The spokesman said the doctor called again this morning to say his wife had been forced at knife point to drive to the town of Essex and that she said she had been raped during the drive, Dr. Vaile left this morning for Essex.

NIGHT OF TERROR

Mrs. Vaile ran screaming to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cowley in Essex about 7 a.m. and told of the night of terror after being abducted late Thursday by a man who forced her into her own car parked in a downtown parking lot.

Mrs. Vaile said she was forced into the car at knife point and ordered to drive to Windsor but the car ran out of gasoline near Essex about 2 a.m. She said she was bound with her own stockings and kept in the car until about 7 a.m. when the man deserted.

"I knew the time because it came over the car radio.

"I was tied hand and foot all night. Unknown to my abductor, I managed to work my hands free during the night and when he got out of the car I was able to untie the stocking around my feet."

Mrs. Cowley said "she was screaming and crying when she staggered to our house and pounded on the door."

Mrs. Vaile said when she was forced into the car on downtown Toronto the man pushed a knife against her side and said "don't cause any trouble or I'll stab you. I'm facing two years now."

INCENTIVE PRICES FOR PRODUCE NOT IN BEST INTEREST

Briefs Will Be Presented to Board

TORONTO (CP) — A stand against incentive prices for farm products was taken today by Toronto Elevators Limited in its brief to the Ontario agricultural marketing inquiry committee.

The committee, looking into ways commodities are marketed under the Ontario Farm Products Marketing Act, heard submissions Thursday from tobacco buyers. After hearings, the committee will prepare a report for the provincial government.

Toronto Elevators' brief said "large surpluses which have accumulated in some agricultural products such as eggs and pork were the result of incentive prices rather than support prices. The surpluses brought about the introduction of the controversial deficiency payment schemes."

SEE ECONOMIC DAMAGE

The brief said that continued interference with the basic laws of supply and demand would only result in a corresponding degree of damage to the economy.

"We have no quarrel whatever with voluntary farm cooperatives. We believe in free competition and stress its value to farmers in both buying and selling. We also believe in the profit motive and assert that we are not in any way subsidized for it in its encouragement of business efficiency."

Toronto Elevators saw no argument against stating government policy to encourage agricultural expansion in some lines by incentive prices. When such support prices were not necessarily production will fall and, in theory at least, it will be the least efficient producers who will "drop out."

"If support prices are withdrawn and replaced by deficiency

Must Be Better Way of Making Living Says Paar Leaving Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Parr, simmering over a censorship anecdote on his Wednesday night NBC television show, boiled over emotionally Thursday night and walked off the program. He said he is leaving the show.

The show was being taped before an audience in an NBC studio when Parr announced that about "an idiot" cutting him off briefly from Britain on Tuesday night Wednesday evening, said "there must be a better way of making a living," and stalked off stage.

"I believe I was let down by this network," he said, "when I could have used their help," said Paar.

Paar's final gesture before leaving was to shake hands with Hugh Downs, announcer on the coast-to-coast Jack Paar show.

The studio audience was stunned. Some spectators, thinking it was part of the program, broke into applause. Others shouted protests against Paar's departure.

Paar's outburst took place nearly three hours before the show went on the air. It is customary to tape the program in advance.

The one-hour-and - 45 - minute show went on at 11:15 p.m. and ended only a few minutes after Paar's leave-taking. As soon as Paar's blowup occurred, 18 minutes after the program started, NBC switched to a station switchboard "lighted up like a Christmas tree."

Some hours before the program Paar had criticized NBC for deleting a story dealing with a mix-up over the letters "W. C.", widely used in Europe as an abbreviation for water closet. The anecdote in the form of a letter interpreted the "W. C." as meaning a wayside chapel.

Parr told his audience Thurs-

Khrushchev Backs up Words With Billion and Half Rubles

NEW EDELHI (Reuters)—Nikita Khrushchev backed up his promises with rubles today as he met with Prime Minister Nehru for private talks.

The Soviet premier, who pledged Thursday that Russia would help all countries overcome "age - old economic backwardness," attended the signing of an agreement granting India a loan of 1,500,000,000 rubles (about $375,000,000 at the official exchange rate) for her development programme.

The signing took place at Nehru's residence, where Mr. Khrushchev spent three hours in private talks with only an interpreter present.

After the talks, Khrushchev was the guest of honor at a banquet given by Nehru.

The loan agreement signed today followed agreement in principle last July for Soviet economic assistance. Negotiations have been going on since then on how India will use the money.

The aid to India totalling 1,837,000,000 rupees (about $385,000,000).

Meanwhile, most politicians here were openly impressed with Khrushchev's speech to the Indian Parliament Thursday.

Although the Soviet premier did not refer directly to the Sino-Indian border trouble, members of Parliament who replied loudly when he stated that "all disputable and international problems" should be settled through "negotiations based on equality.

41 Admit Plot to Overthrow Trujillo at Two Mass Trials

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Dominican courts have sentenced 41 persons to a 30-year prison term and fined them a total of $2,000 for plotting to overthrow the republic's 69-year-old dictator, Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo.

All the defendants acknowledged their guilt at two mass trials Thursday, held simultaneously in the palace of justice. The conviction was expected but the number of persons handed maximum sentences was surprising since Trujillo claimed to have smashed a widespread plot last June.

Government officials said hundreds more will be investigated and more trials are expected here soon.

There have been reports, denied by the government, that up to 2,000 persons have been rounded up.

Venezuela asked for an investigation by the Organization of American states earlier this year in line with the Trujillo regime with "flagrant violations of human rights" in its treatment of opponents. The OAS referred the request to a general committee.

The latest batch of convicted plotters included all parts of the Caribbean island country. Most are in their 30s. They included lawyers, doctors, engineers, farmers and laborers.

Prosecutors said they had been deceived into believing that the assassination plot was beautiful.

Rafael Pezzo, an artist who said he was secretary of a revolutionary committee, testified that a secret visitor from Puerto Rico told him the Venezuelan government was providing aid for the plotters.

Other defendants said they were informed assistance was promised by Cuban exiles in Puerto Rico and New York.

Night Races at Fall Fairs Urged by Legislature Body

TORONTO (CP) — Night harness racing should be permitted at Class A and Class B fairs throughout the year, the legislature's committee on government commissions recommended Thursday.

The unanimous recommendation followed a brief presented to the Ontario Racing Commission, and was made on motion of Gordon Wren (P-C—Peterborough West) and Ross Whicher (L—Muskoka).

The committee agreed that fall fairs in most parts of Ontario are hard-pressed for dates and that there is a danger that they may have to close down.

"People work during the day and can only get out at night," said Charles Rea (P-C—Lambton East).

OTHER SPORTS DO IT

"I don't see any difference between night horse racing and other sports such as golf," said Parry.

Four people (Ontario owners and drivers) race in Quebec and the United States at night," said Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow.

Magistrate Bigelow said night harness racing "would be ideal if they can afford the lights."

The only night racing at Woodbine track in Toronto would cost $250,000, the magistrate said. The cost to small fairs might amount to as much as $10,000.

Mr. Janes said a portable lighting system can be obtained for about $200 a night.

"Harness racing could be served at Kitchener-Waterloo," Magistrate Bigelow said. The season could be lengthened by two weeks, bringing increased last year in harness racing by $80,000 without the lights.

Some aid should be given to harness racing, the magistrate said horse, said Will Ira Stewart (P-C—Northumberland West). Night racing might be a means of improving status of this breed.

SEE REGULATIONS

Regulations governing Canadian harness racers in the United States should be relaxed, he charged. A total of 30 per cent of horses racing in a Canadian owner is confiscated.

The practice of local fair boards in Ontario to permit bookies to operate at harness racing events was defended by Mr. Janes.

"If we're going to have betting the Ontario government should get a share," said Mr. Whicher.

Bookies at fall fairs take a rebate of 5 per cent of the betting. Only 15 per cent is taken off the top under a pari-mutuel system.

MEMBER DEFENDS HYDRO'S BUYING OF INDIAN LAND

Said in Best Interest of Public

TORONTO (CP)—Energy Minister Macaulay Thursday defended the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission's purchase of former Indian land in the Sarnia area from Dimensional Investments Limited.

Speaking in the legislature throne speech debate, he said Hydro paid $1,250,000 for the land last year for $1,250,000 was in the best interests of the public.

The Hydro acquired 175 acres for that price. It was part of a 3,100-acre property the investment company bought from the Indian reserve a few months earlier for $1,601,946.

Mr. Macaulay, second vice-chairman of Hydro, said Hydro needed the land to build a transformer station and additional power lines to Sarnia, which was experiencing a serious shortage of electric power.

In a 3½-hour summary of legislation he said all moves to expropriate the reserve land were blocked by the federal Indian affairs branch at Ottawa or the Indians themselves. He said that the Indian affairs branch had always been to act "in the best interests of the Indians."

ONE HELD OUT

At one point in negotiations, Mr. Macaulay said, only one Indian refused to sell and the Hydro board decided to expropriate his property. But the Indian later accepted the price offered by Hydro. In effect, this made rockets and missiles unexploitation.

Mr. Macaulay introduced more than 40 statutory declarations and exhibits.

When Mr. Macaulay ended his defence, Premier Frost rose to sharply criticize the absence of the Toronto Star calling for an investigation into the Sarnia transaction.

Mr. Frost said angrily that he had said in the legislature last Tuesday that the matter would be discussed by a select committee of the House. He said he would consult Liberal Leader John

Doubt Theory Could Cause Leukemia

TORONTO (CP) — Two doctors here have expressed doubts about a Canadian physicist's theory that there may be a connection between the increased incidence of leukemia and the widespread use of X-rays in the treatment of diabetes.

Dr. Ralph Deane, diabetes researcher at Toronto's Best Institute, said under experimental conditions insulin slows the growth of malignant cells.

Dr. Salter said unless statistics are biased or haphazard, he doubted "that those with a hereditary pre-disposition to diabetes also have a hereditary predisposition to leukemia."

Dr. Harold Johnson of Los Angeles has written a report suggesting that the increased leukemia referred to as cancer of the blood, is more prevalent in those with a history of diabetes.

A sharp increase i leukemia in the last 25 years—the same period during which the use of X-rays in diabetes has increased," said Dr. Stowens, is "an interesting coincidence."

Dr. R. M. Taylor, executive director of the Canadian Cancer Institute of Toronto, said that insulin is not the only substance to be used more in the last 25 years.

Brewers May Seek Hike in Beer Prices

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's brewers say they have to increase the price of beer if they can't get tax relief.

The Dominion Brewers Association said today Canadian shows are bending increasingly toward hard liquor because of the taxes on beer.

Repeal of an emergency tax placed on beer during the Korean War was asked by the association in a brief praising malt brews as the beverages of moderation.

Canadian Rocket May Replace Bomarc Missile

Study in Early Stage, Not Yet at Govt. Level

OTTAWA (CP)—Possibility of replacing the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile with a Canadian rocket is being studied by some government scientists, informants said today.

This study is only in a preliminary stage and has not reached the government level.

Defence Minister Pearkes said last week the government has no intention "at the present time" of changing its plan to install two Bomarc bases in Canada.

The Canadian rocket which conceivably might replace the Bomarc is one of the teams involved.

A spokesman at the CBC had asked the Olympic Committee at Squaw Valley, Calif., to schedule the CBC network on the playoff round at 4:30 p.m. EST Sunday, Feb. 28.

Canada is scheduled to play Sweden's team Feb. 18 and Jamaica Feb. 19 in the first part of the hockey competition.

Bandit Waves Meat Cleaver In Bank Holdup

TORONTO (CP) — Two men brandishing a meat cleaver and a barrelled pistol held up the downtown branch of the Toronto-Dominion Bank Thursday and escaped with almost $10,000.

A few minutes after the bandits fled in a waiting car police arrested a woman for questioning. They said she drove the getaway car and got out of it a few blocks from the bank.

There were two customers and four employees in the bank when the men entered. One shouted: "Everybody get down. Everybody against the wall!"

Mrs. Beverley Spencer, 19-year-old teller, said the man with the meat cleaver "waved it around and scared us pretty badly."

LAKEHEAD ICE THIN

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Unusually mild weather along the Great Lakes may pave the way for the early opening of shipping of Lakehead navigation in years. Federal works department officials say the Lakehead harbor ice is only 12 to 18 inches thick. On the Lakefront here the ice was 30 to 32 inches thick.

Hunted Sub Crippled, Capture Near Declares Argentine Navy Secretary

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentine warships have crippled a mystery submarine hiding in the southern Atlantic gulf, and capture of the sub is imminent, Navy Secretary Admiral Alfredo Turuno announced Thursday night.

Government authorities claimed the underwater intruder was successfully trapped after 12 days of hide and seek in the Argentine naval base at the head of Golfo Nuevo, 1,000 miles south of Buenos Aires.

Turuno claims the entire gulf, a 20-by-40-square-mile body of water opening into the South Atlantic, is her territorial water.

Rear-Admiral Clement, for the first time confirmed newspaper reports that the submarine had been attacked, both on the surface and under water.

He told reporters that the sub is forced to come to the surface every 48 hours, showing she had suffered serious damage from depth charges and artillery shells fired by Argentine warships.

President Arturo Frondizi met with military chiefs in government house Thursday night. Secretary Alfredo Turuno, president of the congressional defence committee, was known to be about to meeting to announce in a radio broadcast.

The Argentine public can be sure that the intruding submarine will be sunk.

Argentine authorities have been tight-lipped lately about the mystery submarine. Both the United States and British said none of their submarines are operating in the area.

This is the third foreign submarine scare in Argentine territorial waters within 21 months. The navy said the other two got away after being detected, and unofficial local sources said that they were believed to be Russian.

CBC Network May Radio Final Game

TORONTO (CP) — The CBC said today its Trans-Canada radio network will carry a play-by-play account of the final game of the Olympic hockey tournament if Canada is one of the teams involved.

A spokesman at the CBC had asked the Olympic Committee at Squaw Valley, Calif., to schedule the CBC network on the playoff round at 4:30 p.m. EST Sunday, Feb. 28.

Canada is scheduled to play Sweden's team Feb. 18 and Jamaica Feb. 19 in the first part of the hockey competition.

USSR Strongest Military Power Says Khrushchev

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Nikita Khrushchev today said Russia is the strongest military power in the world "but we do not want to take advantage of this superiority."

He was addressing an open-air rally of an estimated 250,000 Indians on the second day of a five-day visit.

Despite Soviet military superiority, the Soviet premier said, "we are prepared at any moment to conclude a peace treaty with the Western powers do the same."

He added that the idea of peaceful coexistence is gaining ground even among advocates of the cold war.

"They have come to understand that if war were unleashed by them, its instigators and supporters would be the first to perish in its flames."

Says Satellite Rocket Casing Of Discoverer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The mystery satellite now circling around the earth probably is a rocket casing from an Explorer or Discoverer, Air Force Secretary Dudley Sharp told a press conference Thursday.

Sharp said he based his estimate on the satellite's characteristic on the close comparison between the size of the casing of the Discoverer series satellites and the dark object which emits the radio signals.

Sharp said the casing of the Discoverer measures 19.2 feet in length. Radio telescope observers have estimated the length of the mystery satellite at 20 feet.

Sharp said he had no information that Russia has launched a recent missile.

In Washington, the defence department said the mystery satellite may spin in orbit for several months.

LOCAL CLUB MEMBER WILL DEFEND TITLE

Some 326 motorsport enthusiasts will convene in Toronto this evening for the start of the eighth Canadian Winter Rally, Canada's major automobile endurance rally. Homer Trotter, a member of the local St. Lawrence Automobile Club and the winner of last year's 1300-mile rally will be defending his reputation driving a Swedish SAAB. His opposition will include many prize drivers from the eastern half of North America, some competing from as far as St. Petersburg, Florida, to compete.

The route of the rally will remain a secret until the start of the event but will be conducted entirely over snow and ice.

Competitors will be given a ten-hour overnight stop at North Bay in order to ensure that they do not become physically exhausted during the event. This year's event is the largest which has been run by the British Empire Motor Club of Toronto and the rally is rapidly gaining international recognition.

C.S.C.F. Needs Wool

The Canadian Save the Children Fund, last year, undertook to send a quantity of wool yarn to their headquarters in Korea where it was turned over to a Mrs. Ho, who had volunteered to teach a number of homeless, unemployed war girls to knit, professionally. The wool arrived and the teaching began. Unfortunately, the quantity of wool was not great and each night the work done by the students the day before had to be painstakingly unravelled, so that the next day's class would have wool to work with.

In spite of this, the C.S.C.F. has now learned that 60 girls have graduated from the school and are now working in knitting factories — and 30 more girls have started the course. There is a great demand for the finished garments and space has been offered, free, for a stall in the local market place. But sweaters that are sold cannot be marked anywhere and the first need is for the wool for teaching — and knitting wool is beyond the budget of the teacher in a poor nine Canadian dollars a month income.

Hence, this plea for your leftover good knitting yarn — and it, say color or weight will do. The Canadian Save the Children Fund Clothing Depot, Room 222, 64 Wellington Street West, Toronto.

High School Activities

By STEVIE DAHL

Activity at B.C.I.V.S. last week seemed to be confined mainly to our basketball teams. On Thursday, the boys' bantam and senior squads were defeated by Trenton High School in Trenton. The boys' junior team saved B.C.I. from utter disgrace with a thrilling finish game, with Peter Annis the high scorer. The seniors' team (no Paul Yeaver) shoots few out the window with the loss of their game, but the juniors are still in the running and may yet be able to capture the championship. We are keeping our fingers crossed!

For the past few weeks, smashed-up boys have been staggering back to school after noon hours from their cadet ice-hockey games. In spite of the bruises they say it's fun, and the games are exciting enough to lure boys down to the cold arena to watch or play, even without eating their lunches.

The girls' basketball teams have been very busy this season, at least proving to the formerly-scornful boys that the boys aren't the only ones who can fall flat on their faces while galloping up and down the floor.

Last Tuesday the senior girls lost to Picton but the juniors won their game which was a real thriller. Tied up to the third quarter, they broke away in the last minutes to achieve an overwhelming victory. The juniors repeated their win by defeating Moira on Thursday, and the seniors also won their game.

Our junior girls have played every team in the league and have not yet been defeated, so we are hoping for a C.O.S.S.A. victory for them.

Girls' interform basketball starts Tuesday, and the bantam team is beginning practices right away. The girls' Hi-Y has formed a team which plays in the ladies' Bay of Quinte league against such formidable opponents as the R.C.A.F. women's team, and the Belleville nurses.

The Students' Council is currently planning to send a few of its executive to a conference at Sudbury, in the near future.

The Knitters are maliciously planning that great day at B.C.I., Gentlemen's Day, when our shy and sheepish boys are forced to appear at school all dressed in their best bib and tucker. The confirmed date for day is always started off with a bang by the Keyette Assembly, with the "Soda-Pop Hop" (girl-ask-boy tea dance) rounds off activities.

The audience at Kampus Kapers certainly will not be disappointed — it is going to be a fabulous show (so Paul Yeaver keeps telling us anyway, and who'd not believe Paul?) Pyramids, Can-Can dancing, singing and singing routines, the Kampus Kapers Girls and the Pharaohs are only a few of the wonderful acts in store. Kampus Kapers will be presented two consecutive nights and will be followed on the last night, Saturday, by a dance. The tickets for the best seats are always sold quickly so "better buy now!"

Roof Contract Awarded to Local Firm

Lee Grills, M.P., announced this morning that Quinte Roofing Limited of Belleville has been awarded the contract for the roof for the new hangar being constructed at the RCAF base, Trenton. The contract, valued at $130,975, provides for the replacement of the entire of roof which is suspended from pre-stressed steel trusses in order to keep the interior of the hangar free of any supporting framework. This allows for ready accommodation of some of the largest type aircraft for which the RCAF now has.

Mr. Grills stated that the awarding of the contract is a "credit to the ability of our local firm," and the project will provide another source of employment for the district. Rev Quincey of the Quinte Roofing said this morning that the contract will be "the largest roofing job we have ever undertaken." He stated that the biggest of its type to be constructed in Canada."

The hangar is 537 feet long by 437 feet wide. The Dominion Construction firm of Toronto has the general contract.

Cricket Club Is Organized In the City

For the first time in more years than city vencrable greyboards care to name, Belleville has an official, fully recognized cricket team.

The team, known as the Belleville Cricket Club, came into official being at a meeting here last night.

Furthermore it has been admitted as a Class 'B' member of the St. Lawrence Cricket League which embraces teams from all Military College, Brockville, Kingston, and now this city, with prospects of more entries to come.

The team stemmed last summer from the activities of a number of city cricketers, most of them Old Country players. They practised hard and played invitational games in the St. Lawrence League, ending up in the semi-finals.

Heading the new organization as president is Brian Cheney. The secretary is Dave Wright and the treasurer Colin Foster.

Fair Directors Hold First Meet, Start Planning

The wheels have started to turn along the long road that leads up to one of Ontario's finest Class B fairs. Yesterday evening some 40 persons were present at a meeting of the Board of Directors and of the Belleville Agricultural Society held in Shire Hall to draft a few more important decisions and to get well away some of the preliminary work necessary to the routine of the Society. It was the first meeting of the new executive, headed by Carl Thompson of Corbyville.

The major task at this time is the selection of an able body of associate directors and the allocation of them to the various committees which are required to handle the many varied and necessary activities pertinent to running a successful fair. It was decided that the selection of the various committees would be left to the executive committee and the chairmen of each of these committees, subject to the approval of the Board of Directors at their next meeting, which will be held approximately two weeks time.

Some discussion centred on the topic of obtaining a grandstand show for this year. It was the general opinion that although the stage show does not always show a profit it was necessary to have a first class show for the benefit of the Belleville fairgoers. A number of members from the Board of Directors will be attending the autumn annual convention of the Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies being held in Toronto on February 24th and 25th to determine what shows are available and which bring back their recommendations to the board.

SEEK LARGER GRANT

During the course of the meeting it was stated by Dr. Russell Scott, the past president, that the fair was receiving the smallest grant of any Ontario Class B fair from the municipality in which it was located. It was moved by those present that the city be approached regarding increasing the annual grant, it was felt that this might be done at least to the public, where the state of equality was reached between amounts paid out to the city and received from it.

A couple of other motions were also passed. One was to increase the salary of the secretary, whose work load has been increasing each year. The other motion was to maintain the society's membership in the Chamber of Commerce for 1960.

A number of associate directors were approved by the board. Those named were: Jack Bush, Dr. H. Younghusband, Orland Hoskins, Alan Weese, Lorne Urch, Ken York, Bill Bishop, Jim Musgrove, Don, McNevin, Harold Bennett, Ross Messenger and Doug Rollins.

Following the adjournment of the Board of Directors meeting there was a meeting of the nominating committee for committees, the results of which will be given at the next Board of Directors meeting.

Canada Signs New Agreement With Australia

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada and Australia have signed a new trade agreement providing important concessions for Canadian exports, Trade Minister Churchill announced today.

"Australia has undertaken to bind the annual rate of duty on a number of products of interest to Canada, including canned salmon, canned sardines, sausage casings, knitting machine needles, coffee making machines, chemicals, paper makers' felts and asbestos," the Conservative said.

Canadian exporters of these products are thus assured the continuation of free entry or the low rates now in effect."

RETAIN PREFERENCES

The new agreement also provides for existing preferences on most products of interest to Canada and Australia. Under a 1931 agreement with Australia these preferences applied only to a narrow range of products.

Two Families Homeless After $5,000 Fire on N. Front St.

Two Belleville families were made homeless early this morning when fire razed their single dwelling at 197 North Front St., resulting in approximately $5,000 damage to the building together with the loss of much of the household effects owned by the two householders.

Burned out were Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Sloan at the east side duplex, and Harry Cannon who occupied an apartment in the building. No one was injured in the blaze, although firemen fought the fire for over an hour before getting it under control.

Fire Chief Gerald Vance said the blaze apparently started in the Cannon kitchen. Mr. Cannon, an oil company employee, had arisen at four o'clock and after preparing himself breakfast had left for work shortly after five.

A few minutes before nine the fire family's two children both upstairs and on the ground floor.

discovered the house afire.

Chief Vance said the flames had gotten their way into the partitions before being noticed with result the fire had gained considerable headway and was difficult to bring under control.

The flames raced up through the partitions and into the attic and burned sections of the roof away before being brought under control. All city fire equipment was called out and three lines of hose were run into the flames in the two hour early morning fight.

Some furniture in both apartments was destroyed, while practically all household effects suffered water damage. The two householders carried insurance on their belongings.

Mr. Cannon occupied a downstairs apartment, while the Sloan family had rooms both upstairs and on the ground floor.

Havelock May See 'Rush' If Copper Finds Confirmed

Obituary

ROY F. WILSON

TRENTON — Roy F. Wilson, of 140 King Street in Trenton, died in Trenton Memorial Hospital on Tuesday, February 9th, following an illness of 6 months.

Mr. Wilson was born in Smithville, Indiana, U.S.A. He had lived in Trenton for the past 24 years. He was a retired carpenter, intendent having been an employee of the Canada Packers Paper Company in Trenton. He had been with the paper making industry for considerable time before coming to Trenton. He was a member of King Street United Church in Trenton and a member of Victory Lodge A.F. and A.M. No. 54.

Surviving are his widow, the former Ella Wilson, two sons, Norman, Lousiana, John of Arecibo, Porto Rico, Robert of Reading, Pennsylvania, 12 grandchildren and 4 great grandchildren.

Funeral service were conducted in the Weaver Funeral Home in Trenton on Thursday, February 11th, by the Rev. J. T. Hall.

Interment was in Mount Evergreen Cemetery.

Bearers were: Clarence Gillan, Stanley Ketchenon, Carl Weaver, George Coombes, Maurice Mitts and Howard Langdon.

A possible prospecting rush in the area north of Havelock may be seen in the near future if early indications of a rich copper find are confirmed by diamond drilling.

It is reported that ten major mining companies including syndicate Cominco Peterborough have almost completely staked out Raquet mile and a half long from Belmont Lake north of Havelock to Gilmore Lake in Wollaston township and from Oak Lake in Peterborough county to Gilmore Lake in Hastings.

Mining and exploration men have been active in the paper mill secrecy in the area, but reports say that most activity concerns copper.

Diamond drilling operations are to progress in an effort to confirm the extent of the find.

Check Reveals Local Swimming Team Is Second

The girls' swimming team from the local YMCA placed second of seven teams from across Ontario which competed in the Ontario Closed Time Group Swimming Championships in Toronto last January 31. It was announced this week. First place went to the Scarborough Y.M.C.A. coached by the famous Gus Ryder who coached Marilyn Ball. The results had to be confirmed from before team winners could be announced.

George Sulik of Batawa and Mrs. J. Gist of Belleville were the coaches of the local team. The members of the team included Nicki Sulik, Gaye Sulik, Gaye Scott, Susan Crisp, Jane McMorris, Ann Clark, Kathryn Gist, Joan Skelly, Enis Hall, Ann Holmen and Terry Miskelly.

Over 400 swimmers competed in the meet in Toronto. The local girls brought home a number of first, second and third awards as well as the second overall team place.

POST. — Cherished memories of a dear husband, Robert Percival Post, who passed away February 12th, 1953.

True was his heart, his actions kind,
His memory dear to all behind.
God knew best for reasons divine,
But memories linger
Ever remembered by his wife
Anita.

POST. — In loving memory of a dear father, Robert Percival Post, who passed away February 12th, 1953.

We think of our Dad as a down-to-earth guy,
Just plain like the sea, the wind and the sky.
He's not here to say
We have gone from our side, 0
But we think of our Dad with the utmost of pride.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The industrial section, struck a new 1960 low as the stock market began to sink further during light and dull morning trading today.

Industrials went down more than a point on index at 10:45 a.m. while base metals fell nearly one-half point. Golds were off one-quarter point and western oils were ahead several decimal points.

The 11 a.m. volume totalled 364,000 shares, lighter than the 11 a.m. volume of 441,000 shares Thursday.

Steel Company of Canada led industrial losers with a drop of ¾ at its 52-week low. Alberta Gas, Bank of Montreal, Canada Packers and Consumers Gas were all down ½.

Industrial Acceptance led winners with a fractional gain at 33.

Mines, with the exception of one or two lower-priced issues, were quiet. Falconbridge was ahead ¼ and International Nickel at just ½. Senior uraniums were unchanged to lower.

Western oils were firm but most changes were in a narrow range.

Gold Medallion' Electric Home Award Is Made

TRENTON — Yesterday afternoon, Mr. H. J. Foy of Toronto, manager of the Electric Service League of Ontario, made a special trip to Trenton to present a Gold Medallion Certificate to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hallick of 44 Fourth Ave. This certificate is awarded to home owners who have, of their own initiative wired to conform with certain standards set by the league. This is the first Gold Medallion Home in the Trenton - Belleville area.

The home, which was erected by the Sidor Construction Company, has numerous features. In the living room, a dining nook, a kitchen and two bedrooms, is a built-in three piece bathroom. A feature of the new home is the heating system. Units are installed in the floor for convenience and the heat is evenly distributed throughout the whole house.

The valance lighting system is also employed in the living room and bedrooms. Each bedroom and each entrance has a wall switch controlling all the major lights in the house may be switched on or off at one time by pushing a button.

Provision has been made for built-in appliances and circuits are provided for other appliances which may be added by the owner in the future.

Speaking at the house warming were: Mr. Foy, W. H. McMillan, chairman of commission; Mr. Hydro, east-central region; W. W. Scully, district supervisor of the Electric Service League; Mayor James MacDonald of Trenton; C. E. Atkinson, chairman of the Trenton Public Utilities Commission; C. A. Baker, commissioner; Stephen Page, manager of Trenton Public Utilities and Mel Bradshaw, public relations officer, Ontario Hydro.

In presenting the Gold Medallion Certificate to Mr. and Mrs. Hallick, Mr. Foy said, "The Gold Medallion symbol placed in front of your residence is a mark of the electrical excellence which you have created in the construction of your new home".

Mr. Foy also presented the couple with a cheque for $50, paid for by the Commission to encourage builders and owners to install the best in electrical service. Mr. Atkinson said that a $20 silverware would be made to people who had the 100 ampere wiring installed in older homes. Each room up-to-date.

Mayor MacDonald complimented Mr. and Mrs. Hallick on their beautiful new home. He said that they were to be congratulated for their foresight in having their home wired for all present and future needs, and added that their pride in their home reflected their pride in their community.

Following the official ceremonies in connection with the opening of their home, Mr. and Mrs. Hallick provided refreshments to those attending.

PAYMENT TO U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet government Wednesday paid the United States $1,197,000 on Second World War claims. The payment settled claims arising from maritime commercial transactions during 1941 through 1945. These claims were outside of the much bigger lend-lease account on which negotiations recently broke down.

Trenton Legion Notes

TRENTON — Legion members and other citizens of Trenton are reminded of the change in date of the testimonial dinner being given in honor of J. C. (Johnny) Farrell in the Legion Hall on February 18th. A social hour commencing at seven followed by dinner at eight is the order of the evening. To be assured of a reservation call EX 2-3740 and leave your name. The deadline is 6:30 at 4:30 p.m.

Confirmation has been received that Major Angus Mowatt will be guest night at the annual VE and VMY banquet on the 20th April. This gentleman is well known in Trenton as a conversationalist and we are looking forward to his visit with an anticipation.

The ways and means committee under the chairmanship of "Cam" Clarke is in the thick of the 1960 projects to assist this organization to look after many and varied needs. Their current project is a "Stanley Cup Hockey Pool" for a number of prizes. The first "big" prize is for the holder of the ticket containing the correct date of the winning goal in the final game of the Stanley Cup. Other cash prizes will be awarded to the holders of the two tickets closest to the winner. These tickets will be on sale Monday at the usual stores, service clubs and restaurants, also from the members of the branch.

It is pleased to announce that Comrade Norm Rickett has entered the Lockwood Clinic in Toronto for a major operation. All wish for his speedy recovery.

It has taken the Canadian Legion a good many years to arrive at its present numerical strength and to be accepted as the "Only Voice of the Ex-Service" by the government of the day. The benefits that veterans and their dependents have been and are receiving through this united front are well known to citizens right across the continent. It makes one feel proud to belong to this organization.

Mistaken Identity

TRENTON — A. E. Atkinson of Trenton received the shock of his life last night when he realized the account of the Wednesday night entertainment at the Lakefront at Malton Airport, in Toronto newspaper. The picture of the pilot of the plane, while described "Douglas Holland", was the picture of Mr. Atkinson's nephew, Gerald Lloyd of Bolton. A quick check by telephone with his sister-in-law revealed that Lloyd, who is a member of the Airline Pilots' Association had motored to Malton following the report of the accident to assist with investigation. Another newspaper photographer had somehow confused Lloyd with Atkinson and ran his picture with the name of the pilot underneath. The situation was considerably relieved.

Kiwanis Sees Travel Film Of London

TRENTON — At last night's meeting of the Trenton Kiwanis Club, a film, shown by club member Norman Armstrong, entitled, "City of London," was shown to the members by Miss Mary Salsbury. The story concerned the coronation of Her Majesty Elizabeth II.

The Kiwanian were taken on a camera trip around London, England, the "city of surprises". Modern commerce is combined in hand with heraldry and pomp along the ancient streets. Almost every day, Londoners and gaping tourists are treated to a glimpse into the city's past by means of a procession of pedestrians or equestrians wearing the age-old traditional trappings of office making its way ponderlashtly between London's famous double-decker buses and bootlap taxi cabs.

The narrator quoted Dr. Johnson's summation of the attractions of London, "When a man is tired of London, he's tired of life."

Beautifully colored shots were shown of St. Paul's Cathedral whose dome stands high above the city for all the world to see, and which the narrator described as "monument to its designer, Christopher Wren, the Tower of London, the oldest fortress in London, the Royal British Museum, which contains the most wonderful collections in the world, the House of Parliament where the tall Big Ben is to be found.

The scenes were taken on a tour of the modern shopping district with its many windows-shopping along Bond Street, into Chelsea where one will find whole streets of antique shops to the Royal Military Hospital, home of the Chelsea pensioners, and finally given a glimpse of the pomp and majesty at the time of the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II.

President Dick Burnett thanked Miss Salisbury for showing the film.

Interim Payment On Wheat Is Announced

OTTAWA (CP) — An interim payment of 10 cents a bushel on wheat deliveries to the Canadian Wheat Board was announced in the Commons today by Trade Minister Churchill.

The payment, to be made on all grades of wheat delivered to the board, will increase the distribution of $36,698,978 to wheat producers.

A total of 366,989,780 bushels of wheat was delivered in the 1959-60 crop year to the board last July 31. The initial payment was $1.40 a bushel, basis No. 1 northern wheat in store at the Lakehead.

Cheques covering the interim payment will be mailed to farmers in areas not inundated, Mr. Churchill said.

The minister added that the Canadian wheat board has reported a surplus in the oats and barley pools as of July 31 and these accounts will be closed out at that date. Any amounts of those surpluses would be made available for the interim wheat payment is completed.

Initial payment on oats was 60 cents a bushel, basis No. 2 Canada western oats in store at the Lakehead. In barley the initial payment was 96 cents a bushel, basis No. 2 Canada western barley in store at the Lakehead.

Mr. Churchill gave no indication as to when the board will close out its accounts on the 1958-59 wheat pool and make a final payment.

ALPINE PASS

The Gemmi Pass which crosses the Alps in Switzerland reaches a height of 7,940 feet.

S.D. Hagerman Appointed Export Manager of Stewart-Warner Corp.

CHICAGO — James E. Burke, vice-president in charge of design operations of Stewart-Warner Corporation, has announced an interchange of functions of two foreign operations executives of Stewart-Warner, effective about July 1.

S. W. Van Allen will become manager of the Stewart-Warner Limited, which manufactures Alemite lubrication equipment for the United Kingdom and export markets in a plant at Hawbury, England, completed in 1957.

S. D. Hagerman, who has headed operations of Stewart-Warner Limited at Harlow since 1953, will come to Chicago as export manager of Stewart-Warner Corporation.

Van Allen, with Stewart-Warner for eight years, was formerly export manager of Walker Manufacturing Co., Racine, Wis. A member and former director of the Overseas Automotive Club, he has travelled extensively in Europe, Latin America and the Far East for Stewart-Warner. He is a graduate of Waukoma, Wis.

Mr. Hagerman had been with Stewart-Warner since 1937, and prior to going to England was assistant manager of Canada, Limited, Belleville, Ontario.

Mr. Hagerman is a native of Belleville where he has spent most of his life. Prior to joining Stewart-Warner he was a member of the office staff at the city C.N.R. station. He was greatly interested in sports at that time, chiefly hockey and baseball. He was a member of the Belleville Donals Baseball Team which won the Ontario Hockey League Championship in 1928. He was also a member of the Belleville Maroons Junior "A" team for many years in the twenties.

Mr. and Mrs. Hagerman have one daughter, Ellen, a student at Albert College, and three sons, Dr. Stanley, the Rev. Canon Fred, a student at Western University, and John, a mechanical engineer, employed in Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. Hagerman spent a few weeks in the city prior to and after Christmas for a family visit.

Order Port Hope Lawyer's Return To Face Charge

LONDON (CP) — An order under the Fugitive Offenders Act was issued in magistrate's court Friday for the return to Canada of Homer Winston Aitcheson, 36, a lawyer, formerly of Port Hope, Ont.

He was arrested in a London hospital a week ago on an extradition warrant, which accuses him of stealing $17,159.89 from Hugh Bird and Walter Grieve, executors of the estate of Henry Burley, Aitcheson is said to have been acting for the Burley estate.

Lawyer John Mathew, representing the Canadian government at today's hearing, said that Aitcheson arrived in Port Hope from 1958 until April, 1959, when he left his office, went to Los Angeles for a time, then returned to London.

The magistrate said the order against Aitcheson will not be executed for 15 days, during which time he could apply for a writ of habeas corpus. Meanwhile he is being held in London's Brixton prison.

Reuther Warns Split Possible In Labor Body

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers union, is reported to have told a closed session of fellow members of the AFL-CIO executive council Thursday that unless long-standing differences between AFL-CIO unions are solved soon the five-year-old merged organization is in definite danger of breaking up.

Reuther, in a stinging speech to fellow labor chiefs, charged that building trades unions are trying out on peace agreements in attempting to seize factory maintenance and construction jobs from members of former CIO unions.

SUPPORTS REUTHERS

David J. McDonald, Steelworkers union president, supported United Auto Workers charges that building trades with anti-unionism.

Harry Bates, bricklayers union chief, responded that the building trades intend to do everything they can to take over jobs they feel belong in their craft jurisdiction.

Libel Immunity for Councillors

Toronto City Council is requesting provincial legislation which would give the members of municipal councils the same immunity from libel charges for statementsmade in council as is enjoyed by members of the provincial legislatures and of Parliament.

Allan Grossman, Progressive Conservative member of the Legislature from St. Andrew riding in Toronto, not only opposed the request but also told the Toronto Council, at a special meeting, that he did not believe members of the Legislature should be immune from libel suits.

Mr. Grossman's willingness to accept responsibility for anything he may say does him credit. There is much to be said for the contention that no member of the Legislature or of Parliament should make a charge he is not prepared to substantiate. Yet, on balance, we think Mr. Grossman is wrong. There are occasions on which a member may be reasonably sure of what is true, but still unable to prove it, within the laws of evidence. It may be in the public interest that he state what he believes to be true, but cannot prove. It was for this purpose that immunity from libel was granted members. That this immunity should be used for other, and less worthy, purposes we grant, but frequently the Speaker is able to curb such misuse of a privilege. There is no assurance that all the presiding officers of all the municipal councils would be equally capable.

Controller William Dennison of Toronto did nothing to change our view by his explanation of why council members need this immunity. They should have this protection, he said, in order to be able to take "fearless action."

This seems to involve a new definition of the word fearless—as fearless as the commander of a battleship attacking a rowboat, as fearless as a heavyweight champion assaulting a newborn baby, just that fearless is a man who speaks with immunity guaranteed by law.

What Price Sovereignty?

It is the fashion, these days, to argue that countries will have to be prepared to surrender part of their nationalsovereignty if the world is to live in peace.

Well, we are getting plenty of practice.

We are drinking strontium 90 in our milk and eating it with our vegetables and it was dumped there by other nations.

Satellites are roaming around in the sky and falling where they get tired, without any application for a visa.

Now, at Malton, radar operators report that screens on which commercial airliners depend, in part, for their safety are being fouled up by U.S. practice attempts to jam Russian radar screens, practices held without advance notification.

Meanwhile, just to keep the scales balanced, nations are announcing that vast areas of what used to be the free high seas have been designated as rocket target ranges.

And down off the coast of Argentina they are busily dropping depth charges on a submarine, despite the fact that international law has never ruled out the freedom of the seas is applicable to surface craft only.

Time, Healer or Heel

Time is the great healer, but we are not at all sure it is not also a great heel. In any case, we have found it ironclads the conscience. Whenever there appears in the daily flood of paper a report we know we should read, but do not want to, we put it aside on a corner of the desk. A tender conscience would not permit us to dump it unceremoniously in the waste-paper basket on the first day of its appearance in the office. But, after it has spent a week with us, daily seen and as daily unheeded, in that conscience does not even twinge when we pluck it from the desk corner to our right and deposit in the wastepaper basket to our left.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

ANSWER IT FOR YOURSELF

Shall I drink? We ask this question because we are fully aware that millions of people are asking it every day — especially young people.

Most social drinking appears to be surrendering to the craving for refinement which keeps it from getting either boisterous or violent. What harm can it do, after all? Would nice people allow themselves to be swept off their feet and led into evil?

Two things are to be said. The first is that alcohol is a habit-forming drug which in the case of something more than ten per cent of the people who start to drink causes them in the end to be heavy drinkers frequently alcoholics. The other thing to be said is that alcohol is a depressant (not a stimulant) and that it depresses the inhibitions. In fact, it anesthetizes them. Things that many people would not think of doing if they were entirely sober are done without the least compunction after taking a few drinks. Alcohol overwhelms the inhibitions — which is another way of saying that it disconnects the moral brakes.

Is drinking wrong? Certainly not for those millions of fine people who drink. But everyone should ask himself (or herself) this question: "Is it right for me to take into my system something which begins to work adversely on the areas of the brain which control conduct? something which disconnects the moral brakes, decreases my self-control, and prevents my being master of myself and my energies?"

Nobody can answer that question for you. You must answer it yourself.

Britain's Working Women

...New York Times...

Britain's social scene has changed in many ways during the past 20 years, and not least in the way women have come to form an increasing proportion of the labor force. Out of a total of about 23 million — 48 per cent of the total population — in civil employment, one-third are women.

Most marked is the increasing tendency for married women to take a job. Between 1945-1951 and mid-1958 the total number of employed women increased by 1½ million; at this number 800,000 were women, representing an increase of 20 per cent in the employment of women, compared with one of five per cent for men. This increase in the number of women at work is accounted for almost entirely by married women.

There are a number of reasons for this trend: new opportunities for women workers created by improved educational facilities and technological changes, labor-saving houses, full employment, the demand for a higher standard of living in the home which can be met by the wife going to work, and the changing attitude to women's place in a highly-industrialized society.

One in every three of the workers in the manufacturing industries is a woman;

One in every nine agricultural workers is a woman;

One in every seven of the workers in transport and communications is a woman;

One in three of four persons employed in the Civil Service and local Government services is a woman.

A woman is paid the same salary as a man in such fields as some work in medicine, dentistry, physiotherapy, radiography, university teaching, journalism and broadcasting, and as a Minister of the Crown, a member of Parliament, a solicitor, barrister, solicitor or architect, a pharmacist. Anybody in a hospital, or a member of the armed forces, professional or technical classes in local Government service. Men and women engaged in fee-earning professions make the same charges.

By 1961 equal pay will also be the rule in the Civil Service, the teaching profession (in schools) and the general, clerical, and shorthand-typist classes in local Government service, since, in January, 1955, it was announced that, year, it was announced in 1955) for the progressive increases in the salary scales of women in these occupations to bring them into parity with those of men will have become fully effective. Similar increases have also been initiated for certain other salaried workers, including the staffs of the National Health Service, of the electricity and gas authorities and of the British Transport Commission; and outside the public services women's salaries are being adjusted in the same way.

The Trades Union Congress has supported the principle of equal pay for equal work in the industrial field, but believes that it should be achieved through the ordinary process of negotiation and not by enactment flat. The principle is supported by most trade unions and is written into wage agreements in various industries.

In practice, however, women in industry, are to a large extent, employed in different occupations from men, even when where they are similarly employed, it is sometimes difficult to establish to the satisfaction of arbitrators that the duties are exactly the same responsibilities. Complete parity of remuneration is still therefore relatively rare.

Canadians Young Race

St. Thomas Times-Journal

On some date during 1960 the total of Canadians under 15 years of age will pass the six million mark. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has just reported the 1958 total in that age group as 5,949,300, compared to 5, 431,100 in 1957 and 5,214,210 in 1956.

Under the Second World War the under 15-years group, as a proportion of the total population, has increased from 27.6 percent in 1945 to 32.2 percent in 1958. So in this country there are more than one-third of Canadians will be in this age category.

Canada's continuing high birth rate has been a surprise to the statisticians. In the late thirties the rate sided at about 20 per thousand. Between 1947 it hit a record high of 28.9 — not unexpected in the wake of war. But since then it has continued to hover around 28 per 1,000 population. Canada's birth rate, in fact, is one of the highest among the more industrialized countries of the world.

Such a high birth rate is an advantage to a country whose needs more people, as Canada does. Natural increase, the excess of births over deaths, has accounted for the greater part of our post-war addition of about five and a half million people. And the high proportion of younger people in the population is a forecast that our present natural increase is going to continue at a good clip.

However, there is one point that should not be lost to sight in our enthusiasm with the fact that this is getting to be a young-age country. That is the point that as we increase the proportion of the population not in the working force who are the actual producers have to work harder to provide for those who are not. And the same factor applies to the aged, to those at the other end of the age scale, as the over-70s, of whom there are now nearly a million.

One measure of the increased public burden on the working force — entirely apart from the private responsibility is the increase of the cost of Family Allowances. Back in 1946 the cost of this welfare service was $240 million; this year it will exceed $460 million. And at the end of the year the cost of universal old age pension will cost about $309 million this year.

Merry Clown Had Ulcers

Montreal Gazette

Felix Adler, perhaps the best known clown in the world is dead. He was only 13 when he joined the circus that of Gordon Brothers, and stayed with them until after the merger with Barnum and Bailey's until only a few months before his death.

Even behind the make-up and his mask-like face he had seen generations of youngsters laughing at his antics. And his life, like that of all clowns, belies the old question, indeed that was any happier than the rest of mankind. Perhaps it only made laughter his profession.

Perhaps the feeling that there is more sorrow than happiness about a lifetime of professional entertainment, people are curious about the happiness of clowns. The old words, "Laugh clown, laugh," suggest that it may often be the hardest thing of all to do.

It recalls the old story that Charles Dickens told in the biography he wrote of Grimaldi, the greatest clown of his day. Dickens said that Grimaldi had come to his doctor, complaining of pains in melancholy he could not throw off.

The doctor finding no physical cause, made the usual suggestion: "Why don't you seek some entertainment? Try not go to see the great clown Grimaldi. And the patient replied, with a shake of the head: "I am Grimaldi!"

Recent reports of Felix Adler's death say that he was suffering from stomach ulcers. It is not unusual for the unstable mixture with carefree laughter. Was this also true of the late Joe Grimaldi — of the worried mind behind the grinning mask?

CLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

February 12, 1940

The 32th anniversary of the founding of Rotary will be celebrated in Belleville by two events in particular. On the first day of Rotary Observance Week, Sunday, February 18th, the members of Belleville Rotary Club will attend a special service in Bridge Street United Church in the evening. Members of Trenton Rotary Club are invited to this service. On Monday evening, February 19th, a fellowship meeting is to take place at the Hotel Quinte with members of other service clubs invited to be present.

His Worship Mayor Glen Thompson, chairman of finance Alderman McLean Haig, and City Solicitor A. B. Collins, K.C., are in Toronto today where they will interview the Hon. Colin Campbell, Minister of Public Welfare, with regard to the use of the sanatorium as a sinking fund for the reduction of taxes in the city.

International Night, with Dr. H. A. Brace, who is in charge of the Belleville activities of the YMCA, was featured in connection with the weekly meeting of the local Y's Men's Club. Several foreign-born citizens were present to add to the International atmosphere. The YMCA is endeavoring to spread Christian fellowship in 50 countries around the world. The first, and the work of the "Y" is still active in spite of war conditions," assured Dr. Brace as he reviewed the conditions in China, where he spent many years as field-secretary of the Association. The year 1939 marks the 50th anniversary of the introduction of overseas work by the YMCA of North Asia. It was just half a century ago that the first staff members of the YMCA left for the Orient, one group to Japan and the other to China," stated the speaker.

30 YEARS AGO

February 12, 1910

Hot foods and strawberries were offered for sale on Belleville streets by a street car boy. They were of good flavor.

Messrs. Fred Smith, J. O. Herity and D. Doyle were in Toronto today in connection with the proposed organization of a Rotary Club in that village.

Mr. R. D. Ashton of Winnipeg has been spending a week here with his mother-in-law, Mrs. William Tracey, North Front Street.

Seven hundred books from the Belleville library branch were sent to England last November. To-day, February 12, there arrived back at the library.

A hockey match here, the Belleville Intermediates vs. the Queen's of Kingston, the score being 6-5 for the latter. The goals composing the Belleville team: Jefferey, George Scott, M. Green, H. Green, Web. Day; subs: Sallsbury, Pt. Morgan and H. Morgan.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE MAN MOST OPPOSED

The world seems perfectly willing that those with no aims or ideas should be allowed to go on their way — undisturbed. While the man most opposed is the one with the greatest number of ideas and the greatest aims!

It has always been that. The only men who received medals during the last two great World Wars were those who went through actual hell — to merit them.

Opposition is like the striking of flint with flint. It brings out the fire that starts the flame that warms the world.

Only as you are opposed are you able to gather strength to go your way. If you have aims and ideas, you must defend as well as espouse them. You must feed strength into them and drink strength from them. Then no matter how strong the forces against you, you are sure to be equipped for your ability to come back and win.

The strongest man on earth is the man most opposed simply because he accumulates, as well as very opposition, increased strength and power.

Are you fighting opposition? Keep sweet. Do you feel the wearing and tearing of the grinding forces of opposition? Never mind. Take the good that comes — forget the rest.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

ALL TEEN-AGERS SHOULD DRINK MILK

"Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter, aged 13, has been pestering me and pestering me to let her drink tea. I am a firm believer in milk. Years ago can children start drinking tea and coffee? — Mrs. W. R."

Milk is very important for growing children as, obviously, I am a firm believer in milk for them (and in a reasonable degree for adults, as I've said before).

The problem you have is not uncommon. Tea does not play in which one part of the plot involved allowing a teen-ager to have his first cup of coffee.

However, I think we ought to keep in mind that the use of coffee or tea varies with certain nationalities, and become one of them in large quantities.

In almost any part of the world, you'll find another important aspect: Young people, in or on the verges of their teens, are in perpetual haste to "grow up" and that is the main reason why they want to have tea or coffee — it's a "grown-up drink".

Your daughter also is trying to grow up. Aren't these drinks for that youngsters don't often discriminate between the nutritional and the unimportant elements of "growing up". They yearn for the things which, in their thinking, are coming of age; hence tea and coffee.

Now if you and I could have our choice, we'd agree that it wouldn't hurt your daughter to go another half dozen years, or even two, before starting on tea and coffee. But she won't wait. She wants to "be an adult now".

Here's my solution, which I trust is a compromise that will hurt her to have an occasional cup of tea or coffee, instead. Repeat. But I'd continue giving her a glass of milk at the same meal, if she likes.

At adolescence, the teen years, both boys and girls need the extra protein and calcium for building strong bones and bodies. Milk is high in both.

Coffee and tea, on the other hand, contain none. Rather, they contain caffein, a stimulant, and a teen-ager doesn't need stimulants.

Keep your daughter on milk for a few dozen years! Don't worry about a cup of tea once in a while — but don't let it be a habit-forming one.

I think with a bit of motherly persuasion you can compromise with your daughter, and that she keeps on drinking milk but has enough tea to satisfy every youthful craving to "be a big girl".

"Dear Dr. Molner: Why are various cakes a problem and so hard to heal? — Mrs. B. W."

Because the various veins interfere with the circulation in the legs. The blood supply simply is not sufficient to carry enough healing particles to the ulcer, and to carry away enough of the waste matter from it.

"Dear Dr. Molner: You once mentioned that wieners are carcinogenic. I notice that most all prepared meats show on the label that it is free from nitrites. Are these chemicals in the food I even now am starting to carry around. Proper preservatives make the food very much safer and cheaper to shop. Meat and other foods naturally are more likely to be dangerous if they begin to spoil.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Until you have taken part in a TV show, you can have no idea of the unfeelingness, the impersonality of the camera eye. That bright little picture you see on the TV is surely the strangest product so far considered by man. It is a fragile flower beaten into existence made powerful to bloom before our eyes by weird atomic forces working in a grey world where shadows are filled with great drums of light, strewn with wires and cables. And at the with four or five great boxes of camera mounted on soundless wheels, surrounded with a crowd of ten, fifteen, twenty men and women who look like refugees in sweaters all gesticulating, waving secret signals, and making faces grim, lips set, crouched like fighters, half way up ladders, peering down from ballet proof glass enclosures: a battle scene like that in the combat zone of a battleship.

And all to present, on the little square in your living room, this fragile picture of a man singing, lovers embracing, dancers dancing, or a lady showing off her how to fluff an omelette.

Comedians prance and posture like fools, and announcers read crackling jokes. But four feet off the floor, in the world of shadows voli, there lurks this company of technicians, not one of them, not a smile, not so much as a flicker of the eye as they, the engineers, the cameramen, producers, directors, poise tense as greyhounds in leash. It was an atomic fission they were conducting instead of a lightsome program for the critics of TV and the stuffing out of in tomorrow's papers.

or say other unlovely trait we desperately try to conceal from others and from our selves.

To conceal ourselves well and meaningfully it is not enough to make such changes in our way of listener. It is, first of all, to make one's meaning plain to one's self, to understand the real motives for our attitudes, to bear the ballbearing edge of the sharps of our own prejudices and to separate (however imperfectly) the wheat from the chaff in the voice of childishness.

This is a tremendous job of all, and this is where all genuine communication must begin. For it is by the total impact of all of what we say as to how we say it that the content of our speech carries a stronger charge than its content; two men can make the same observation, and one will be accepted, the other met with suspicion or disbelief.

The world listens to the secret language of our emotions, and pays little bald attention to the words themselves. And mastering the secret language calls for more true ear as much as for a true heart.

Strictly Personal

It's the Way You Say It That Counts

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

We hear a great deal about "communication" these days — about our need to listen more carefully, to read more skillfully, to grasp more quickly the ideas of those who are trying to say.

But it seems to me that communication, even more than clarity, begins at home. The most important thing we say is not to one's self, and our most important ideas are not those we are trying to say — but those we really hear what we are saying.

Anyone who has ever listened to a playback of a hidden tape-recorder will know what I mean. It seems impossible that these are our voices — these babbling, incoherent sounds — these monkeys than human beings. Is that really what we sound like? How did self-pity sneak into that sentence? And listen to that phrase, insincere with pompousness — or bristling with false heartiness.

Without realizing it, our voice cannot hear itself, any more than the eye can see itself. The white of the wide open eye, and the whines, the bellowing husband is unaware of his own voice, and satisfied pig cannot detect the smugness dripping from his lips.

We are, in short, deaf to what we sound like in timbre and cadence of voice, so we do not hear the unconscious attitudes that are revealed to others by our speech — the hostility thinly masquerading as humor, the fear hiding behind loud, pompous self-complacency or envy or gossip

Brookdale F.F. Discusses Family Farms

SIXTH SIDNEY— Nine members met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Pollard on Monday evening. The discussion was along lines of family farms.

Agriculture has been a way of life. The farmer was satisfied to live close to nature and received satisfaction in his living so long as he had enough to live on.

Some time ago some farmers came up with the idea of using their farms to make a fortune. As a result, production was stepped up, hence the surpluses today, many years ago, the farmer only gets out of his farm what he puts into it.

Family farms will always be here as long as we use the level of living approach and the members of the family work together.

If the young people are kept interested in the farm, by having a share in both the work and pleasure of it, they will be proud of their farm heritage and there will be no need for urban migration.

RESOURCEFUL

Family farming could be resourceful enough to provide an adequate standard of living if people were content to creep before they walk, and gradually work into something better. Research creates and helps to build gives more satisfaction than what is handed out to them. Many people in urban centres would gladly exchange places with their rural cousins, but they have neither the knowhow nor the backing and stamina for such an exchange.

MacDONALD CHARGE

Last Tuesday CCF Leader Donald C. MacDonald and Mr. MacDonald were in Ottawa. He was the flagrant piece of land profiteering and Hydro had foolishly paid about $7,000 an acre for the land when a federal government agency received the price at $2,200 an acre.

Mr. Macaulay said main reasons for buying the Indian lands included:

1. Existing lines already converged on the Chippewa reservation and so could be more economical and efficient to integrate the services at the converging point.

2. By placing the new substation at the convergence, the additional power could be fed into existing lines going to the former stations supplying Sarnia, the highly industrialized chemical valley and export lines to Detroit.

"In 1950 Hydro exported electrical power valued at $10,000,000 to the United States. Additional power in the Sarnia area would furnish a greater export potential.)

3. A railway spur line adjoined the site's requirement for transporting heavy equipment in and out. The new substation would not be need to build a railway line at a cost of $79,000 a mile.

REVIEWS DEALINGS

In his account of Hydro's move to acquire lands for its $8,650,000 installation at Sarnia, Mr. Macaulay said negotiations were carried on for a year with the Indians, representatives of the federal Indians affairs branch, the Crown Trust Company and the Commercial Investments Limited.

Hydro bought the land from Dimensional Investments after the company acquired 3,100 acres of the reservation for $6,001,946.

Mr. Macaulay said Hydro was ordered by the Indians and federal authorities to discontinue negotiations because it was feared the Hydro Board negotiate the sale of the whole reservation lands to Dimensional Investments.

Cobourg and RCAF Rinks Win Three Games at Spiel

Due to poor ice conditions on two sheets at the Quinte Curling Club caused by backing up of water on the roof and dripping on the ice surface, the committee conducting the men's annual bonspiel have been forced to again use the RCAF rink of 6 RD for some of their games. It is expected that the ice will be in splendid shape for the final games on Saturday. The trouble was removed on Thursday when men were used to shovel all the snow off the roof of the rink and then pour water over it to take out the frost. Much planing of the ice had to be done and some flooding to get the two sheets back in playable shape.

On Thursday most of the Quinte rinks entered in the spiel had their innings and did not fare too well against the manufacturers from other clubs. Morris Booth of Cobourg won his three games as did Larry Notiuk of RCAF. The latter-named rink made curling history by scoring an eight-ender against Frank Creggan of the Quinte Club and the nominees of this rink will be given the Cosby award in the form of a suitable plaque by the parent company at Corbyville. Incidentally this handsome award is awarded largely to the prize list of the bonspiel and the Challenger trophy at the spiel was donated by the Corbyville firm.

The ice at Trenton was tricky but fast and weight had a great deal to do with one's game. The hospitality, however, was unquestioned and the rinks that had to play there reported a most enjoyable time. At the local rink the wonderful work of the club was busy tending to the wants of the inner circle while in the "if" room games were played over and over.

Today the best curling the curling world will be on hand to test itself against the local stone wielders. Rinks from Ottawa, Perth, Napanee, Brockville, Iroquois, Uniionville, Kingston, Peterborough and Oshawa will all be here and a keen day of curling of the spiel should be had. Tomorrow will conclude the final games in four events are played.

Name Liberals To Attend Ontario Meet

PICTON — Prince Edward-Lennox Liberal Association met in Picton Wednesday night to choose delegates to attend the annual meeting of the Ontario Association to be held in Toronto. Appointed were Dr. Robert Clapp, James Madden, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Green, Mrs. Malcolm Dulmage and Roland Stalker. Alternates are Mrs. Madden, Henry Wightman, Gerald Kavanagh, Mrs. R. Perry, Harold Stalker.

President Dr. Clapp presided and organization was discussed. Several associations are planning social events. Plans for the annual meeting later in the Spring were discussed and an attempt will be made to secure a out-standing speaker for that occasion.

ANNUAL BANQUET

With 120 members of Prince Edward Farm Unions and guests in attendance, the first annual banquet was held at Cherry Valley hall, Wednesday night. There was disappointment, however, when it was announced that the President of the Ontario Farm Union, Gordon Hill, was unable to attend due to weather conditions. A telephone call conveyed the information.

Instead, those present heard some interesting discussions on a variety of farm topics. Reeve Don Reid of South Marysburgh asked that the Farm Union present their views to the Ontario Agricultural Committee, which meets three times a year and worked with the Ontario Minister of Agriculture. He said the Minister desired such petitions be grouped.

Among those speaking were County Secretary Don Campbell, Les Jones, President County Junior Farmers and J. Parliament, president of the Junior Institutes.

RED CHINA QUESTION

Opposition Leader Pearson said a disarmament pact can't be reached without the agreement of Communist China, which should have been brought into the negotiations from the start. Now it was too late.

He asked how Mr. Green could be optimistic about the disarmament talks when China would not be represented.

Harold Winch (CCF — Vancouver East) said it is "plain, unadulterated stupidity" for the Canadian government to be "unbelievably dumpy" of the U.S. and not recognize Red China diplomatically.

The foreign affairs debate was adjourned for conclusion Tuesday.

Founder's Day Observed By I.O.D.E.

Saturday, February 13, 1909, is the 60th anniversary of the I.O.D.E. The Order was founded by Mrs. Clark Murray and the name read and the first chapter was formed in Fredericton, N.B.

There are 984 chapters of the I.O.D.E. in the Yukon to Newfoundland, with approximately 32,000 members and 420 chapters in Ontario with a membership of 16,371. These members rank among the most generous people in $1,000,000 a year.

VARIOUS PROVISIONS

In the field of education, over one quarter of a million dollars is spent as follows: 2,200 adopted schools are provided with libraries and equipment; 1,168 scholarships and bursaries awards granted to Canadian students' and a pilot project of I.O.D.E. has adopted 17 schools in the West Indies.

From the First and Second War Memorial Funds, 12 overseas 300 graduate scholarships, of $2,000 each and 30 Canadian university bursaries of $1,500 were awarded last year.

In the services at home and abroad donations, $400,000 was spent in Canada on welfare work and many thousands of hours of voluntary service were given by members of the I.O.D.E. to their own local communities. The I.O.D.E. has shot $100,000 of relief supplies to Europe, Africa, Korea and the West Indies. Many chapters across Canada have undertaken the sponsorship of destitute and refugee children.

ESKIMO PROJECT

To commemorate the 60th anniversary, the Order is presently engaged in a special Canada project — the building of a community hall at Cambridge Bay, costing $20,000. The chapters throughout Ontario are giving this hall their wholehearted support.

There are two chapters in Belleville — the St. Julien I.O.D.E. and Argyll I.O.D.E. Members of these chapters participate in many local projects. All citizenship awards are decided; adopted schools are provided with libraries and equipment and calendars placed in local schools; voluntary service given at the blood clinics and canvassing done for local appeals. A Red Cross and a scholarship are given annually. Remembrance service is attended and wreaths placed; local welfare work is assisted.

F. Lancaster Gives Talk On 'Scouting'

The Boy Scout Executive Board held a meeting with the officers and members of all Boy Scout Auxiliaries of Belleville and district last evening in the parish hall of Christ Church. There were 14 Auxiliaries represented, and the best attendance yet.

Mrs. L. Blaker, president, opened the meeting and Mrs. A. Athey gave the business report.

It was announced that the annual potluck supper would be held on May 26th at Tabernacle United Church.

The 8th Belleville Boy Scout Auxiliary is holding a bake sale this month on the market, and the 10th Belleville Boy Scout Auxiliary a rummage sale also this month at Holloway St. United Church. It was stated that no new Auxiliary can be formed without the sanction of the Group Committee.

There was a publication table on display, and Mrs. Blaker suggested that all troops should receive the magazine, "The Senior Leader" and "Scout Leader" for Scout leaders. Pins, stickers and handbook may be purchased from the treasurer, Mrs. J. Minets.

HANDIWORK DISPLAY

Mrs. A. Port of 1st Belleville Boy Scout Auxiliary, St. of Thomas C. Church, displayed work done by her Auxiliary as a project.

Australian Woman Member Needed Help to Win Seat

By RUSSELL ELLMAN

ADELAIDE, Australia (CP)— Mrs. Jessie Mary Cooper, first woman ever to sit in the upper house of South Australia's state Parliament, says dozens of Australian women would enter politics if given an opportunity.

Mrs. Cooper, whose right to stand for election was won only after a legal squabble in which her lawyers cited precedents from Canada and Britain, said:

"Australian women have always been active and have had an independent voice. Many look on politics a lot, but they haven't had the same opportunity as men to be elected to governments."

Although South Australia was the second place in the Commonwealth to grant women the vote as long ago as 1894, no woman actually won an election to the state Parliament until 1959. Last year Mrs. Cooper was elected to the council and another woman to the legislative assembly.

Mrs. Cooper's candidacy, however, was contested in court by two men, who claimed women were not entitled to be nominated. Their action was quashed on the ground that the matter was not within the jurisdiction of the courts but of Parliament itself.

In supporting Mrs. Cooper's case, her lawyers cited a successful 1928 appeal to the Privy Council on the right of women to be senators in Canada. It was brought against the attorney-general by Henrietta Muir Edwards, president of the National Council of women in Alberta, together with several prominent Alberta women.

Mrs. Cooper, wife of an Adelaide brewery director and mother of a six-year-old boy, said women have won seats to the federal Parliament and in some other states. But the South Australian political system, in which one party — Liberal - Country — has been in power for 21 years, has limited the number of openings for new candidates, men or women.

"I got in because I was a strong Liberal-Country party seat," said Mrs. Cooper. "The party will back anyone who wins a nomination decisively in their constituency."

Mrs. Cooper won her nomination plebiscite against 10 male opponents.

Although a member of the National Council of Women, Mrs. Cooper decried any suggestion she won her election on a housewife ticket.

"I didn't win on a woman's vote. We have a limited property-owners' franchise, and women have less than one - half the votes."

Since her election she has followed a busy schedule of official functions. She makes at least five speeches a week—to political branches, school prize - givings, journalists, and women's groups.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Allan Eggleton are pictured following their recent marriage in Eastminster United Church parsonage, Belleville. They are the former Miss Lorna Anne Corbiere, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Corbiere of Stoney Harbour, Ont. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Peter Stalkovich, of Belleville, and the late Mr. Percy Eggleton, of Halloway, Ont. (Photo by William E. Riley, Belleville.)

EGGLETON — CORBIERE

A quiet, but pretty double-ring wedding took place in Eastminster United Church parsonage, Belleville, on the late afternoon of Saturday, February 6, at 3.00 p.m. when Lorna Jane Corbiere, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Allen Corbiere, of Honey Harbor, Ontario, became the bride of Jack Allen Eggleton, son of Mrs. Peter Stalkovich of Belleville, and the late Mr. Percy Eggleton. The Rev. Alexa Alexander McDowell, pastor of the church, officiated.

The bride was attractively attired in a fitted gown in street-length of white lace, and white fluffy lace featuring long sleeves and low scalloped neckline. She wore a matching white feathered hat trimmed with sequins, and a tiny veil. Her flowers were of pink tea roses in corsage style.

She was attended by Mrs. Leo Coons, of Whitby, who wore a pale blue ensemble with pink carnation corsage.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Gordon Coons of Whitby.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was held at Hotel Quinte Belleville.

Guests were present from Whitby, Oshawa and Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Eggleton will reside at 231 Dovedale Drive, Whitby, Ont.

Flattering Furs

By ALICE ALDEN

What a winter for furs this has been! Usually, as advanced spring fashions take over, the fur coat steps back. But this year new fur fashions, both in the luxury and less-costly brackets, continue to show. Here is a young version of grey Persian lamb done on figure-flattering, fitted lines. Arched-hip fullness and a skirt with easy pleats are part of the pleasing plot.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a woman's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Alice J. — My parents are bigots.

Mrs. F. J. — 6's only wrest them to marry within their faith.

Alice J., you are 19 and a freshman at college. I am rooming with the most marvellous girl at school. We have more fun together than either of us has ever had.

This girl, Edna, happens to be of a different religion from mine. I brought her home with me a couple of weekends and my family loved her too. But when my brother started dating her, a storm broke.

My brother says he isn't ready to get married and he can't afford to let himself get serious about Edna, but my parents are in an uproar. They don't want either of us to date outside of our faith and my mother says she doesn't want me associating closely even with girls outside my religion, for that isn't bigotry, I don't know what it is.

Mrs. F. J. — Neither I nor my husband is a bigot. We have nothing against people of any other religion and feel that there are good and bad in all faiths. But we are opposed to mixed marriages and we feel that interfaith dating leads to just that.

We expected to get our children's co-operation in this because we have made few demands on them. We didn't force any more religion on them than they seemed inclined to want. However, we always stressed the importance of marrying within one's own faith. We have known several bad interfaith marriages and don't want the tragedy repeated.

The children say they won't marry out of their faith, but dating is different. We say dating is preparation for marriage.

The Council: This is a tricky problem and we are most sympathetic with the points of view of both parents and children. It is true that dating is preparation for marriage and that interfaith dating leads to many mixed marriages. On the other hand, we can't blame open-hearted, open-minded young people for liking or wanting to get to know and understand others outside their group.

Our schools, which emphasize the ability to get along with members of different races and religions, give youngsters lots of opportunity to meet and socialize and it is difficult for a warm, friendly person to draw an invisible line about another and say "We can go so far, but no further."

The best answer we can give is that the positive elements in any young person's background are far more important than the negative ones in establishing his attitudes. If a youngster is brought up with a good understanding of the meaning of his own faith, he will want to perpetuate it in himself and his children.

If he is brought up within a close-knit family group where common values and interests are stressed, he will want that kind of home for himself. He will not want to take the risk of linking his future to someone brought up with a very different outlook.

We think the F. J.'s are a little late with their warnings about interfaith marriage. If they had brought up their children with strong emphasis upon their religion, they could feel that at least the youngsters would know what they are risking when they risk losing that strong identity.

We don't think the F. J.'s should press their children to give up their friends of other religions, but should urge them to participate more in the activities sponsored by their own group.

Mrs. Gerald Hinson gave the secretary's report in the absence of Mrs. Young. It was decided to invite the Burr's, Bowerman's and Rose Hall Auxiliaries to be guests at the April meeting. Watch Tower reports were given. Mrs. Ethel gave the Christian Stewardship; all bills are to be paid.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Dick, Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Foster. Mrs. Dick had the devotional period; her theme was, "We Are All Brother's. Psalm 703 was read responsively. Prayer closed this period.

Mrs. Dingwall favored with a solo, Mrs. Arnold Foster reported for correspondence; Mr. Poulter showed films on Africa "Where Two Trails Meet"; Mrs. Spencer gave a reading, "In A Strange Church at Evening" and Mrs. Harris gave a chapter of the Study Book on "Africa".

A contest was put on by Mrs. Norman Foster.

Refreshments were served and a social half hour was enjoyed.

BACK TO FUNDAMENTALS

CALGARY (CP) — A return to greater emphasis on the fundamentals of education was urged by Lawrence Cragg, vice - president of the University of Alberta, in an address to the Alberta Federation of Agriculture. He said specialized training in many professional fields is outdated before the student graduates.

MODERN MANNERS

Carolyn Wagner Shaw

A WORD TO THE MEN

Complaints have been coming in from some of the men who read this column. They say that I am always telling the ladies how to mind their manners, but neglect the men. I hope the following will help to rectify this unintentional oversight.

To begin with, the word "gentleman" is overworked, misused and is too often misunderstood. During the years of the "gay nineties," the term "perfect gentleman" implied that, to deserve the name, a man had to be expert in the art of doffing the hat, clicking the heels and bowing low from the waist. Today the meaning of the word has been modified, and a man (regardless of his occupation or station in life) who abides by the basic rules that govern good behavior, conducting himself with consideration and courtesy towards his fellow man, or woman, has earned the title of "gentleman." "Gentle, courteous, irrespective of conditions" is the literal meaning of the word, and to me is extremely significant.

Many of the little courtesies that are expected of the gentleman have come down to us through the centuries. For example, take the custom followed today of a man rising when his wife has been greeting a friend on the street. This has evolved from the age of chivalry, when it was customary for a knight in full armor to remain mounted when saluting an assembly of his friends. The purpose was to signify that he felt safe in their presence.

Today, lifting the hat is considered an act of courtesy and respect. This courteous gesture should always be observed when a man speaks to a woman in passing her on the street. This also stops to shake hands, he should remove his hat while he does so and then put it on again. When walking with a woman, a gentleman lifts his hat to anyone to whom she speaks, whether he knows that person or not. If walking with another man, he lifts his hat when and if his companion does.

Another custom followed by the gentleman of today is always to take the curb or street side when walking with one woman or with several on the street. This form stems from the horse and buggy days when streets were unpaved and muddy and the man walked nearest the horses to protect the women from being splashed.

Modification of some of the forms followed in the past has become necessary in recent years in order to adapt them to the modern way of living. One of these modifications concerns the question of hats off or on when dining in a restaurant. Should a man keep his hat on? Should he crowd elbows, jostle other people and punch his hat, or should he hold it over his face in an effort to observe traditional courtesy? We are all agreed that this is a case where common sense should be followed rather than strict adherence to form. Today, therefore, it is considered perfectly proper for a gentleman to keep his hat on when riding in a crowded elevator in a public building. It is more polite, however, to continue following the old form when in the elevator of a hotel or apartment house, if ladies are among those present.

I have mentioned but a few of the small daily courtesies that the true gentleman performs more or less automatically. The for the trip.

QUESTION:

Could I would like the recipe for Sponge Candy, the kind that you can buy at the store, my mother says, to make this and it was delicious. I have tried all over to get the recipe, but have been unable to do so. I know that the recipe contained butter, sugar, eggs, vanilla, molasses, and soda. I would also like some salad recipes to serve at my Club meeting, these meetings are held at night. Would it be possible to have a fruit salad, and if so, would you have recipes for some . . . Mrs. Ray M.

ANSWER:

SPONGE CANDY:

Six oz. (3-4 cup) granulated sugar, 4 level tablespoons corn syrup, (or 2 level tablespoons each corn syrup and molasses), 2 tablespoons water, 1 1-2 teaspoons baking soda, Grease a 9" square pan by brushing it with butter. In a heavy saucepan mix together the syrup, sugar and water and stir over low heat until sugar dissolves. Wipe down sides of pan so no grains remain undissolved. Every grain of sugar must be dissolved before boiling or candy will not stir or disturb. Before it becomes too dark, dropping a few drops squares to make breathing easier when cold.

I am giving you two fruit salads. The avocado-pineapple salad is a favorite with me, and I cannot resist passing it on when I dine where avocados may be purchased. The fruit aspic salad is more conventional and delicious.

AVOCADO PINEAPPLE SALAD:

Serve 6 cut 3 avocados in halves crosswise and remove stones. Slice each half in 3 lengthwise slices. Sprinkle with lemon juice to prevent darkening. For each serving place 2

Women May Get Chance To Be Jurors

HALIFAX (CP)—Women may get a chance to serve on court juries in Nova Scotia this year. Their names will appear on Halifax county jury lists for the first time in at least 20 years.

Attorney-General R.A. Donahoe said there never has been any legal barrier to women serving on juries in Nova Scotia. It was just practice to omit them from the lists.

"It's a moot question whether it would be a good thing or not," he added.

Women's organizations have campaigned to have their names included. This year Halifax will grant their wish, largely due to the urging of Alderman Abbie Lane.

FIRST-CLASS CITIZENS

"Women are first-class citizens and as such should be shouldering the responsibilities as well as the privileges of society," she said.

Halifax city clerk Ralph Stoddard said women property owners are included in the 1960s jury lists.

Town Clerk C.A. Moir of neighboring Dartmouth said: "We never have included women but I imagine we'll give it some thought."

Halifax, Dartmouth and Halifax County submit lists to county court officials.

There has been some question about jury accommodations at the court house being suitable for women.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS

However, Halifax barrister Grace Wamboldt said that if women are entitled to vote they are entitled to be jurors. The jury they should be allowed to serve on juries, especially in divorce cases where a woman is involved.

The campaign for women jurors in Nova Scotia isn't new. In 1950 a grand jury recommended that women be called but nothing came of it.

In 1961 there were reports the Nova Scotia jury act was to be amended to exclude women. Miss Wamboldt led a protest delegation to Province House and the idea was dropped.

"Women could definitely make a contribution to justice in this province, and should have been called to serve on juries years ago," she declared.

CITIZEN AWARD

TILLSONBURG, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. William Dawson was named "citizen of the year" by the chamber of commerce of this town near Woodstock. Mother of five daughters, she is active in church work; agricultural activities and home-and-school plans.

The Experts Say

Intelligence, Objectivity Requisites for Perfumer

By EDNA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Gilbert J. Hackforth - Jones developed his special talent as a chemical expert during the Second World War. Now he invents fragrances for one of England's leading perfume manufacturers.

He was stationed at a chemical defence experimental station while serving in the Royal Engineers, and was required to undergo smelling tests of various gases.

Intelligence and objectivity are the requisites for a perfumer, he explained during an interview here. Chemical training and artistic interest and ability provide a suitable background, although he considers himself primarily as an artist.

DIFFICULT TASK

Perfumes are not made by accident. A perfumer creates a fragrance in his mind, then attempts to produce it. This is no easy task.

"Any fine perfume will have at least 100 ingredients," Mr. Hackforth-Jones said.

Having a love of skin as well as the sort of person you are should guide the perfume you buy.

Those with dainty skins can wear much heavier perfumes. So can a person who can successfully wear exotic clothes and a lot of jewelry, he says.

He recommends that women choose two or three scents they personally like — "scents that suit a daytime fragrance and one for evening."

And perfume should not be used sparingly, he says. The best effect may be obtained by using a matching range of powder, soap and other cosmetics and perfume. The perfume is a slightly lighter, but the others are used lavishly to produce "a people feminine fragrance all day."

CLEANER AIR

Women in Canada can go much lighter on perfume than their sisters in England.

"Fragrances are clear and stronger in Canada. In England there must be considerable attention to make any emphasis," Mr. Hackforth - Jones explained. The weather makes the difference. Weather in the United States and Australia also lends itself to clear scents.

Most fragrances blend well so that the perfume in lipstick, face powders, soaps and other cosmetics blends into the predominant fragrance of the perfume of the wearer.

However, a strong perfume

Wesleyan Y. P. Observes "Youth Week"

Youth week services were conducted in the Wesleyan Methodist Church, Everett Street, with the Rev. Eldeh Le Roy, of Carney's Point, New Jersey, as guest speaker. He is well at a time of inspiration, it was also a renewal of acquaintances with Mr. Le-Roy, who is a young Canadian and known to many of the local young people.

Some of his messages included, "Pyramids for Service", "The Wiles of the Devil", and "The Second Coming of Christ." These were most beneficial and greatly appreciated by young and old alike.

The theme of Youth Week, which is recognized annually through the denomination, was "Christ Is Yes—Through You."

The W. Y. president, assisted by members of the local Society, was in charge of the programme, which included the Youth Choir with Christine Haraldson the direction of Mr. Monty Parks, with brought several stirring renditions of Christian worship. This, along with the talents of Mr. Earl Bray, who assisted as song leader, were highlights of the week.

An enjoyable banquet was served to 45 in the Belmont Hall. Backforth - Jones explained that weather makes the difference. Weather in the United States and Australia also lends itself to clear scents.

Most fragrances blend well so that the perfume in lipstick, face powders, soaps and other cosmetics blends into the predominant fragrance of the perfume of the wearer.

Six Ducktailed Youths Bound To Keep Peace

WATERLOO (CP) — When a witness said he feared reprisals, Magistrate J. R. H. Kirkpatrick called six ducktailed youths down from the courtroom's gallery Wednesday and ordered them held in custody until they can post $100 cash bonds to keep the peace.

The witness, Terrance Horn, was testifying against Edgar Currie, 19, charged with creating a disturbance. The youths were friends of Currie.

The magistrate told the six youths Horn had been arrested and forced to testify under oath because of the ugly situation which had arisen in Waterloo. "We will take that into consideration if anything comes of this," he said. After putting them under bond, he noted that all but one had criminal records.

Magistrate Kirkpatrick said many Canadian men fought for freedom "from fear and brutality" during the Second World War, and there men are not going to sit back "and let a bunch of ugly young punks take over the country."

Currie, who conducted his own defence and waved occasionally at other youths in the courtroom was convicted and remanded a week for sentence. The charge arose from a fight involving Currie and Horn outside a restaurant.

Tobacco Growers Ask Reduction In Federal Tax

OTTAWA (CP)—A reduction in the federal tax on cigarets was urged Wednesday in a brief submitted to Finance Minister Fleming by the Ontario Flue-cured Tobacco Growers' Marketing Board.

The brief noted that 20 cents out of the retail price of a 25-cigaret package represents federal taxes of one kind or another. No specific amount was mentioned for the suggested reduction.

It said that following the tax increase in Mr. Fleming's budget last April the increase in cigaret sales last year was only 3.8 per cent compared with an increase in sales of 7.5 per cent the previous year.

RAISED PRICES

The tax increase last year amounted to 2.2 cents on a package of 20. In Ontario, a 20-cigaret package increased in retail price to 36 cents from 33.

The board also urged that more than 2½ pounds of tobacco be allowed per 1,000 cigarets at the excise tariff rate of $4. Manufacturers, we wish to see the demand for tobacco increase and are therefore requesting the government of Canada to revert to pre-war conditions when three pounds of tobacco was allowed per 1,000 cigarets."

Because of this tariff requirement, Canadian Maple cigarets were shorter than United States king size. If more than 2½ pounds of tobacco were used per 1,000 cigarets, another two cents would be added to the price under the current tax rates.

Other organizations included Stanley E. Smith, Port Stanley, board member, official secretary of Governor-General Vanier. However, visitors will continue to be welcome to tour the grounds.

OVERSEAS BROADCASTS — The British Broadcasting Corporation, through its overseas radio service, reaches more listeners in the world than any other broadcasting organization. Much of the overseas service consists of recorded programs, sent to foreign radio stations which broadcast it on their own wavelengths. The start of such a recording session at BBC studios in London, England, is shown here. Basic material for the overseas broadcasts is taken from the corporation's domestic service. (CP from UKIO.)

BBC Radio Has Far More Listeners Than Any Other Organization in the World

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Television may steal the spotlight these days, but BBC radio still has far more listeners than any other broadcasting organization in the world.

Every hour of the day and night someone is listening to the British Broadcasting Corporation somewhere. Apart from three domestic networks, it reaches around the world like an electronic octopus.

Its daily overseas broadcasts total 81 hours, three in 42 languages. This, added to about 45 hours a day of domestic broadcasting, keeps 16,000 employees hopping.

The BBC has a unique position in Britain, a country of 50,000,000 people with only one broadcasting service. Unlike Canada, where private stations compete with the publicly-owned Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, all broadcasting in Britain is done by the BBC over three networks—the Home, the Light and the Third.

MIDDLE ROAD

The BBC's home service, somewhat like the CBC's Trans-Canada network, looks after the broad middle section of the population. It's music leans slightly to the heavy side, and newscasts —introduced with the bongs of Big Ben—are usually followed by parliamentary commentaries. Dramas tend to be serious.

The light program is for majority audiences. It has short and snappy hourly newscasts, comedy, light drama and music. Its talks are light, and rare.

The third program, says the BBC, "makes demands on the listeners' intellectual maturity." It is on the air from about 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. with classics, operas and dramatic classics. For about three hours prior to this program, the frequency is used by Network Three—a similar minority program for stamp collectors, language learners and other specialty groups.

The BBC states its aim thus: "To serve minorities as well as majorities, making every effort to provide the best to all levels of taste and interest."

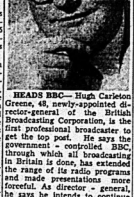
23 ORCHESTRAS

More than 150 studios are used throughout Britain to broadcast the three networks—about 95 per cent of the programs are live—and events and music. Recorded music are provided by 13 BBC orchestras with 485 members.

The BBC, which in its early years had to cope with much commentaries, now is said to be one of the most open-minded on such subjects.

But like most government-controlled corporations, it is a sitting target for criticism. It's often called stuffy, stiff and staid, lacking color and forceful presentation.

The BBC's newly-appointed director - general, Hugh Carleton Greene, 48, says such criticism is not justified.



HEADS BBC— Hugh Carleton Greene, 48, newly-appointed director-general of the British Broadcasting Corporation, is the first professional broadcaster to get the top post. He says the government - controlled BBC through which all broadcasting in Britain is done, has extended the range of its radio programs and made presentations more forceful. As director - general, he says he intends to continue improving the corporation to offset criticism that it is stuffy and lacking in color. (CP from UKIO)

"If you compared our approach to programs and presentation now with, say, five years ago you would notice at once how much bolder and wider in range it has become . . ."

But Carleton Greene, the first professional broadcaster to get the top BBC job, doesn't intend to let things stand as they are. In fact he has already been ticked off sharply by some listeners for introducing "flippancy" into newscasts.

It isn't flippancy, he claims, but the right choice of words.

In the field of drama the BBC produces six single plays a week —each from 20 minutes to two hours—along with four or five series. Fifteen full-time producers are in charge of these projects.

Although big-name performers are sometimes recruited from the West End, the BBC normally selects its casts from the 45 members of the BBC Drama Repertory Company.

The BBC's overseas service gets most of its basic material from the domestic services, including comedy, concerts and discussions. But the 48,000 news-

Sunday School Lesson

The Church and 'Business'

By ROY L. SMITH

The ancient city of Ephesus was one of the four great metropolises of the world, Rome, Antioch, and Alexandria (in Egypt) being the other three.

One of the chief businesses of Ephesus was the enormous and famous Temple of Artemis (sometimes called Dina). It was generally conceded to be one of the "seven wonders" of the ancient world. Even today the ruins bespeak its original magnificence.

Associated with the shrine was a very considerable business devoted to the manufacture of little silver images of the voluptuous goddess who reigned at the shrine. It is said that some of the most famous silversmith of the world had been attracted to Ephesus by the image business, and the guild of silversmiths was as important in that city as the steel workers are in Gary, Indiana.

PREACHING DAMAGING

We can get some idea of the effectiveness of Paul's preaching from the fact that the silversmiths of Ephesus became alarmed at his success.

Every good Jew looked upon the making of "graven images" much as an American Christian would look on organized prostitution. It represented idolatry and this, to a Jew, was one of the most vicious of sins. The images of Artemis, being somewhat lewd, were particularly offensive. From even a casual reading of Paul's letters in the New Testament we get the impression that the Apostle shared all the antipathies of his people when it came to the matter of idols and idol worship.

As a Christian evangelist the Apostle struck out with all the powers of his mighty personality against idolatry, and in doing so could not possibly evade the silver business of Ephesus. Within the space of even a few days he seems to have made an impression, and with the development of his popularity the business of the city began to feel the effects. It wasn't long until the silversmiths began to worry.

REFUGE OF PROFITEERS

It has been said that patriotism is the last refuge of scoundrels — that the man who is being pursued for having committed a crime is very apt to mess around about his solid shoulders and assume the pose of a friend of the government.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for February 14: "MEETING ORGANIZED OPPOSITION," Acts 18: 22 through 20: 12.

In something of the same manner the profiteer is very apt to assume the role of the religious man. Without mentioning the fact that they had a personal stake in the matter the silversmiths suddenly became the champions of the ancient worship of Artemis. They could see nothing plain that if something were not done to defiate Paul, they would soon be without a market for their wares.

In a certain midwestern state a notorious dive was in trouble with the law. Because of a series of shootings stabbings and brawls the authorities were considering the question of a revocation of the place's license.

The Soviet Union and satellite countries were the only areas until recently where the BBC was not heard. These countries had jammed the broadcasts.

The overseas service, although officially born in 1932—10 years after the BBC came into being—didn't really get going until 1938 when the government decided it was time to offset Nazi propaganda. Prior to that only English-language broadcasts went out to Commonwealth countries.

The overseas service now costs more than £6,000,000 a year, financed entirely with government grants. The rest of the BBC's £38,000,000 budget—about half for television—is met with the sale of £1 radio and £4 television licence fees.

Firmer Arrangements Should Have Been Made for Sale of Uranium to U.S. Says P.M.

OTTAWA (CP)—What or who is to blame for not extending Canada's uranium sales to the United States beyond 1963?

Opposition Leader Pearson said in the Commons Thursday that the Progressive Conservative government "failed" to persuade the U.S. to pick up its option by renew uranium purchases from Canada after 1962.

He also disclosed that the U.S. had "begged" the former Liberal administration for Canadian uranium, with the result that the then-government gave the U.S. first call on Canadian production to the extent that later it had to get American permission to divert some of this country's output to the United Kingdom.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker replied that the blame for losing the U.S. contract rests with Mr. Pearson and his former Liberal cabinet colleagues for not having made a firm agreement for an extension after 1962.

QUOTES U.S. PROMISE

Mr. Diefenbaker said former Liberal trade minister C. D. Howe had given assurances that the five-year U.S. contract that ended in 1962 would be the end of large-scale Canadian exports to the U.S. He also quoted Mr. Howe as telling the Commons that even the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission would be fulfilled when the 1962 contract ended.

The prime minister said the Progressive Conservative government made "strong representations" to Washington on the export question. But the U.S. now was turning out its own uranium.

"Now, Mr. Speaker, members, the government did the best it could, it arranged for the best sales opportunities to be stretched out until '66 so there would be no dislocation in this country."

Mr. Pearson said the present government had been unable to "make any headway" in persuading the United States to carry out its announced policy of offering uranium to the full extent of exceeding our contracts for an essential defence product, which is uranium."

SELLER'S MARKET

The prime minister said the original contract was signed, Canada enjoyed a seller's market.

"The American interests concerned were begged to proceed to sign contracts . . . in order to produce this uranium as something essential for the defence of the free world," said Mr. Pearson. MP for Ontario's Renfrew north constituency of Algoma East.

He added:

"We were also assured that when the contract would be renewal, at least for some part of the amount, there was a guarantee of men's agreement, this was a matter of national defence."

Mr. Pearson said the renewal should have been treated by the present government on the "highest political level" rather than on commercial level. Canada should have made clear that if Canada-U.S. defence integration is east anything, uranium was an essential part of that integration.

5 YEARS

An unidentified MP asked why the Liberal government hadn't signed sooner. Mr. Pearson replied:

"What we had at that time, under those conditions, when there was practically no uranium in the United States, was to guarantee to our total production for a period longer than five years . . . what would have been the view of our friends? What would have been the view of the opposition then, today?

"When a contract was signed for five years, was there any voice raised in opposition to say it should have been for a longer time? No, there was not a single voice. It was a very sensible contract to make at that time."

Members Want More Money

TORONTO (CP)—Only millionaires and the financially independent will be able to sit in the legislature unless members receive more money, W. B. Lewis (PC—York-Humber) said Thursday night.

He asked Premier Frost to consider increasing members' sessional indemnity and his annual pension plan. Members receive $5,000 annually and a $1,000 tax-free allowance.

80,000 FEET UP

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (AP)—An X-15 rocket ship soared to 80,000 feet Thursday in a supersonic 71-minute flight, its highest yet. The speed was announced as "over 4,000 miles an hour," but the actual figure was not given.

Education Main Theme of Two Throne Speeches

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Promises and primers were the main themes in provincial legislatures Thursday as Saskatchewan and Alberta heard speeches from the throne and Manitoba and Quebec dealt with education plans.

Without a dissenting vote, the Quebec legislature passed a 65-clause bill amending the Quebec Education Act under which the government agreed to pay 75 per cent of the cost of books to school boards which set up libraries.

In the Manitoba legislature a government - appointed committee tabled a report recommending that merit rating of teachers be established as an experiment in one provincial school division. Under the system, teachers are paid strictly according to performance.

THRONE SPEECHES

In the Alberta throne speech, read by newly - appointed Lieutenant-governor Percy Page, the government promised to introduce this session of its five-year development plan, providing for the paving of 1,000 miles of constructed roadways in various communities.

The speech also foreseat the regulation of Alberta's gas industry and outlined legislation aimed at revision of the Communal Properties Act which governs Hutterite colonies.

Holding no surprises, the Saskatchewan throne speech promised legislation for a committee to study a prepaid compulsory medical care plan.

It proposed extending the provincial vote to Indians. The Indians, fearing they will lose their treaty rights, have already rejected the offer several times.

The speech also proposed a number of farm improvement programs, a crop insurance scheme and legislation against gift coupons if the federal criminal code is thought ineffective

DEBATES CONTINUE

The Ontario and British Columbia legislatures were in their second day of throne speech debates.

Winding up the British Columbia debate, Agriculture Minister Peterson attacked federal monetary policy.

He said interest on federal bonds had risen to the per cent from five in a short period and "the Communists themselves could not have played greater havoc with our economics in this province."

Liberal Objects To Comment on Hanged Killer

TORONTO (CP) — A Liberal member of the Ontario legislature objected Thursday to reported comments about Marvin McKee, 20, hanged Tuesday for the murder of a Belleville taxi driver.

Leo Trow, member for Niagara Falls, said he had asked Ottawa to commute McKee's sentence to life imprisonment. He said that the federal cabinet refused because McKee was unrepentant.

"In my faith there is no such thing," said Mr. Trow, a member of the Roman Catholic Church. He said McKee's father, who died in 1942, had never forgiven him during the Second World War.

Mr. Trow also objected to reported remarks by Bracebridge Sheriff W. E. Elliot after the execution at Parry Sound to the effect that McKee was no good.

On the grounds that he had not given notice of a question, Mr. Trow was ruled out of order before he could complete his statement.

Outside the House, he said "the sheriff's comments, at least, were highly indiscreet." He said he will try to raise the issue again.

NEW WEEKLY

LONDON (CP)—Fleet Street is to have a new national weekly. The first issue is to appear on Feb. 24. Published by Odhams Press, the weekly will be called Today, the New John Bull. The magazine replaces the present John Bull, whose stress on fiction and true-life adventure will be maintained. The publishers say the weekly will try to keep pace with the "speeding social advances of the time" and will cater for youth and the feminine readership.

Children Help To Get Man Out of Jail

EASTON, Pa. (AP) — It all goes as expected, Dominic Kasimiercak may be out of jail today—thanks to an unusual sentence from a judge and a teenage boy and girl who begged forgiveness.

Kasimiercak was sentenced to a year and a day for peppering the teen-agers with shotgun pellets after they threw corn cobs on his porch Hallowe'en night.

But Judge Carleton T. Woodring also ruled that the teenagers—Robert Thompson, 19, and Karen Kennedy, 17—must visit the jail daily and read to Kasimiercak, a Polish immigrant not yet a citizen, the Biblical story of the Good Samaritan and then recite with him, on their knees, The Lord's Prayer.

Kasimiercak left the day the two failed to appear at the jail and would be the day Kasimiercak could apply for parole.

Thompson and Miss Monpreed went to the jail Thursday, provided Warden Thomas Ceraul they had come to forgive and to be forgiven. They said also they would not return again to the jail and asked the warden to read a letter to Kasimiercak from them. It said in part:

"After consulting our pastors we realize that we must ask . . . forgiveness for our Hallowe'ening shenanigans. We are sorry about the whole world," said Mr. Pearson, MP for Ontario's Renfrew north constituency of Algoma East.

He added:

"We were also assured that when the contract would be renewal, at least for some part of the amount, there was a guarantee of men's agreement, this was a matter of national defence."

Mr. Pearson said the renewal should have been treated by the present government on the "highest political level" rather than on commercial level. Canada should have made clear that if Canada-U.S. defence integration is east anything, uranium was an essential part of that integration.

5 YEARS

An unidentified MP asked why the Liberal government hadn't signed sooner. Mr. Pearson replied:

"What we had at that time, under those conditions, when there was practically no uranium in the United States, was to guarantee to our total production for a period longer than five years . . . what would have been the view of our friends? What would have been the view of the opposition then, today?

"When a contract was signed for five years, was there any voice raised in opposition to say it should have been for a longer time? No, there was not a single voice. It was a very sensible contract to make at that time."

Kingston Man Freed on Charge Of Negligence

KINGSTON (CP) — Frank Baker, whose home was swept by fire Nov. 30, killing his three children, was acquitted Thursday on a charge of criminal negligence in connection with the fire.

A Supreme Court of Ontario jury deliberated one hour and 10 minutes.

Baker, 35, was charged following investigation into the fire which claimed the lives of Rita Jane, 7, Frances, 5, and Carolyn, six months.

A principal witness was Vincent Rouleau, who tried to rescue Baker's three children from the burning home.

Mr. Rouleau at first testified he saw Baker kick over an oil stove in the hallway but under cross-examination he said he did not see Baker come in his physical contact with, the stove.

Mr. Rouleau said that on the night of the fire Baker and his wife were arguing. He told the jury he attempted to save the three children when the fire started but had to abandon them when "the stove pipes fell down and the flames got worse."

A statement Baker gave police was admitted as evidence Thursday. The statement said he became involved in an argument with his wife over money.

"So I ran wildly into the hall and kicked the stove over," the statement said. "When I realized it was over on the floor I grabbed it and set it up again but it was too late."

Jamestown to Revert to Old Indian Name of Wawa Mar. 11

JAMESTOWN, Ont. (CP) — This Lake Superior iron mining community will revert to its old Indian name of Wawa next month, ending seven years of civil strife.

Most of the 3,000 residents, who never took to the fanciful name, support the switch and will it as a triumph in their battle against officialdom.

J. J. Gagnon, regional director of postal services for Northern Ontario, said Thursday the name change will become effective March 11.

Wawa—the Ojibway Indian name for wild goose—was taken up more than 50 years ago when the first railway station here to work a number of gold strikes. They got the name from a nearby lake.

Twice in its early years Wawa became a ghost town when mining operations faltered. It was all but desolate in the late 1930s when Algoma Steel Corporation built a sintering complex to process siderite iron ore deposits and breathed fresh life into the community.

HONOR ALGOMA PRESIDENT

In 1952 executives of Algoma decided that Wawa should be re-named to honor Sir James Dunn, president of Algoma, who had done much to bolster the community through financing its civic projects.

The postal department held a public poll on the suggestion. It was soundly defeated.

Ignoring the poll, the Algoma Central Railways hung a Jamestown sign from its station. Two years later the United Steelworkers (CLC) collected 1,200 signatures on a petition to Ottawa and the postal department dropped Wawa in favor of Jamestown.

Reeve Ralph Mills, an Algoma employee and resident for 21 years, led the revolt against Jamestown. He and his council refused to conduct business under the new name. The Sault Star, 100 miles south, carried both names in its James-town-datelined stories.

Local business firms refused to accept shipments addressed to Jamestown. Business letterheads stubbornly proclaimed a Wawa origin. Jamestown mail was marked "unknown" and returned.

Even the death of Sir James in 1956 did not ease the tension. The Wawa supporters stood firm.

Today the battle appeared to be ended.

GRANT TO HOSPITAL

OTTAWA (CP)—A $253,00 federal health grant to the Public General Hospital in Chatham was announced Thursday by Health Minister Monteith. The grant will be used to complete the third and fourth storeys of a four-storey wing erected in 1953.

Hospital Plan For Quebec by Next September

QUEBEC (CP) — Establishment of hospital insurance in the Province within six months was announced Thursday by Health Minister Arthur Leclerc.

The minister said in the Legislative Assembly it is the intention of the provincial government to have a hospital insurance plan in operation by next September.

He said the government has not decided whether to accept federal contributions under the national hospital insurance program accepted by all other provinces.

When and if such contributions were accepted, appropriate conditions would be set which would protect some special characteristics of state hospital insurance in this province.

He spoke during debate on second reading of a bill providing appointment of a committee to report on ways and means of setting up hospital insurance.

Dr. Leclerc said hospital insurance is an urgent matter in Quebec but the government is determined to proceed with caution.

Dr. Leclerc said Quebec has not lost any money by not coming into the national plan as soon as it was in operation and not receiving federal contributions.

He said he had been told by health officials in other provinces that unforseen expenses in getting plans started had been costly in many instances.

Housing Study Enters Final Day of Hearings

OTTAWA (CP)—On the final day of its cross-country hearings, the Royal Architectural Institute's committee on residential environment today receives the only "private" presentation in its study of how housing development can be better designed.

Alan Jarvis, former director of the national gallery and now chairman of the Society for Art Publications, requested the private hearing.

"I'm giving some ideas of my own and I want to write about them afterwards," said Mr. Jarvis, editor of the Canadian Art, the society's bi-monthly publication.

Presentations also were expected today from the Anglican Church of Canada, the Canadian Library Association and the Canadian Institute of Planners.

WOMEN'S COMPLAINTS

The committee received two briefs Thursday that show Canadian women think big when it comes to housing.

The National Council of Women said it surveyed 1,400 members in 34 local councils in all 10 provinces who had moved into suburban single-family dwellings since the Second World War. "Even small" was the big complaint about their homes.

People need bigger bedrooms and bathrooms and more land around their homes, echoed a brief from the University Women's Club of Ottawa.

The Ottawa brief said the poor have a right to "decent, healthy and beautiful housing. But too often little imagination was shown in low-rental projects.

The committee discussed a proposal that Canada's centennial in 1967 be marked by the building of new communities incorporating the best in town planning and architecture.

If they were built, they should be satellites of Montreal or Toronto, Professor Jacob Spelt of the University of Toronto, said. They should fit in with regional planning of the entire metropolitan area. Neag those big cities they would be seen by more people and do the most good.

Professor Spelt presented the brief of the Canadian Association of Geographers.

Threat of Nation-Wide Rail Strike in Britain Monday Will Launch Long Strife

By DAVE OANCIA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

For Britain, the threat of a nation-wide rail strike Monday launches what is expected to be at least a year of labor-management strife.

If the trains grind to a halt, expectations are the country will be crippled as badly as during the 1926 general strike.

This threatened the end of a lull between wage rounds. Through the country, unions have given notice that they intend to press for major benefits for their members.

In many sectors of the economy — notably the engineering industry—the demands are for shorter work week with no loss in pay.

POLITICS INVOLVED

The rail weekend dispute is slightly different from these. For years the nationalized railways system has been plagued in both by falling revenues and a chronic shortage of capital for modernization.

This has developed into a hot political issue as well as a labor dispute. Back in the days of Thomas Dalton, who created the nationalized system, the British Transport Commission's main mission showed a small surplus.

After the Labor government's defeat in 1951 it began relentless denationalized road transport—reversing the Labor commission one of its profitable operations—and has chalked up deficits ever since.

The commission was forced to cold down many plans for necessary expansion or modernization of facilities. It has not been getting the best on the British industrial scene, expect in a few areas below those paid for comparable work in factories.

SPECIAL WAGE INCREASE

Roughly two years ago the government dealt with growing Canadian pressure for higher pay by appointing a special committee to study railway wage scales.

Speculation is that the committee's report, expected in about three weeks, will call for substantial wage increases to raise pay to levels in comparable industries. It will include adequate rewards for skill and responsibility.

The government will soon have to face the difficult decision of whether to set a state subsidy is the only way to keep Britain's trains running regularly and efficiently.

Series Dropped On Complaint Of Loyalists

NEW YORK (CP) — Variety says CBC-TV dropped Walt Disney's Swamp Fox series after only two episodes because of complaints from descendants of the United Empire Loyalists.

They protested that Loyalists were depicted as the "villains" in the American Revolution, says the magazine.

But Variety says "thickerskinned" television viewers in Southern Ontario will still be able to see the remaining episodes on Buffalo TV station. The CBC will replace the series with Disney reruns, it adds.

Leslie Nielsen, who plays Col. Francis Marion, the "swamp fox" as quoted as saying: "I understand that the Tories are upset because they feel our treatment of the British of these days is unfair on the Canadian government."

NO INTERFERENCE

William Dulmage, CBC public relations director, is quoted by Variety as stating that "there has been no government interference" in the withdrawal of the series.

Responding to the paper Dulmage also said: "We were very disappointed in the series because of inaccurate portrayal of the United Empire Loyalists, . . .

"These were our forefathers and we have always been taught, that they were the pioneers who in walking out of their own country . . .

"On the program they were shown as stupid, renegade type of people in the wrong cause and it is a serious matter when our responsibilities are challenged coils and letters, but no formal protest from the Sir Temple Loyalist Association branches.

Proposed Settlement of Grants On Education Still Unsolved

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government's views on the Quebec government's proposed settlement of a thorny problem—the recovery of 50 per cent of estimated for universities in the province—remain undisclosed.

The amount represents federal grants accumulated since 1951 because Quebec universities refused Ottawa's aid. By this refusal they supported the Quebec government's view that education is a matter solely within provincial jurisdiction and federal aid is an infringement of provincial rights. The issue is being held in trust by the Canadian University Foundation.

ALTERNATE PLAN

Last December the federal government proposed as a solution, in lieu an alternative method of payments of grants, It would authorize the government to collect one-per-cent tax on corporation income and use the revenue for university grants.

Ottawa made this offer after a conference with provincials. It was made a short time earlier by the late Premier Duplessis.

The Quebec government therefore decided to increase corporation income tax to 10 from nine per cent. Ottawa indicated the additional tax would be deducted from the federal tax.

Quebec City says Quebec set up a staking fund and proposed to pay into it the 10 per cent. It provided Ottawa agrees to turn the money over to the government.

OTTAWA'S ATTITUDE

It's up to the federal government to take the next step since the provincial views have been clearly established.

Official government views have not been disclosed, and it is impossible to obtain opinions on the matter.

If it agrees to make the money available, the federal government, the federal government will have to amend its legislation. At the present time, the grants are paid to the foundation which then distributes the money to the universities.

A spokesman in Prime Minister Diefenbaker's office said he was unaware of any plans for a meeting soon between a federal government representative and

"My wife says every time I see a pretty girl I forget I'm married, which is a lie. I remember."

Premier Antonio Barrette of Quebec to discuss the matter.

Earlier this week, Mr. Barrette said at Quebec City that next Mr. Diefenbaker's personal representative soon. This representative is believed probably be Finance Minister Fleming.

More Public Housing Asked By Liberal

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government should build more public housing in Metropolitan Toronto for the "average wage earner," Vernon Singer, Liberal member for York Centre, said in the legislature Thursday.

Mr. Singer said during the throne speech debate that there are some 3,000 acres of land in the Toronto area owned by provincial and federal authorities which could be used for such housing.

Mr. Singer also called for the government to take action in the matter of fluoridation of water and to pass legislation supporting the seven Ontario municipalities that now have fluoridated water supplies.

Lions' Quiz Players on Happiness Theme

DETROIT (AP)—At least 12 members of Detroit Lions have been asked by the National Football League team to write letters to the front office stating they are happy with the management and want to play here in 1960.

Edwin J. Anderson, Lions president and general manager who instructed coach George Wilson to make the request, said it was "routine procedure." He said the Lions are trying to ascertain whether the players want to play here next season.

"We keep hearing and reading reports that some members of our team want to go to the Canadian league and to the new American Football League, so we decided we'd better find out just which ones want to play here," Anderson said.

Several Detroit players are threatening to play out their options so they can become free agents after next season. They then could play for the highest bidder.

Lighting Arts Academy Fetes Local Graduates

Eighteen Belleville and district residents have been graduated as Certified Residential Lighting Consultants, following an intensive 12-week course conducted by the Academy of Lighting Arts and jointly sponsored by Belleville Hydro and Ontario Hydro.

The Academy of Lighting Arts training is intended for any man or woman who has an active interest in Residential Lighting. It integrates essential knowledge of lighting design that has proved successful. Throughout the training are interwoven facts which show the individual the opportunities offered by Residential Lighting as a business career.

It is primarily for these people that the Academy of Lighting Arts has been created—people who are interested in acquiring more than a superficial knowledge of Residential Lighting.

13 SESSIONS

The training course was conducted in group meetings in which the number of enrollees was limiting so that each could participate personally and receive individual attention from the group instructor. The Academy of Lighting Arts training was covered in 12 sessions of approximately 2½ hours each. The accompanying summary of each session gave some indication of the scope and value of the training.

Because it is easier to learn through the eye than through the ear (and this is especially true of lighting) two motion pictures and nine colored slide films were produced as the foundation of the Academy of Lighting Arts training. These films were supplemented by chart presentations, equipment demonstration, practice sessions, self-check quizzes and individual assignments.

Each graduate received complete recap notes of the subjects covered in each session. He also received "take-home" literature which is pertinent to the subjects covered in the training.

Those whose attendance was regular, who carried out their assignments satisfactorily and who passed the final examination became graduates of the Academy of Lighting Arts, and received a diploma. The names of all graduates have been recorded and they will receive from the Academy of Lighting Arts mailings of Light for Living developments and activities which will help keep their knowledge up to date and their interest alive.

So successful was Canada's first "Academy of Lighting Arts," held in the Spring of 1959, in Toronto, that three previous Immediately arrangements for plans for this outstanding training starting in mid-September.

UTILITIES COPIED

Leading utilities in Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta were quick to see the advantage of sponsoring the 12-week course for all those seeking to advance the science, art and business of home lighting. This includes: architects, builders and contractors, interior decorators and consultants, dealers, distributors, manufacturers and even housewives.

Response from those who participated in the station's first Academy course in Toronto was consistently enthusiastic. Some drove as much as 180 miles each week to attend the two-hour conferences. A pilot some of the worst winter weather, attendance and punctuality broke all records for courses of this kind.

So successful was Canada's first "Academy of Lighting Arts" course, held in the spring of 1959, that the course was instituted in Belleville under the joint sponsorship of Belleville Utilities and Ontario Hydro in mid-September. The Academy of Lighting Arts was presented to anyone interested in Residential Lighting to provide an adequate training for those who realize the importance of Light-for-Living. There's a bright new world of beauty waiting for you the moment you start to use modern electric lighting to best advantage.

Juniors Count Eighth Win in Row, Hand Picton Club 11-3 Shellacking

Belleville Lambert-Rollits took a 3-1 first-period lead and never looked back in Picton last night as they handed Picton Merchants an 11-3 whipping for their eighth consecutive OHA Eastern Junior "B" league triumph.

The victory left Belleville seven points back of the first place Peterborough Lakes and a heavy nine staged of third-place Kingston. The L-R's next game will be at home Monday night against Cobourg, at 8.30.

Belleville opened up a 6-1 lead with the only four goals of the piddle bout in last night's fire, then outscored the Merchants 5-2 in the third period for the 11-3 score.

Penalties once again were very prominent in the scoring summary, Referees Art Casterton of Kingston and Picton's Hayter assessed 32 in all with the winners drawing 14 of that total. In the first period alone 21 penalties were given, including fighting majors to Kennedy and Rowbotham of Belleville and Byrant and McCarrol of Picton. Bryant also picked up a misconduct in the second period as well as three minors.

Belleville's Gary Rowbotham opened the scoring at 1.07 of the first period with Davidson right at it at 4.37. Rowbotham's second goal ended the scoring for the period and gave Belleville a lead they never relinquished.

Assistants Rowbotham, Denny Hull and Forsythe made it 6-1 in the second and Hunter added another to start the third frame. Picton struck back for their final pair, by Davidson and Pero, to cut the lead to 7-3. Goals by Hunter, Dan Hull, Kennedy and Ron Hull again wrapped it up.

Gary Rowbotham spearheaded the winner's attack with three goals while Moe Hunter came up with a top point mark for the night with two goals and two assists, Denny Hull had two and one, Pat Anselmo one and two, Denny Hull, Don Forsythe and Ted Kennedy the other goals. Gary Goyer earned three assists, Gerry Mann and Kennedy one apiece. Gord Parker came up with a strong game in the Belleville net, making 34 saves.

Davidson, with a pair, and Pero were the Picton marksmen, assists going to McCarroll, German, Denard and Kenneedy.

BELLEVILLE — Gord Parker, Mann, Anselstine, Rowbotham, Elliott, Forsythe, Goyer, Hunter, R. Hull, Plane, D. Hull, Reid, Mavety, T. Kennedy.

PICTON — Branscombe, Woodbeck, Davidson, Beatty, Weese, Proctor, Pero, McCarroll, Carson, Storms, Bryant, Denard Kennedy Taylor, German.

Marlene, Pal In Doubles Semi-Finals

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Defending champions Jack Penrose of Miami Beach and Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto led the way into the semi-finals of the United States mixed tournament Thursday.

They defeated Joe Mitchell of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Nancy Roth of Hollywood, Fla., 3 and 2, then eliminated Art Barney of Oshkosh, Wis., and Mrs. John Dyson, Sugar Loaf, Pa., 4 and 2.

William Hyndman of Philadelphia will meet Bob Mudd of Seattle, Wash., defeated Frank Strafaci of Miami Beach and Carolyn Cudone of West Caldwell, N.J., 1 up after eliminating a pair from Canada.

Mrs. Streit closed out her afternoon match with a 12-foot birdie putt on the 15th green.

Penrose and Mrs. Streit play Hyndman and Miss Quast in today's semi-final round over 18 holes.

White Sox 1960 Payroll Is $800,000

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago White Sox, winners last year of their first American League pennant in 40 years, will have to meet an $800,000 player payroll in 1960. That's an increase of $150,000 over 1959, said vice - president Hank Greenberg.

"After all, the players deserve raises after a pennant victory," he said. "But there are other reasons, too. Through several deals we received young fellows with established stars and absorbed their salaries.

"There also is a defrease in the amount of player material. Before the war you got rid of a fellow before he was over the hill and brought in young players whose salary would be $5,000 instead of $20,000 or so.

"Now we have to keep those veterans as reserve players on the bench getting $15,000 to $20,000."

Unsigned regulars include Nellie Fox, Luis Aparicio, Minnie Minoso, Jim Landis, Turk Lown, Dick Donovan, Gene Freese and Billy Goodman.

CONSIDER BOXING GROUP

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York State Athletic Commission Thursday called a hearing for Feb. 19 to consider the application of Feature Sports, Inc., Roy Cohn's eighteen group, for a license to promote boxing. Cohn's group hopes to promote the return match between heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson in June.

Yankees, Braves Are Favored In Betting Odds

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The derby sports book, traditionally the first among Las Vegas gambling agencies to post odds on the major league baseball races, Thursday made these available for betting here:

National League — Milwaukee 7 to 5; San Francisco 9 to 5; Los Angeles 2 to 1; Pittsburgh 6 to 1; Cincinnati 6 to 1; St. Louis 20 to 1; Chicago 20 to 1; Philadelphia 50 to 1.

American League — New York 4 to 5; Chicago 2 to 1; Cleveland 3 to 1; Detroit 4 to 1; Boston 20 to 1; Baltimore 20 to 1; Kansas City 100 to 1; Washington 100 to 1.

Oddsmaker Jackie Gaughan said he believed New York had the edge in the American League last year and will come back strong again in 1960. He rated Milwaukee 7 to 5 in the National League because of superior pitching, he said.

"Do It Now For Less"

Now It's Official; McFarlands Are In Loop Playoffs

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

THEY'RE IN!

The back door to the Senior Ontario "A" Hockey League playoffs, ajar for the past month, swung wide open last night to let the McFarlands in.

The league championship will be decided via a five-team round robin, a four-team semi-finals and of course the championship series.

The round-robin announcement made following a meeting of the OHA in Toronto last night was more or less anti-climactic. The supposed hush-hush deal was as secretive as the coming of the royal baby.

It has been written, aired and blasted by Western Ontario sportswriters and "casters." The consensus was it would kill senior hockey. One called the proposed round-robin "tripe", another dubbed it "hockey garbage."

Managers of the Windsor and Chatham teams came out solidly (publicly) against the round-robin. Last night the Windsor team stood to its guns. The Chatham management had a change of mind.

Windsor officials also stated that the Bulldogs will not enter the Ontario Senior "A" League next year. They claimed they played a 54-game schedule for nothing. Time has a wondrous way of healing and changing minds. It's a long haul from now until next season. It could be a different story by that time. After all, the Dogs drew the best houses in the league.

That the McFarlands will be in senior hockey next year was made fairly conclusive by the fact the sponsor deposited a $2,000 bond guaranteeing the team's entry in the 1960-61 season.

The round-robin announcement was more or less a "foolproof" one. Merely a confirmation of rumors that have cluttered the air not only in western Ontario but in this city as well. "The well-laid plans of mice and men . . ."

Schedule games from here in will be jockeying of positions by Whitby, Windsor and Chatham. The Macs' role will be that of glass-ballers. They can make or break any of the other clubs' chances to reach the top slot spots. As of now the race is very tight.

However, the way the league cookie has crumbled, the McFarlands have a last-ditch opportunity to flash their true potential.

They can, by producing the hockey they have shown in some of their games, make amends for what generally has been a dismal season.

True they are somewhat handicapped in the defence department but as was the case in previous games, spirit, fire and a determination to win can overcome.

They have proven, unsmodically it is true, that they are as good as any team in the league. If their potential was ever needed it is now.

Back to the playoffs for the nonce, the Macs, it is stated, will meet the Whitby Dunlops in the first dual match of the round-robin series. The game will take on Chatham. This was drawn to facilitate travel. The teams clash on March 1 with the Macs at Whitby.

The Kitchener threat to league honors could be a question. Win, lose or draw at the Olympics, the Dutchies will be hockey and travel-weary. Besides they will return their league reinforcements to the parent clubs—and that should make a difference.

As has been mentioned before it would be passing strange should the Dutchmen win the Olympics championship only to come home and be eliminated in their own league playoffs. Stranger things have happened.

Closer to home, the Macs entertain the Whitby Bulldogs here tonight and after what happened in Toronto last night, Lammy Lamirande's crew won't be in any amiable frame of mind. It is no secret that the Dogs have their eyes on top of the league and now and so far as the Macs are concerned they are just another stepping stone to the Dogs' ambition. Which means that tonight's tilt should be a sizzler. Game at nine o'clock.

Mantle Still Refuses to Accept Cut

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Mickey Mantle harbors no grudge against the Yankees, is issuing no ultimatum and making no threats.

But he will not accept the huge slice in his 1960 pay proposed by the New York front office.

That's what the Yankee slugger said Thursday after shooting a 77 in the first round of the annual baseball players' golf tournament.

"I had a disappointing year in 1959. I expected a cut, but not that big. I sent the contract back and now I'm waiting to hear from them again. That's all there is to it."

It was learned that the first contract called for a salary of $65,000, a cut of $10,000 from his 1959 salary, or nearly 13 per cent.

Play Home and Home Series To Decide Semi-Finalists; Windsor Will Quit League

TORONTO (CP)—Windsor Bulldogs say they're through in Ontario Hockey Association Senior A play.

The club will withdraw from the league next year, John Sutherland, secretary of the Bulldogs, told representatives of the league's five teams Thursday night.

"We played a 54-game schedule for nothing," Sutherland said. "Windsor will not be in the league next year."

The meeting approved a playoff series involving four home games for each team, eliminating one club before semi-final play begins. Belleville, Whitby, Chatham and Kitchener representatives supported the plan upon the posting of a $2,000 bond by Belleville McFarlands, guaranteeing the team's participation in the 1960-61 schedule.

SEASON UNBALANCED

Sutherland said the round-robin series would make the long regular season absolutely pointless. The first place team would be forced to play a game that didn't count before reaching the four - team semi-finals.

Sutherland said the Windsor club also was concerned about falling financially with the prospect of long drawn-out playoffs.

Representatives of Belleville, in last place in the standings, argued that all teams should be permitted to enter the playoffs, since each club was committed to contribute players to make up the league's All-Star representatives, the Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen. The Dutchmen now are en route to Squaw Valley, Calif., where hockey competitions begin next week.

A January meeting of team representatives approved in principle the round-robin series, pending the McFarlands' posting of the $2,000 bond. McFarlands' manager Keith McDonald said his club had also acted in good faith by contributing a player to the Olympic squad, while Windsor, as of now, had given up none from its roster.

FINALS START MARCH 1

The first two games of the round-robin will be played March 1.

Whitby and Belleville will play at Whitby and Windsor and Chatham will meet in the other game, with the team highest in the final standings playing host. The Dutchmen, now in second place behind Whitby, will return from Squaw Valley Feb. 29 and will play several games before entering the round-robin.

The team with fewest games to its credit after the round-robin and the four remaining teams will enter the playoffs. The first-place team in the round-robin results plays the third-place club, and the second-place team the fourth.

Kelly's Injury 'Blown Up' By Toronto Magazine Story

DETROIT (AP)—A Detroit doctor said today the controversial Red Kelly hockey injury had been blown out of proportions.

Dr. Charles J. Kariko, one of the men who treated the former Detroit Red Wing player last year, termed the medical record of Kelly's injury along with team physician Dr. Milton Kosloy.

Kelly was traded earlier this week to the Toronto Maple Leafs. Last week he and Billy McNeill were dealt to New York Rangers for Bill Gadsby and Eddie Shack but Kelly and McNeill refused to report.

Kelly said he felt the trade was triggered by an article in a Toronto magazine, which quoted him as saying that general manager Jack Adams of the Wings asked him to play despite a broken ankle.

Adams heatedly denied the story and said the article had nothing to do with the trade. Kelly said later that the article did not give an accurate account of what he had told an interviewer.

DESCRIBES INJURY

Dr. Kariko said the injury, received Jan. 12, 1950, when a practice shot by teammate Pete Goegan hit Kelly in the foot, was not a true fracture. Kelly was injured on the small toe of his left foot.

"It was a soft tissue injury that pulled off a portion of the covering of the bone," said Dr. Kariko. "We figured he'd be out about 10 days and that a cast would promote healing.

"The cast was removed after eight days because Kelly was bothered along the arch. He said his foot felt good and he asked us if he could go to Chicago with the club.

Kariko said that neither he nor Dr. Kosloy talked with Adams or coach Sid Abel about the injury. Kelly was granted permission to play. Kosloy says Kelly recovered his foot by playing."

Kariko said Kelly received regular treatment and had complete healing and that he "in no way endangered himself by playing when he did."

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — Civic officials are considering placing a statue in memory of Charley I. Gorman, famed speed skater who died 20 years ago Thursday. Gorman won the world title in 1926 and in winning 121 races in so many races set a world record of 35.4 seconds for the 440-yard dash which still stands.

Sault Birds Thump Kingston, Lions Claw Hull

By The Canadian Press

It was a black night for Shiftdown Canucks in the Eastern Professional Hockey League. They lost a player, a game, a chance at first place and are alone in last place.

Canadiens were beaten 5-3 on home ice Thursday night by Trois-Rivieres Lions. Defenceman John Longerini suffered a shoulder separation when he slid into the boards blocking a shot and will be out indefinitely.

At Sault Ste. Marie, Canadiens' fifth - place rivals, Soo Thunderbirds, pulled two points ahead of the Habs by defeating Kingston Frontenacs 7-3. Thunderbirds have 49 points, two behind Frontenacs and Lions, who are tied for third spot.

Canadiens' Harbin Wall before 2,738 fans when Bob Eliett and Bob Courcy scored in the first period. Rollie Leclair replied for Lions.

Rimouski Olson tied the game in the second period and the battle was on right until the last four minutes of the game.

Sandy McGregor scored what proved to be the winning goal with a dribbler that scooted through the legs of Charlie Hodge. Jean-Paul Denis and Bob Bourdon iced it for Lions.

Longarini, injured in the second period, joins the other Canadiens' casualties — defencemen Jean-Claude Tremblay and forward Jack Rochefort.

Matt Ravlich led the Soo scoring with two goals. Singles were picked up by Wayne Hicks, Rian Caron, Fred Hillis, Gary Haine and Walter Bradley. Hicks and Bradley got their 20th goals. Referee-in-chief was Orval Tessier, Stan Maxwell and Glen Hall were linesmen. The game was watched by 2,409 fans.

Minor Scores 16 Counters In Two Games

ALVINSTON, Ont. (CP)— When it comes to scoring Dick Johnson, 13, can't be a back seat to nobody.

Dick collected 16 goals in two playoff games against teams from nearby Bothwell minor hockey night. He scored nine in a bantam group game and added seven more in the second and seven in a midget game which ended in a 16-1 decision.

Bothwell bantams agreed to forfeit the second game of the two-game total — goals and all — when Bothwell midgets decided to try to offset the 15-goal deficit in a second contest.

Lawyers Ready To Fire in Cannon Caper

LOS ANGELES (AP)—John C. McHose, Los Angeles Rams coach, threw a few hooks while halfback Billy Cannon's lawyer was taking a deposition from Pete Rozelle Thursday.

Cannon, who starred for Louisiana State last season, is the prize in a contract dispute between the Rams of the National Football League and Houston of the rival American League.

The Los Angeles club is suing Cannon to enforce a contract with him. Cannon wants to play for Houston, with whom he also has signed.

Rozelle, now NFL commissioner, signed Cannon for the Rams while he was serving as Rams general manager.

Lawyer Lowell Dryden, representing Cannon, subpoenaed Rozelly to question Rozelle Thursday about how he regarded amateurism.

Each time, McHose objected. He said the line of questioning was unfair because Rozelle's answers to anything so broad would have application to his new post as league commissioner.

Rozelle did say the NFL has a self-imposed rule of not using colleges players until a full four years after their entrance in university. This, said Rozelle, represents more recognition of the colleges than is given them by other professional sports—basketball for example.

Dryden said he would take the deposition to court in a few days to obtain a ruling that would direct Rozelle to reply to his questions.

Hamilton Out Of Playoffs; Petes Beaten

By The Canadian Press

Hamilton Tiger Cubs have no chance of making the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A playoffs but if Thursday night's game against Guelph Biltmores is any indication, the Cubs don't plan to finish the season lamely.

About 1,500 Hamilton fans saw their club fight back twice to tie Guelph 2-2. The tie put Biltmores in fourth-place with St. Catharines TeePees.

Toronto Marlboros defeated Peterborough Petes 6-2 at Peterborough to lengthen their league lead by eight points over Barrie Flyers. St. Michael's College Majors were third.

Jean Ratelle scored for the Biltmores' early in the first period but a minute later Neil Forbes scored for Cubs. Guelph shot ahead again in the second when Rick Ley and Ratelle scored. Bob Dahmer tied it in the third.

Guelph drew six of 11 minor penalties, Ratelle and Cubs' Larry Jeffrey received majors for a brief second-period clash.

At Peterborough, the first period was scoreless, and was tied 2-2 going into the third.

Rickey May, Jack Matelin, Jim Papin and Gary Jarret scored for Marlboros, Wayne Connelly and Gerry Mork tallied for Peterboroughs.

Bruins Back In Fourth-Place Stalemate

Puck Bounces off Gendron To Score Important Marker In 3-2 Victory Over Wings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Being in the wrong place at the right time has helped Boston Bruins' Guy Gendron in his first 70-goal season in the National Hockey League.

The little utility winger got credit for No. 20 Thursday night when he got in the way of Charlie Burns' high shot and watched the puck carom off his leg and into Detroit Red Wings net as Boston beat the Wings 3-2.

The home-ice victory put Bruins back into a fourth-place tie with Chicago Black Hawks and left Detroit in third place.

When Bruins drafted Gendron from New York Rangers after the 1957-58 season they didn't expect a lot from the 180-pound Montreal native.

He had never scored more than 10 goals in three seasons with the Rangers and coach Milt Schmidt thought he would see only occasional duty as a penalty-killer spot in spots on regular checking units.

But Gendron's speed and aggressiveness quickly made him one of the Bruins most useful players and in his first season with them he upped his goal-production to 18, a respectable total for any player.

OLIVER TO 15

His goal Thursday night came in the third period and broke a 1-1 tie. It was the Montreal native's 20th mark. Johnny Bucyk scored Bruins' first goal and Bob Armstrong late in the third while rookie Murray Oliver scored both De-

Big Four Plans

Take-It-Leave-It Proposal For Part Interlock Schedule

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—The eastern Big Four planned to present a take-it-or-leave-it proposal for a partial interlocking schedule to western delegates at the Canadian Football League's annual meeting today.

Talks on an interlocking schedule got nowhere at Thursday's CFL session. But when the Big Four and Western Interprovincial Football Union delegates split into separate meetings at night, the easterners decided a definite stand had to be taken.

"We've come to a definite conclusion, which we will make known tomorrow afternoon," Big Four president Sam Berger of Ottawa said following the closed meeting. "It has to be decided one way or another."

ARGUE TV SPLIT

The big holdup has been the split on television money. The West wants 40 per cent of the total TV revenue. The other 60 per cent would go to the Big Four.

The Big Four was reported holding out for a $5,000 fee to western teams playing in the East and $2,500 for eastern teams playing in the West.

Berger said the Big Four's offer today would be only slightly modified from its earlier proposal.

William McMahon, WIFU president, said in a statement:

"The WIFU feels that over the long pull an interlocking schedule is best for everybody and for that reason is willing to forgo the gate participation in the gates of the eastern union. But they feel that the value of TV will be considerably enhanced by the inclusion of the western clubs and for that reason they feel they are entitled to 40 per cent of the total TV revenue, which actually means that the West is offering to divide 40 per cent among its five teams, which gives each western team eight per cent.

"This means that the four western teams will get 40 per cent of the TV revenue, or 15 per cent each. This roughly gives each eastern team double the revenue that a western team gets."

CBC AWAITS VERDICT

The CBC last year paid $350,000 to the Big Four for TV rights and $125,000 to the WIFU. The CBC still has to negotiate 1960 contracts with the two leagues, but no action can be taken until the question of an interlocking schedule is cleared up.

In other business, Berger said the Big Four has received several applications for the position of league general manager. He said no action has been taken as the league does not want to "rush into it" but will wait and see "what might develop in the next few months."

Berger said the general manager could possibly act as eastern representative for league commissioner G. Sydney Halter of Winnipeg.

The WIFU reported junior leagues in the west reduced playoff losses from $4,500 in 1956 to $967 last year.

Old Rangers Face Bentleys In Crutch Tilt

VANCOUVER (CP) — Five former New York Rangers and a Calgary Stampeder hockey player will try to stop the Bentleys in the annual old-timers game here next Monday.

One team will be composed of Bentley brothers as far as the eye can see — Jack in goal, Roy and Reg on defence, and Max, Doug and Scoop up front.

Opposing them: Babe Pratt and Neil Colville on defence and forwards Brian Hextall, Clint Smith and Tony Leswick, all formerly with New York.

Ex - Stampeder Tiger Mitchell will be in goal.

Muzz Patrick plans to drop his general manager's duties with the Rangers to fly here and take a regular turn on defence.

Five Pro Grid Clubs Draft 25 Intercollegiate Stars

WINNIPEG (CP)—Twenty-four players from the Eastern Intercollegiate Football League Thursday night were picked up in the draft by the five participating professional clubs.

Top choice was offensive tackle and defensive middle guard Bill Mitchell from the champion University of Western Ontario Mustangs, who had the list with eight players drafted.

Mitchell, a 220 - pounder, and considered an excellent pro prospect, was first choice of Toronto Argonauts, given the initial pick of last place finishers in the league losing the Grey Cup final.

Calgary Stampeders, only club involved in the draft from the Western Interprovincial Football Union, received second pick, followed by the three other clubs from the Big Four of National Alouettes, Ottawa Rough Riders and Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Stampeders took fullback Mike Politziani from Western as their first choice and immediately traded him to Alouettes.

COACHES CHOSEN

Alouettes grabbed off Western's other fullback, Lionel Conacher, son of the late Big Train of football and hockey fame, as their No. 2 pick.

Halfback Steve Chisholm from the University of Toronto went on the first round to Ottawa. A fourth Western player, quarterback Paul Cameron, completed the initial round as he went to the Big Four champion Tiger-Cats.

In all, Montreal got seven men in the draft, including the purchase of Politziani from Calgary; Ottawa six; Hamilton five; and Toronto and Calgary three apiece.

Seven players from the University of Toronto went through the draft; six from Queens and three from McGill.

Remainder of the draft:

Paar's Action in Quitting Show Stirs Much Interest

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Hugh Downs told Shelley Berman Thursday night that he didn't need a routine.

"You can just sit in a chair on the stage and answer questions about tonight's show," said Downs. He was right.

A lot of people who tuned in early Thursday night are going to be asking questions about the Jack Paar show.

Paar's announcement that he never walking out—forever—after about 20 minutes was something less than a bombshell. NBC had made the announcement at the beginning of the program, explaining the network's decision to eliminate a controversial story Wednesday on the grounds of good taste and expressing hope that Paar would reconsider. It repeated the announcement several times during the next hour and 45 minutes.

Paar defended himself, decried censorship and, in teary, announced his decision. Then he departed.

Downs took over and proved resourceful, calm and fully in control of a lot of air time and no show. He allowed all the guests to have their say — and Orson Bean was pretty rough in his opinion. Downs even went into the audience for reaction.

Without being disloyal to Paar, Downs defended the network's point of view and action, even acknowledging that he, personally, did not approve of the disputed story and would not have used it himself.

NBC is to be congratulated for putting the taped show on the air. It would have been a shame if we had missed it.

After all this, how on earth can Paar go back to work?

Nanette Fabray, singing in tonight's telephone hour, has some 10-second costume changes during a 16-minute history of women in song on the live show.

They are possible with "break-away clothes"—without zippers, hooks and eyes or many buttons, and which can be snatched off.

She wears, for instance, skirts which hang from a metal belt like an oversize bicycle clip so that one may be pulled off and another clipped on in a flash. Her jacket fastens with a single button. She had the bright idea of saving precious seconds by having her hats sewed onto the wigs she will wear. This was harder: It involved making special arrangements between the hairdressers' and the milliners' unions.

What brought her back to work was her first film role in three years, Samuel Goldwyn Jr. suggested she do a role in Huckleberry Finn.

"It's what they call a cameo role," she said. "That's the word they use to sooth an actor's ego when the role ain't so big."

NOT NECESSITY

Judy's return is not due to financial necessity.

"I don't have to work. Fortunately, I put the money away when it was coming in.

"The ones who told me all about annuities years ago were Abbott and Costello. I can't understand what happened to them."

Leo Costello died with only a fraction of the millions he earned and Bud Abbott is pleading poverty. But the girls who took their salaries and savings in apartment houses around town and real estate in her native Florida, she and her husband, Phillip Rizzuto, have spent much of their time managing such interests.

Judy helped introduce the U.S. to comedy music, which lately has been combined with blues under the guise of rock 'n' roll. I asked her what she thought of it.

"I agree with what Paul Whiteman said the other day," she commented. "I'm glad to see rock 'n' roll dying out because that means music will be coming back."

ASK RESPECT FOR PRESS

PARIS (Reuters) — The National Federation of the French Press Thursday called on the government to end seizures of newspapers and respect the right of journalists to free access to news. A resolution passed unanimously by the federation's plenary commission here expressed anxiety at certain recent measures, including re-establishment of censorship, seizure of newspapers of widely varied opinion and police searches of news agency an newspaper offices.

Even 'Glamorous' J. Canova Glad Rock 'n' Roll Dying Out

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Back on the farm, they would hardly recognize Judy Canova. She's quite glamorous.

The onetime hillbilly queen sports a stylish blonde coiffure that symbolizes her new attitude toward life.

"This has happened to me again and again," she said. "I get times when I just like being lazy. Then I get started working again, and I get going like mad."

What brought her back to work was her first film role in three years, Samuel Goldwyn Jr. suggested she do a role in Huckleberry Finn.

"It's what they call a cameo role," she said. "That's the word they use to sooth an actor's ego when the role ain't so big."

Sport Snapshots

Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Canadian Football League rules committee must hope that game officials will call the shots by ear next season. If you think the committee members are perplexed, you're absolutely right.

Ponder this:

They emerged from a secret session in Toronto last weekend to announce that, starting this year, linemen and the two flanking halfbacks will be allowed unlimited blocking on running plays and forward passes. The last two seasons they were allowed to block only to the third five-yard stripe beyond the line of scrimmage.

The new rule, as any fan will agree, is the most revolutionary change in the game since the forward pass became legal in 1931.

The only catch is that the rules makers, at least some of them, aren't on solid footing in their interpretation of the danged thing.

FORWARD PASSES?

Let's see, now, does the unlimited blocking apply to forward passes? This is the type of embarrassing question game officials are likely to ask because they can get in enough trouble in their interpretation of some rules now and, if blocking on passes is permissible it would be a nice thing to know in advance.

A poll was taken of committee members. Here's the result:

Lou Hayman, managing director of Toronto Argonauts: "My interpretation of the rule is that it applies only to ground plays and screen passes. It doesn't apply to forward passes."

Jake Gaudaur, president of Hamilton Tiger-Cats: "I agree with Lou, but don't take this for gospel." In other words, the man isn't sure.

NOT SURE

George Terlep, general manager of Ottawa Rough Riders: "No one brought up these points about whether linemen or the perplexed backfielders could block after forward pass completions. I'm not sure."

Bud Grant, coach of Winnipeg Blue Bombers who sat in on the meeting as an observer: "The rule applies only to ground plays and screen passes and not to forward passes."

Bert Warwick of Edmonton committee chairman: "Unlimited blocking will not be permitted on forward passes."

IN RULE BOOK

There you have it. And here's how the rule will appear in the rule book unless, of course, some changes are made between now and next August:

"During any play from scrimmage, players of the attacking side who are within one yard of the line of scrimmage at the time the ball is put into play, may interfere with their opponents anywhere on the side of the line."

The section under Scrimmage in the rule book takes up nearly nine pages and there are at least three mentions of forward passes from scrimmage. But the rules makers apparently don't consider a forward pass a play from scrimmage according to the wording of the rule quoted above.

Don't know where it would start, except possibly up in Section 48 after a huddle with a good-looking blonde.

Astrological Forecast

Saturday, February 13

By CARROLL RICHTER

General tendencies: This is a Saturday when you can certainly get everything spic and span and in apple pie order. Be sure you look into any interests that have to do with expanding your knowledge and understanding into higher fields of thought, as well as reducing physical surroundings to an orderly and attractive condition.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Important you get surroundings in best order today, work done to your garden, as well as doing shopping for most necessary items. P.M. take the treatments that will improve your health. Get your clothing in order. Retire early.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — It would be best first to tidy your beautician or barbershop so that you look your very best, before you step out with friends to enjoy an interesting day at your favorite sports and activities of a cultural nature, perhaps. Be jolly.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Day hours are best spent getting your home and grounds in better condition. Furbishings cleaned, etc. Have everything spotlessly clean. P.M. fine for relaxation or light entertainment at own fireside. Be charming, light-hearted.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Be sure you finish your shopping now and also pay the bills that are important, early. Then you can be with comrades for a happy afternoon and evening at the activities you most enjoy. Find peace of soul through cultural lines.

Leo (July 22 to August 21) — Fine day to look carefully at real estate you may possess and see what work needs to be done to make it more valuable, attractive. Do what you can yourself now. You can personally add much in the way of color and objects d'art.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — You know intuitively just what to do to put you in your best interest right now. Be sure you use the objective approach in dealing with others. See that your appearance is at its best first. P.M. sociability is important.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Day hours are best spent cleaning up the million and one little tasks that must be done to give you peace of mind. P.M. how long is it since you have been to a good nightclub? Go tonight.

Scorpio (Oct. 22 to 07?21) — You can accomplish those things next to your heart that are usually impossible during the busy week by contenting the right people. P.M. be out to some delightful social function and have a good time. Be cheerful and chic.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Anything of a public nature can be handled very wisely today, also in P.M. But you have to get out into the hustle and bustle of active outside world. Show gratitude for the kind actions of others. Enjoy yourself, too.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Fine day for getting into new outlets that will make your life more interesting and remunerative. Travel, meet people, study, get into sports — anything that will help you rub shoulders with progressive, successful people.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Be sure you get all monetary problems adjusted wisely now. Also, impress others who are vital in your life with your truly remarkable qualities. Proof of own loyalty and sincerity brings the like in very good measure.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Good day to cement better relations with persons who are important in your life. Carry through with all commitments, support them loyally. P.M. be off for a good time with individuals who never fail to lift your spirits.

If your child is born today . . . The wonderful child born today will succeed in accomplishing a very great deal in life because of the good and kind heart that beats under a most lovely exterior. So, be sure you afford your youngster the finest education, combining the spiritual and the material intelligently for happy and courageous living. Teach to get over small hurts quickly. An ideal chart for the minister, the doctor.

AWAKE NIGHTS
ASLEEP DAYS
Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They toss and turn in bed—and then are dull and listless throughout the day. All of which may be due to a temporary toxic condition which can be the aim of Dodd's Kidney Pills.
Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they slow down and impurities stay in the system, disturbed rest, tired feeling and backache often follow. If you don't rest well at night—if you haven't that sprightly step of health in the daytime—use Dodd's Kidney Pills. You can depend on Dodd's!

LIKE SOMETHING NICE

IN A DUPLEX. We have just listed a well kept 2-bedroom duplex in really wonderful condition. Built in 1955 and has all the features you could want. There are 4 pieces of bath —all separate and self contained with water heater, oil furnace, etc. and there's a garage. It's a wonderful duplex for owner occupied and only the rent from the other unit. We would be glad to talk to you about it.

SNOWMOBILE DESIGNER — J. Armand Bombardier, 52, designer of the Bombardier snowmobile, stands beside the latest model on the production line of his Valcourt, Quebec, factory, 60 miles east of Montreal. Mr. Bombardier, a mechanic, first conceived the idea for the machine in 1926 while contemplating the problem of heavy snows that used to curtail motor travel in Valcourt, forcing him into winter idleness. He now is president of a company employing 200 persons in two factories. The machine, which uses caterpillar treads to move through snow, mud and muskeg, has gained a world-wide market. (CP)

Snowmobile Now Produced In Variety of Shapes, Sizes

VALCOURT, Que. (CP)—On a blustery winter day in 1926, J. Armand Bombardier, then 18, idly watched snow piling up outside his garage and wondered if there wasn't some way to prevent villages such as his from being cut off from the outside world four to five months of the year.

Out of his thinking was born the Bombardier snowmobile, a vehicle used where snow, muskeg or mud make regular motor travel difficult.

The armed forces, oil and mining companies, maintenance men for utilities, ski resorts, country doctors and others have become regular users of the snowmobile, now produced in a variety of shapes and sizes, ranging from a portable sled-like affair to a tankette truck.

All are made by 200 employees in factories in this village 60 miles east of Montreal and in nearby Kingsbury.

ENFORCED IDLENESS

Mr. Bombardier was a mechanic by trade but in the winter months he was forced into idleness because no one in Valcourt could operate cars in the snow. From 1926 to 1937 he spent his winters experimenting with motor-driven vehicles that might travel through snow.

He came up with a model that was to find a world-wide market. The body of the machine was similar to cars and trucks then in use but wide skis replaced the front wheels. Four rear wheels rested on broad caterpillar treads similar to those used on army tanks.

He spent three years perfecting the machine and building a factory. He hired his brothers Alphonse, Leopold and Gerard and a few villagers and in 1940 began production. Today Mr. Bombardier's son, Germain, 30, is vice-president of the firm. Brother Alphonse is sales manager, Leopold is superintendent of the factories and Gerard is production manager. Mr. Bombardier, now 52, is president.

Designs have been radically changed since 1937. Skis have been eliminated from practically all models. Wheels now are encased in tractor treads.

The factories produce machines that can be used in snow-hauling operations, vehicles that can travel across snow or muskeg, hauling men or supplies, bus-type machines that can be used to transport school children to school or workers to places previously unreachable in winter. Treads have been designed for farm tractors, making them useable in marshlands or swamps.

Mr. Bombardier estimated that more than 10,000 vehicles have been built and sold since 1940, most of them in Canada, but some in Finland, Norway and Sweden. Some have gone along on expeditions to the Antarctic.

His latest invention is the Skidoo—a motor - propelled sled that can carry two passengers or several hundred pounds of material. The machine, weighing 335 pounds, is built on wide skis, can be carried in the trunk of a car and is capable of travelling 26 miles an hour.

Mounties Seize Heroin Worth Million Dollars

Only Enough to Handle Addicts for 2 Weeks

VANCOUVER (CP)—More than six pounds of pure heroin—worth $1,000,000 on the underworld market but not enough to supply Vancouver's addict population for more than two weeks — was seized Friday by RCMP.

It was the biggest haul of narcotics ever reported in Western Canada.

Police said the seizure of 97 ounces Friday and 21 ounces the night before climaxed a continual watch on a suspect by 24 officers. The man was seldom out of sight of a detective although he never suspected he was being tailed.

TWO CHARGED

Edward Sawicki, 31, was charged with one count of $60,000 when he appeared in court Friday on a charge of possession of drugs alleged to be worth $175,000 on the underworld market.

Joseph Hall of suburban Burnaby was charged in nearby Matsqui with possession of drugs for the purpose of trafficking and was remanded to April 20.

Narcotic detail officers were exuberant over the haul but did not predict that it would have a lasting effect on the local addiction problem.

It is estimated the drugs would supply Vancouver's 2,000 addicts for only 10 days to two weeks.

SELL-TIMED STRIKE

Police said the seizures were made at a rare moment when a large supply is in one place before distribution. Large supplies are rapidly divided into ounces which are picked up by middlemen and broken again into capsules for sale to addicts at between $4.50 and $5 a cap.

By the time a narcotic reaches the addict it generally has been cut several times with milk sugar.

Police said the chief suspect was arrested Thursday night in the city's suburban South Vancouver residential area. The man had left his new high - powered car idling in a lane. When a police approached him he jumped into his car and raced toward the RCMP vehicle but was forced to the side of the road.

Police said the contents of heroin in the man's pocket and 10 capsules in a package nearby. They returned to the area Friday and found the 97 ounces.

Mr. K. Visits Farm in India Russia Equipped

SURATGARH, India (Reuters) — A buoyant Nikita Khrushchev told Indian farmers today not to pay too much attention to Russian experts sent here to help develop Indian agriculture.

The visiting Soviet premier toured a mechanized state farm equipped with Soviet tractors and machinery which he gave to India during his last visit in 1955.

Khrushchev, who arrived in India Thursday at the start of an Asian tour, was told there was trouble using combine harvesters to gather mustard.

The visiting farm boy and agricultural expert said the mustard should be cut and allowed to dry before being picked up by the machine.

Told that Soviet experts said this would not work in India, Khrushchev replied: "Experts pay too much attention to what today's and tomorrow's professors."

When an Indian official pointed out the sun is hotter in India and the mustard pods might split, the Soviet leader replied: "There is only one sun in the world and it shines on India and Russia. . . ."

"There is nothing in science about that. You must try to learn by experience."

Khrushchev, who flew here from New Delhi for a five-hour visit, was in a happier mood and was not rushed as he had appeared during his visit so far.

Bill Would Replace Labor Relations Act

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Ontario CCF Leader Donald C. MacDonald told a Ontario Federation of Labor education conference today he'll give his legislature notice of plans to introduce a bill to replace the Labor Relations Act.

The bill, he said, would give all employees the right to bargain collectively with their own choosing for the purpose of collective bargaining.

The CCF party also has given notice to introduce a bill which would amend the Crown Agencies Act to permit employees of crown agencies to unionize, he added.

Text of his address was released to the press before delivery.

Mr. MacDonald said the Frost government will amend the Labor Relations Act this session. However, the changes are not expected to "achieve the complete overhaul of the labor legislation which has long been overdue to meet the lofty aspirations of labor."

The CCF also is pressing this session for a hospital insurance plan for complete health coverage, a plan for car insurance at cost, for an end of discrimination against the unemployment and a portable pension plan.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) - Synopsis: A high pressure area stalled over the west of Lake Superior is bringing fair weather to most of Ontario. Temperatures will range from 5 to 15 in Southern Ontario tonight and drop down to as low as 20 below zero in the northern regions. Cloud will spread into Southern Ontario Sunday. Sunny skies will continue in the northern regions.

HEALTH PROGRAM UNDER ATTACK IN LEGISLATURE

Freshman Member Uses Angry Terms

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's general health program was criticized in angry terms Friday by a freshman member of the legislature.

James Trotter (L—Parkdale) told the House the Frost government can build new liquor stores "to take care of the serious overcrowding in hospitals and a definite shortage of trained hospital personnel.

Mr. Trotter also charged there are no proper facilities for rehabilitation at the Ontario Hospital in Toronto and patients there subscribe to a "whispering campaign," warning each other if they do not soon improve they will be placed in a wing with the more seriously-ill mental patients.

"That's just a swell clap-trap. I've ever listened to," Health Minister Dymond shouted, but Mr. Trotter said he could prove his statements. He said he would produce them for Mr. Dymond privately and substantiate the charges.

RAPS CCF LEADER

Earlier Premier Robarts (PC—Simcoe East) called CCF Leader Donald C. MacDonald "a one-man opposition party" for his recent statements about conditions at the Orillia Hospital for the Mentally Retarded.

Mr. MacDonald had charged Orillia Hospital is seriously overcrowded and indescribably filthy.

"It's regrettable when a member of this House . . . pours salt in the wounds of aggravated patients," Mr. Letherby said. He said Mr. MacDonald made the charges to gain public attention.

"Do you question the sincerity of what I said?" Mr. MacDonald asked. He said he had been commended by the Ontario Mental Health Association for his reports on conditions.

REPORTS ON COSTS

He said that since 1943 the progressive conservative government had spent $6,821,000 at the Orillia hospital. In addition, it has spent about $1,000,000 a year to keep the hospital operating.

Mr. Trotter also charged the government with failing to fulfil its promises of hospital construction. He said Dr. Dymond in a speech a year ago promised Ontario hospitals would be built in Owen Sound, Goderich and Palmerston.

But, he added, "I don't believe one shovel of earth has been turned."

In reference to a charge by Mr. Trotter that Ontario hospitals are being forced by MPPs to take in retarded children, Mr. Letherby said:

"If a member of the legislature is told any girl has sold herself, to touch with the minister of health and try to get that child in the hospital."

Men Get Out Pencils to See If Bride-to-Be Measures Up

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Get out your pencils men,—and see if the bride-to-be can pass this test. If she doesn't make a passing grade of 74, better look around some more.

The matrimonial rating sheet, worked out by Dr. Lowell Kelly, Louisville Professor John Scott Long, goes like this:

Give the young lady 40 per cent for physical attractiveness. Add 15 per cent for cooking ability. This means knowing the proper foods, not just how to dish 'em up.

Her skill with money is worth 15 per cent. "You make it, she spends it," says Dr. Long.

Sewing ability is good for five per cent, providing the girl hasn't skipped the critical lesson — buttonholing.

Another 15 per cent for health and 10 per cent for similarity of interests in hours, music, religion, stamp collecting, or whatever.

Even if the girl passes, Dr. Long suggests bachelors not marry until they're old enough.

The professor, director of an organization that hands out $200,000 a year in science scholarships, says early marriages rob the world of talented men.

"The supply of students is drying up. There aren't any," he told the rotary club.

"Today's youth, before they've earned a dollar . . . think they're entitled to an automobile, a wife and a baby."

British Rail Strike Averted After 11th-Hour Bargaining

LONDON (Reuters) — Britons who had been prepared for the worst relaxed today with the news that a rail strike which had threatened to paralyze the country from midnight Sunday had been averted.

The strike threat ended Friday night after 11th-hour bargaining when the rail unions accepted an immediate five-per-cent wage increase retroactive to Jan. 11.

Elaborate and expensive plans to mobilize everything from bicycles to river boats to get their employees to work were immediately arranged by business and industrial leaders.

London hotels which had been booked solid by busine-smen and other commuters planning to live out the strike in the city suddenly found themselves handling days of cancellations.

British newspapers express relief with the averting of the strike but note that the threat pointed up concern about the future of Britain's nationalized railroads.

"Nothing can really make the railways efficient without an improvement in morale," the Conservative paper Daily Telegraph says.

The pro - Labor Daily Herald says it has been obvious for years that Britain's railroad system cannot survive without a new financial basis.

One of the issues has been whether the money-losing system could afford the demanded wage boosts.

The strike threat ended after nine hours of hard bargaining between three unions and the transport commission.

The 335,000 - member National Union of Railwaymen had called the strike. The other two unions, representing white-collar workers and technicians, had been willing to wait for a pay report due to be presented by an independent commission later this month.

Sir Brian Robertson, transport commission head, pledged that the five-per-cent boost would not prejudice discussion of the forthcoming pay report.

LIBERALS WANT WHOLE PROBLEM OF JOBLESS MET

Martin Challenges Starr to Debate

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Commons members Friday made a $15,000,000 supplementary estimate a launching pad and blasted off on a wide-ranging discussion of unemployment.

At the outset of discussion on the estimate to cover the pro gram under which the federal government pays half the labor costs for public works carried out in winter—Deputy Speaker Jacques Flynn ruled it to be in the particular point.

But spirits were high and opposition calls were for some measure to meet the whole problem of unemployment — not just its seasonal aspect. The debate was far removed from the Paul Martin (L—Essex East) to offer "some unemployment against Labor Minister Starr in either Windsor or Oshawa, the ministry's bailiwick.

CALLED INADEQUATE

The winter works measure— Mr. Starr said $100 municipalities put in applications totalling $8,952,000 for a 50 - 50 federal general agreement. But the Liberal and CCF speakers all made note of its inadequacy.

CCF members suggested that the federal government pay the 75 per cent of the labor costs and a federal-provincial or federal-municipal conference discuss the whole unemployment situation.

J. W. Pickersgill (L — Bonavista-Twillingate) said the program was no good for anyone but city suffering severe unemployment. They could not meet the costs. In 1956-59 total federal spending for winter works was $8,500,000. The four maritime provinces received $600,000 for their projects—not even the federal outlay—although they had one-seventh of all Canada's unemployed at the time.

Mr. Martin said what was needed was a parliamentary committee to look into the unemployment situation.

Mr. Starr countered that Mr. Martin would use such a committee as "propaganda" for the next federal election.

Auto Accident Delays Funeral Of Stepinac

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (CP) — Yugoslav Cardinal Stepinac was buried today after impressive religious rites were delayed by a serious accident to Franz Cardinal König of Austria. The Archbishop of Vienna who was to have conducted the funeral service.

The Austrian cardinal's chauffeur was killed and a priest riding with the cardinal was injured in a collision with a truck near Varazdin, in northern Yugoslavia, while en route to Zagreb.

Both the deceased Cardinal Koenig and the priest were taken to hospital in Varazdin. The latter had suffered multiple head injuries. A doctor at Varazdin hospital said the cardinal was not injured but that there was no question of his life being in danger.

Mrs. Valle said the car ran out of gas at Essex about 2 a.m. and she was bound with her own stockings and kept in the car until about 7 a.m. when the man departed. She then loosed herself and ran screaming to the Cowley home. (CP Photo).

Argentinians, Thirsting for Action, Grow Suspicious About Sub Story

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The Battle of Golfo Nuevo went into the 13th day today with the Argentinians thirsting for action.

There was growing impatience —and suspicion—about the mystery submarine the Argentine Navy claims it has trapped in the remote inlet in the South Atlantic.

Reporters here are about how things are going only whetted the appetite of the man in the street, who reads that the destroyer has within 21 months the navy replaced by purchasing foreign submarines in Argentine territorial waters. Each bone got away without being identified.

Informants say that international law experts have told President Arturo Frondili that Argentina is on firm legal grounds in attacking the submarine.

This reassurance came after the navy reported it had been firing away with depth charges in an attempt to force the intruder to emerge and surrender.

The corvette La Republica, carrying the main motors and equipment the Argentine line Navy possesses, was rushed to the scene from naval patrol duty several hundred miles to the north.

More - powerful depth charges are being flown from the United States due to arrive here during the weekend.

Navy authorities reported spotting the sub in Argentine waters 15 days ago. Later they said the craft had been tracked into the Golfo Nuevo, separated from the ocean by a narrow entrance.

Despite the navy's claims, many Argentinians are dubious about the sub's existence, especially as the days pass without its capture.

No Radioactive Fallout Occurs Outside Desert

French Think Explosion Strengthens Their Hand

PARIS (AP)—France exploded a plutonium bomb deep in the Sahara Desert today, and became the world's fourth atomic power.

President de Gaulle announced France's first nuclear blast in a communique released by the defence ministry. It declared France now is in a better position to negotiate with the United States, Britain and Russia toward nuclear disarmament.

The terse communique said an "atomic device" went off successfully from a tower at Tanezrouft, in the desert near Reggane, at 8 a.m. (1 a.m. EST).

The explosion came after a period of more than a year in which no atomic blasts had been announced by the other powers pending negotiations on a test ban. France had made plain however, that she did not feel bound by this "gentleman's agreement" to wait.

About three hours after the bomb explosion the defence ministry said there was no radioactive fallout in inhabited regions of Algeria. Winds had carried the test and followed the plan.

FLASH TO DE GAULLE

News of the blast was flashed direct from the test site, about 1,500 miles south of Oran, to de Gaulle in Paris.

The explosion took place in the conditions of strength and security foreseen," the communique said.

Thus, France, because of its national effort, can reinforce its defensive potential, that of the "French Community and that of the West."

Only some 600 scientists and technicians saw the blast. Arab nomads in the area had been sent evacuation orders and identify it.

Tanks manoeuvred across the desert to photograph the explosion site.

One strange sight was that of a warship's superstructure, imbedded in the desert by the French Navy.

The ministry said a wide range of scientific equipment placed at different spots over the desert to record the energy of the blast. Specially constructed atomic shelters also were tested.

The announcement said the power of the bomb was what had been expected. It was understood to be equal to about 20,000 tons of TNT—about twice the size of the American A-bombs to hit Hiroshima and Nagasaki at the end of the Second World War."

SEE WIDE EFFECTS

The Sahara blast is expected to have far-reaching effects on diplomatic and military fronts:

It will strengthen de Gaulle's hand when he plays host to Premier Khrushchev next month and during the Paris presidents' conference.

Youth Charged With Abducting Toronto Woman

WINDSOR (CP)—A youth was arrested here Friday and charged with kidnapping in the abduction of a Toronto doctor's wife who said she was forced into her car at a downtown Toronto parking lot Thursday evening and threatened with a knife during a wild ride that ended 200 miles later in Essex, Ont. after the car ran out of gasoline.

Police identified the youth only as Heath Heighton, 20, and said he would not say where he came from.

He was to be taken to Toronto today for formal arraignment.

Heighton was arrested in Windsor a few hours after 23-year-old June Valle, wife of Det. Sigmund Valle of the University of Toronto's Banting Institute, ran screaming into a restaurant in an Essex home, 20 miles southwest of here.

She said the man had left her tied with her own stockings in the back seat of the car.

In Toronto, Dr. Valle said police reports Friday that his wife, mother of a one-year-old child, had been raped "were inaccurate." Vale said there was an attempted rape."

DIDN'T BEARDS IT

"I can't believe it happened to me," Mrs. Valle said as she reached the end of a terrible ordeal when a man forced her into her own car at the parking lot behind Eaton's store on College and Yonge street in downtown Toronto and drove out of control and forced her to drive towards Windsor.

She said the car ran out of gasoline at Essex about 2 a.m. and that she had remained in the stalled car with her until he fled about 7 a.m.

She broke free and ran to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cowley of Essex.

She said when the youth left he hitched a ride from a passing motorist.

Musical Study Should Continue, Says Director

Clifford Templer, musical director of the Y.M.C.A. says there is a need for continued study of music after students leave high school.

He told a meeting of the BCI Home and School Association Wednesday night that work with bands in Belleville should be continued. He commended the work of the Belleville Boys' Band.

One of the highlights of the meeting was a demonstration by a group of Grade 9 students, more than half of whom had never been in a music department before entering high school last fall.

Assisted by members of the band leader, each of whom were making their public debut, Mr. Templer demonstrated to the audience the various instruments and ranges of various band instruments. The completion of individual demonstrations of groups of instruments were joined to show how tones are blended to produce harmony.

Individual demonstrations were given by students Harold MacDonald, clarinet; John Tooth, trombone; Richard Herrington, mellophone; Eudora Denike, French horn; Bill Dewsbury, clarinet; Carl McLean, bass clarinet; Frank Kennedy, saxophone; Wayne Garrison, tuba; Carl Tinsley, former BCI student, baritone saxophone.

Members of the brass quartet were John White, John Flaherty, Dave Harris and John Tooth, while the saxophone trio were Francis Rose, Roger Ling and John Francis.

The concert band of the Belleville Musical Association played selections from jazz, rock-'n'-roll, classics and marches. The band plans to stage a concert in the spring.

Bill Authorizing Debentures To Cover Debt Introduced

The city's private bill seeking power to issue debentures to cover all its floating indebtness, including the debt incurred through the operation of the Belleville Civic Arena hockey facility, was been presented before the Ontario Legislature. The Bill was presented Thursday night by W. Elmer Sandercock, M.P.P. for Hastings West.

The exact amount of the indebtness to be been determined out has been determined out has been estimated by the city treasurer at $400,000.

These debentures would be payable between 1960 and 1964 by means of a special rate in the year 1960 on all the property and business assessment except in the areas annexed since Jan. 1, 1952.

If in any year the money collected is not sufficient to pay the principal and interest, the council asks power to provide for the amount lacking by including it in the estimates for the next year.

In the bill, the amounts of such debentures would have to be approved by the Ontario municipal board.

The bill also asks that the debt to be covered by the debentures be declared legal and that the council had power to enter into the undertaking which incurred the debt, some of which were declared illegal by the auditors.

Following introduction to the Legislature the bill was immediately referred to the Private Bills Committee for consideration. This committe will sit some time in March.

The Rare Eight Ender

The dream of every curler was realized on Thursday by four curlers from the RCAF Trenton Curling Club when they achieved a very rare eight end. During the second day of play in the Quinte Men's Bonspiel the team of F/L Larry Motiuk, skip; F/L Ed Skuce, vice; FS Ed Armstrong, second, and WO1 Keith Saddlemyre, lead, were able to lay the eight against the unfortunate team from the Quinte Club, skipped by F. Creeggan.

This is the first time in four years of play that a rink from the RCAF Trenton Curling Club has achieved an eight ender. This is a rare accomplishment, and one that will be remembered by the team and other members for years to come.

Also shown in the above picture is Sergt. Bob Cathrea, secretary of the RCAF Trenton Curling Club.

Queen's Faculty Members Visit Station Trenton

TRENTON — Thirty-four members of the faculty of Queen's University, Kingston, visited RCAF Station Trenton Wednesday and saw first hand the daily operations at that Air Station.

An RCAF bus transported the group from Kingston to Trenton early Wednesday morning, and they were met on arrival by Wing Commander J. D. Sweetnam, Commanding Officer of the RCAF Training Standards Establishment, of three Air Training Command units housed at Trenton, which is an Air Transport Command formation. On arrival the group had coffee and toured the recently completed Overseas Air Terminal.

After briefings by Group Captain D. J. Williams, Commanding Officer of RCAF Station Trenton, Group Captain T. A. Sproston, Commanding Officer No. 6 Repair Depot and Wing Commander Swordfager, the visitors were divided into three groups for a comprehensive tour of the area.

High points of the morning tour were visits to the control tower, approach control, flight planning centre, meteorological centre, ground control approach installations and central air-craft maintenance.

Following luncheon in the officers' mess the guests were allowed to visit specialist installations of their choice. These included units and sections of No. 6 Repair Depot, Air Transport Command headquarters and Station Trenton.

Following a mid-afternoon tea in the officers' mess, Air Commodore F. S. Carpenter, Air Officer Commanding Air Transport Command, gave a briefing and answered questions posed by the visitors.

The day concluded with cocktails and lunch before the visit left for Kingston.

One surprise for the faculty members was a visit to the search and rescue display, which is being prepared for the forthcoming Open House. The Theme of the display was built around, and on view was a collection of the equipment used by RCAF para-rescue personnel and survival gear available to downed pilots.

Four Packers Move up To Scout Troop

TRENTON — At a special "Going Up" ceremony in Dufferin Public School on Thursday night, Peter Magnus, David Bell, Wayne Ryan and Robert Halverson left the 1st. Trenton Cub Pack and joined the 1st. Trenton Scout Troop, which is sponsored by St. George's Church.

The ceremony was conducted by Scout Master H. Hallick.

Cub Mistresses Mrs. D. Scott, Mrs. D. Gilchrist, Mrs. E. Davies and Mrs. R. Teal were in attendance.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Third Trenton Cubs and Scouts met this week to plan the annual Father and Son Banquet which will be held in the Legion Hall on February 24th. Around 250 fathers and sons are expected to be present and the auxiliary will cater for the banquet.

TRIED TO ENTER

Thursday night or early Friday morning, would-be thieves tried to gain entrance to the Don Bell Sports Shop on King Street in Trenton. Attempts were made to break in at the front of the store and the back door to the premises was badly damaged by an axe, which the thieves, evidently frightened at some noise, abandoned, when they left the task unfinished. The store stocks a quantity of fire arms and bullets as well as a large quantity of clothes.

Local and district vocalists, dancers, instrumentalists and musical groups were auditioned yesterday for a new Toronto radio program, "Talent Search-light."

The young artists were auditioned by Wishart Campbell of Radio Station CFRB.

Similar auditions are being held in other Ontario communities in quest of new talent, and after all the auditions are concluded, those selected will appear on the show.

The artists who were given auditions were: vocalists Ken Stapley, Robert Bird, Irene Lloyd, Betty Reid, Geraldine and Lorraine McQuaid, Don and Peter Sherbery and the Morrow Sisters, Helen, Margaret, Lois and Ruth, of Stirling; Monty Parks and the Youth for Christ Chorsiers; dancers Judy McKnight, Gail Hendricks and Iris Lohnes and Jacqueline Cole; instrumentalist Frank and Floyd Hagerman and Billy Manning; and musical group, The Pharaohs, The Dolphins and the Walt Taylor Orchestra.

Picton Cement Firm's Loss Less Than Expected

TORONTO (CP) — Lake Ontario Portland Cement Company Ltd. had a net loss in the year ended November 30, its first full year in the production and sale of cement, of $375,608.

This result, George H. Elliott, president, comments in the annual report, was $100,000 better than had been forecast.

In the year ended Nov. 30, 1958, the company reported a net loss of $1,249,232.

Production at the company's Picton, Ont., plant reached 75 per cent of designated plant capacity, the report says (US), and, the report adds, production of substantially more cement than indicated by design capacity is expected in 1960.

Valentine's Day for Birds? 'Twas Old Roman Custom

The count-down has begun. Just 24 hours till blastoff.

Zero hour is Sunday, February 14th — the day when romantically inclined guys and dolls will turn their eye on a particular member of the opposite sex hope to "hit the mark" with the "object of their affections" by following a fourcentury-old custom.

The custom of exchanging paper valentines with inscribed sentiment (as we know them) dates back to the 18th century.

St. Valentine's Day, regarded by many as the most romantic time of any year, will be even more so this year. Yes young swains and maidens, this is Leap Year — an open season on males.

The history of the valentine, although shrouded in antiquity, probably dates to the pre-Christian days of the Roman Empire.

OLD ROMAN—CUSTOM

Research discloses the Romans celebrated the Feast of Lupercalia each February 14th, the date they believed the birds were supposed to begin mating season. As part of the festival, unmarried maidens placed their names in a large urn. Young bachelors then drew names from the urn, and during the ensuing year courted the maid whose name they drew.

When the Romans conquered England, they brought the custom with them and it flourished even after the Christian era was introduced.

The church decided to adopt the practice in early times and transferred it to the East of Saint Valentine, a Bishop of Rome who was martyred by the Romans on February 14th, 270 A.D. for ceremonies of the marriage vows of Roman soldiers and their sweethearts, although the latter had banned war-time marriages.

FIRST "VALENTINE"

A note written by the Duke of Orleans to his wife in 1415 when he was imprisoned in the Tower of London after the battle of Agincourt, is believed to be a forerunner of the valentine. The note is preserved in the British Museum.

The first printed valentines may have been the front-piece of the "Valentine Writer," a book of verses printed in London and issued around 1560, providing assistance to the inarticulate.

Later books provided ready-made verses which men and women could exchange. Often the romantic greetings were in legal and financial language such as promissories, bank notes, and "I.O.U.'s", and were lavishly embellished with simulated seals, scroll borders and other authentic document symbols.

These gave way near the end of the 18th century to hand-painted copper-plates by well-known artists, followed by wood-cuts and lithographs.

PENNY POST HELPED

The exchange of valentines increased when the use of ornamented lace-paper became popular with the introduction of penny postage and envelopes to England in 1840.

By 1880 the trend was away from fine lace, culminating in the final decade of the 19th century in elaborate mechanical greetings in a variety of shapes.

This year, however, for the first time in 50 years, the trend is toward a return to the more intricate and ornate Victorian era type of valentine, a well-known card company reports.

The company also reports although Valentine's Day was reputedly started by young sweethearts, it expects more than three times as many valentines to be sent to mothers than sweethearts this year.

Sales, Ad Club Will Observe Advertising Week

The importance of Advertising in providing news and information about products and services, that help people enjoy their version of the "Good Life" will be the theme of Advertising Week in Canada and the U.S. February 14th to the 20th. This was announced today by Bill Holway, president of the Belleville Sales and Ad Club, sponsor of the event here.

The National Campaign is sponsored jointly by the Advertising Federation of America, the Advertising Association of the West and supported by the Federation of Canadian Advertising Sales Clubs. Local chairman for the event is Gerry O'Connor, of O'Connor's Jewel Box. He has the following committee members to aid in promoting the idea of how advertising helps attain the "Good Life"; — Phil Fowler, of CJBQ, John Trafford, Underwood Ltd., Don Barrett, Great-West Life Insurance, Oriel Griffiths, Ross Knowles Co. and Bill Holway of Belleville Life Insurance Co.

"However, we interpret it, the Good Life does exist in N. America", said Gerry O'Connor, "Advertising plays an important role in making it so. It informs us about the things that add to our leisure and broadens our horizons. This is not limited to gadgets that save us time and effort, but also to books, travel, music, sports, and all the other things that add to the fullness and enjoyment of living".

Purchasing Agents Meet

The Purchasing Agents' Eastern Association met in Kingston, on Wednesday. Guest speaker was C. Sloan, head of the English department of the Quinte Secondary School.

Mr. Sloan's topic was "Improved Communications with Vendors" wherein he placed emphasis on avoiding the abuse of the English language in both oral and written communications. Mr. Sloan expressed his opinion that in order for the purchasing agent to maintain good public relations between his company and vendor companies he should both speak and write with clarity, unity and force, and should also be careful of what he says or writes because "there are things we can say we cannot write and there are things that we can write that we cannot say."

Mr. Sloan stated that good communications can assist the purchasing agent in maintaining good relations with vendor companies and when expediting materials, and consequently it would be most valuable with him if he could have C's of good letter writing, Clear, Complete, Concise, Correct and Courteous.

Good language is simply good manners.

Mr. Howard White of Phillips Electric Company, Brockville, addressed the talk on the forthcoming Eastern Ontario educational conference, which is being held at Queen's University, and outlined the program of the conference.

Mr. Herb Burley of the International Hardware Company, Belleville, gave a brief report on current happenings of the Canadian Association of Purchasing Agents, and this was followed by the presentation to Jack Hunter of H. Corby Distillery Limited of his Eastern Ontario Purchasing Agent's Certificate.

President Eisenhower is the U.S. chief executive, needed no passport for his recent tour of Europe, Asia and Africa.

I never imagined there was so much pleasure and benefit in wearing an ear-level hearing aid!

I have worn other types of hearing aids for years . . . then I tried Sonotone's Miniature Hidden Ear and I immediately realized how inconspicuous it is to wear, and how superior in performance. Because there is no clothing noise or body static. Best of all, it's tiny and comfortable and can be worn behind either ear easily and inconspicuously by either men or women. I'd never be without it again.

Improved hearing provides happier living for you and those around you.

February Safest Month on Highways

This month, February is not only the shortest month in the year, but it is the safest, as far as highway accidents go. Nor can this safety be laid solely to its brevity. The spread between the number of fatalities in February and the longer months in most instances is far greater than the difference in the number of days.

Statistics for 1958 and 1959, just released by the Ontario Department of Transport, show that there were only 52 traffic deaths in Ontario in February last year, compared with 147 in October. Next to February, April was the safest month last year, with 59 accidents. In 1958 February saw 54 fatalities, but this number, though considerably higher than in 1959, was still the lowest of any month, with May's 68 being next in line. July had the highest number of accidents, 114. A graph shows a surprising inconsistency in the figures for most of the months, as between the two years. Why, for instance, should July have the second best record of any month in 1959, but be sixth in line in 1958?

Why is February's record so good? Because far fewer miles are travelled in that month than in July and August? Of course, this is true, but what is so different in the travel habits in January to account for that month's accident toll being so much higher than February's, 77 in 1958 and 85 in 1959?

Belleville, like February, has a consistent record, 166 traffic accidents in 1959 compared with 165 in 1958. In 1959, though, we had four deaths, while in 1958 there were none. Persons injured numbered 63 in 1959, 66 in 1958.

Hastings County reported 883 accidents in 1959, compared with 850 in 1958. The 1959 death toll was 24, the 1958 toll 28, but many more were injured in 1959 than in 1958, 424 compared with 376.

Prince Edward County's accidental total climbed from 166 in 1958 to 179 in 1959, but the toll in dead and injured was little changed, four killed and 58 hurt in 1959 compared with three killed and 59 injured in 1958.

Too Difficult a Task

Hon. Kelso Roberts, Ontario's Attorney-General, dodged a question in the Ontario Legislature the other day, a question which we think he could have had little trouble in answering. Elmer Sopha, Liberal member for Sudbury, wanted to know whether rock 'n roll concerts and mouth organ recitals are cultural and artistic. We think Mr. Roberts knew the answer to that one. However, we do not blame him for declining to answer, because the only way he could have seen no answer at all to the real question, which is what is the precise dividing line between a concert which is "cultural and artistic" and one which is not. We suggest that that line is impossible to define, that in many cases the most competent critic could not even attempt to judge whether a performance was "cultural or artistic" until they had heard it and that even then the opinions of different critics would vary. This being the case, there is obviously something the matter with an amendment to the Lord's Day (Ontario) Act which will allow admission charges on Sunday for non-profit cultural and artistic concerts. We think the Legislature would be well advised to refrain from being so choosy about the type of Sunday concert, permitting admission to be charged to any non-profit entertainment, admitting solely of music, and to trust that the non-profit clause take care of the Elvis Presleys and the Bill Haleys.

"Wake up the happy way" urges an advertisement for a Toronto radio station. The ad shows a picture of a happy-faced woman, looking up with a grin from her pillow, and another picture of a radio announcer. His name is Stan Larke. This puts an altogether different meaning on the old saying, more familiar in England than in Canada, about being "up with the lark." Stan should sing so good!

Those U.S. 'Primaries'

By Michael Callaghan in the Ottawa Journal

The primary, a complicated and unique piece of pre-election machinery, will soon be grinding up aspiring candidates for the U.S. presidential election.

From now until summer, when Democratic and Republican party conventions will settle on a candidate for each party, 17 little primaries will be held.

No such mechanism to bring party control to the "grass roots" exists in the British Commonwealth. It is not used in all the states either. Many politicians do not agree on its effectiveness.

The primary has been called a waste of time and money, yet front-running Democratic candidates are issuing challenges and primary campaigns are already under way.

* * *

Senator John F. Kennedy (D., Mass.) says he will enter the New Hampshire primary — the first in the country — but is undecided about invading the more populous state of Wisconsin.

One of his chief opponents, Minnesota Senator Hubert Humphrey, concedes New Hampshire to Kennedy and refuses to enter — but he is known to be encouraging him in Wisconsin.

Estes Kefauver, in Oregon where all prospective candidates are automatically entered primary laws make it plain both will meet.

Both twit two other major Democratic candidates, Lyndon Johnson of Texas and Stuart Symington of Missouri, for declining to enter the primaries.

Kennedy says they remain safely on the sidelines "hoping to gain nomination through manipulations at the convention."

* * *

What is it all about?

The primary is a similar to the final U.S. election procedure that the primary becomes an effect, a preliminary election in which party loyalty is tested.

But since few use it, some says its national effect is negligible.

Adlai Stevenson left the primaries in 1952 and 1956 and in 1952 Democratic campaign, but went on the win the national convention.

Only 14 states make it mandatory for both parties. Four others have laws making it permissible for a party request. Both parties have requested one in Florida this year, and the Democrats will hold one in Alabama, making 16 for the Republicans and 17 for the Democrats.

The system was introduced in 1910, at the time of the first voters, who had no political information except from party preference, a chance to:

Nominate delegates to the national party conventions and in most cases, name a presidential candidate. Voters must support, at least till his defeat on the second convention floor.

By 1916, 21 states had passed primary laws allowing the voters to go to the regular polling stations and vote under official supervision. The cost was met out of the state treasury.

* * *

Senator Kennedy's dig at men "manipulating the convention" contains a historic distinction.

Word-beelers and "party machines" had so corrupted state conventions before 1830, that professional politicians had lost the confidence of the people.

The primary was introduced to lessen convention control.

The system reached its peak in 1918. Since then, 10 have dropped it and no new states have been added.

At that, the existing laws are not uniform. New York has no presidential preference vote but only elect delegates.

Wisconsin holds an "open vote". All candidates are listed and voters are not separated according to party affiliation.

Are the primaries effective? Though there will be only 17 of them, they will be held in some of the most populous states, such as New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

Delegates from the primary states will control 727 of the 1,521 votes in the Democratic convention at Los Angeles and 624 of the 1,331 votes in the Republican convention in Chicago.

The Republican primaries are a foregone conclusion since Richard Nixon has no opponent. But no Democrat could win a majority of the primary elections.

The major effect, for the Democrats, will be to eliminate. New Hampshire being the first, will carry great weight out of proportion to its normal vote.

* * *

No candidate will ever win a nomination solely on the basis of primary victories, but if a candidate scores many primary victories he may establish a "swing" in his favor.

Former President Harry S. Truman has called the existing primary system "the worst", but said a national primary would be a good idea.

Such a system would favor the rich even more than the primary system today does.

Each candidate would have to launch separate campaigns in primary states. Delegates at the national conventions would then have to launch national campaigns.

Getting a nomination is usually a really tiresome process. Before no nomination, it is reported cost $1,000,000 campaigning in 1956.00).

A national primary would also mean that every voter would be under the thumb of the party affiliation on the rolls — something we in Canada consider to be an invasion of privacy.

Lethbridge Is Horseless

Lethbridge Herald

The substitution of the horseless carriage for the horse-drawn variety is progress. But it is in some ways unsatisfactory advance. One of its defects was pointed out by the head of a local dairy which had just discontinued the use of horses commercially in Lethbridge. "I won't be able to whistle at my trucks to make them go," he said of a block," he reflected.

This shortcoming may eventually be overcome by the trucks which either possess "brains" of their own or can be fitted with remote control. But it is unlikely that vehicles will ever be fitted with hooves that "clip-clop" along the streets on a frosty morning to let drowsy house-holders know that all's right with the world. Even the sleekest of trucks ever become the attraction for youngsters that patient old Dobbin has been over the years.

Indeed, it is the youngsters we feel for most in the passing of the horse age. For if the lion is king of the beasts, the horse is surely the royal duke, combining with dignity with gentleness, speed and grace with a noble strength as an army. Which man has not known at least passing familiarity with a horse, has missed something of value. And for many city children, even in Lethbridge, there is no opportunity for the encounters which appear annually at exhibitions and rodeos.

Half Russians Are Farmers

Windsor Star

Russia's population is now 209,000,000 but it is the manner in which that population is used that is of interest. Of the total, 108,848,955 are classified as rural. That is 52% of the total population than in the industrialized countries at the head of the list. In spite agricultural procedures in Russia are still far behind, when it takes more than half the people working to feed the rest.

It further implies, of course, that as Russia improves her agricultural practices she will have more and more workers available for industry. There is a tremendous manpower which can be diverted, as farm output per man increases. Russia still is far from achieving her industrial potential.

Yesterday afternoon between five and six o'clock a hockey match was player at the arena between the High School Juniors and a team representing the public schools. The final score was 1 to 0 in favor of the Juveniles. The following compose the teams: Juveniles: Bongard, Yeomans, Coline, Lloyd, McCullough; subs, Sherry, Wrightmeyer and Bowyer. Public Schools: Weir, Jefferes, Wardaugh, Watts, Dennis, Jefferies, subs, Hibbard, Kerr and Hardy. The stars of the winning team were Bongard, Hart, Yeomans, Collins and Wardbaugh; Watts was the star for the losers. Weir for the Public School team. The Juveniles had a fine goal tender in Lloyd, who played like an old timer. Bongard scored the winning goal after he stickhandling his way down through the whole seven men. Buchanan of the YMCA gave entire satisfaction as referee.

50 YEARS AGO

It is expected that St. Valentine's Day will be pretty well observed here, and the post office clerks will be very busy. In one establishment in the city where most of the employees are girls, no less than 52 Valentines have been received.

It is said that license reductions will be demanded by the temperance workers in this city and that the matter will be brought up before the city council soon.

Have World By Ears Now

St. Catharines Standard

There are many people throughout the world today sympathetic of Sir Winston Churchill who believe that the old world has been in bad days, that it is now going to the dogs.

What these people need is a real dose of perspective which is contained in the confident outlook expressed by Dr. Alvin S. Johnson, founder and president emeritus of the New York School for Social Research, New York City.

On the occasion of his 85th birthday, Dr. Johnson said: "We have the world by the ears now. It is too expensive to live in fear and hopes today. Instead, we'll strive indefinitely and we'll become more intelligent as we argue."

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

NOT MANY AILMENTS ARE CAUSED BY ONLY ONE THING

Today's letter is the sort of question that would have consured unusual, until I began writing this column. After 4 decades in sulfa drugs, I know that it is the sort of question that bothers a great many people. As such, it deserves to be answered.

Here's the letter. Remember that there are many such questions, and I use this just as a current example:

"Dear Dr. Molner: A few years ago my husband was hospitalized with pneumonia and he was given sulfa. It happened that he was allergic to sulfa and went into severe shock.

"He recovered in a few days and left the hospital but found himself chronically tired and a few years later had a heart attack.

"Could his heart injury be attributed to his allergy to the drug? — E. C. M."

So this letter refers to sulfa. Others refer to just about any drug you might name, new ones old ones, in general terms.

Sometimes it isn't a drug. Sometimes it is a vaccine or a patient ate, or something that happened to him or her.

The one thing in common is the question, "Could that have caused the illness we have later?" Or however many years it happens to be.

I suppose it is natural enough for us to want to pick out some single thing that we think has "caused" an illness. However, it doesn't get us anywhere — and we are usually quite wrong anyway.

Except for being shot, or run over by a car, there aren't many illnesses which are "caused" by one thing. Yes, there is one germ is specifically responsible, but even that is not the whole "cause", because it depends on how heavily you are exposed to the germ; how strong our resistance is, whether we were tired or at the moment, and so on.

Let's go back to E. C. M.'s letter. Her husband was "chronically tired" after his illness.

What caused it? Possibly the antibiotics which were given to stop it was part of the cause of this illness. But so was the pneumonia itself, and so, too, were some of the factors which, before the illness, left a doubt in his system in such condition that he was victim to the pneumonia.

His health, in short, was not at its best. This may, or may not, have contributed to the subsequent heart attack. The heart attack was, of course, the direct result of the illness, but at some part of the artery feeding the heart muscle.

This might have been totally unrelated to the pneumonia, or the sulfa shock, or anything else that specifically happened to him.

Rather, we might better say that the heart attack probably was brought on largely by the sum total of the factors relating to his health.

And that's the point I want to make. Don't look at health and illness in terms of single things. Look at your health as the total of all the things you do to stay healthy: getting enough regular exercise, good diet, moderation in habits, attitude and outlook on life, a lot of work, some play, a healthy interest in how you feel.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have heard that when an abdominal operation is performed, the law requires that the appendix also be removed. Is there any truth to this statement? It certainly seems needless to me. — A. P."

No truth to it at all. It is often done, but not because of any law.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

With a government biologist and a telephone company engineer, I visited one of the most seriously affected areas in which to observe the storm and watch the men in the eastern part of Canada. I have seen ice-coated hydro-wrapes before. But so thick was the deposit on every tree, pole, bush, house and wire that I was aster that it was literally a fairy-like, but rich, radiant beauty. Not silvery, not filigree, not fairy-like, but rich, radiant coral crystal. The weight of the structure was immense. Everything was bowed as if by the weight of some huge, heavy cloth that could crack, cracked, trees, poles, wires, aerials, roofs, barns, fences. In bright sunlight the crystal world almost blinded the eyes.

The telephone engineer was completing a many thousand mile labour reconstruction job, and the biologist and I left him while we went on foot into a large woodland tract. The colder birches and poplars, standing erect, their tips touching the ground. Pines and spruce had lost their tips. Elms, maples and even tough oaks had great branches ripped off them. And in the undergrowth, apart from the wreckage from above, it was next to impossible to move, since all the smaller bushes and young saplings were crushed almost flat in indescribable confusion.

We visited the home of a great many species of birds, mammalt, reptiles and insects, and the biologist, "nature has created a jungle, a shelter, a refuge here for birds, and for small years and give them conditions for survival which have never ended through the tidiness of man. In nature, disastrous phenomena are always beneficial to some forms of life."

Montreal's Lost Rubbers

Montreal Gazette

There is an unexplained mystery to winter in Montreal.

The mystery is the mystery of the solitary rubber that is to be found lying about the streets.

How they come to be abandoned, nobody can say. It is obviously impossible for anyone to lose a rubber without being instantly conscious that one of his feet has become unusually cold and wet. Yet these single rubbers are left behind, unclaimed, ignored.

It used to be said that people lost rubbers when trying to board the old tramcars in the middle of the street. It was said they realized what had happened, they did not think it worthwhile to go back to retrieve the rubber. The conductor slammed the doors shut, away went the train and a single rubber was left behind.

The tramcars have disappeared, and yet the number of abandoned rubbers has not diminished. Buses now drive up to the curb, and single rubbers are to be found lying about the middle of the streets, as before.

It has been suggested that people lose rubbers while crossing the streets. Rubbers are carried off their feet by the sticky substance, made up of snow and salt.

But why do they not go back to pick up the lost rubber, as soon as the traffic lights are favorable? It seems remarkably nonchalant simply to yield a rubber and never to give a second glance.

Other mysteries come to mind.

How long do people hobble along on their single rubbers? Do they then purchase another pair? Or are they content with protecting only one of their feet from the cold and the wet? We do they dispense with the remaining rubber, and go rubberless, come what may?

All these questions remain mysteries, never likely to be quite explained. But one thing is certain. One of the most inexplicable signs of winter in Montreal is the sight, nearly every day of their feet from the cold and the wet! We do they dispense with the remaining rubber, and go rubberless, come what may?

All these questions remain mysteries, never likely to be quite explained. But one thing is certain. One of the most inexplicable signs of winter in Montreal is the sight, nearly every day of these lonely, lying about single rubbers, left behind reluctantly by Salvador Dali, irrevelant and haunting.

MINIOTA, MAN.

The name of this Manitoba village comes from the Sioux Indian dialect and means "much water." This locality is well watered by the Assiniboine River and Minnewasta Creek. The name was bestowed by W. A. Doyle a rancher and early settler.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL I. DOUGLASS

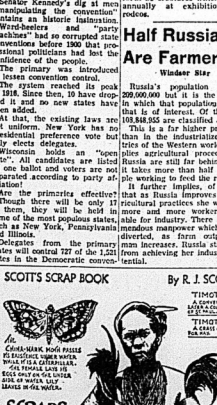
YES — WHO ARE YOU?

"Who was I, that I could withstand God?"

This was the query which St. Peter addressed to his colleagues when they brought him before the council to explain why he had disregarded certain ritualistic practices in his association with Cornelius the centurion. "I did teachings of the Bible and are from directed by heavenly visitor to visit this man, and when I did so I found that he and his family and friends gave every appearance of being in the good graces of God. Therefore I disregarded the lesser matter of ritual that I might accomplish the greater matter of obeying God and fulfilling His purpose."

In religious matters we often find it hard to get first things first and keep them there. We become adept at straining out gnats and swallowing camels. We hold our particularities to be a matter of such overwhelming importance that we put our creeds on the level with the very Word of God itself. Yet creeds are man-made things. They are an attempt to explain the teachings of the Bible and are not to be considered as being at all infallible. We give our own likewise with forms of worship. With tradition. We give our enthusiastic loyalty to some church organization because it is made up of our kind of people. We can easily slip into the blunder of putting a half-hundred things before God and His truth.

Watch out! Who are we that we can withstand God?



TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

EVER HURT ANOTHER'S FEELINGS

A person's feelings are the most cherished possession of his possessions.

I once heard of a wise Western farmer who gave the advice to knock a man down if necessary, but under no circumstances to hurt his feelings! That farmer had the right idea.

It is our feelings that float — or flounder us. So they should always be kept in the healthiest, happiest condition.

Never hurt another's feelings.

Jesus understood human nature so no one else ever has. When they reviled, persecuted — and crucified Him, His only recorded words were these: "Father, forgive them — for they know not what they do." Jesus never hurt anybody's feelings. Because, you see, He was the world's and humanity's embodiment of love. And love never hurts.

Never hurt another's feelings.

How sensitive are feelings! More delicate by far, and easier to absorb hurt than the finest, stringed instrument to radiate sound. One's feelings should always remain unscarred — for they are the most intimate of one's possessions. As personal as one's own soul — are one's feelings.

Never hurt another's feelings.

Then it shall come to pass that your own feelings will grow in warmth of expression and life — and your days and happiness will flourish — even as the "green bay tree."

A Lift for Living

'As Ye Sow So Shall Ye Reap'

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Familiar are the words: "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

When we hear these words, do they strike us as a threat or a promise? Perhaps this question serves as a test of the state of our own conscience. And maybe it was evidence of my own guilty conscience but I have to confess that the words usually struck me as a warning of judgment, reminding me that I can't fool God; that if I sow in sin I shall reap in judgment.

Well, I cannot escape that aspect of the text. But when I look at these words in their Scriptural setting, they seem to be stressing the promise more than the threat. Paul is urging the Galatians not to be "weary in well doing; but in due season we shall reap, if we faint not." It is a declaration of the divine dependability and productivity of the universe.

Do we stop to think what this familiar principle meant to man when he first discovered it? Think back to the time when man first found out that he could drop a seed into the ground and produce a plant. A national magazine once pointed out that human history could be divided into four levels of energy production and use. Man first gained energy by gathering edible wild plants and by catching edible wild animals. This method, used until about 3000 B.C., yielded poor return. Man never developed a high culture on what Nature put directly into his hands.

GREAT SPURT FORWARD

Then the first breakthrough came when man learned to raise crops and breed stock. Then he began to develop settled societies. Civilization took a great spurt forward.

Then came another breakthrough to a higher level of energy production in the early 1700's when western Europeans began to use fossil fuels, such as coal and, later, oil and natural gas. This led to steam engines and to mighty multiplication of power.

Right now level four in energy production has been evolved by the discovery of atomic fission and what it will lead to, God only knows.

Yes, in the material realm when man discovered the principle of sowing and reaping, it made for a great new use of energy. It meant that man became an intelligent co-worker with God.

And this principle of sowing and reaping is just as potent in the mind and spirit of man as in the realms of animals and plants. Life is not a mere collecting of experiences that grow wild in human nature, but it is a cultivation of experiences by co-operation with the Divine Creator. God gives the seeds and we sow them. God grows them and He and we reap them.

Yet granting the general principle, we are puzzled by the seeming exceptions. Yonder is a farmer who works hard and well, but has a premature frost kills his crop. A mother writes that she raised her son in a Godly home until he became a fine, promising young man. Then the war took him and sent back his lifeless body. But her neighbor, who neglected her boy for her own good times and let him grow up wild and too weak for the army, has her son. Yonder is a person who lives conscientiously and prays faithfully, yet his business fails. Next to him is another fellow given to shady deals and loose living, yet he seems to prosper. How then can we say, "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap"?

MUST HAVE TRUST

For one thing, we must remember that we are in partnership with a Creator who is to business is so vast that he cannot keep His books. Job had to learn this when he and his friends were trying to find out why he was having a revolting door.

Does prayer pay? Not so that you can always see it tomorrow. You can't always pray for a good crop does not always get it. But the farmer who patiently and intelligently tills his soil becomes a better farmer and eventually increases his productivity.

The artist who puts his painstaking best into his work may not always sell his painting but probably but he becomes a better artist. Most great artists have sowed in tears before they reaped in joy.

Jesus sowed His life work for three years. At His death He had only 11 faithful disciples. But those immortal 11 have produced a harvest of over 600,000,000 Christians.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

LET US WITH A GLADSOME MIND

Let us with a gladsome mind
Praise the Lord, for He is kind;
For His mercies aye endure,
Ever faithful, ever sure.

Let us blaze His name abroad,
For of gods He is the God;
For His mercies aye endure,
Ever faithful, ever sure.

Let us, therefore, warble forth
His high majesty and worth,
For His mercies aye endure,
Ever faithful, ever sure.

"O give thanks unto the Lord, for He is good: for His loving-kindness endureth forever."

John Milton, England's distinguished and beloved poet, was inspired by this verse and others in the 136th Psalm to write a metrical version of the psalmist's call to give thanks to God.

His hymn of thanksgiving, titled here, was one of the most successful of a number which he wrote, based on the Psalms. It was written when Milton was a lad of 15, long before he turned out some of his greater literary gems.

A good many folks, remembering that Milton wrote "Paradise Lost" and "Paradise Regained" in blindness, have the idea that he spent his entire life under this affliction. But it was not until he was well along in life that the sight first failed him. As a young man he travelled extensively on the European continent and did some of his finest writing. He showed a genius for statesmanship as well as for metrical version of the psalmist's call to give thanks to God.

It was in the midst of this public service that blindness came and Milton went into retirement to write the two great poems already mentioned. He made metrical versions of nearly two dozen Psalms and his original version of the 136th contained a good many more stanzas than have found their way into the hymnals. It was completed in 1623.

At the recent Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto examinations, the following pupils of Mrs. Sidney Martin were successful: Grade VIII piano, Marilyn Hall and Bonnie Rowe obtained honors. In Grade VI piano, Beth-al Twiddy also passed with honors.

Book on Africa Reviewed at Eastminster W.F.

On Monday evening of this week the Women's Fellowship of Eastminster United Church met in the ladies' parlor of the church and held a missionary meeting. Mrs. D. Riley was in charge of the devotional period and opened the meeting by reading a poem entitled, "Who is Thy Neighbor?"

Mrs. E. Throop gave a resume of the book, "Africa Calls Me Hunt", by Munroe Scott. It described the life of the Pygmy Negroids, otherwise known as Portuguese West Africa, and tells how the people live, that part of the world live.

Members Valentine and Duffy assisted in the devotional service.

A business meeting followed, presided over by Mrs. Mayhew. The secretary and treasurer read their reports and Mrs. Joyce gave an outline on Five Oaks, Paris, Ontario. She, with some other Federation members, attended a conference on this which was held recently in Bridge Street United Church.

A social hour followed in the downstairs auditorium.

St. Joseph's CWL Plans Regional Tea

A large number were in attendance at the Diocesan meeting of St. Joseph's CWL. The director, the Reverend J. J. Lennon presided over the meeting. The president, Mrs. J. C. Baker, was in the Chair.

Mrs. B. Bertone gave the treasurer's report. Mrs. T. Kelly, corresponding secretary, reminded the ladies to advise her of the absentees and also to forward the names of anyone confined to hospital.

Mrs. G. Whalen reported on Study Clubs. There are 15 groups organized and active in St. Joseph's Parish. The objective is to master the book "Our Parish and Liturgy", in the hope that the congregation will be able to take an active part in the Dialogue Mass. This is the express wish of His Holiness Pope John XXIII. Father Walsh then addressed at the interest the ladies are showing in this project.

Mrs. H. Carr-Brant, hospitality convener, discussed the arrangements for the annual Valentine Tea.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. E. LaBelle, spiritual convener, then introduced the Holy Communion Breakfast to be held in the Queen's Motel on Sunday, 28th. after the 8.00 o'clock Mass. There are a limited number of tickets left and all are urged to contact Mrs. LaBelle as soon as possible. There will be an excellent guest speaker.

After discussion, it was unanimously decided that the meeting held in the League would meet at the Central Home to say the Rosary at 8.30 p.m. on the evening before the funeral of any deceased lady Catholic, with the exception of St. Joseph's Parish or buried from St. Joseph's Church.

Mrs. Baker extended an invitation to the members to attend the Carnival being held in St. Michael's auditorium on February 22nd.

She called on Father Buckley to conduct a question and answer period which was much enjoyed by all.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. T. Muldoon, Mrs. B. Bandey and Mrs. J. C. Baker.

Easterners Head for Phoenix And Turn It Into Ye Old West

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

PHOENIX, Ariz.—In the beginning there was the climate, and in the climate was all by knee, on earth and all ye needed to know.

Each winter came the thrifty in their station wagons and the wealthy in their chauffeur-driven station wagons and that's as far as ostentation got — to toast or ride by day in the lee of Camelback Mountain and await the cocktail hour when the gold of the sun turned the brown mountains to mauve, and the Valley of the Sun looked like a serene oil painting.

By night there was nothing so worth doing as sleeping soundly in the rich and winey air. It was a sophisticated retreat in the days truest sense where each enjoyed it equally and privately regardless of his station wagon in life.

But hot dogie and howdy partner! you should to see what's happened lately.

Phoenix has discovered it's in the West, with a capital "W" and there isn't a high-heeled, ten-gallon hatted cowboy or Hoosier who will let you forget it for a moment. Even the cab transgression as thick with Easterners as the Yukon in the Gold Rush, they've discovered that a vacationing that has turned this once cosmopolitan city into one of the most provincial places on earth.

A LITTLE LOS ANGELES

Flooded with ever-increasing numbers of retirees, automobile dealers and western garb emporiums, Phoenix has probably swell Phoenix's population to 1,000,000 in a decade, the area in the near short years has taken on the aspect of a little Los Angeles.

The Easterner, however, finds he can feel about the place is reassurement that he hasn't born here — or, at least, didn't have sense enough to come a long time ago.

The last time we saw Scottsdale it was a bucolic, conservative suburb which seemed to consist mainly of an old West saloon called Lulu Belle surrounded by four corners of shops that sold leather jackets and Indian silver jewelry.

Today it is a city of 34,000 that bids fair to outstrip Phoenix some day. Many of the hotels and ranches situated here used to use Phoenix post office address. Now all that was all by knee, on Scottsdale, Arizona" on their book matches and letterhead for better snob appeal.

No longer a novelty, Lulu Belle is surrounded by a round dozen other saloons ("cocktail lounge" for easterners) with such names as Red Dog and Pink Pony, though nobody ever saw a pink pony except a cowboy who had had too much redeye.

The Red Dog features a one-man band in derby hat and arm garters, a mammoth chandelier and a bar back that back wall all with colnious looking decanters along its length. All that's missing are the gaming tables and Marlene Dietrich slinking down the staircase.

COLORFUL PLACE

The Easterner who has lavender tinted mirrors which are supposed to make you look suntanned even if you're not, which case they are more likely to make you look sick. Its building are painted sunset-mauve, an idea that makes some sense at night but also tends to bring to mind the Queen's men painting the roses red in Alice in Wonderland.

For those who want to get away from it all, a worth while trip these days is a visit to PHOENIX Artists' Guild and studio, Tallesin West, now open to the public. Frank Lloyd Wright's Tallesin East — it's in Wisconsin. The sprawling layout of low, angular buildings built with native stones and woods, it is an architectural study in the application of Wright's philosophy that architecture should be harmonious to nature, and in the desert nature is long, low and rough.

Apprentices to the late Tallesin West is a good place to get back to the basics of life, and Arizona what it is in the first place, and forget from the "natives" of four months standing who, like people elsewhere, do more by way of apologizing for the occasional cold snap than doing anything about it.

Only more so. We wonder who apologized for the weather before got here. We think the lady doth protest too much.

Christ Church P.G. Elects 1960 Officers

The Parish Guild of Christ Church met on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. R. H. Dewell presiding. Reports of all committees were given and a programme has been held and a successful bridge and euchre party.

The new executive have been committees and conveners as follows:

Past-a-Meal committee, Mrs. Neil Boyd, Mrs. Phillip Hill and Mrs. A. Yager, welcoming reception, Mrs. F. M. Burtt; bulletin convener, Mrs. Albert Townsend; program convener, Mrs. Earl Hickey; social convener, Mrs. J. L. Vanderkli; remembrance convener, Mrs. A. Cook; Deck and Mrs. W. Kempton; vestry council, Mrs. Geo. Alton; pianist, Mrs. Horace Wright; press, Mrs. Charles Bishop.

The Rev. Everett Smith took the devotional part of the meeting and told, in humorous vein, of some of his experiences in hospital visiting. Many of the children in the Pediatric Ward are happy and contented there, and are shown much kindness. One little boy has been there for seven years. He mentioned that it was a comforting thought to a man facing long distance to visit a friend in hospital, many days before leaving the hospital giving a pint of blood for the patient. It is a definite help to the patient fear and anxiety that himself might require blood. The patient can accept illness and cooperate with the doctor, that is the purpose of the commitment of one's self to God and trust in Him. Learn to smile and grow whine—was Mr. Smith's good advice.

Mrs. Hickey thanked the speaker.

The date for the annual spring tea was set late in May. Mrs. William Adams and Mrs. William Ashton were tea hostesses.

Albert College Guild Hears Talk on St. Valentine

The February meeting of the Albert College Guild, was held at the Manor on Thursday with Mrs. Fetterly, president, presiding.

The financial report was given by Mrs. Fetterley.

Concerning some future projects it was decided that they should be considered at the executive meeting and recommendations brought in to the March meeting.

Mrs. Howie had prepared an interesting Valentine's program and introduced it by saying that there is no doubt about the origin of the festival. She read the scripture and chose the hymn, "Love Divine All Love Excelling" followed by the Valentine reading. 1 Corinthians, chapte 13.

"We will now have love, sincere and true love, and pure love of God. Healing for a loveless world must begin in our own hearts."

In keeping with the Valentine thought, Mrs. Barley sang some songs: "Long, Long Ago," "A Valentine Miniature," and "Drink To Me Only with Thine Eyes."

"Each month of the year has a special festival, and in February, black February has Valentine's Day. For centuries the world over on this day, tokens of mutual affection have been exchanged by children and adults, because St. Valentine,a bishop and a martyr of the Christian, taught love. He died on February 14 in the year 270, and we commemorate his memory by our affectionate expressions of affection.

"The legend tells that many years ago when the Roman Emperor Claudius still worshipped Jupiter, there lived a good man called Valentine, who went about teaching the people of Christ and winning them to the Christian religion.

"When the emperor saw so many of his subjects were following Valentine he became afraid of this new faith and ordered Asterius, one of his courtiers, to bring Valentine before him, friendly greeting and invited him to enter the tiny, neat room.

"After talking with Valentine he became ashamed of his errand, but upon leaving delivered his message.

"Valentine answered him kindly but as the latter there was only one living God to worship. Then Asterius was very sad and grief stricken over the illness of his little daughter Julia, blind from birth. Valentine nursed the child using all the means he had learned in the care of the sick.

He healed and Asterius wished to show his gratitude by offering payment but Valentine told him that his reward was the result of loving watchfulness and "God's love and you can't pay for love."

As a result Asterius became a follower of Valentine's God, who knew how to love."

Mrs. Howie quoted several greetings that have been used on old Valentine cards, and closed by saying:

"Whatever way we spend Valentine's Day we remember three little words that cannot be spoken too often and make some one happy by saying "I love you."

CONTESTS CONDUCTED

Before tea was served, Mrs. Howie conducted a couple of Valentine contests based on the words "Valentine" and "Heart."

A social half-hour was spent around the flower centred tea table.

Whosoever Would Be 1st Among You

By ALMA MASON

14th in Series

It is right for us to aspire to greatness. It is right for us to covet greatness for our children—to instill in them the ambitions and desires that will spurn the green shoots of greatness.

Surely it is not wrong to harbor bold, foster certain ambitions relating to our children, even while with personal progress? The world looks for it. Indeed, indeed without the far-reaching desire for success to prod and stimulate it. Surely it is right and right to wish to develop the powers of true greatness in the fullest extent; to the most brilliant heights of purpose and endeavor?

The search for greatness can enhance and enrich the soul and bless the world. The method of the search for greatness can and does the heart of he who searches. One must truly understand. Jesus' teachings clearly and direct his steps through. Hah undergrowth of mobility of purpose and true ideals to the most enriching and heart-shaping goal.

Perfect and true greatness first of all is concerned with thought for others. It is never self-centered or self-aggrandizing; by concentration on self. True greatness constantly gives, seldom receives. Greatness is modest and is seldom served. It is governed by sacrifice, not sovereignty.

The truly great of the world delight in their own humility, in habit of selflessness; through a constantly forgetting self to serve man through the Godly principles of tenderness and compassion. Greatness comes by loseing the path of noble deeds and ideals. Many have inadvertently stumbled on wordly renown and public favor. Few of these have found the true path to fame they so achieved.

Many have never left indelible imprints on the lives of future generations "stood," as E. H. G. Wale said, "at the gates of history. Events hinged on them. Their every thought was freer and clearer because they had lived and worked. They took little from the world and left it much. They did not live for fame, but in doing, gained eternal influence.

Peter Alcides in "My Brother and I," gives us a deep reflection on what makes for true insure. He tells us that David Livingstone was not the only man who was to help lighten the darkness of that continent. Honoring David Livingstone gave himself away that others might be lifted into civilization. His greatness rises above all others in the history of true civilization. Others will be followed on the heels of merchant, but he stood next. Unlike his predecessors, Carey gave himself to India and his heart and mind became as the heards and minds of a great people. Then, Alcides tells us, sands crucified before and since Christ was crucified. The Man who in the middle of a busy hill outside Jerusalem has become the most immortal of the songs of all ages because he literally and absolutely gave himself away for the good of all mankind. Nowhere has fellowship and love of man been made so practical and carried to such heights of service as by Jesus Christ. Although often the powerful lights of Christianity have been buried by a dark tight of faltering faith, they always brought their glory and again because of the Man of Galilee who gave Himself for mankind.

It is sound and right that we should fix our eyes on a star. It is commendable that we should help our children to stretch our eager souls for success. However, when we reach for a star, we should not cloud the clear twilight sky with egotism and thoughts of self. When we strengthen the arms of our young by grasp manuals, we should fortify them with a keen sense of true ambition, with earnestness and service; to tinge it fame with humility and faith in God.

Every age has produced unhappy, restless children. Our age is no exception. There is no answer and a cure for all unhappiness whether it be suffered by the young or the old. In the teachings of Jesus we will find always the healing meditation and the solution for today's difficulties. It just remains for us to absorb it and apply it. May God in His loving wisdom help us to do so.

If lamps of fame whose only shine
They must be trimmed with truth divine;
With noble purpose, wise and fine.

If we would grasp grip Honor's hand
And tread where kings and courtiers stand,
We must know love, not command.

Must walk in paths of service free;
Climb a hill where brave eyes see
God's great eternal mystery.

Or valiant souls who gladly
Through steadfast faith to humbly give
Their lives so other lives may live.

IODE to Hold Short Story Competition

Mrs. H. B. MacMahon, London, educational secretary, and Mrs. M. Joyce, Whitby, chairman of the short story committee, announced today that the Provincial Chapter of Ontario, I.O.D.E., will this year offer a scholarship award for a short story.

This is the 13th consecutive year this competition has been held and this year the value of the award is $200.

The competition is open to writers, citizens of Canada, residents of Ontario, and closed April 30th, 1960.

Dr. Lorne Pierce, Toronto, Canadian man of letters, who is presently retiring from his post as editor-in-chief at "The Ryerson Press," Toronto, will be the judge for 1960.

Contestants are advised not to submit any manuscripts without first obtaining printed conditions. These may be secured by writing to the Provincial Chapter of Ontario, I.O.D.E., Jackson Street West, Hamilton, Ontario.

H-S Assoc. Hears Talk on 1980 Education

The February meeting of Queen Mary-Prince Charles Home and School Association was held in Prince Charles auditorium on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. C. A. Burley presided over the brief business meeting and announced a card party to be held here in the auditorium early in March.

The January attendance winners for the evening were as follows: Queen Mary, junior, Mrs. Ivan Gibbard; Miss Wallbridge; Prince Charles, junior, Mrs. Ken Hammond; Mrs. Garrison and Mr. Bateman, senior.

GUEST SPEAKER

The guest speaker for the evening, the Rev. Harold Lenzi, M.A., B.D., was introduced by Mrs. Burley. Mr. Lenzi's address spoke on the subject, "Educating Our Children for 1980." He said, with the development of atomic energy, electronics and modern medicine our children as adults will work a much earlier and live longer, thus giving them a greater period of leisure time from the time of retirement to the end of their life. With the prediction of a doubling population, they will be living in a different environment; people will be living in the suburbs and there will no longer be an open countryside.

"We must teach our children to be independent and self reliant, and how to stand alone. To be a Canadian citizen with an international conscience should be their aim. They will be a United Nation and our children should be prepared to meet and understand people from other countries, and be able to speak at least a foreign language.

Mrs. Lenzi was thanked by Mrs. R. Taylor.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. H. Kinnear, Mrs. R. Stewart and Mrs. R. Sullivan.

Bethlehem White Shrine Enjoys Program

On Wednesday evening, the regular meeting of the Bethlehem White Shrine of Jerusalem No. 11, was held in the I.O.O.F. Hall, Bridge Street, with a good attendance.

Following the business meeting all retired to the upper hall where the program for the evening was conducted by the worthy chairman.

Sojr. Dave Hollinger, as convener, was ably assisted by his male committee.

Sojr. Clifford Smith showed us with a humorous monologue.

A quiz program was conducted by Sojr. Hollinger, in which the correct answers were given by the eating of cigars or cigarets, specially made by Sojr. Hollinger.

An "It Could Be You," skit turned out to be Sojr. Mary Hearns, High Priestess, who was presented with a beautiful gift.

Sojr. Hollinger then announced that we will have a Valentine dance to be held in the Sojourners' Lounge, and be able to speak at least a foreign language.

Mrs. Leard was thanked by Mrs. R. Taylor.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. H. Kinnear, Mrs. R. Stewart and Mrs. R. Sullivan.

This - - - and That
By HARRIET ST.EVENS
This week over fifty pages of beautifully colored photos and descriptive articles reached our desk from the United Nations Courier. They are devoted to the pyramids and paraphernalia of threat that faces Egypt and the Sudan and the world by the building of the huge Aswan Dam. We were reminded of the Christmas story we received from Miss Dorothy Potts in which she told us this dilemma. In part Dorothy wrote: "The important thing in this pragmatic world is that ahead the eyes of many may be deprived, the bodies and minds will be stifled as a result."

She was planning to visit the ancient temples of the upper Nile at New Year and we wait for her description because she has a natural talent to paint pictures with words. T & T debated some time before deciding to devote today's column to a story that will unfold in years as the Old Testament, as modern as science and as useful in the future as any foundation on which to build.

The parallel lies in the fact that while the Aswan dam will make fertile hundreds of thousands of acres of arid sand, provide power, at the preservation of the ancient story would effort and money required to save the many historical temples which record the story and the world has many thousands of years thousands of years!

Probably comparison of values is both redundant and wrong in this instance. Dorothy Potts, the world must have its dilemma. The humanitarian aspects of the World Health Organization, would agree that filling the bellies of millions is more important than saving ancient temples. Fortunately for the millions the decision to fill countless bellies is irrevocable.

There is neither question nor indecision about this. The dam will be built; the temples to god kings of Pharaohs and the gods will be inundated in the flood waters of the Nile, and the story lost forever. The problem is not one between intrinsic values and practical humanitarian values. It is purely one concerning the possibility of saving many of the priceless records and the beauty before the Nile water take over.

And what has all this to do with readers of the Ontario Intelligencer or the residents of the Bay of Quinte. After all our bus problem is more pressing, more intimate and more important. Those who know claim that the preservation of as much of this story is vital to the future civilization, especially to those who are aware that the history of Christianity and the Bible is based on the times recorded here. Possibly one of the most dramatic stories of mankind is the story of Joseph who became a prime minister, executive and the story of the Exodus under Moses and the Hebrew people. Surely this is clear as day.

Then we are told that these thousands of years ago Egypt founded the cradle of what is known as the Mediterranean civilization, the basis of Christian civilization. Too, we are reminded that it is our culture, us, and still in our daily lives the influence of these first beginnings can be found. These authorities maintain that the loss to future generations, and to a large part of the Nile destroys in a few years thousands of years of history and the elements for thousands of years.

They claim that this is something that will touch the lives of future generations. That it has not even begun to be unfolded and that our age has had only fifty years to begin the interpretation of what is there.

Egypt and the Sudan have approached UNESCO for help to save as much as possible. Since 1946 UAR has devoted less than fifty per cent of the funds excavated in Nubia which will be entirely flooded, authorization to carry out further archaeological work in other parts of Egypt, and the cession of precious objects and monuments, including certain ancient temples, for transfer abroad. The government of Sudan has followed suit. Vittorino Veronese, the director-general of UNESCO has issued an international plea explaining that an international effort calls for unprecedented effort.

And it believes that we will have a great deal more about the tremendous undertaking and since it gives a new plan on the building of the Aswan dam which has nothing to do with the late Mr. Dulles' poor judgment in international finance, we thought all our readers would be interested. After Pandora has released her ills on the world there still remains hope at the bottom of the box.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Robin A. — I'm afraid to marry again.

Edward E. — I'll change her luck.

Robin A. — I am in my late 20's, but have had more tragedy in those years than most people have in a lifetime.

I lost both my parents before I was 16. When I was 17 I was lucky enough to meet a wonderful guy. We were married a year and then he was killed, in Korea. Two years later I married again — and again I lost my husband and infant son in an auto accident.

Now I've had the spirit to go on I don't know, but I made up my mind never to marry again. I bring tragedy wherever I go. I have a good job and I planned to spend the rest of my life helping others. Then I met Ed and we fell deeply in love. He wants marriage but I say no.

Edward E. — I am sincerely in love with Robin and I want to help her, take care of her and make up for all her past unhappiness — if only she would let me.

When I talk about marriage Robin keeps saying she feels like a million years old and she is too old to have a family, etc. That's silly. Plenty of women of her age have children. But children or no children, I do want to marry her.

I feel that Robin is trying to work herself to death and she doesn't even want to be happy. She works long, hard hours and then does volunteer work in veterans' hospitals. She says that only time she laughs is with me. I don't believe in any line and I am sure I'll turn Robin's luck. We'll both live to a ripe old age — together I hope.

The Council: Robin wouldn't be human if she didn't suffer deep emotional wounds as a result of the many blows she has had to sustain. Certainly no blows can be worse than the loss of loved ones. Yet she appears to have wonderful reserves of strength. The fact that she has three times found a loving relationship with a man indicates that she must have a great capacity for giving and take in human relationships and it would be a shame to waste this gift.

Robin seems to want to punish herself. Individuals who lost loved ones often feel guilty at having survived. For many bereaved persons the guilt they feel in some way responsible for the death of others.

In actuality, however, Robin should recognize that she has no responsible for no deaths and in fact, contributed much to the happiness that she had in her short lifetime. We think a broader, deeper religious outlook may help her to a realization of this and toward a recognition of the fact that she can do more good in life and help others more by letting herself be happy than she could by insisting upon punishing herself for nothing at all.

We think Robin should rush into marriage in her frame of mind, but she should try to adjust her sights toward life and happiness. She shouldn't fight the natural healing process undoubtedly taking place within her.

Second Glance

A Pioneer School Master

By VIVA RICHMOND GRAHAM

"The village master taught his little school . . . But past is all his fame. The very spot, where many a time he triumphed, is forgot."—Goldsmith's "The Deserted Village."

o o o

Many pioneer school masters were very remarkable men. Perhaps you have heard many a tale about some special teacher who taught members of your mother's or father's family. Dr. Tassie, well known in western Ontario, comes to mind. Another, Dr. Sheppard of Montreal and colleague of Dr. Osler, who when much annoyed by a pupil's inattention called out: "Will the lad, who was speaking there, please stand." The lad, who was one of his senior medical students, stood up. Dr. Sheppard looked him up and down critically and then said: "You may sit down. I see you are wearing short ones."

o o o

Ruby J. Meggs tells of a pioneer school teacher in a recent issue of the Peterborough Examiner. She came across his name in the century old register of St. George's Church on the Hill, Gore's Landing.

"There is recorded on December 20th, 1869, by Rev. Archibald Lampman, she says, "the marriage of Frederick William Barron, ex-principal of Upper Canada College, and Henriette (Sarah) Gore."

A private school was started after this wedding. The Gore Landing Grammar was turned "back to a boys' school and called Barron's School. A school room was added to the house so that from 12 to 20 students might be accommodated. Mr. Barron, she tells us, did all the teaching of a few months and in turn that stressed the classics. In the morning the boys studied for an hour and a half before breakfast. For that meal, Dr. Barron always ate with the boys. He would come into the breakfast room, carrying the open Bible with a red across it. Then classes were held until noon.

One student claimed "every day was a half holiday," a reason why he liked the school. For the afternoons were spent in sports and two afternoons a week the boys went sailing during the summer weather and did splendid ice-skating in winter. There was an hour and a half devoted to study every evening. It cost the students forty-one pounds a year. (Today's tuition in a private school is around $1,000.) Mr. Barron was described as "short, fat and bald and resembled pictures of 'John Bull'."

From the diary of Miss Florence Atwood of Lakefield (a granddaughter of the writer, Mrs. Traill, who wrote of early days in Canada) we learn more of the Barrons and "their wonderful hospitality. Nearly every Sunday after service we would be invited over and served cake and wine before our long walk home." She remembered the "pretty drawing room with the fine old furniture and the grand piano, the first she had ever seen." Also the large room with long tables and benches on each side with the walls covered with big maps.

Glenavy, Miss Meggs writes, was the original home of Captain Thomas Sinclair Gore after he left the Duke of Cevia's Landing is named. The house was a rambling clapboard, entirely surrounded by a verandah, and covered with vines. It overlooked Rice Lake mid pine, maple and oak trees. The grounds sloped down to the lake shore, where the Cygnet Mr. Barron's yacht floated at anchor. This was his great pride and joy.

Perhaps it reminded him of his Cambridge University days, when he was stroke oar in the annual boat race between Cambridge and Oxford on the Thames. Born in Wells Norfolk County, England, on April 26, 1810, Frederick Barron came to Canada upon graduation from Cambridge. He came by sailing vessel in 1834, for a visit. While in Hamilton he was attracted by an advertisement of an opening on the staff of Upper Canada College. Travelling there was interviewed by Mr. Wells, a member of the Board of Governors who had been a classmate of Mr. Barron at Queen's College, Cambridge," says Miss Meggs. "He made him. Assistant Headmaster in 1834. He remained at Upper Canada College 21 years, becoming principal from 1843 to 1855."

After his retirement, he started private school at Cobourg. When it was destroyed by fire, he came to Gore's Landing where Mr. Barron died in 1886, in Toronto and is buried at St. James' Cemetery. Glenavy, however burned down over fifty years ago. "But the irregular outline of the stone foundation remains and the site is still called "Barron's school for boys," concludes Miss Meggs.

And his pupils?

Among them was Archibald Lampman, well known Canadian poet. And Charles Clement, who became a newspaperman in Peterborough as well as the father of Caroline, Mrs. C. C. Patrick, whom you met in this column, recently, and who lent us most kindly this article by Miss Meggs about Mr. Barron, a Canadian pioneer schoolteacher.

Queen Victoria H-S Sponsors Talent Night

On February 8, 1960, Queen Victoria Home and School held the annual Talent Night. The auditorium was filled to capacity which speaks highly for the popularity of Mrs. Harris' class.

The meeting was opened by the Rev. R. B. Cooper-Legge with a reading of Scripture followed by prayer.

Mr. Frink announced the first number on the program which was a reading of "Casey Jones" followed by the hymn, "Come Thou, Almighty King" by the pupils of Miss Mulcock and Miss Aitkenhead's classes.

The remainder part of the meeting took place with the reading of the minutes, treasurer's report and also a talk by Mrs. Muriel Andrews on the coming year's events. The closing prayer which Mr. Frink turned the program over to the mistress of ceremonies, which included the following numbers:

Recorder, Mary," and Rhythm band selections by kindergarten pupils of Miss Malcolm's class; playlet, "Three Billy Goats Gruff," pupils of Miss Williams' grade 1 class; "Bears," pupils of Mrs. Powell's class; marching, pupils of Mrs. Lyon's grades 1 and 2; safety play, pupils of Miss Greatrix; also a talk by Mrs. Muriel Andrews on the coming year's events. The closing prayer which Mr. Frink turned the program over to the mistress of ceremonies, which included the following numbers:

QUESTION:

I used your chocolate fudge recipe. Have a maple cream that you publish? . . . L. S. B.

ANSWER:

Yes.

MAPLE CREAM:

2 cups brown sugar, 1 cup white sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons corn syrup, 3-4 cup milk, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 1-2 teaspoons vanilla, 1 cup chopped nuts (optional but recommended).

Bring the first 6 ingredients slowly to the boil, stirring until sugars dissolve. Wipe sugar grains off sides. Boil rapidly until the mixture reaches the soft ball stage (cold water test) or 238 deg. Fahr. Cool to a little above lukewarm (120 deg.) Stir in vanilla and beat until mixture begins to thicken. Add nuts and continue to beat until the candy begins to lose its gloss. Pour quickly into a lightly oiled 8" square pan and spread.

SATURDAY

Wieners and Potatoes au Gratin (see Tuesday); Fresh Frozen Asparagus with Mock Hollandaise; Individual Dessert Fruit Salads: Avocado Pineapple Salad with French Dressing (see Friday); Assorted Wafer Crackers and Fancy Cheeses; Coffee.

QUESTION:

Once again I come for help . . . like many others I find your column most helpful and have received many compliments on all of your recipes. Last Fall I bought a gallon tin of olives. Since we are only four I would like to know if I could open this tin and heat the brine and re-seal these in small jars . . . also an American friend would like a recipe for horseradish cream-style — something that would make her husband's hair curl. Eileen L.

ANSWER:

I'm afraid the answer is "no" to the re-bottling of the olives. I think the hot brine over the olives would tend to make them soft and 2) encourage moulds to saturate the olives. Open them when you have a party and use them up quickly in cooking and on the relish tray and in salads.

HORSERADISH CREAM (hot):

One-half cup commercial sour cream, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons well-drained grated radish, 1-8 teaspoon cayenne pepper. Whip sour cream until fluffy. Add salt, cayenne pepper and horseradish and fold in to blend. Good on ham, ham loaves, boiled corned tongue, beef loaves and roast beef. Do let me know if your friend's husband's hair curls.

QUESTION:

When visiting in Pennsylvania we were served a very delicious meat loaf made with ham. I was wondering if you have such a recipe . . . Elsie D.

ANSWER:

HAM MEAT LOAF:

1 1-2 lbs. ground, uncooked smoked ham, 1 egg, slightly beaten, 1-2 cups fine, soft breadcrumbs, salt to taste, 3-4 cup buttermilk, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 1 tablespoon horseradish whipping cream.

Combine all the ingredients except whipping cream. Press into greased loaf pan. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 1 hour, increasing to 400 deg. for last 15 minutes to brown a little. Serve with whipped cream, mixed with a pinch of salt and additional horseradish to taste.

NOTE:

These amounts may be doubled to make an excellent meat loaf for a party of 10 or 12.

MODERN MANNERS

Carolyn Hagner Shaw

MRS. INEXPERIENCED HAS A NEW DILEMMA

My little friend, Mrs. Inexperienced, is in trouble again — trouble she has brought on herself by a very thoughtless and all too common breach of good manners.

She recently received an invitation to a luncheon. After thinking it over, and deciding that it would be boring, she declined. The day before the luncheon, when talking with some friends, she found that instead of the boring affair she thought it was going to be, some rather interesting and prominent people were going to be present and that it was to be a rather gala affair.

So, Mrs. Inexperienced went to the telephone and called up the hostess of the luncheon. After chatting gaily for a few moments, she came to the point of her call, informing the hostess that, after reconsidering, and rearranging her schedule, she found she would be able to come to the luncheon after all. When telling me this little story, Mrs. Inexperienced said she was rather hurt at the hostess's reaction. She told her to come by all means, but wasn't particularly gracious about it.

This faux pas made Mrs. Inexperienced feel that perhaps she had done the wrong thing. I completely agreed with her that she had! It is extremely rude and thoughtless to place a hostess in this position. Without doubt, at that late date, her table was all arranged. The addition of one more person might mean a complete change of plans. Perhaps a larger table would be necessary.

The courteous person will never turn about face after refusing an invitation. Particularly if it is for a luncheon or dinner. Regardless of the circumstances, the safest course to pursue is to stick to "No." If you find you "No," regardless of circumstances that might arise afterwards.

I see no reason why the hostess placed in this position should have to say "Yes, do come." Not that she should meet rudeness with rudeness, but it would certainly seem correct for her to graciously say, "I'm terribly sorry, but all arrangements have been made, and the table just won't stretch any further," or words to that effect.

Question: Is it correct to eat a biscuit, roll or piece of bread without breaking it? Of course, if you do not break them before biting into them, it would be necessary to butter them first. I say this is a messy procedure and that they should be broken into small pieces and then buttered. My husband disagrees. Please settle this argument for us.

— Mrs. A. T. H.

Answer: You are absolutely correct. By all means break bread, rolls or biscuits before buttering and placing in the mouth. However, don't make little mounds of bread and then butter each piece. As you break each piece off, butter it and eat it.

'Life in Africa' Told by Word, Colored Slides

The Presbyterian Women met in Farley Avenue Presbyterian Sunday School recently for their regular monthly meeting which was opened by the president, Mrs. W. Willis.

The Scripture was read by Mrs. Miller.

The treasurer, Mrs. J. Fullerton, reported on the success of the January coffee party. Another one is being planned for late March.

The March meeting is to be held in the form of a pot-luck supper; all ladies and families of the congregation are invited.

The speaker for the evening, Mr. Allen, who spoke on "Life in Africa," was introduced by Mrs. C. Flynn. Mr. Allen, who now resides in Belleville, lived with his family for five years in the Congo, Central Africa.

Along with his talk, Mr. Allen showed beautiful colored slides and told many amusing stories. All present benefited from his experiences.

A vote of thanks was thanked by Mrs. G. Williamson.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. R. Ashley, Mrs. R. Brain and Mrs. R. Alexander.

Commission Will Hear Evidence In Fraud Charges

MONTREAL (CP)—Mr. Justice Roger Ouimet has authorized the establishment of a rogatory commission to go to New York, Paris, Geneva and Liechtenstein to hear evidence in the case of John C. Doyle, president of Canadian Javelin Limited.

Doyle is charged with fraud, conspiracy and theft involving $4,000,000 worth of Javelin stock. He has pleaded not guilty to the charges, laid by shareholder James S. Benning of suburban Hampstead, and now is undergoing preliminary hearing.

Attorneys for the private prosecution applied to Mr. Justice Ouimet earlier this week for the establishment of a commission or commissions to go abroad to hear evidence in the case. The petitions were opposed by lawyers for Doyle.

In chambers Friday, Mr. Justice Ouimet announced that he was granting the petition of the prosecution and naming Judge Redmond Roche as head of the commission. Judge Roche now is presiding at the preliminary hearing.

A rogatory commission is one authorized to go outside the country to obtain evidence in a case before a Canadian court. The commission is headed by a judge who is accompanied by lawyers for the prosecution and the defence. Evidence obtained by it can be made part of the Canadian court's record.

Betty and Fred, of Mount Pleasant, spent Sunday afternoon with her parents.

A euchre party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Mumby, on Friday evening. The ladies served lunch.

Mr. Fred Whitehead of Toronto spent a few days with his family, John an Corrie, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Jones.

Lighting Arts Academy Fetes Local Graduates

Eighteen Belleville and district residents have been graduated as Certified Residential Lighting Consultants, following an intensive 12-week course conducted by the Academy of Lighting Arts and jointly sponsored by Belleville Hydro and Ontario Hydro.

The Academy of Lighting Arts training is intended for any man or woman who has an active interest in Residential Lighting. It integrates essential knowledge of lighting design that has proved successful. Throughout the training are interwoven facts which show the individual the opportunities offered by Residential Lighting as a business career.

It is primarily for these people that the Academy of Lighting Arts has been created —people who are interested in acquiring more than a superficial knowledge of Residential Lighting.

12 SESSIONS

The training course was conducted in group meetings in which the number of enrollees was limited so that each could participate personally and receive individual attention from the group instructor. The Academy of Lighting Arts training was covered in 12 sessions of approximately 2½ hours each. The accompanying summary of each session gave some indication of the scope and value of the training.

Because it is easier to learn through the eye than through the ear (and this is especially true of lighting) two motion pictures and nine colored slide films were produced as the foundation of the Academy of Lighting Arts training. These films were supplemented by chart presentations, equipment demonstration, practice sessions, self-check quizzes and individual assignments.

Each enrollee received complete recap notes of the subjects covered in each session. He also received "take-home" literature which is pertinent to the subjects covered in the training.

Those whose attendance was regular, who carried out their assignments satisfactorily and who passed the final examination became graduates of the Academy of Lighting Arts, and received a diploma. The names of all graduates have been recorded and they will receive from the Academy of Lighting Arts mailings of Light for Living developments and acitivities which will help keep their knowledge up to date and their interest alive.

So successful was Canada's first "Academy of Lighting Arts," held in the Spring of 1959, in Toronto, that three provinces immediately announced plans for this outstanding training starting in mid-September.

UTILITIES COPIED

Leading utilities in Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta were quick to see the advantage of sponsoring the 12-week course for all those seeking to advance the science, art and business of home lighting. This includes: architects, builders and contractors, interior decorators and consultants, dealers, distributors, manufacturers and even electrical wiremen.

Response from those who participated in the nation's first Academy course in Toronto was consistently enthusiastic. Some drove as much as 180 miles each week to attend the two-hour conferences. Despite some of the worst winter weather, attendance and punctuality broke all records for courses of this kind.

Winners of Three Days Competing for Major Prizes

They have separated the men from the boys in three days of intensive curling at the Quinte Curling Club and today the winners of the previous days are competing for the major prizes of the bonspiel. On Friday some of the best curling seen in the rink since it was opened was witnessed by an unusually large gallery and each group was cheering for its own particular rink.

So close were the scores that extra ends had to be played to declare a winner. Rinks from Ottawa, Perth, Streetsville, Oshawa, Mount Forest, Unionville, Bath, and RCAF besides some Quinte rinks were in play and after the smoke had cleared for the day a Quinte rink, skipped by Mac White and including A. McCallum, Tom Carruthers, R. Burns had taken all three games and remained in the consolation event and the Corby trophy, the main prize of the spiel. This trophy was won twice by the Parkhill rink of Oshawa but that rink was beaten in the first game, but came on to win the next two. Parkhill rink is composed of former Bellevilie residents, Gordon Miles, Alec Nathan and Army Armstrong, while the skip is married to a Belleville girl.

Jack Fraser, the Holstein breeder from Streetsville, and a personal friend of Jack McKay, their vice skip, worked with his boys and also won two games. The curling was magnificent and in some shots that were made were almost reminiscent in their execution. Again the women looked after the inner man of the curlers and at the Friday night dinner a lot of games in the "it" room. Ben Corbyn, the genial chairman, and his committee, were the busiest people in the rink but everything was kept running smoothly. The ice committee is also commended for getting the two sheets that were flooded by "dripping," in playable condition.

Frankford AOTS Hosts to Trenton AOTS

"Parents can be a handicap to their children", stated Linton Reid, department of English, Moira Collegiate, at the A.O.T.S. dinner in Frankford United Church Wednesday evening.

"High School boys should not own automobiles, teen-age girls should not be walking the streets during the week, and boys steady is a doubtful blessing".

Mr. Reid used a text from the New Testament for his address to this group of churchmen, these men who have turned the world upside down have come here also". His disregard on "Poor Parentage, Poor Citizenship and Poor Christianity" aimed to dispel the apathetic nonchalance sometimes found in church groups.

The Frankford United Church A.O.T.S. Men's Club was entertaining the Men's Club of Grace United Church, Trenton. About 65 men sat down to a sumptuous dinner, prepared by the Frankford United Church Women's Association and served, piping hot from their adjoining ultra-modern church kitchen.

Wesley Brooks, Stockdale, president of the Frankford Association, presided.

Ernie Wallace, with Holt Madill at the piano, started proceedings with sing-song. Herb Brooks, Trenton, conducted an inspiring devotional from the Sermon on the Mount.

Clergymen present from Trenton, Frankford and Batawa, were Cleriffe Hamilton, George, Charlie and Hector. It was a friendly evening and somebody suggested another get-together for the near future.

Roberts Agrees Initiative Must Come From Individual

TORONTO (CP)—The responsibility of the Ontario attorney-general's department will report to the sale and distribution of offensive material was not possible, Queen's Park Friday by a provincial committee on indecent and obscene literature.

Ross Whicher (L—Bruce) said should not be the responsibility of an individual to lay charges against those who offend. "It is a matter for the attorney-general's department should do it."

Arnold Edinborough, editor of three magazine Saturday Night and a member of the committee, contended that respatisibility was with the individual concerned.

He said he would resign from the committee before "serving as the collective conscience of people who don't give a darn."

Out of 4,500 questionnaires distributed by the committee asking for opinions, 1,000 returned, mostly comics and periodicals, only 236 were against the ban.

Attorney - General Roberts agreed with the initiative for prosecution had to come from the person who objected to a certain type of material, not the newsstands.

LOST CASE ON APPEAL

Mr. Whicher, who laid a charge last year against a magazine venture, said the case "was a good decision, said "the individual should not have to accept this responsibility."

There have been no charges laid in the province under the criminal Code since it was amended in 1959, Mr. Roberts said, and "there should be a test case to see if the code is any good."

The committee heard judicial cases is not the complete answer." W. B. Common, deputy attorney - general and a member of the committee will seek a set up in the department by the attorney-general in 1961.

Whether a statutory declaration of obscenity will hold up in the courts will have to be tested, Mr. Common added.

The committee's report recommends establishment of a special advisory committee to operate under the department, the report said. This will be to decide on the validity of a complaint. Mr. Common said the plan is for the advisory committee is for distributors to withdraw any objectionable publications.

The committee's report says the new system would eliminate "unwanted publicity."

PRESS CRITICIZED

C. S. MacNaughton, (PC—Huron) criticized the press for publishing detailed accounts of books and magazines that are banned in various parts of the world. He said when he read accounts of the legal cases involving the novel Lady Chatterley's Lover, he wanted to read it myself.

"It's one of the filthiest books I've ever seen," said Ray Edmonds, (PC—Wentworth), "I wouldn't want my teen - age daughter to read it."

"The book makes adultery and fornification praiseworthy," said Ross Whicher, (L—Bruce) a member of the committee.

The committee said there was a difference between a book and magazine being obscene or pornographic. It cited the case of Lady Chatterley's Lover emphasizing that the book as a whole is literature, while only isolated sections were obscene.

Sue Trey (L—Nipissing) said the last decade was known as the "Fabulous 50s and the decade of could become the Sexy 60s.

Indian Chief Challenged by Cabinet Minister

TORONTO (CP)—Energy Minister Macaulay Friday challenged a Sarnia area Indian chief to "swear under oath" statements he was reported to have made at Sarnia on last year's land purchase negotiations between the Chippewa Indians and the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

Chief Telford Adams was quoted as saying the commission offered only $2,200 an acre for Indian land and the Chippewa band asked $3,500. He said Hydro would not raise its offer but later paid Dominion Investments Limited $7,000 an acre for the same land.

The chief's statements opposed those made in the legislature Thursday by Mr. Macaulay in explaining the land deal. The minister's statements were supported by affidavits from two Hydro officials who swore that no price had been mentioned in negotiations with the Indians.

Mr. Macaulay said Chief Adams should be prepared to support his claim with a sworn affidavit. If there still was conflict between the two statements, he said, investigation should be made and perjury charges laid.

The explosion, the French view, also could go a long way toward restoring the power of France in the councils of the world—one of de Gaulle's prime aims since he took power in 1958.

France exploded the bomb to force her way into the "nuclear club" which she had said should be disbanded. But the mushroom cloud over the Sahara has not silenced France's position.

The government announced they want ironclad agreements leading to abolition of atomic weapons before the agreements are in sight, the French plan to continue tests and development of atomic armaments.

France is not taking part in the 17-nation disarmament talks at Geneva seeking an end to experimental nuclear explosions. These talks are limited to the U.S., Russia and Britain who possessed bombs when the talks began.

Government leaders here have indicated that they have no intention of joining the other three powers in any moratorium until France has had a chance to conduct enough tests to bring her experimental knowledge up to the level of the others.

The bomb was an all-French effort. The government had previously denied that any foreign technicians were used. The U.S. had furnished France with enriched plutonium and Britain had gone into other atomic energy projects.

France's announcement that she was going ahead with the Sahara blast brought a storm of roar last fall in the UN General Assembly. It sought a storm of protest from all the independent African states, who declared it would harm their ambient into an atomic no man's land.

CBC Bids Against Private Groups for Edmonton Station

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC, already in the race for a station in the current race for alternative television licenses in Canada, entered the contest Friday by bidding against private interests for the new license in Edmonton.

It's the only application the CBC will make in the latest round of cities now being considered for television licenses by the publicly-owned corporation already has stations in six of those cities — Vancouver, Calgary and Edmonton, it has chosen Edmonton to make its first expansion move.

But the CBC, which stands to suffer financially from private competition in its existing six provincial centres, announced Friday it will not apply for a station in Kitchener.

OUTSPOKEN DOCTOR DIES

STREATLEY, England (AP)—Sir Robert Hutchinson, British physician who constantly chided parents for bringing their children up as "qualified hypochondriacs," died at his home here Friday. He was 86.

Daily Prayer Services Held in Attempt to Save Boy's Life

WILLIAMSFORD (CP) — The parents and grandfather of 10-year-old Dennis Mullin are conducting daily prayer services at their nearby farm home in the hope they can save the boy's life although doctors said his mightdie if his cancerous right leg is not amputated above the knee.

The story was made public Friday by reporters in this community 15 miles south of Owen Sound, and confirmed in Toronto by a spokesman for the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

Apparently the Mountain family is being guided in its prayers by a sell-styled religious leader who operates in this area and advocates faith healing.

The Toronto spokesman said nurses from the society have tried several times to convince the parents that only amputation can save the life of the youngster who has been under treatment for cancer infection in his right knee for about a year. He spent a few days in Sick Children's Children where the amputation was strongly urged but the parents continued to refuse it and brought the boy home.

81-INCH KNEE

Reports indicate the lad is slowly losing strength and is not able to rise from his bed in the farm-house kitchen. Prayer services continue daily for his recovery. His distended knee is reported to measure 21 inches in circumference.

Members of the Mountain family claim prayer brought recovery from other diseases. Their father Peter Mountain says he was cured of stomach trouble and Ralph Mountain, 39, the boy's father, says prayer once cured him of a heart condition.

Mrs. Mountain says she used to wear reading glasses but, after only one or two prayers "I just left them on the altar of the church."

The Toronto spokesman said Crippled Children's Society nurses and a doctor in the area urged many times that the family give permission for amputation, but each time permission was refused.

Now there is some indication surgery would be too late even if the parents were to agree to it, the spokesman said.

Acquit Suspect Of Possessing Stolen Bonds

MONTREAL (CP) — Thomas Pyriel, 34, Friday was acquitted of possessing $1,000 worth of stolen bonds in the multi-million dollar burglary at the Brockville Trust and Savings Company May 7, 1958.

Mr. Justice Lagarde ruled the prosecution's evidence was not sufficient. Pyriel said he was from Ontario but there was no address listed for him.

An estimated $3,500,000 in bonds plus a small amount in cash and jewelry was stolen from the trust company by safe-crackers using blowtorches.

About $1,200,000 worth were recovered almost immediately and about $300,000 since then. The recoveries were made in Montreal, Toronto, Boston, Miami, Chicago, New York, Argentina, Cuba and Switzerland.

Police have made several arrests and five men are still before the courts in the United States in connection with the case.

Trenton Hoopsters Defeat Moira In Two of Three COSSA Fixtures

By BOB McMARTIN

In the Quinte District COSSA Basketball triple-header played at Moira Secondary School last night the juniors defeated Trenton 66-28 to register first place. The Trenton bantams won over the Moira team by a 15-8 score while the Trenton seniors won an exhibition tilt downing the Moira seniors.

SENIOR GAME

The game opened quickly with Moira taking an early lead of 6-2, but by half time Trenton, with fine passing and good shooting, had taken the lead by a score of 30-16. Both teams were all out in the last half trying to gain a toe-hold and when the final whistle went it was 32-28 for the Trenton team. Both teams had scored 12 points in the last half due to closer checking by both teams.

JUNIOR GAME

The juniors regained first place in the league last night with an easy victory over Trenton. They took an early lead and never looked back, resulting in a half-time score of 34-12. The last half was equally high scoring and again Moira came out on top with a 37-10 point difference.

Don Skinner led the Basketeers, swishing 23 points, while Peoples potted 16. Wennamaker of Trenton was their big gun, hitting for ten points.

BANTAM GAME

The bantam game was the rest thriller of the night. Both teams played with no quarter asked or given, and half time Moira was in the lead but when the final whistle went it was 16-15 in Trenton's favor.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The pennant race in the National Baseball League is going to be closer than a dowager's bustle, according to the eight managers, practically all of whom are thinking and flashing of "flag and series."

The Dodgers' Walter Alston does not go out on the limb, but he does say his 1959 world champions loom stronger than the club which copped the bunting. The pitching staff will be stronger with Larry Sherry brought in from the bullpen as a starter. Ten starry outfielders will be battling for positions and the club could end up with Snider, Moon and Furillo in the gardens.

The series infield of Gilliam, Neal, Hodges and Maury Wills is well-nuff sed.

Chuck Dressen likes the chances of his Milwaukee Braves. "It is a good club with good proven players, and a fine depth of youngsters."

Chuck likes his pitching staff and thinks all they need is regular work. "And that is what they will get." Red Schoendienst may be back, and "this kid Cottier can do anything in the infield."

He expects big things from the outfield, especially from Hank Aaron. It is obvious, Dressen says, the club lost in a playoff last year and a little improvement will make the difference. He is going to make that improvement.

Bill Rigney will try to change the unbalance that saw the Dodgers beat his Giants 15 times last year. They are strongest in several departments, especially pitching, through deals for the two Billies, O'Dell and Loes and at second base where we have Blasingame."

Rigney has a five-man starting mound staff with a good right-left balance. The new park, he thinks is made to order for Willie Mays and he expects him to "break out all over." Jimmy Davenport has the finest glove in the league. He will

"It all adds up to a thoroughly-balanced club. I'm willing to take my chances."

Danny Murtaugh is looking forward to the season for he believes his Pirates will finish a lot better than last year's fourth.

"It won't take too much improvement to take all the marbles," says Danny. "After all we gave them a good run for the money last year, despite troubles and injuries."

Mazeroski, Skinner, Groat and Friend had great years and a year ago "weren't they just approaching their peak? They're still young enough to bounce back."

The Pirates have depth behind the plate and last year's speedy infield is intact, says Murtaugh.

"I definitely believe the Cubs will crash the first division and if everything should break right for us, we could take it all," says Jolly Cholly Grimm. "Don't forget we broke even with the three contenders who were in the race to the last week, and if we could flatten the also rans a little oftener and then do as well against the contenders, why couldn't we be up there?"

The Cubs have vastly improved their offence and defence in getting Frankie Thomas and Richie Ashburn. Besides they have Ernie Banks. The infield, except for third base, is pretty well set.

Fred Hutchison is high on his Cincinnati Redlegs. He says the Reds led the majors in batting, slugging, total bases, hits, runs scored, ERA's and other departments. The defence was adequate, the club speed better than average.

"Why did we finish no better than sixth? Pitching."

"And we have done something about it. We have acquired Cal McLish, and reliefer Bill Henry. These will help Jim Brosnan, Jim Maloney, Noradin Broman and Brooks Lawrence. We have smart youngsters, too."

The Cardinals' Solly Hemus says four trades have changed the club around completely, adding power and helping the pitching.

Bob Neiman and Darryl Spencer will supply righthand power while catcher Carl Sawatski and Leon Wagner will add from the portside.

The Phillies' Eddie Sawyer hopes to move his club up a notch or two from the cellar this season. "We have made deals to built with youth for the future and that takes time. We feel we will make progress this year.

Some of the regulars, like Harry Anderson, Wally Post, Dick Farrell and others will have to improve over last year, Sawyer says. "We traded Mathourn for Al Dark and got bonuses, John Buzhardt and Jim Woods, a 20-year-old third baseman. We expect to get more help from our Buffalo club.

"I feel that we will be stronger because we have obtained youth, speed and defence."

Macs Bring Bulldogs To Heel With 7-3 Victory

Two in 1st Frame Started It, Four In Second Heat Won It, Checking in 3rd Clinched It

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

The McFarlands proved here last night there is a lot of topflight hockey left in their systems, and that they can be a distinct threat in the upcoming league playoffs.

They dug into their hockey warbags and came up with an effort that brought Lammy Lamirande's Windsor Bulldogs sharply to heel with a decisive 7-3 defeat.

Perhaps inspired by a new lease of playoffs life, the world champions unleashed a sustained offensive that netted them two unanswered goals in the opening period. They ripped home four to two in the wide-open second frame and divided a pair in the close-checking third heat.

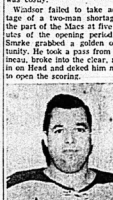
Although outshot 32-30 on the night's play, the Macs, playing fine two-way hockey, had a distinct edge on the Bulldogs. The result had no effect on the league standing but stymied the Dogs' drive for top spot.

Davy Jones paced the winners with a brace of goals with Eddie Marineau, Lou Smrke, Wiener Brown, Jim Boucher and Ike Hildebrand getting the others. Gribbons and Smrke each had two assists, with Marineau, Bradley, Brown, Muir, Youngberg and Chaszewski getting singles.

Moffatt, Haidy and Brown scored for the Dogs with Ulendale, Gross and Speck drawing assists.

The game, rugged at times, was generatively clean with the Bulldogs drawing the odd minor penalty in nine. None of them was costly.

Windsor failed to take advantage of a two-man shortage on the part of the Macs at five minutes of the opening period, when Smrke grabbed a golden opportunity. He took a pass from Marineau, broke into the clear, raced in on Head and deked him neatly to open the scoring.



EDDIE MARINEAU
. . . Handy Guy

Haidy had finished a sentence, when Eddie Marineau picked up a loose puck inside the Dogs blueline and his ankle-high slapper ripped into a corner to give the Macs a 2-0 lead.

Speck broke into the clear and was dumped from behind by Marineau when within feet of the net. Zorica was cheated at 16 minutes but no damage resulted although Head kicked out three close-in drives. The Macs outshot the Dogs 5-7.

The Macs took over in the six-goal second period, Boucher scoring at 35 seconds after he had been stopped on a breakaway by Head. The Macs maintained the pressure and five minutes later Jones smashed home a rebound on a play with Smrke and Chaszewski.

The Dogs broke the egg a minute later when Moffatt fired home Ulendale's passout from the right boards.

Head appeared to be caught napping from a goalmouth free off when Gribbons got the draw and gave it to Jones who sleltered the puck home just inside the post.

Ulendale was given the gate but no damage occurred and Haidy intercepted a passout from a Mac player to sink the puck behind Dogz second goal.

DAVY JONES

Haidy and Gribbons were chased for a stick duel and the pair had just returned when "Wiener" Brown slipped Gribbons goal-mouth pass past Head for the period score of 6-2.

The Dogs battled hard in the third frame, outshooting the Macs 12-8 in a desperate effort to whittle the margin. They tested Senior hard with the ex-Kitchener goalie coming up with some key saves.

Hildebrand put the Macs another goal in front after eight minutes on a three-man drive with Muir and Youngberg.

Gribbons was booted for alleged slashing at 11.29 but the Macs failed to get anywhere.

Jones broke into the clear with time running out but his shot bounded out to Brown who parked it behind Senior for the Dogs third counter.

Weather Defers Hockey Practice At Olympics

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP) Downhill racers, daredevils of the Winter Olympics, start training today on a 60-mile run labelled dangerous and difficult.

While the men dive down Squaw Peak, a committee will screen the women's downhill run on KT22 mountain. The committee approved the men's course Friday and is expected to give the go-ahead on the women's run. The Olympics start next Thursday.

Madeleine Chamoi-Berthoud of Sweden, only defending alpine (downhill-Slalom) champion from the 1956 Games, dislocated her shoulder in a fall. She still has not recovered from a head injury suffered last month. Whether the 25-year-old mother races is up to her doctor.

Othmar Schneider, trainer of Austria's powerful men's alpine team, twisted an ankle testing skies on the downhill course.

Inge Lindquist of Sweden piled up on the jumping hill, suffering bruise and thigh cuts. He later returned to jump.

Finland's Veikke Hankonen soared 289 feet, equalling the hill record set by Finn Kalevi Karkinen, another Finn.

Clear weather was forecast through Sunday, a boon to hockey players who have been suffering from lack of practice. They finally got a rink on which to work out Friday. Six teams shared the time.

Indians, Amerks Top Spotters In American

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Springfield Indians and Rochester Americans have just about locked up the first two playoff spots in the American Hockey League. But there is a real duel going on between Buffalo Bisons and Providence Reds for third and fourth.

While Springfield was strengthening its hold on first place Friday night with a 4-2 victory over Cleveland Indians and Rochester was thrashing Hershey Bears, Buffalo moved into sole possession of third at the expense of Providence with a 3-1 win.

Brian Kilrea scored in an empty net at 19.23 of the third period to assure the Indians of victory. The win maintained Springfield's five - point league lead.

Aldo Guidolin gave Cleveland an early lead before Gerry Foley and Parker Mcnicoll scored for Springfield. Floyd Smith made it 3-1 before Fred Glover scored Cleveland's final goal.

SEVEN GOALS IN ROW

The Americans accounted for seven third-period goals at Rochester after trailing 2-1. Billy Hicke had two of the seven goals. Singles were picked up by Al MacNeil, Dave Van Impe, Bill Saunders, Hank Ciesla, Pat Hannigan and Stan Smrke. Claude Laforge and Willie Marshall scored for Hershey.

The Bisons entered twice while shorthanded to defeat the Reds 3-1.

Penalties: Utendale, Haidy, Gribbons.

Third Period

Belleville—Hildebrand — 8.44
(Muir, Youngberg)
Windsor—Brown — 18.53
(Gross, Speck)
Penalties: Dietrich.

BCI Cagers Take 2 From Quinte, Seniors, Juniors Win, Bantams Lose

By PETER CARVER

Belleville Collegiate Institute played host to Quinte Secondary School last night in a basketball triple-header. The seniors and juniors won their games by scores of 58-53 and 31-28 while the visiting bantams grabbed a 18-12 victory. The win by the juniors was the important one as it kept them in contention for the Bay of Quinte C.O.S.S.A. crown. The Q.S.S. seniors already have it clinched.

SENIOR GAME

The senior game was a very close affair both teams shot well in the first quarter as Quinte came up with a 17-11 margin at half-time. The second stanza was loosely played, Quinte led 27-25 at half time.

Both teams played good offensive basketball in the third quarter, Q.S.S. outscored B.C.I. 16-9. The last stanza was battled at fourtic pace with both teams going hard right down to the wire. Basking won the game for B.C.I. in the last five seconds of the game, swishing two foul shots to break a 56-56 deadlock.

Nelson Banking and Brian McKenzie each hit for 18 points to be winning scorers. Campbell was the best for Q.S.S. collecting 15 and Marriott and Griffith each had 12.

BCIVS: McKenzie 18, Banting 13, Morton 15, Bakker 7, Regent Dulmage Parker, Bronson, Smith, Clarke.

QSS: McNaught 6, McBride 7, Campbell 15, Marriott 12, Griffith 10, Green 8, Wetle, Marriott, Thompson.

JUNIOR GAME

The first quarter was very fast and the checking hard and close. BCI held a 7-4 lead at quarter-time, and clicked on their rebounds in the second phase as both teams handled the ball well. Quinte was outscored 11-4.

BCI again took the lead as their passing and rebounding began to pay off in a 26-10 third-quarter-time lead. Quinte really started to click in the last quarter as their shooting was right on, but was outscored 16-7 but the rally was a little late.

Larry Campbell was tops for Quinte collecting 12 points while Barry Roberts had 7. Millionaire collector 7 for Quinte, Conroy and Davis hit for 6 apiece.

BCIVS: Annis 4, Bristow, Burt, Campbell 10, Dahl 6, McCabe, Muir, Soule, Weston 3, Bergsaenz 5, Roberts 7, Scott.

QSS: Mills, Gilroy 6, Rose 5, Latchford, Davis 6, Michaud 7, Leseila, Thompson 2, Burley.

BANTAM GAME

The first quarter was rather loosely played as both teams were off on their shooting. Quinte held a 3-0 lead at quarter-time but Belleville settled to the pace and outscored BCI 6-2 to go into the half with a 9-8 lead.

The third quarter was slow, both teams fought fiercely as BCI doubled up 4 points to Quinte's goose egg. BCI started to click in the last stanza but that tapered off during the latter part. Quinte was outscored 6-5.

Brian McBride played well for the losers while Fuzzen had 3.

BCIVS: Fuzzen 3, Bakker, Smith 1, Luca 7, Anderson, Stidsen, Robinson, Huntley, Skinner 1, Ridley, Hurst.

QSS: Irwin 2, Phillips 2, McBride 12, Goslin, Lewis, Mathers, Condenzio, Baldoni, Filsdall, Bylsma, Goodman, Boothroyd.

Canadian Football League Turns Down Interlock Sked

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Football League Friday night decided against a partial interlocking schedule between the Western Interprovincial Football Union and the Big Four because some eastern clubs felt it would cost them money.

The league voted 5 to 5 on a western motion that the interlocking schedule be adopted with a 60-40 split on pooled television revenues in favor of the East and with no gate equalization.

The five WIFU teams favored the proposal but the big four clubs didn't. A four-fifths majority is needed to pass such a proposal.

The CFL approved unlimited import changes and cleaned up other business involving rosters and players.

DECIDE CUP SITE

This left today's final agenda fairly light. The main item: A vote on the 1960 Grey Cup site and election of CFL officers.

Vancouver and Toronto are bidding for this year's Canadian football final. Unofficial talk is that Calgary Stampeders may hold the key to the vote on this issue. It is reported Stampeders are not too happy with the financial setup when Vancouver's Empire Stadium is involved.

On the interlocking issue, the East said it felt the best it could offer was $3,000 for western teams playing in the East and $2,500 for eastern teams playing in the West.

The question has been kicked around for three years. The league appointed Ralph Parliament of Winnipeg and Frank Gibson of Hamilton last year to study the question. They submitted a brief to all the teams.

Parliament said he was "extremely disappointed" that it was not accepted. He said he felt the principle was sound and "it would be too long before it will come into effect."

ROSTER RULES

The unlimited change on imports was approved without much discussion. The CFL ruled that rosters must be sliced to 50 players by Aug. 15, to 40 by Aug. 22 and to 34 by Sept. 15. But changes could be unlimited up to midnight 48 hours after a team's last league game. Then the roster becomes frozen except for the possibility of bringing back players who had been placed on a new "injury reserve list."

But players put on this list must wait 30 days before they can go on the roster. A club doesn't have to put an injured player on the list if it figures he will recover before the 30-day limit, but he still must have to be cut-down as one of its 34 players.

A team may play only 12 imports in any one game and dress a total of 28 players.

Delegates also approved a new rule that a team cannot use any player picked up from another Canadian team after Oct. 15. The player can be protected, however, for the next season.

CUT WAIVER PRICE

Deciding that the waiver price of $500 for Canadian players and $1,000 for imports was too high, the CFL dropped the figure to $250 for both classifications.

There was no change in the limit of 20 players a team can protect from the negotiation list, but a rule was introduced to cover a case of two clubs listing the same player. If letters seeking to list the same player reach commissioner F. Sydney Halter within 24 hours of each other, the team with the lower league standing (3) 3291, O'Connor Jewellers (5) 3048, Parson's Cleaners (5) 3509, Murray's Sea Foods (2) 3262.

Parson's lead the quarter with 51 points. Section 46, McDougall 43, Seven-up 37, O'Connor's 34, Boulton's 31 and Murray's 22.

Hockey Hints

NURSE THE PASS

One of the toughest things a coach does is watch a pass slide off a player's stick when he is in the clear. Great goal scorers like Hull, Howe, or Horvath rarely let a pay-off pass get away. They know how to "nurse" the fastest moving pass.

A key secret of keeping the puck under control is to use a "soft stick". As the puck comes in, let your stick move back with the puck a little. This prevents the puck from bouncing off the blade. Never jab at the pass, keep a relaxed grip on your stick and "nurse" it.

To prevent the puck sliding off the end of your stick keep the blade squarely facing the approaching puck.

Quinte Classic Bowling League

Wally Dingman with a 4-string of 1123 was top man in the Quinte Classic Bowling League at the Bowl-O-Drome last night.

WALLY DINGMAN

Other good scores included G. Anderson 1001, J. Legault 1037, R. Saylor 1031, W. Bateman 998, C. Tyler 991, G. Seeley 982, J. McIntyre 970, J. Fitzgerald 959, W. Godby 936, C. Hardwick 923, D. Batchelor 913, W. Philp 912, D. Smith 909, C. Bandy 907 and C. Baker 906.

Last night's results:

Section 46, McDougall 43, Seven-up 37, O'Connor's 34, Boulton's 31 and Murray's 22.

The most victorious rider of all time with Gerry Lesueur, who threw by George Lewis, was the third race. The mount tripped and fell, smacking Longden to the track.

Canucks, Totems Win Over Comets, Cougars

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Of all the players who contributed to the 239 goals scored on Spokane Comets in the Western Hockey League this season, it is said Colin Kilburn hurt the most.

The Vancouver Canucks ace is at his best against Comets. He scored two goals Friday night as Vancouver beat Spokane 3-1. Near the end of the game he got into a hassle with two Spokane players and picked up a roughing penalty.

Meanwhile, Seattle Totems and Edmonton Flyers eased the crush in second place. Totems scored four goals in the last 10 minutes to defeat Victoria Cougars 5-3 and knock the Cougars out of a three-way tie for second. Flyers scored a 4-3 victory over Calgary Stampeders.

Canucks preserved their nine-point lead at the top of the standings. The third Vancouver goal was scored by Dave Duke, Buddy Bodman scored for Spokane.

Veteran Gayle Fielder scored two Seattle goals at Victoria. Buddy Buckley, Don Chapin and Tommy McVie got one apiece. Gordie Fashoway scored twice for Victoria and Gordy Haworth got the third goal.

Gene Achtymichuk scored twice and Bob Solinger and Roger Demarais once each for Spokane. Calgary scoring was handled by Ron Leopold, Norm Johnson and Gerry Gray.

On the Track

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — One surprise was missing and many spectators scrambled to safety Friday as Row Line, Joe Hardy Jr.'s crack two-year-old colt, broke loose and stampeded through the crowd outside Santa Anita's fast paddling paddock.

Row Line—first in three starts here although disqualified for interference in his last—suddenly became unruly and broke away from the saddling paddock to the parking ring before Trainer Willie Molter, the California Breeders' Champion Stakes.

The colt wheeled, knocked over his groom, broke from the grasp of his handler, then went crashing through the crowd and headed back toward the paddock area.

An unidentified woman was knocked down and taken to the track hospital.

HORSE SCRATCHED

New Policy, three-year-old son of Khaled, won the $27,210 1 1-16-mile feature by 1½ lengths over Noble Noor. J. Lark got the show.

Willie Shoemaker was aboard the winner which paid $8, $3.80 and $3.20. Noble Noor paid $4.40 and $4.00 and T. V. Lark $4.20.

Meanwhile, the track announced that the negotiation for jockey Johnny Longden sustained a bone fracture in his left leg when he fell Thursday and may be out of action six weeks. Longden, who will be 55 on Sunday, will have his ankle in a cast for some time.

Wolves Blank Kingston 3-0

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A trio of seasoned veterans helped Sudbury Wolves tighten their grip Friday night on the Metro Professional Hockey League leadership.

The Wolves blanked third-place Kingston Frontenacs 3-0 at Sudbury before a crowd of 3,826. Netminder Gerry McNamara was in top form, and the goals scored by Bernard Marcotte, Ralph and Sam Bettio. Both are among the top four scorers in the league.

McNamara, at 34 a player with four years' American Hockey League experience, blanked the high-scoring Kingston squad. McNamara, owned by Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, grew up in Falconbridge, a suburb of Sudbury, and played his junior hockey with Toronto St. Michael's.

McCarthy, 25, who scored two goals for Sudbury, got his junior experience with—Toronto Marlboros, played three years in the Western Hockey League and a year of senior action in both the AHL and NHL. He is Detroit Red Wings property.

Irish Nudge Biltmores 3-1; TeePees Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A 3-1 victory for Toronto St. Michael's Majors over Guelph Biltmores Friday night put the Majors only one point behind the second-place Barrie Flyers in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

The Flyers were defeated 7-3 by St. Catharines TeePees. The win left TeePees alone in fourth with two points ahead of Guelph.

At Guelph, St. Michael's scored three goals in the second period. Mike Cyr, Les Kozak and Larry Keenan were the Toronto marksmen. Bert Brown tallied for Guelph in the final period.

TeePees outshot Barrie 32-24 and drew six of the nine penalties.

In a Laurier Cup game at Brockville, the Canadians defeated Toronto Marlboros 2-1 before an estimated 2,200 people. All the scoring was in the third period.

Scoring for Brockville were Germaine Munger and Keith McCreary. The Toronto scorer was John Hay.

Pair Leads Panama Golf

PANAMA (AP)—Ernie Vossler of Fort Worth, Tex., and Stan Dudas of North Hills, Pa., gave par a good beating Friday as they shot unopposed rounds in the 72-hole Panama open golf tournament with 36-hole scores of 127.

Vossler fired a 65 on the course on the front nine with a record-throwing 62 to 20, which included eight birdies. He wound up with a four-under-par 68 for the round. Dudas had a 67.

Defending champion Pete Cooper of Lakeland, Fla., Bob Watson of Ardsley - on - Hudson, N.Y., and Canadian champ Stan Leonard of Vancouver trailed the leaders by three strokes. Also within striking distance at 132 were Art Wall of Pocano Manor, Pa., and Al Balding of Toronto.

Leonard had rounds of 70-70 for 140. Balding fired a 71 Friday.

STICK TO DECISION

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department refused Friday to reconsider its decision to bar East German sports writers from entering the U.S. to cover the Olympic Games. Press officer Lincoln White said a press conference no protest has been received from Avery Brundage, head of the American Olympic Committee.

Aldcorn Should Score 20, Oliver Has Helped, and Howe

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Gary Aldcorn has more goals, more assists and more points in 33 games with Detroit Red Wings this season than he scored in 86 games with Toronto Maple Leafs. The Wings' rookie, he'll likely reach the 20-goal mark. But the 5foot-9 left-winger might still have a hard time convincing the fans he deserves to remain in the big league.

The reason? For the first half of the season Aldcorn played on a line with the great Gordie Howe and Murray Oliver, piling up most of his heavy scoring.

Around the NHL they say you could put a goalie on Howe's line and expect 20 goals from him.

Aldcorn has since been shifted to a line with Norm Ullman and John McKenzie. Brian Smith moved in with Howe and Oliver, presumably to give Detroit's attack better balance.

That's still rolling well but he credits Howe as the man behind a good part of his performance. Asked once why he had such luck with Howe, Aldcorn replied simply: "It's Utopia."

Howe, in turn, had some nice words about Gary—the best left-winger he's played with since Ted Lindsay and a "great digger."

Aldcorn, a solidly built, hard-working native of Shaunavon, Sask., had a good minor league career but just couldn't catch fire for Toronto Maple Leafs. Only champion of 1954-55 and all his hockey life, he was with the Toronto Marlboro's Memorial Cup championship team of 1953 and the next season, his first in pro ranks, managed 22 goals and 12 assists for Winnipeg of the Western League.

Ullman tried him out for 22 games in 1956-57 and he got only five goals and an assist. He was sent down to Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League.

Toronto tried him out again for 29 games the next year, and he sputtered along for 10 goals and 14 assists. Last year, he was back in Rochester. Something clicked. He scored 37 goals and 42 assists and made the AHL's all-star team.

That convinced Detroit that either he and Toronto just didn't go together or that he had suddenly learned to play hockey. The Wings nabbed him for $30,000 in the NHL draft. Tossed together with Howe and Oliver, he started to look like an excellent investment.

So far this season Aldcorn has banged in 17 goals and helped set up another 20. Only three with 25 goals and 30 assists and Ullman with 17 and 26 top that record in the Detroit camp.

Dunlops Defeat Chatham 5-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The last- and first-place teams in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A Series each scored victories Friday night.

Playing at home, the tail-end Belleville McFarlands put seven goals past Windsor Bulldog goalie Bob Head to win 7-3. Head is leaving for Squaw Valley, Calif., to bolster Richeson — Watson's Dutchmen.

In Chatham, forward Tom O'Connor scored three goals to replace league-leading Whitby Dunlops in a 5-2 win over the Maroons.

The Dunlops — outshot 30-30 — got fine goal-tending from John Henderson. Whitby Hookings and Pete Babando each added a goal to O'Connor's trio for the 11-man Whitby lineup.

Joe Malo and Ted Power scored for Chatham.

SETS WORLD MARK

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) A world speed record for a 100-mile race for late-model stock cars was set Friday as Jack Smith of Atlanta, Ga., whipped his 1960 Pontiac 40 times around the 2½ - mile Daytona International Speedway at an average of 146.658 miles an hour.

The previous mark, set here last year by Bob Welborn of Atlanta, was 143.196 miles an hour.

Smith set the mark in the second of two 100-mile races on the program after Glenn (Fireball) Roberts, Daytona Beach, had won the first event at a 138.46 mile-an-hour clip.

Writer Believes Jack Paar Will Return to NBC Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite the heated remarks by hurt, tired Jack Paar and the icy, formal stand of the NBC network, it is a family fight.

And like other family fights, a little understanding and forgiveness can patch it up. To outsiders, it appears an impasse with Paar walking out and slamming the door, and NBC pointing to his contract and declaring that he can't broadcast elsewhere.

I think, however, that after a vacation Paar will return to his show on NBC, with both sides gaining by the walkout.

Paar has been building up to rebellion for some time. He has felt — rightly or wrongly — that NBC - let him down when he needed lifting up. He was ripe to explode, and even if the network had not censored his program, something else would have been the trigger.

NBC's error is that it forgot that performers like Paar should be handled with care and understanding. The basis of Paar's success has been his sensitivity and responsiveness.

His feelings are easily hurt, and he is emotional to a degree a bank president or corporation lawyer wouldn't believe.

But these very qualities turned a fallible late-evening show into a big money maker.

Paar, in an hour's talk with me at his home Friday, repeatedly expressed disappointment at what he feels was NBC's failure to stand by him when he needed it. NO PEACOCK EGGS

"Other times when they've asked me to do things, I've gone along," he said. "On my special show, for instance, I wanted to have a bedraggled peacock crow like a hen and then lay a series of eggs. But they told me that the general (David Sarnoff, RCA board chairman) loved the peacocks and asked me not to kid about it. So I dropped the idea and used something else.

"I've dropped shows about yoga and hypnotism and other things I've wanted to do, too. But this . . ."

Gift Horse Gold Mine For New Owner

LONDON (AP)—Never look a gift horse in the mouth.

Capt. Francis Sadowski of the United States Air Force remembered this old saying when a friend gave him a broken-down racehorse.

The nine-year-old nag, named Happier Landings, won two races in eight days and netted Sadowski $1,120.

"He's been given away twice," Sadowski says. "Can't think why, to look at him. He looks fit as a fiddle and I'm sure he'll win a lot more races yet."

Sadowski, 30, was filling in soccer pool coupons at a pub recently when horse trainer John Roberts saw him.

"Why waste your money on that?" Roberts asked. "Try horse racing."

"Sure," Sadowski replied "that's why I'm playing the pools—to win some money to buy a horse."

"Okay," said Roberts. "You're a racehorse owner. You can have Happier Landings."

An accident knocked the horse out of racing in 1956. He came back but broke down in a race two years ago.

Roberts nursed him back to health and everything seems bright—for Happier Landings and Sadowski.

Tail Setting

Harness Racing Bits

By Phil Stewart

The Quinte Driving and Riding Club is holding its first "Annual" meeting at the West Moira Street firehall, Tuesday, February 16 at 8 p.m. and all members and any prospective members or fans are invited. The club will present reports of last season's activities and hold an election of officers before proceeding with plans for the coming racing season. A social evening will be discussed for the near future.

The club hopes to be able to present more race meets this season than the three successful meets of last summer.

On the 27th and 28th of January I attended a series of meetings and banquets in Toronto on the occasion of the formation of the "Ontario Harness Horsemen's Association", and at the "Canadian Trotting Association" annual meetings. On Wednesday the 27th, Cameron Bunnett of Belleville and Russell Hogan of Kingston were elected as directors for District 3 of the Ontario Harness Horsemen's Association. A large group met for the CTA meeting. Trophies were presented to Keith Waples for driving "Mighty Dudley", to Canada's first 2 minute mile, Dr. J. Findlay Campbell for the outstanding 3 year old trotter, "Valleyes Blue", and to E. Cuningham of Ingersoll for setting a world record of 2:5 3/5 for yearling pacers with "F. D. Scott". Following this, movies were shown of Mighty Dudley's two minute mile and of the 1959 Hambletonian.

The 1959 Hambletonian was interesting to district fans because not only was it won by "Helicopter" owned by Armstrong Brothers of Brampton and the only Canadian owned to ever win it, but some of the other starters have since found homes in this district. At Belleville fair grounds is "King Nibble", owned by Bob Givens; just outside Belleville at Len Reid's barn near Jones Creek is "Shotgun Hanover" owned by Colborne Real Estate and Mr. Smith's Falls is "Vitan Frisco" owned by Martial LeBlanc and who raced in the pace last summer. Also three all finished back of "Hellicopter" as did "Aerial Gunner" who is well known to Ontario fans.

Another excellent film was of the Saskatchewan Colt Futurity for three year olds at Swift Current.

TIPS
by JOHN WETTLAUFER
Most budget minded people want to extend the life of their television set as long as possible and keep repair bills to a minimum. Some folks have even wondered about turning off the picture while listening to musical programs in order to prolong the life of the picture tube.
Actually, this is of no benefit whatever. For this idea to work your set would have to be equipped with special audio switches that would turn off the filaments in the picture tube.
The best way to save money on television maintenance is to have any repair work done only by qualified and reliable technicians. CIRCLE TV SERVICE, 334 Coleman St. have the equipment and experienced men to quickly diagnose and repair all TV ailments. Phone WO 8-6791.

Ortega Loses To Griffith

NEW YORK — Emile Griffith, 21-year-old shipping clerk fighting his first Madison Square Garden main event in his 11th pro bout, won a split decision over veteran Gaspar Ortega of Mexico Friday night in a 10-round match. Ortega weighed 147½, Griffith 147½ pounds.

The decision was announced originally as unanimous but referee Harry Ebbets, originally announced as an 8-5-1 voter for Griffith, actually had voted for Ortega 8-5-1. Judge Bill Recht saw it 8-1-1 for Griffith and judge Artie Aidala had it 7-3 for Griffith.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RICHTER
Sunday, February 14, 1960

General Tendencies: Now you have a Sunday when all that is spiritual, scientific, educational in its nature really bring you solace and peace. And more than that—you can find ways by which you actually to use the lofty principles that are yours to a workable expression. Use your fine mind wisely. Then be of service to all about.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) You almost know physically how to handle all about so that there is greater harmony and happiness. Later you can also make a wonderful impression on a most influential person. Be your talented self and grow.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Planetary influences are very favorable right now and your very able associate gladly gives ideas how to have a more happy and prosperous future. Go into long discussions so that you cover all important points. Be happy.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Count your blessings and then show deserving persons much kindness. Be of service to them. Regularly loved ones at home, into the spirit of this lovely day and your blessings will also be increased.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 23) — Don't neglect to hear the sermon of a highly inspired spiritual minority in A.M. Later you can be with good friends and act in such a way that you will inspire them, make their lives happier Also, be generous where needed.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 22) Think back to the fine standards under which you were reared and plan to follow these principles for happier and more prosperous living in the future. P.M. get your coming weeks' activities scheduled sensibly on paper.

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) It will be possible to get the data now that will be most helpful to you in the future. Also, be off socially to meet with people from whom you can learn, become better informed, more wise. Then have fun with friends.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Deep meditation and thought are wise this a.m. if you are to get the fine benefits possible to you in the near future. Be generous with those who are in dire need. Begin uptrend now.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Unusually good day to be with family, associates, informally so that you can discuss vital affairs leisurely and be mutually helpful. Be charmingly hospitable and genuinely co - operative. Plan far into the future.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Handle those important affairs away from home today, this evening. Be with powerful individuals who can best point out the way to greater happiness and success in the future. Show that love for mankind that is in you.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are practically active today and can find better ways of meeting the right people and learning about the higher attributes of life. Get in touch with those who can make the proper introductions. Be adroit.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you wish to come to better understanding with all others today, it would be wise to go and listen to the sermon of the highly inspired leader of your favorite temple or church. You will help you think constructively, fruitfully.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Take a little trip with associates to some delightful now place where you can discuss important matters informally and in ease. P.M. dine out elegantly, attend a lecture, play, musical picture, whichever pleases most.

If your child is born today— The intelligent child born today will carry have an almost uncanny facility for answering questions correctly or doing whatever tasks are required of him, or her. Find out from an expert what is the greatest aptitude and then accord your youngster the finest educational program you can. The big architect, engineer or builder are in this most promising chart.

General Tendencies: Neither the new nor the old seems to be able to aid you to get rid of a depression, and nothing from the outside does help. It's up to you to monitor your thoughts so that only the cheerful, the constructive, and the desirable is placed in your consciousness. Then take no chances. Finish whatever has to do with neat touch and fine finish in a conscientious manner.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) This is one of those days when associates and everyone in general seem to rub you the wrong way, but this only because they are weighted down with personal problems and cannot be very helpful to you. P.M. relax and take it easy.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Act and speak in such a way that you don't have accidents or sever connections with those who are vital to your well-being. Take the treatments that will improve your health. Also, P.M. get wardrobe in best order.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — In endeavor to live life with positivity, you are tempted to be extravagant where some pleasure is concerned, but this will not help at all. Count your blessings and all will seem far brighter immediately. Learn to appreciate other others.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Some situation at home or work seem quite unbearable throughout the day, so it is best you attend to outside tasks or commitments. Things will right themselves and P.M. you can relax in front of your television. Smile.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) Take particular care while out driving or on foot yourself. And think twice before making any remark to another which will cause resentment, simply because you are out of sorts. Don't be arrogant when you shop, either.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Here is one of those days when you are tempted to spend money like water. Since you cannot really afford to do this, it is best you find some way to economize more instead. Then you are on the road to acquiring real abundance.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Since you are not feeling well now, you are tempted to take out your unhappiness on others instead of using self-control. Tighten your belt and impress others with your ability and humanitarian principles.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are tempted now to simply run away from obligations and ordinary problems, but if you look at them objectively, work them out sensibly, you will soon be on the road to success instead of failure. Conquer fear—smile.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Since your usually wise adviser is himself, or herself, disturbed today, do not follow any advice given or you will get into trouble. P.M. Steer clear of that gossipy and critical individual who could make you unhappy.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Civic matters are apt to be quite disturbing today, so be sure you do not lose any prestige already built up by unwise thought or action. Be sure in afternoon you are very circumspect when conferring with anyone about money.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) New friends today will endeavor to influence you to invest in time and money on what is pretty apt to be ephemeral and of short duration, so be sure to use your own will power. Apply new system to proven outlets instead.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) You are pretty much apt to made one decision today and then veer off in another. Decide on what you think is the best course of action and then follow through, though the going may seem rough. P.M. be devoted to loved one.

If your child is born today— The dear child born today is the type who always wants to fight over every little thing, but this can be best curbed by early giving the benefit of sports that teach fair play and use up the excessive energy in this child. Once happy intercourse with fellow human beings is learned, there is much success ahead, particularly since your prooyy has a very sweet and appealing quality.

DO YOU ? WOULD YOU ?

Recognize a bargain when you read about, it ? Would you buy it if you saw it — we think that you would! Then — you owe it to yourself to look at the new home on the East side. This is attractive in price, offering 3 bedrooms, living room, dining room, kitchen, 4-piece bath, oil heated, full basement, hot water heating, and a garage with car garage — paved driveway. If you like things that we say, then it has — and LOOK may do as the down payment. If you need any more encouragement than this then you just don't want a home, or a house. If you do want to look — call us at once. Ask for Mr. Lloyd WO 2-2254, or in the evening for Mr. McLean at WO 8-2310 or Mr. Miller at WO 8-5900.

$1,500. CASH

CHILDREN FOR ADOPTION

BABY GIRL AND TWIN GIRLS—Virtue Lois 10, Margaret 11, Starr Carol 12. Mother is unable to care for them. Father deceased. Lois and Margaret have been in foster homes since birth. Virtue has brown hair and grey eyes, Starr Carol has brown hair and a share of freckles. These are healthy children who are doing well in school. Lois and Margaret are both well adjusted children with a close attachment to one another but each has her own individuality. Margaret is more reserved and feels the responsibility of her younger sister. Starr Carol is a friendly little girl who remembers her foster parents.

Dash Gauges Guard Your Car's Health

By EUGENE B. MILMOE

Lack of understanding or attention to dash gauges has caused many dead batteries, burned-out engines and rapid wear.

Most drivers are aware of the temperature gauge, but assume everything is O.K. if the reading doesn't indicate a very hot or overheated engine. Actually, the gauge is also meant to warn against cold and take warm temperatures. They are equally harmful, causing excessive engine wear and poor performance.

Generator and oil pressure lights warn of trouble only when the generator isn't charging and when oil pressure is practically nil. Gauges tell much more.

An ammeter shows battery charge and discharge and the amount. It can also be a means of detecting a short, ground, defective switch, loose wiring, etc.

The oil pressure gauge indicates circulating pressure (in pounds) of engine oil under safe operating conditions. Regular attention to readings quickly warns you if some condition causes what is usually low or high pressures.

From L. N.: "My distributor points have burned out after less than 1,000 miles. Can you suggest why?"

(A) A troublesome or incorrect condenser and a distributor which is spraying oil on the points are the most frequent causes.

P. M. writes: "Hard starting plus a noticeable amount of exhaust smoke when the car does start are the only complaints I have with my '59 convertible."

(A) An overrich choke could be the answer — or perhaps you are over-loading the carburetor with too much pedal pumping when you start.

S. D. asks: "Can the fan be removed to gain power in winter?"

(A) This is only for racing or test drivers who travel long distances at high speeds. Under average driving conditions, engine temperatures would soon hit record time without the fan.

From M. P.: "My '59 sedan purchased in April was ideal until a few months ago. Now, there's a drop in both gas and oil mileage."

(A) When choke and carburetor adjustments are made for the winter driving, they are sometimes too rich. As a result, raw or unburned gasoline washes into the crankcase, diluting engine oil. Thus, gas is wasted and the oil, which has been thinned out, tends to burn off more readily.

CLOSE CANNERY OPERATION

GRIMSBY (CP) — Canadian Canners Limited announced Thursday it will close canning operations in its plant here following a demand by Grimsby town council that the company pay half of planned sewage disposal improvements estimated to cost $300,000. The company will use the plant for storing empty cans and cased foods and as a receiving station for produce.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED WILSON

NOCTURNAL

Few of us are on intimate terms with Canada's nocturnal birds of which there are more than you might imagine. Quite a number are absolutely birds of darkness, never venturing away from home or making any noise to attract attention in daylight. Most owls come into this group, as well as the whip-poor-will and the nighthawk. Some owls, sufficiently active in daytime to bring themselves to our notice. Other birds, classed as diurnal, often do some scouting around, and talking, too, at night.

Owls are rarely seen except by people who are definitely on the lookout for them; yet many are actually living among us the whole year round. In the right type of terrain to suit each species, it is possible to come upon great horned, barred, or screech owls in midwinter in any province of Canada. Snowy or barred in all but Alberta. Long-eared and short-eared, although found in many places, might still be found in central and southern Ontario, and occasionally in southern Quebec. Some tiny, saw-whets linger in southern Canada all winter. Even barn owls, not really good Canadians, are residents of southern Ontario.

IDENTIFIED BY VOICE

Also strictly nocturnal, but just now beginning in the south, are our whip-poor-wills and nighthawks. During their favourite nightflying insects begin, these birds come to spend the summer with us, nesting right across Canada. Whip-poor-wills, very seldom seen, are usually identified by their voices. Those of us who have had the privilege of living near wooded country during May are very familiar with their oft-repeated "whip-poor-will!" from dusk to dawn. On the other hand, nighthawks, although getting their characteristic, nasal call all the while they are hunting insects in the sky, are often more easily heard. Nightfall and just before sunrise are their best loved times for going abroad, but they are sometimes seen in daylight.

Black owls and snowy owls go into the class of birds, that, though nocturnal, are also day flying. Both make occasional winter flights into southern Canada.

Loons, which are migrants, are likely daylighters, but noted for giving their weird, ringing calls at night as they fly overhead. And perhaps you have heard a "cuck, cuck, cuck" as you lay in bed in your cottage during June. This sound comes from the black-billed cuckoo, migrants that breed from P.E.I. westward into Alberta. Though counted as diurnal birds, they are often live-ly and noisy at night.

HOSPITAL EMERGENCY

OTTAWA (CP) — The Ottawa Academy of Medicine said Thursday an emergency exists in the city's hospital a c c o m m o d a t i o n and called for immediate acquisition of additional bed space. The academy issued a statement in which it urged the city council to acquire unused space in the Royal Ottawa Sanatorium for convalescent facilities and recommended the setting up of a city hospital board somewhat similar to the public school board.

PROMOTES CONSERVATION — Alphonse Leclaire, 78 (left) president of the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations, spends most of his time promoting outdoor sports and developing a program of education in conservation. He is shown here presenting a sportsman award to coach Toe Blake of the National Hockey League Montreal Canadiens at the Montreal Sportsmen's Show. Proceeds of the show are used to advance conservation efforts of the 480 affiliated clubs of the federation. (CP Photo).

Canada Outdoors

By MARVEN MOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—How much thought does the average man give to wildlife conservation?

Not enough, says Alphonse Leclaire, president of the 15-year-old Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations.

"The importance of our fish and game resources is a tough nail to drive home."

A fair indication of public apathy, he said in an interview, is that the federation's 60,000 membership, represents only 2½ per cent of the number of game permits issued in the province last year.

LONG WAY TO GO

"Even taking into account odd-sters and those who obtained more than one permit for various types of game it's apparent we have a lot of ground to make up.

Mr. Leclaire, 72, is a retired salesman who spends many, of his weekends hunting or fishing. The organization he leads has 480 affiliated clubs. Its aims: To foster outdoor sports and co-ordinate a sorely-need program of public education in conservation.

The 4,800 - member Montreal Anglers and Hunters Incorporated is perhaps the most active affiliate, It's president is J. Oscar Hood's '28, a public relations man from Shawinigan, Que., who also serves as a director of the federation.

In summer and fall, Mr. Houde, too, takes to the lakes and forests. But he's more interested in fishing and forestry than hunting.

"I've never shot big game such as moose or deer in my life," he says.

His organization meets monthly to hear guest lecturers and sponsors a varied and extensive program in outdoorsmanship and preservation.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTION

Experts provide special instruction in archery, skeet and trap shooting, fly-tying, weapons handling and map and compass reading among other fields.

Last summer a casting contest was staged at Lafontaine Park in the east end. Hula-hoops floating in an artificial lake were the targets for competitors.

The group also awards a $300 prize annually to a university student specializing in wildlife work, distributes conservation posters to schools and this year in sponsoring an essay contest among French and English - speaking high school students.

"Why protect our forests?" is the topic. Thirty winners will be selected in June and taken on a picnic outing to a tree nursery in the Laurentian Mountains north of Montreal.

Membership dues in the organization are $2 annually. Both it and the federation are non-profit bodies, deriving most of their finances from an annual sportsmen's show at Montreal's Dow Mart. This year's show is set for March 18-27.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Big Shot Has World by the Tail When Seeking a Retirement Job

By THOMAS COLLINS

A working man who is about to retire on $203 a month and an executive who will bow out with $675 have asked the same question:

"Where is the best place to get a job after 65?"

The same answer won't fit both because the executive, ironically enough, seems will find it much easier to get a job than the working man. And he'll be much more handsomely paid.

In fact, the more successful a man has been in his business career the more likely he is to find a retirement job that will pay him as much as his career did or more.

The man who retires on a salary of $500 a month usually finds it difficult to get a job. And if he gets one it is frequently at a $200-a-month level.

Here are the types of jobs retired men are getting: (But keep in mind that these are averages for a time when there were the last two years. There'll always be a little man or a dumb one who makes an exception.)

Counter man in a store; mechanic; service station worker; salesman; odd-job man in a small business that has no pension or insurance program, and if..no openings anywhere, a watchman or day laborer. A man who retires from a job that paid him less than $8,000 a year usually must accept a retirement job that needs his hands and not his head.

HAS AMBITIOUS

The $10,000 man — chicken-raiser; owner or co-owner of a small business; salesman in the insurance or realestate field; "advisor" to a competitor of his own city; political campaigner at the county level; manager or a partner of an agency that sells something. This man got a high school education and has ambitions, although a mediocre one, of going to a university or college. He lands in a job that takes a little figuring along with manual work.

The $12,000 man — Consultant, probably to a firm in a field allied with his company rather than with a competitor. This man may have had three years of college or the fraternity brothers, and is proud that he made $1,000 a month. His pension privileges are somewhat hoodad, and he is the man most likely to pass up a retirement job.

The $15,000 man — executive almost anywhere. This man has sat at the speaker's table, belonged to the luncheon clubs, had a secretary, and has been important. He has contacts, and some of them may put him in touch with a research project that has him or a board of governors is conducting. Or recommend him as a trouble-shooter to straighten out a management problem or a personnel problem in some business, Or recruit a sales force.

BACK TO ALMA MATER

This man wouldn't be as proud as the $12,000 man. But he would insist on more pay and probably would get it. The odds are that he'll be a college graduate. In which case he might go back to the alma mater, get sentimental, and a job teaching the business in which he succeeded, and settle for $7,500 a year.

The $20,000 man — Big Shot. Here is the man who takes the world by the tail. He's at the vice-president level, and his job has been involved with all sorts of trade associations and all manner of civic commissions. He becomes the executive director of this or executive secretary of that. He becomes an adviser or a consultant (in the best sense of the words, with secretary, private office, leather-topped desk, etc.) to a large business firm. His retirement pay may hit $25,000.

There are many variations to these men in the different salary classifications. But almost without exception the man who has succeeded in business will succeed in about the same ratio in a retirement job. Except that the more successful he has been, the more he will be in demand. And the $50,000 a year man has a much better chance to make $75,000 in retirement than the $8,000 a year man has to make $5,000.

"Don't go on a diet, Ethel. I don't want you to be one of those thin ugly women. I prefer you as you are now — fat and ugly."

Atomic Blast Can Neutralize Hydrogen Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP) — A general's apparent slip of the tongue has disclosed that a small atomic explosion can be used to neutralize thermonuclear warheads on ballistic missiles.

Involved in the process is the principle of neutron flux, but the details of the technique are classified top-secret. Even after it was mentioned publicly, research officers declined to say anything about it.

Lt.-Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, United States Army chief of research, made the disclosure Thursday during a press conference on development of the anti-missile missile, the Nike-Zeus.

At this movie - with - questions conference, the army also exhibited a one-minute film clip showing the first known interception of a ballistic missile by a guided missile Jan. 29 over White Sands, N.M.

Traffic, Power Disrupted By Snow And Wind

Many Central Ontario Roads Impassable

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Heavy snow storms and strong wind gusts struck throughout Eastern Canada Sunday, disrupting traffic, power and sports events.

Driving conditions in Central Ontario were described as the worst so far this winter. Winds gusting to 40 miles an hour, powdery snow and near - zero temperatures forced police cruisers off and snowplows off the highways.

Hundreds of cars were stalled on main roads, some skiers were stranded and traffic had to be rerouted. An international driving rally in Ontario was plagued with detours and more than one-third of the field was knocked out as a result of bad weather conditions.

MUCH SNOW FELL

Six inches of snow fell in the Ottawa area where wind gusts swirled the fall into deep drifts, causing many minor traffic accidents. Twelve inches of snow was reported at Cornwall Sunday.

Montreal got from six to 12 inches as civic storm crews worked to keep major traffic arteries clear. All parking in the downtown area was banned.

Heavy snow fell through other parts of Eastern Ontario and western Quebec.

Southwestern Nova Scotia was hit by its third major storm in 12 days as heavy rain and winds gusting to 60 miles an hour caused widespread power outages and disrupted power in the Annapolis Valley.

In Canada's about 25 skiers were stranded overnight at the Ochawa Ski Club. Some stayed at the club's hut and others were billeted at a nearby farmhouse. Seven cars were snowbound at the club.

Parts of the skiers trekked into a nearby village for food supplies and returned to the hut. Snowplow crews said it would be impossible to fight the drifts on the necessary road to the ski club before Monday.

HIGHWAY 115 BLOCKED

Highways department crews said it was almost nine miles south of Peterborough adjoining motorists that a 30 miles of highway 115 was blocked by drifts. Traffic had to be rerouted.

More than 50 persons were stranded overnight in a village general store at Kinby, between Oshawa and Peterborough. At least a dozen persons were delayed in Ontario accidents caused by bad weather.

Some hockey games were cancelled and milk deliveries today in the Lindsay area were delayed.

Hydro power went off in parts of Oshawa for more than an hour and power lines were reported down in rural areas north of the city. Repair crews were hindered by the deep drifts.

NEW YORK (AP) — Winter's most violent weather, a combination of gale-whipped snow and sleet, staggered most of the eastern quarter of the United States during the weekend.

The crippling storm, which left in a blanket of snow across the southern states before blasting northeastward, diminished Sunday night, but snow and strong winds continued to lash areas from below the upper Ohio Valley into New York state and New England, causing considerable drifting.

Deaths attributed to the weather mounted to at least 36, mostly from heart attacks while shovelling snow, or road accidents.

The roving storm, after plastering the south with as much as 18 inches of snow, moved through eastern Ohio to the Atlantic coast during the New England.

MANY VEHICLES STUCK

Air, highway and train travel was sharply curtailed. Thousands of cars and trucks were abandoned on snow-covered highways, in rural areas and even in cities. Scores of plane flights were cancelled and at least 100 persons were snowed, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Vice-President Nixon stranded in the worst storm in 10 years in southwestern Pennsylvania.

Hundreds of schools were ordered closed today, and driving conditions remained hazardous.

Cold weather was added misery in the northeast storm zone. Temperatures were in the teens in most of the snow-covered sections.

Biting, gusty winds off Lake Erie drifted snow up to 10 feet high in northwestern New York State. The ground was covered with falls up to 18 inches. More than a foot of snow was general in many areas, Buffalo got less than six inches.

GALE WARNINGS

Gale warnings remained displayed from Cape Hatteras, N.C., to Eastport, Maine, on the coast.

Skies cleared today in the south but cold air still blanketed much of the region. It was below freezing in Florida as far south as Miami and along sections of the northern gulf of Mexico coast.

Meanwhile, another storm brought snow overnight to Texas, Colorado, most of Kansas and western Oklahoma.

Bus too High

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A bus with its roof mounted to it, looked like a sardine can with the top sheared off after it tried to go under a low railroad bridge.

Either the bus was 12 inches too high or the overpass was a foot too low, but Jean Marck Dorvilier, 21, of Montreal, Que., said he didn't realize it until too late.

Four of the passengers were treated for cuts.

SEIZE NEWSPAPER

ALGIERS (Reuters) — Police seized today's edition of the popular newspaper Paris Jour on its arrival here. They gave no reason.

Researchers Find Cocktail Parties Fairly Noisy Right From Start

WASHINGTON (AP) — A team of Canadian noise researchers, fresh from explorations on the cocktail party circuit, have come up with reassuring news for diplomats, bartenders and other habitual party-goers.

They can put aside any fear they reported that things are not getting noisy at such affairs, but the noise level they observed was not quite high enough to cause permanent hearing damage, the researchers said.

The Ottawa researchers made their special survey of "noise levels at cocktail parties" at a number of soirees attended in the course of their duties by employees of Canada's National Research Council.

One aim of their studies was "to determine, for example, whether the noise might constitute a health hazard."

In a report in the Journal of the Acoustical Society of America, researchers R. F. Legget and T. D. Northwood of the research council's division of building research, said:

The maximum levels observed at eight gatherings — including one where only coffee was served — was 80 to 82 decibels. A decibel is a unit for measuring the loudness of sounds.

The investigators made a special note of the coffee-only party, "because we might suspect, if we indicate that "the nature of the beverages served seems of minor significance" as regards noise levels" . . . at least in the range where coffee is drunk."

The coffee party, they reported, was staged by a bunch of librarians — "a group dedicated professionally to maintaining quiet . . . (yet) . . . despite this handicap, they managed to hold their own with the true cocktail party-goers."

They also reported that, by and large, although the parties are somewhat less noisy than mixed gatherings.

One of their main intents, they said, had been to test a previous theory of another researcher who contended that at a critical point

WAIT FOR ROYAL BIRTH NEWS — People stand against gates of London's Buckingham Palace Sunday for news of Queen Elizabeth II who is expecting her third child. (AP Wirephoto)

LITTLE CHANCE LABOR ACT WILL BE REVISED

Transport Minister Tells OFL No Need

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)— Most of the 41 recommendations of the select committee on labor relations may be accepted when amendments to the Labor Act are introduced this month, Transport Minister Yaremko of Ontario indicated here Saturday.

Mr. Yaremko told the Ontario Federation of Labor conference he has changed his mind about the need for a major revision of the act since he sat on the select committee two years ago. He said this is not the time for a major overhaul of the act.

The minister said later that while both labor and management are generally satisfied with the act during committee hearings, he had recently received many letters from union members and employers praising the act.

Drastic changes in the act have recently been opposed also by Labor Minister Daley. Ontario Federation of Labor has been conducting a postcard campaign against the select committee's recommendations.

QUESTIONS ADEQUACY

Ontario CCF leader Donald C. Macdonald told the conference Saturday that he has given the legislature notice of a bill to replace the Labor Relations Act. He questioned the adequacy of amendments planned by the government this session.

At a political action seminar Sunday, David Lewis, national president of the CCF, and one of the leading figures in the move to form a new party in Canada, indicated that public ownership in key segments of the economy will play an important role in the policies of the new party.

The main emphasis, however, will be on government controls to shape the economy.

Both Mr. Lewis, CCF and other democratic socialist movements have abandoned the view

Midwife Moves into Palace, Royal Baby Expected Soon

LONDON (CP)—Londoners began gathering outside the gates of Buckingham Palace early today as the long wait for the birth of Queen Elizabeth's third child appeared near an end.

Sister Helen Rowe, the Queen's maternity nurse, moved into the palace Sunday to make her final preparations for the birth.

A crop of banner headlines in the newspapers announcing Sister Rowe's arrival helped whip up the excitement. Previous royal officials said her summons to the palace did not mean "that the birth is regarded as imminent."

The Queen's obstetrician, John Harold Peel, walked at his London apartment only seven minutes drive from the palace. His wife moved to Windsor from their suburban home during the week-end.

The Queen's doctors believe the birth will be some time this week. Newspapers say it could be within the next 36 hours.

Buckingham Palace kept clear of engagements, and he will never be far from the palace Tuesday.

Sister Rowe attended Elizabeth when she was a princess. The nurse moved into Buckingham Palace four days before the birth of Prince Charles and Lady Clarence House, where the royal couple lived, seven days before the birth of Princess Anne.

Sister Rowe, a serene motherly woman in her 60s, will be helped by another nurse, Annette Wilson 30, who was freed Sunday from duty at London's King Colledge Hospital, where she normally works.

The Queen is expected to move into palace's Belgian suite, which has been prepared for the birth, either today or Tuesday. The ground-floor suite, overlooks the gardens at the back of the palace and cannot be seen from outside the grounds.

Brenda Blushed But Firemen Got Her Free

LONDON (AP) — School teacher Brenda Hickson, 18, stripped Sunday to take a bath.

But Brenda thought the hot water heater was blocked, so she turned off the water and poked her little finger up the spout.

The spout contracted and she couldn't get her finger out again.

She twisted and turned, pulled and pushed. Finally she screamed for help.

A friend who shared her West Hampstead apartment rushed to the bathroom door but found it locked. She sent for the fire brigade and an ambulance.

Four burly firemen burst in minutes later. They threw a sheet over the girl to cover her maidenly blushes.

Soon she was freed.

The firemen?

"Perfect gentlemen," said Brenda.

And Brenda?

"Very much a lady," said the firemen.

Engineer Killed, Three Other Crewmen Hurt in Collision

WINNIPEG (CP)—"There was one sharp jolt and then the crash."

Mrs. Churl Lewis of Toronto was describing how it felt when the Toronto-bound Canadian Pacific train smashed into a freight on a curve 15 miles from Ontario's gateway while each was travelling at high speed.

Three members of the freight crew and the fireman from the passenger train were killed and injured when they jumped for their lives just before the collision.

Engineer Albert Prairie, about 50, stayed in the cab of the passenger train and rode to his death in the wreck.

Thirty-three of the westbound Super Continental's 67 passengers were treated for minor injuries by doctors and nurses who rushed to the scene from other communities.

The collision occurred about noon Saturday 32 miles west of Rennie, divisional point at Hornepayne, Ont., 210 miles northeast of the Lakehead. All the crew members were from Hornepayne.

Passengers who arrived here Sunday night said the crash was followed by confusion but no panic.

The trains barrelled into each other where the main line's single track snakes through a rocky, wooded area dotted with lakes. Visibility was pulled by low cloud units.

A reliable source who asked that his name not be used said both trains were travelling about 70 miles an hour.

"When they hit, a ball of fire blew into the air and the four engines disintegrated," he said.

MIKOYAN GIVEN ROUGH RECEPTION BY NORWEGIANS

Enters Private Talks With Govt. Officials

OSLO (AP)—Anastas I. Mikoyan went high quiet talks with Norwegian government officials today after a rough reception from students Sunday night.

The students booed the Soviet deputy premier for referring to former Hungarian freedom fighters given refuge in Norway as criminals. They laughed at his assertion that there are no political prisoners in Russia.

Mikoyan spoke before the Norwegian Students Association shortly after arriving in Oslo for a two-day stopover on his way home from Cuba, where he signed a big trade agreement with Fidel Castro's government Saturday. Saturday evening he made a three-hour refueling stop in Stephenville, Nfld., where he distributed Sputnik pins to Canadian children.

APPEALS PEACE PLEA

The crowd of 800 in Oslo Sunday night applauded his pleas for peace and the glowing historic gave of Russia's growing industrial might. But a few seconds after someone asked him about Soviet suppression of the 1956 Hungarian revolt.

Mikoyan replied that the Soviet government had "always asked to help crush the "arch-reactionary, criminal, American - instigated revolt," and shouted angrily:

"And those Hungarian students who were misled have on their blood on their hands."

Students rang out the students drowned out the Soviet leader with whistles and shouts.

TALKS ARE SET

The Soviet leader sounded new calls for peace coexistence and peaceful competition among nations, but he spiced his speech with attacks on the United States.

Mikoyan said that the talks between Premier Khrushchev and President Eisenhower "have given hope that we may live in peace."

He declared the Soviet Union had to build up its armed forces in order to be strong enough the Americans started threatening us in 1945 and the American government started printing maps showing how many nuclear bombs it would take to wipe us out."

"But," he added, "only crazy Americans would start war today."

Air Force Chief Thinks Airborne Alert Dangerous

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Thomas White, says the establishment of a constant airborne U.S. airborne alert now might prod the Soviet leaders into rash decisions.

It is wiser, White said, to stick with the unmanned plan for increasing "on-the-shelf" capability so that such an alert could be put into operation if needed.

The air force chief made his views known in heavily-censored testimony released Monday by the Senate space and preparedness subcommittee, which held its hearings behind closed doors.

Among others heard by the sub-committee was Gen. Thomas S. Power, commander of the Strategic Air Command, who has been asking for more funds to keep his bombers on a round-the-night alert within about two years.

France Prepares For More Nuclear Tests In Sahara

Defence Minister Says H-Bomb Is 'Considered'

PARIS (Reuters)—France prepared today for more nuclear tests in the Sahara despite bitter African and Asian protests over her first atomic bomb explosion.

Government officials made it clear that Saturday's blast was only the first in a long-range program designed to build up a nuclear striking force and with France equal status with the world's other nuclear powers.

Jacques Soustelle, former minister in charge of atomic affairs, said today that the first test cleared the way for other kinds of explosions—perhaps in the near future. These could include underground tests, "which nobody could in good faith condemn."

The independent evening newspaper France-Soir says France may explode her second atomic bomb within two months and her first hydrogen bomb in the Pacific Ocean before the middle of 1961.

H-BOMB CONSIDERED

Defence Minister Pierre Messmer told reporters after the atomic test that a hydrogen bomb was "being considered."

Soviet Premier Khrushchev told Mikoyan's press conference here that he regretted the French nuclear test but did not think it would have an effect on the talks now going on in Geneva between the United States, Russia and Britain to end all tests.

Mikoyan said Russia, however, that the test "cannot be regarded as a French contribution toward the solution of the international detente" or understanding and warned that unless they are in terrible danger of radioactivity.

Premier Nehru quoted a science teacher as saying radioactivity on that Mediterranean island jumped to more than 20 times its normal reading following the tests.

In Ghana, Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah said that the French assets pending tests to determine the effects of Saturday's blast and future French explosions.

The United Arab Republic instructed its United Nations delegate to ascertain from French representatives over joint measures against the blast.

About 1,000 Syrian students walked out classes Monday to cut shouting "down with the criminal de Gaulle."

ASK RELATIONS BREAK

An official of the Afro-Asian Solidarity Secretariat called on the 52 countries represented at the conference to break off diplomatic relations with France.

In London, The Daily Mirror says RAF bombers with sensitive instruments will seek out clouds over British Sunday to pick up particles of radioactive dust. The "blasted into the atmosphere by France's atom bomb blast.

It quotes a defence ministry spokesman as saying it will be a day or two before it can be determined how much radioactivity there is in the clouds as a result of the test.

Other independent and right-wing European newspapers express concern over the test but say little. All speak of increased French prestige in international talks.

Storm Blocks Roads

LONDON (Reuters) — Deep snow today blocked roads in northern and eastern England after weekend snowstorms that continued today in some areas.

Snowplows were trying to clear roads in Scotland, the worst hit by weekend storms.

New York Heiress Jailed for Theft From Mother to Finance Honeymoon

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Troubles piled up today for a 17-year-old New York heiress who eloped with a delicatessen clerk last July.

Pretty Roberta Orr Brady faces charges of writing bogus checks totaling $3,400 from her mother to finance her honeymoon with Albert Edward Brady, 26-year-old $85-a-week clerk.

It developed that her husband has been married once before—maybe twice—and is wanted in Houston, Tex., on a car-theft charge. He's also in jail, charged with abducting Roberta, since she is a minor.

And she expects a child in three months.

Roberta, located here Saturday by the FBI, is the daughter of the late Robert Orr, an advertising executive. Her mother now is married to an exiled Persian prince, Rokneddin Kadjar.

Roberta's family sent a lawyer here to take her home. She put $300 bond and got her out of jail, but declined to put up the $5,000 needed to release Brady.

He wouldn't say whether the family will press the theft charge against Roberta.

Brady, left alone in jail, said "I admit I'm wrong and I'm sorry, but I still want my life with Ronni." Ronni is the nickname Roberta prefers.

And Ronni insists that she still wants her life with Albert.

MISS F. FEATHERSTONE PASSES TESTS FOR EXAMINER

Miss Pat Featherstone of Belleville recently passed her tests for the aquatic examiner's certificate, the highest swimming award granted by the National Council of Physical Education in Canada. The award qualifies Miss Featherstone, a teacher at the Ontario Business College, to examine candidates for all swimming, instructor's and life-saving certificates and tests. The certificate is awarded for two years, after which period the holder has to requalify.

Miss Featherstone, who is also the swimming instructor for the Sportsmen's Helidivers skin diving club, is the only person to have qualified for the aquatic examiner's certificate in Belleville for some time.

POLICE CALLED TO INVESTIGATE TRANSPORT CRASH

Provincial police at Belleville were called to investigate an accident on No. 2 Highway, west of Belleville this morning in which a transport was reported to have gone into the ditch, resulting in considerable property damage. No one was injured, but other details of the mishap were not available at noon.

BUILDERS HEAR C OF C PRESIDENT

Members of the Quinte House Builders' Association held their February meeting at Clin Cassew with Enos David, president of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce as the guest speaker.

Mr. David outlined the activities of the Chamber and how plans were being made for an all-out campaign to attract new industry to the city. A discussion on attracting industry to the city followed.

In the absence of Association president Earl Denville, the dinner meeting was presided over by vice-president B. Beehler. Pat Hickman, secretary, reported on the recent builders' convention held in Toronto.

Two Local Boys Win Prizes at Music Festival

Two Belleville boys placed first in their respective classes at the thirtieth Eastern Ontario International Rotary Festival of Music held in Kingston last week.

One of the boys, 16-year-old John Tooth, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Tooth, was awarded a $25 scholarship as well as the Festival first award, for the second consecutive year.

The scholarship was given by the Rotaryannes for achieving the highest standing in the solo instrumental section of the Festival.

Entered in the class for trombone solo under 18 years of age, John was awarded a mark of 86 and was commended by adjudicator Guy Jonson for his fine playing of a difficult piece.

The other Festival award winner was pianist Judy Russell, who captured first place honors in the piano solo, 14 years and under class. Required to play any prelude or fugue from Bach's well-tempered Clavichord, she was awarded 88 mark. He, too, was highly commended by Mr. Jonson.

This was extremely good playing with a scholarly approach and fine authoritative expression", Mr. Jonson stated.

The week-long Festival concluded Saturday night. Adjudicators were two musicians, Miss Irwin and Guy Jonson, who flew over from England to adjudicate a series of Rotary International music festivals.

Benefit Hockey Game Will Assist Quinte Retarded Children Assoc.

The McFarlands and the Queen's Golden Gaels, of Kingston, are playing an exhibition hockey game next Thursday, February 18, in aid of the Lions Club of Belleville, all proceeds from the gate to go to the building fund for Quinte Association for Retarded Children.

The Quinte Association is one of 56 local associations in Ontario, which received aims since 1953 under a provincial association. In 1953, provincial associations formed a to coast formed a national body, the Canadian Association for Retarded Children.

LIVELONG PROBLEM

The Quinte Association's aim is "to provide an environment for retarded children in which they can play and work happily and still derive benefits from their handicap." A life-long problem as retarded children seldom reach the mental age of 10. At the present time, the Association has two classes operating in the public school on Queen Victoria Public School and the C.C.F. Hall over the road across the street from the school. Training can change many of these children from being a crushing mental and physical burden for even the most loving parents, into a reasonably dignified member of the family. Doctors usually divide retardation into three categories. Mildly retarded children are those with an IQ of 50 to 70 and the public system takes care of these. Moderately retarded children have an IQ of 20-49 and a potential mental age of 5 to eight years. Severely retarded children have an IQ from 0 to 19 and their mental age will never exceed three-years, even in adulthood. Any child under an IQ of 50 is not permitted to attend the public system classes. Parents with such a child have the choice of placing them in a waiting list for Ontario Hospital at Smiths Falls and Orillia or attempt themselves to provide some training in the home often to the detriment and neglect of other children in the home.

SCHOOL URGENTLY NEEDED

According to Tom Howe, president of the Quinte Association, a school is urgently needed in Belleville. At present hospital near Chatham (1,200 beds) has been added to completed early in 1961 which is also expected to be able to handle about two-thirds of the combined waiting lists of the Smiths Falls and Belleville institutions (3,100 beds). Day schools sponsored by local associations are helping to solve the problem. The provincial government helps finance operating costs in these schools for retarded children. Over 1,400 very retarded boys and girls are receiving day schooling who could not be enrolled in ordinary schools.

TREMENDOUS SAVING

The attendance at day schools is close to their homes, however much to the children themselves. The new addition represents a tremendous saving to the Ontario taxpayer. If all the mentally retarded in Ontario being trained under O.A.R.C. (Ontario Association for Retarded Association of Retarded Children) were now in government institutions, the taxpayers' burden, would increase about $1,500,000 per year for maintenance costs alone, plus approximately $12,000,000 for extra hospital buildings.

In the average community, there are of every 100 are considered to be retarded to some degree, approximately 180,000 in Ontario an incidence about 10 times that of crippled polio at its height. About one-third of these (60,000 adults and children) will require extensive assistance to develop simple skills and a reasonable degree of supervision during their entire life.

Nehru Alters His Position, Invites Chou to Conference

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru has invited Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai to talks with him in New Delhi on the Chinese-Indian border dispute.

Nehru invited Chou to come at his convenience but suggested the second week of March as a likely time.

His letter of invitation was sent Feb. 5. It was made public in Parliament today.

Nehru's agreement to meet with Chou reversed the Indian leader's previous stand that such a top-level negotiating session would open up no value as things stood in the border dispute.

Nehru maintained his view that the two governments are still far apart, saying in his letter, "for myself, I do not see any common ground between our respective views at present."

"Still, I think it might be helpful for us to meet," he added.

India and China are disputing some 51,000 square miles of Himalayan territory between northern India and Tibet, including 36,000 square miles in the northeast frontier and 15,000 square miles in the Ladakh area of Kashmir.

Despite these issues, Nehru said the largely unsheltered territory in here, the Chinese have sent troops into both areas and have clashed with Indian border guards and patrols in both sectors. The border has been quiet for several months.

REPLIES TO LETTER

Nehru's letter was sent along with his government's detailed 7,000-word reply to a Chinese letter of Dec. 26 suggesting that the two governments negotiate the entire border between India and Tibet.

Both letters rejected the idea of renegotiating the entire border, and rejected the China assertions and imputations that India's

'Fooled You' Said the Drift, 'I'm a Car'

The little foreign car had not entirely been on the "loose" all night, but finally it gave up its ghost and became stuck.

So the driver of a large tractor-trailer discovered a few miles west of Port Hope at three o'clock this morning.

After half an hour, couldn't blame the truck driver, Hugh Mc Mullen, being large dead all night on Highway No. 2 thereby giving follow-up motorists a big surprise.

So he had no qualms when it came time to tie particular drift, some six feet high and two or three car-lengths long.

Some cars had skirted the snow-mound, but it was too dangerous for the tractor-trailer. He could skid off into the ditch.

So he stopped and studied the situation through driving snow, which was piling on the highway behind him.

Then suddenly one thing to do—and he did it. Gunning his powerful motor he drove right into the centre of the drift.

He felt a sudden jar. To his right a shadowy object rose in the air and came down with a plop into the snow-filled ditch.

The trailer plowed through the drift and came to a stop.

The car had been dismantled.

There before his startled eyes was a small foreign car, that had been completely buried by drifting snow. The impact of the trailer there turned it on its side in the ditch.

Fortunately, the car had been abandoned and the driver hurt.

Travellers returning at this time from Toronto reported that several cars were stalled in the drifts, with most of them partially submerged by drifting snow.

Special Reserve Constable Accidentally Shot to Death

Special Constable for the Tyendinaga Mohawk Reserve for the past 14 years, Thomas Gordon "Rusty" Brant, 47, shot himself accidentally Wednesday afternoon as he was demonstrating the revolver from his gun collection for his brother-in-law, John Ralston Brant.

A veteran of World War II, Mr. Brant took the position as special constable on the reserve shortly after the war and had since himself a valuable officer in assisting district police. He was unmarried.

Two District Shootings Among Ontario Deaths

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

More than half the 26 fatalities recorded across Canada during the weekend were on the road, five of them the result of a car-train collision in Alberta.

A Turkell, Alta., family's car was sliced by a freight engine as they returned from church. Police said two children survive in hospital.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. local times Friday to midnight Sunday showed 17 traffic deaths. Ontario had the highest provincial toll with 11 accidental deaths, six in traffic.

Quebec's four deaths included two traffic, a drowning and a fall.

SHOOTING MISHAPS

Shooting accidents took three lives, two in Saskatchewan and one in Alberta.

The survey includes deaths in traffic and weekend leisure activities.

Ontario dead:

Harold Matthews, about 57, Port Hamilton, Friday in a fire at his home.

Glen Allan Moncur, 33, Erin-dale, Saturday when the car he was driving collided with a truck in Toronto.

Gerald Tisdale, 14, Hamilton, Saturday when his bicycle was struck by a car in Hamilton.

Mrs. Allen Hanna, arrested in Brantford a short time later, was charged with criminal negligence and failing to remain at the accident.

Kim MacLean, 14 months, died in Ottawa Saturday after apparently swallowing insect spray.

Thomas Gordon Brant, 50, Tyendinaga reserve, Saturday when a pistol he was demonstrating at his home accidentally discharged.

Colleen Anne Durkin, 2, Hamilton, Sunday from injuries she was hit by a car Monday.

Sandra Runtz, 3, Arnprior, Sunday, when she was struck by a car while walking with another car at Arnprior.

School Buses Delayed by Drifting Snow

Sunday's four-inch fall of snow accompanied by blizzard conditions slowed traffic in the Belleville area over the week-end as blankets of snow blew across roads and highways and piled up high drifts.

Although the snowfall was far from a serious nature, the accompanying wind combined to make it one of the worst storms of the year.

Visibility on the main highways at times was practically zero as the wind caught up snow from drifts and blew it across the countryside.

Plows kept the main roads open but secondary roads had to be shunt of the storm and school buses were forced to cancel their destinations this morning.

At Belleville only the Frankford school bus was affected, with others being from 10 to 35 minutes late. The 10:45 run was had still not arrived.

Smiths Falls public schools and Brantford a short time later, was delayed with the heavy roads caused by drifting snow, although not reported at mid-morning.

At Centenary public school the storm was responsible for cancellation of classes for the day.

Temperature in one classroom was but 52 and in the other 58 degrees. Heavy roads caused by drifting snow, and poor visibility a holiday.

Local Entry Places Well Up in Rally

The lone official entry of the St. Lawrence Automobile Club in the eighth annual Canadian Winter Rally, Homer Trotter, competing in a Swedish Saab, placed well up amongst the leaders at the conclusion of the 1,208-mile rally yesterday afternoon in Toronto.

Trotter, who made his last year's winner maintained a very close hold for honors throughout the event losing very few points and finishing miles up the rally, when many competitors were severely hampered by the sudden snow storm south of Huntsville.

The winners of the event were Don Hambly and Bill Davidson of Toronto driving an English Riley 4-68 sedan, who lost only seven points in time penalties by the provincial results. These gentlemen are expected to be representing the Twilight Challenge Navex, a national event being organized by the Belleville Club for April 9th in this area.

Many of the entrants in the Belleville Rally—organized by the British Empire Motor Club of Toronto, were unable to complete the endurance test due to mechanical failures, severe road conditions and weather hazards. One humorous incident concerned Harold Wilson, former speedboat racer, whose vehicle was reported as having had to retire after a collision with a beaver dam.

Two other local club members Frank Walsh and Al Edmunds took part in the event with a very well prepared vintage M.G. "TD". Due to the organizing club's entry regulations they were not allowed to compete for any of the awards but competed entirely for the fun of it.

Sudden Death Of Gunner Being Probed

A police investigation has been launched into the sudden death of Gunner Joseph Bertrand Dickie, 21, of Picton, whose body Sunday morning was found dead in his bed at the Picton Army Camp.

An autopsy to determine the cause of the man's death is conducted Sunday afternoon at Belleville General Hospital by Pathologist Dr. Alex Rota. Coroner is Dr. W. B. Beattie of Rossmore.

The investigation is being conducted by Staff Sgt. H. D. Gall, of the Ontario Provincial Police at Brighton and Cpl. Herbert Bolster of Picton, in collaboration with Corporal R. E. Muir of the 2nd Canadian Mounted Police here.

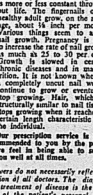
WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT
The Short and Long of Fingernails


Q. I have often wondered whether the fingernails grow as much in winter as in summer. Any comments?
A. The rate of nail growth varies considerably in different persons but for any particular nail, growth is more or less constant throughout life. The fingernails of a healthy adult grow, on the average, about ¼ inch per month. Various things seem to affect nail growth. Pregnancy is said to increase the rate of nail growth as much as 25 to 30 per cent. Growth is slowed in certain diseases and by poor nutrition. It is not known whether a completely intact nail would continue to grow or eventually stop growing. Nails are made of structurally similar to nail tissue, stops growing when it reaches a certain length characteristic for the individual.

Two-Year-Old Gave Mother A Real Scare

NORTHFIELD, N.J. (AP) Two-year-old Eileen Bengal tried to reach the moon.

She didn't make it, but her mother will never forget the attempt.

Leaving her playthings with two older sisters, the little astronaut quietly left her house and began scaling a 50-foot television tower.

By the time her mother spotted her she was at the very top of the structure—as high as a three-storey building.

Petrified with fear, Mrs. Stella Bengal climbed up after the child and held her tight until police arrived and helped them both down.

Mrs. Bengal took a tranquilliser and collapsed on the nearest couch.

Cheif Taylor's Report Shows Citizens Are Becoming More Law-Abiding Each Year

TRENTON — The old timers in this area, who are given to a great deal of head shaking over the younger generation and are of the opinion that civilization is "going to the dogs", are in for a distinct, and pleasant shock when they consider the report for 1959 released this week by Trenton's Chief of Police, F. J. Taylor.

Every phase of the report points to the fact that Trenton's citizens are becoming more law-abiding each year.

In 1958 there were 1,696 cases tried before the Magistrate's Court in Trenton and in 1959 this figure dropped to 1,370 cases tried. In 1957 there were 1,707 cases.

In 1959 there were 288 cases tried which came under the Liquor Control Act in 1958, 360 cases and in 1957, 313 cases. These cases dealt with persons arrested for intoxication on first, second, third and fourth offences, consuming liquor in a public place, consuming liquor while under the age of 21, and other offences under the act.

Drunk driving too, are becoming more cautious. In 1957 there were 2,827 cases tried which came under the Highway Traffic Act; 1958, 2,718 cases and only 558 cases in 1959. These include careless driving charges, driving without a permit, failure to stop at the scene of an accident and other infractions of the law of a similar nature. In 1958 there were 114 cases of persons driving the wrong way on a one-way street.

In cases which are governed by the Criminal Code, there were 218 in 1959; 318 in 1958 and 260 cases in 1957. These cases include assault, fraud, false pretences and others which constitute a criminal offence. There was a slight increase in cases which fall into the category of "disorderly conduct", driving while impaired and drunk driving are among from the previous years.

Breach of various acts, such as Game and Fisheries Act, Income Tax Act etc., numbered 18 in 1959, 28 in 1958 and 50 in 1957.

LOWEST IN YEARS

There were 169 cases of a breach of the meter by-law in 1959, 1958 and 1957 and in 1957, 109 cases of breaches of the traffic by-law were tried; in 1958, 109 in 1958 and 145 in 1957.

The 1,370 cases tried in 1959 is the lowest figure in years. And in 1955 there were 4,510 cases before the Court. The highest figure, 1,292 were male offenders and 78 were female.

In 1959, 1,370 persons were sent to the county jail, two were sibt to Kingston Penitentiary, eight to the Ontario Reformatory and three to the Ontario Hospital.

Arrested and detained overnight were 493 persons, and 405 transients were lodged in the cells the night.

No sudden deaths were investigated, four of which were found to have been from natural causes. Drownings, two, Graham Callaben, died when fire swept through the home of Campbell Street.

Twelve fire alarms were answered and assistance given to firemen when needed.

Twelve fire alarms were answered and assistance given to firemen when needed.

The majority of which were stolen and 16 were recovered in the city, the remainder were recovered elsewhere.

Eleven autos were recovered for out-of-town authorities.

There was a slight increase in the number of minor thefts, many of which concerned articles taken from parked cars which were not locked. The Chief of Police urges the citizens to lock the wheels in their trunks or to look their cars, in the report.

There were 410 motor vehicle accidents in 1959, resulting in property damage to the extent of $66,322.

Goods to the value of $4,859.34 were reported to the police department as lost and of this amount, $1,790.77 was found in or recovered and returned to the rightful owner. Other property to the value of $1,806.43 was found and the owners located.

MANY DOORS UNLOCKED

During the year the police patrol found 877 doors, windows, etc. of the business places insecure, the owners notified, and the property made secure. This preventive work is most important in keeping break-ins at a minimum. The night patrol is also on guard against fires in the business and residential areas during the night hours. The cruiser is kept in operation as much as possible covering these areas. Tickets are also made by motorcycle.

The total expenditure for the year for the upkeep of the police department, salaries, uniforms, insurance, upkeep of cruisers and motorcycle, (one cruiser was traded in during the year), was $97,531.77. Recoverable, through fines, court costs and government grants, was $32,425.02, leaving the actual cost to the taxpayers of the town for police protection $65,106.75.

A reference to the subject matter of his comprehensive report, Chief of Police F. J. Taylor stated, "The year 1959 was a most successful year in the history of the police department. Although the work was heavy, the absence of major crime speaks well for the community and also reflects on the preventive steps taken by the department to combat crime."

The police chief attributed the decrease in traffic violations to who works in close liaison with the department and the town concerning juveniles and family cases.

Chief Taylor also extended thanks for "a job well done" to said. Eric Aldcroft, one year of works and the chief commends Chief Taylor and the committee has submitted a number of recommendations for the consideration of the majority of which were acted upon.

The chief submitted a number of suggestions in his report which he felt, if adopted, would serve to eliminate the high accident rate in certain areas of the town. He recommended that street widening be carried out on the following streets: Dundas Street East from Gilmour Hill to the eastern limits; the intersection at the corner of Dufferin Ave. and Dundas Street; the intersection at the corner of Carrying Place Road and Dufferin Ave. and Front Street from Middle Street to the CNR subway.

Chief Taylor commended the work of the seven school guards who protect the children going to and from school.

He remarked that the operation of the department had been hampered by the cramped quarters occupied by the police. He said that this affects the efficiency of the department especially with the increasing need to keep proper records, files and reports. He said that council has been asked to give serious consideration to more adequate and sanitary accommodation for the department, within the not too distant future.

CHIEF EXTENDS THANKS

Chief Taylor gave a resume of training sessions conducted throughout the year by Inspector J. Rutherford, Sergeant Gregan, Walter Youmans, Sergeant Gordon Steenburg, Sergeant D. Bradshaw and by Constables Ingram, Fred L. Ward, Q.C., of Picton.

Members of the Police Commission, Judge J. C. Anderson, Magistrate T. Y. Wills and Mayor Ross Burtt, members of the 1959 council, the staff of the Trenton Courier, the Trenton Advocate and the Ontario Intelligencer, the chief and members of the Civil Defence organization, service clubs, radio station CJBQ, district police department, Commanding Officers of RCAF Station Trenton and No. 6 Repair Depot, Trenton, heads of various municipal bodies, were thanked by Chief Taylor for their co-operation and assistance throughout the year.

Members of the Trenton Police Department: Chief F. J. Taylor; Inspector R. J. Rutherford; Staff Sergeant W. Youmans; Sergeant G. Steenburg; Sergeant D. C. Bradshaw, P/Sgt. B. E. Westall; Constables R. A. Ingram, R. E. Miller, J. E. Graham, D. C. Camp, G. J. French, H. J. Chatsos, Miss Vickers, F. Nokes, G. Davis, C. B. Schwegler, A. Mastin and M. Houlden.

Clerk-Constable Mrs. Rosina Bailey; Justice of the Peace, Miss Nellie Barry; crown attorney, Mrs. Margaret E. Kenny.

Fire Confined To Panel Box At Cotton Mill

TRENTON — Trenton fire department responded to three alarms over the week-end. Sunday night at 10.40 two trucks were dispatched to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cronkwright, 53 Leopold Street. Mrs. Cronkwright had been about to place a stick of wood in the kitchen stove when she realized that the stove pipes were on fire. She immediately put in a call to the fire department, rousing her children and dressing them. Firemen soon had the situation under control.

At 5.45 a.m. this morning the department received a call from the night watchman at the Trenton Cotton Mill. Fire had broken out in the electrical panel box which controls the plant machinery. The damage was not too extensive but the plant will be shut down for a few hours until the panel box can be repaired. At 7.30 a.m. this morning one truck was despatched to the home of D. Vanderlinden, 3 Maramora Street, where firemen found the oil stove pipes on fire.

Indian Chief Ready to Swear Offer Was Made

TORONTO (CP) — Telford Adams, Sarnia district Indian chief, accepted Saturday a challenge by Ontario Energy Minister Macaulay to swear under oath that Ontario Hydro offered a specific price for Indian lands which the Indians considered too low.

Chief Adams said a representative of Hydro offered the council of the Sarnia Indian Reserve. "I told him he ought to give us $3,000 an acre for the 32 acres they wanted then," he said.

The chief said the representative declined his counter - offer and said Hydro would pay what Commissioner Conn considered low. Hydro later paid Dominental $6,900 for the land.

"It's all in the minutes and I would be prepared to swear to that," the chief said.

Mr. Macaulay said in the legislature two days ago he had received statements from the two Hydro officials to support his claim that no price was mentioned in the year's negotiations with the Chippewa Indians for the land purchase.

Friday he said Chief Adams should be prepared to support his claim with a sworn statement that Hydro offered $2,200 an acre, and if there was still conflict between his own and the chief's statement, an investigation should be held to determine whether perjury charges were warranted.

Fishing Trip to North Lake Nearly Ends in Fatality

A weekend air trip to visit a cottage site in the Wesleminkon area almost proved disastrous for three Oakville men Saturday when their Light Plane flipped on its back on landing.

All three escaped injury but had to trek six miles through the woods to the nearest settlement.

The men were Jamie Snow, owner of a cottage on Otter Lake, Al Brant and Robert Hines, all of Oakville.

The latter men took off in Snow's plane Saturday morning and after making the cross-country trip to the lake in north Lennox and Addington town-ship, came in for a landing. As the plane taxied to a stop on the lake, it struck a snow drift and flipped onto its back.

Provincial Police Constable George Evans of Kaladar said the plane was only slightly damaged and repairs will be made to it right and fly it out.

Following the accident the three Oakville men trekked through the deep snow to a settlement near Weslemkoon Lake from where they were taken by Gilmour. They returned to Oakville Saturday night.

Bar Bell Club Takes Honors At Kingston

The Apollo Bar Bell Club of Belleville won top honors at a team weightlifting meet held at the Wing Barracks, Kingston, last Saturday afternoon. Competing against three-man teams representing the Wing Barracks army personnel and the Belleville YMCA, the Apollo members accumulated 1,361 points in their performances.

The local club came second with 1,248, closely followed by the Kingston YMCA members who accumulated 1,242 points. Participating in the weekend team with a total of 630 pounds lifted, which was high for the contest. Joe Zed and Ken Carscadden were the other members of the Apollo team and lifted 590 pounds and 615 pounds total each respectively.

Bill McHartley, Jack Rushnell and Jerry Vickers were the members of the Belleville "Y" team.

Thomas E. Watts, 22, Killed As Rifle Discharges in Fall

TRENTON — Thomas Edward "Tommy" Watts, aged 22, son of WO1 Thomas Watts and Mrs. Watts of 12 Jackson Drive, Trenton, was instantly killed on Saturday when he slipped on a key slowdrift and accidentally discharged his hunting rifle.

The young man spent the week-end with Patrick Hubbins, north of Campbellford. The two youths, accompanied by Archie McNeil of 4 Jackson Drive in Trenton, had gone out hunting jack rabbits. McNeil had sat down to rest on a steep incline. Watts was about to join his friend, when he slipped and fell. The semi-automatic 22 rifle which he was carrying discharged one shot, striking him.

Corporal Lloyd Lyle of the Brighton provincial police detachment investigated the accident.

Tommy Watts was employed as a civilian worker at Trenton Airport.

Surviving are his parents and four brothers in Trenton, who is a medical student at Queen's University, Ross and Richard Watts attend Trenton High School and D'Arcy, 5.

Show Staged By Judo Club Well Attended

TRENTON— A gratifying number of spectators turned out Thursday night at RCAF Station Trenton's Recreation Centre to witness a Judo exhibition sponsored by the RCAF Station Trenton Judo Club.

In addition to the twenty members of the RCAF Trenton "Hatashita" Club, a number of the members of the Belleville club participated in the two-hour exhibition.

The Trenton club, some two and a half years old, is headed by LAC Les Solford, an aero engine technician who first became interested in judo while serving at RCAF Station Gimli, Man.

Some excellent demonstrations were given by black belt holders Don Dalrymple and Jim Driscoll, both of the Belleville club. For their performance they were awarded memberships in the RCAF club. Mr. Driscoll is chief instructor and president of the Belleville organization.

The fairer sex was well represented in the persons of Miss Shirley Fleming, a brown belt judoist who has competed in tournaments in both Toronto and Cleveland; and Miss Karen Campbell, a yellow belt holder of the RCAF Club. A husband and wife team in the person of Sgt. and Mrs. Davidson aptly demonstrated a method used to solve family arguments.

Surprise event of the evening was the award of the orange belt to Group Captain D. J. Williams, Commanding Officer of RCAF Station Trenton. The Group Captain became interested in judo while serving on the continent.

DEATHS.

WATTS, Thomas E. (Tommy). — Suddenly, as the result of an accident at Colborne on Saturday, February 13th, 1960 Thomas E. (Tommy) Watts, Jr., beloved son of WO1 T. E. Watts and Mrs. Watts of 12 Jackson Drive, Trenton, aged 22 years. Resting at the Weaver Funeral Home, Trenton, for Requiem High Mass in St. Peter's Church, Trenton on Tuesday, February 16th, at 9:00 a.m. Entombment Mt. Calvary Cemetery.

Ulcerating

Pulvertaft! No, that isn't a new-fangled cusswod, though that could be its ultimate fate. It is the surname of a U.S. radiologist, Dr. Charles Pulvertaft, who headed a research team which came up with what are almost certain to rank with the most unpopular conclusions in the history of science.

Dr. Pulvertaft's team made a survey of 2,600 ulcer sufferers.

They found no evidence to support the widely accepted belief that ulcers are caused mainly by stress, strain and excessive responsibility.

Does this conclusion run an extra worry off the shoulders of those exposed to such stress, strain and excessive responsibility?

Nonsense! These people are going to be the maddest group of all. Whenever one is under stress, strain and excessive responsibility there's nothing like being able to consider that twinge in the belly as the beginning of a hard-earned ulcer, instead of being forced to admit that one is scared of making a mess of things.

As for persons who already have ulcers, how are they going to like being robbed of the prestige accompanying concrete evidence that they are big wheels in the establishments where they work? Altogether aside from prestige, there is the question of money. A milk diet is no longer going to prove to the boss that you need an assistant and a high salary.

As for those people who formerly believed they were immune from ulcers, "lower-paid people doing routine and often unimportant jobs," they are not going to be happy to learn that, in addition to being burdened by poor pay and boredom, they are also more likely to develop an ulcer than is a top-ranking businessman.

Industrialists, who already experience some difficulty persuading people to accept shift work, are going to be most unhappy if these workers now demand "danger pay" because, as a group, they are particularly ulcer prone.

And housewives and office managers alike are not going to take kindly to the prospect of the introduction of the English meal "tea," as the only practical method we can think of for avoiding going without food for more than five hours in the afternoon, a top ulcer hazard.

We'll have to say a kind word for Pulvertaft, though. If it wasn't for his assurance that worry causes no ulcers, we should have developed a couple of dandies before finishing this sad tale of woe.

Come Now, Mr. Hayman

Lew Hayman of the Toronto Argonauts, like the team he manages, does not seem to be good at timing. It was a shame to waste, in mid-February, a quote which, if produced later in the year, would almost certainly have been a hands-down winner in the contest for the silliest saying of 1960.

"The greatest story in Canadian football history," quoth Hayman when Dave Mann of the Argos was acquitted on a charge of illegal possession of marijuana. Just to prove his achievement was no lucky fluke shot, Hayman produced a twin contender, calling the verdict "exoneration for Canadian football."

Canadian football exonerated from what, Mr. Hayman? Of what would Canadian football have been guilty if Mann, one player amongst many, had possessed marijuana? If Canadian football's reputation depends on the conduct of one Dave Mann, is it any partiuclar credit to the game that Mann had two marijuana-smoking women at a midnight party for four in his apartment?

Provincial Flags

Nova Scotia and Quebec have provincial flags and now British Columbia is to have one—if the proposal contained in the speech from the throne is adopted by the legislature. The design would be the same as that used in the B.C. centennial flag of 1958, which seems to have been generally accepted. It may well be that all the provinces will have flags of their own before Canada does. (Ottawa Citizen).

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

ALL PERIODS CREATIVE

The creative period in the lives of most people is between the ages of thirty and sixty. It is during these years that success is made, studies overcome, problems met and solved with vigor.

Yet there have been great exceptions to this general rule. Life reaches its highest creative-ness between the ages of thirty and sixty. William Cullen Bryant wrote "Thanatopsis" at seventeen. It must have been discouraging to him that throughout his long and distinguished literary career he never again equalled that marvellous poem which he had composed while he was still a teenager. Titian, the great painter, produced his outstanding picture when he was ninety-six! He lived to be over one hundred and was fruitful to the end.

So do not believe that your life is constricted and held within the limits of certain categories. The chances are that the years of your achievement will be between your thirtieth and sixtieth birthdays. But you may change the world during those years or you may not. You may have startling success or you may be like Napoleon held the world in his hand before he was thirty. Alexander Hamilton became Secretary of the Treasury and put the new government of the United States on a firm financial footing while he was still a very young man.

Age counts. It is significant, but it is by no means the whole of the picture. It is given us to be fruitful during the years — to accomplish while young, to continue to accomplish into old age.

Letter To The Editor

Defends Modern Street Patterns

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

We read with dismay your newspaper's disinterested criticism of the developing street patterns in the newer part of Belleville. We feel it is necessary to correct the expressed notions for the benefit of the public and for the protection of those responsible for the present patterns.

Your editorial states that a staff of planners has grown up since the 1st war when advocates curved streets for reasons of beauty. Actually deliberate planning of Ontario cities started in the 19th Century. For the past few decades planners have advocated street patterns based on sound engineering principles and modern requirements, rather than on tradition. Your editorial falsely attributes an "ideal" mixture of curve, crescent and grid-de-sac" to planners. Actually no such "formula" exists. Each subdivision must suit the land for instance by taking advantage of the natural fall of the land for economical surface drainage and sewer mains. The pattern must be adjusted to building sites without the necessity for costly excessive fill. The pattern should preserve the residential neighborhood free from through traffic and provide main arteries free from the hazards of residential development. The planner must balance such conflicting requirements with the obligations of housing onto older established streets, and of fitting economically an arbitrary patchwork of privately owned lots into a unified pattern (the task). The planner produces the best economnic possible, which may include straight streets, curved streets, or whatever the situation demands.

The "school of curve-crescent-and-cul-de-sac planning" (imagined by your editor does not exist. For his own purpose he groups these three types of streets, which actually, there is no more expensive or inconvenient way to travel in a curved street than in a straight street. There is no more or less convenience involved in a crescent or loop than in a rectangular pattern. All three are identical. There is no more expense or inconvenience involved in a cul-de-sac than in a street with cross streets commonly found in the grid pattern. The map of Belleville shows the folly of applying a standard pattern regardless of the physical features of the land, outside the older areas and notice the number of streets running blindly over a precipice or into the river.

Your editorial dwells at length on the "block-tracking" imagined to be inherent in the new pattern. It falsely states that this "back-tracking" adds an extra tax burden to owners over the grid pattern. Actually the dollars and cents saved by the use of feet travelled by the garbage collector in a cul-de-sac is too small to be calculated. But, if the point is important at all, your editorial is wrong again at this cherished grid system! It is impossible to have a shelter board with one continuous line (representing the route of the collector or garbageman) without "back-tracking" over a considerable number of the lines. A simple trial with pencil and paper should cause your editorial writer to change his mistaken logistics.

Your editor is so determined to see nothing good in the new street patterns that he actually complains of the safety they afford on the fantastic grounds that children towards leaving the child unprepared for the dangers on the outside "grid" world! Of course this also doubts whether there really is any safety in the new developments. In the entire newly approved area there are only eight cross intersections, while in a comparable area of "old" Belleville there are over 50 cross intersections. Further, the major arteries are as straight as possible, with as few intersections as possible. Each cross intersection of the major streets has been given an extra 100 feet of "sighting" as an added safety measure.

Your editorial mistakenly supposes that land developers favor cul-de-sacs because they afford a greater number of lots from a given portion of land. Actually, the planner knows no such advantage — the "splay" lots around the end of a cule-sac are wasteful of land. Every school yard being necessarily oversize. The planner is usually used when Napoleon held the world in his hand before he was thirty. Alexander Hamilton became Secretary of the Treasury and put the new government of the United States on a firm financial footing while he was still a very young man.

Age counts. It is significant, but it is by no means the whole of the picture. It is given us to be fruitful during the years — to accomplish while young, to continue to accomplish into old age.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

February 15, 1940

Presenting a number of real talented artists on their program the Belleville War Service Committee staged their regular bi-weekly concert at the airport. Outstanding among really entertaining musical numbers was the play presented by the Green Room Club of the Belleville Collegiate and directed by Miss Perry of the teaching staff, entitled, "Why I Am A Bachelor," with Jean Archibald, Frank Morton and Bill Doyle in the cast.

Mr. W. A. Woodley, who has served the city in many capacities for many years, was re-elected as chairman of the Belleville Parks Commission for his second consecutive term as the board convened last evening. Commissioners received lent to assist the Committee in the task. Members of Belleville appreciated the efforts of the board in the planning of the beautification the city, and in other work. Chairmanships for 1940 were announced as follows: Exhibition Park, Richard Snell; Victoria Park, Councillor Pierce tree trimming, Maurice Callbeck; chairman of general purposes, C. B. Collin; chairman of horticulture, C. J. Symons.

Miss Mabel Reese spent the weekend in Lindsay.

Mrs. William McBrien who is leaving the city next week to reside in Lindsay, was entertained last night by members of St. Andrew's Church choir, and was presented with a silver entree dish.

Mrs. William Webb of Gananoque, is visiting relatives in the city.

30 YEARS AGO

February 15, 1930

A very enjoyable and successful euchre party was held in the Engineers' Hall on Pine Street yesterday afternoon by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Five tables were in play and the prize winners were: first, Mrs. Gymer; second, Mrs. George Carson; third, Mrs. J. M. Truman; consolation, Mrs. Wm. Symons.

Last evening the members of the Belleville Club held a smart Valentine Dance at which about eighty couples were present. Music was furnished by the Rainbowlaris orchestra.

The Collegiate hockey team defeated Albert College team last night, the score being 4 to 0. The following composed the teams: Collegiate: McKinnon, Hughes, Hughes, R. Dennis, Graves, MacDonald, subs, Mott, Champagne and Barrage. Albert: Ladies' Academy, T. S. Ranson, Fleming Consultants.

Boyes, Jackson, Thompson, Taylor, subs, Harvey, Shaw, Ketchison and Ashley. The referee was "Bunny" Prentiss.

40 YEARS AGO

February 15, 1920

In a basketball game here last evening the local YMCA team defeated the Peterborough YMCA team, the score being 66 to 32. The following composed the Belleville team: Ketcheson, Finkle, Marshall, Weir, Marden and Finch. The referees were Loomis and Martin.

A deputation from the city composed of Ald. Bone, Ald. Ponton, Ald. Doyle and Ald. Demarsh, representing the city council, and Messrs. Arthur McEle and Fred S. Deacon representing the Belleville Chamber of Commerce interviewed the Hon. Mr. Nixon in Toronto yesterday with regards to a loan of $500,000 to the City of Belleville for housing. The deputation was introduced by the Hon. Nelson Parliament's attention and it is also said that they have arranged for $1,000,000.

Mr. T. Blackburn is spending a few days in the city.

Mr. J. A. McFee is attending the annual convention of the National Jewellers' Association in Montreal.

50 YEARS AGO

How about the snow bylaw? Has it been muzzled?

It is up to the citizens this evening to decide at the public meeting if we will have an Old Boys' Reunion this coming summer.

Capt. J. Fegan of this city has purchased the fore and aft schooner, "Lizzie Matzler" of Picton.

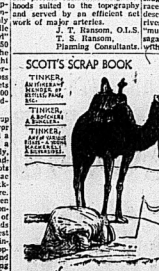
Mr. William Haight has returned home after a trip to New York State.

Mr. H. E. Smith of Toronto formerly of Belleville, is renewing acquaintances in town.

Mr. Walter Dodds of Bridgewater, visited his parents here yesterday.

Mr. Clarence Stroud of Montreal is spending a few days in town in connection with their branch store.

A river in the Algoma district. All the Indians north of Lake Huron were called Mississaugas and were of Algonquin race and speech. The name is descriptive of the mouth of the river Mississ or Michi meaning "great" and sauk or saga meaning "outlet," a river with many outlets.



No Debate For Laymen

Ottawa Journal

The debate over the adequacy of Canada's defences is seemingly necessary counterpoint to the talk of disarmament, is a frightening and distasteful colloquy. It is frightening because the dimension of the "capabilities" (as the potentiat to destroy is euphemistically called) must be so coldly evaluated. It is disturbing because expert is set against expert, government against general, a dividing chorus of advice, where the pitch of one is incredible waste on the one side and perilous weakness on the other.

Military jargon—long ago discarding the easy comparisons of men or tanks or planes, now talks of the adequacy or inadequacy of defensive systems. Does the United States still have a "second strike" capability? Will it refrain from sending its missiles across the world because sure retaliation would mean a victory indistinguishable from defeat?

That is the heart of the matter. For some years now the American delegated, the President of the Strategic Air Command, has been comfortably formidable—and "the deterrent" of Britain and Russia's advantage destroy each other—and the people, along with the few ICBMs the United States has? Is the deterrent "adequate"?

President Eisenhower and his administration say vigorously it is. It is irrelevant, they argue, which nation has the most missiles at any given time. "What we want is enough . . . a deterrent force which is powerful and has become completely adequate." Mr. Eisenhower's opinion is seconded by his Secretary of War and by some of his generals. But it is not unanimously held.

But other generals and some senators cry that a "missile gap" in the early 1960's is going to country helpless before Russia's "blackmail." The administration's arguments are "baffling" to Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, chairman of the Senate's subcommittee on defence appropriations. He is backed by former military witnesses. General Power, for example, who said that Russia's missiles could knock out the deterrent in 30 minutes—meaning that the manned bombers should be constantly in the air, too vulnerable for destruction, flying presumably in eternal circles.

And the Air Force advocates the idea: to the tune of $750,000,000 annually, the price of one B-70 bomber, the country could be defended.

Thus the wearying and alarming controversy goes on, divided among itself across democracy and dictatorship, across generations. For the doubts raised in Washington may be compounded in no despair in the other nations of the West.

Escape Lanes Suggested

Fort William Times-Journal

One of the brightest suggestions we have noted for some time in the air is that for Safely Escape. The idea is to have escape lanes for motorists and hills as protection against reckless operators or cars coming from the other direction. This is not entirely innocent and careful drivers have been killed or injured because they had no room to turn into a ditch when danger suddenly presented itself.

Such escape lanes would be expensive to build, if all highways in the province were protected, but could be started as a long-term project.

Existence of these lanes could save scores of lives over a period of a few years.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

MOST KIDNEY PROBLEMS YIELD TO TREATMENT

"Dear Dr. Molner: My kidneys bother me when the weather is cold but not in the summer. What can be done about it?—Mrs. C. O. C."

Most likely "bother" means increasing frequency (or quantity) or urination. It doesn't necessarily follow that there is anything wrong with the kidneys.

Colder weather — if a person is outside a great deal — can cause changes in the skin, that take a considerable amount of fluid into the body each day, and we have to get rid of a certain amount.

Most people don't stop to think how much is lost through perspiration. The other is the breath. Breathe on your glasses in clean form, and one finds that it posits a whole layer of moisture. Multiply this by 20,000 breaths a day, and you can see that this water loss is an impressive amount.

With perspiration, if you work hard, you may lose enough in hot summer day you can become wringing wet. It is easily possible to lose more than a quart of water in a few hours. With less perspiration, the corresponding the loss of water decreases, but even at moderate temperatures and with light work one loses some, and in a day it adds up. The bowels, of course, require moisture to some degree.

Then, the kids over is discharged as urine. The difference between hot weather and cold can be quite marked, because the fluid lost by respiration can be so very different. But a variation degree we compensate by drinking more or less fluid, according to the weather.

This could be the answer to G.U.—bothersome kidneys in winter.

There are other causes of frequency, of course. Infection of the bladder or kidneys, for instance. In this case, there is burning and pain, as well as a sloughing of the urine. Irritating traces of pus or of blood. Diabetes is another cause.

Others can be nagging of the bladder in women (called cystocele), or prostate enlargement in men, causing frequency in that there is more or urination yet there is little volume. There may be, although this naturally is not common, pressure from a tumor on the bladder, as in filmy tumors or ovarian cysts.

It is most probable that steps can be taken to ease these conditions once you find out the cause. Kidney and bladder infections, I grant, are likely to be stubborn, so the sooner treatment is started the better. The other problems (prostate, cystocele) are usually easier to be treated effectively, sometimes without surgery and sometimes with it.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What can be done to a child of five who tries to cross her eyes in fun? Will this cause trouble in certain weakness? Should she be punished?—Mrs. T." (Not doctor immediately?—A.C."

Her eyes are straight otherwise, let her cross them fun. She's just showing off. Some kids have the knack. Hide a term ear or crack their knuckles instead. Leave her be!

"Dear Dr. Molner: What is an earuncle? I had one but removed from the bladder.—E. T."

"Caruncle" is a general term for any small, fleshy projection from a surface. It is a term we can apply either to normal or abnormal conditions. Do not to be confused with a carbuncle, of course.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Those squeals and teen-age cries of ecstasy that you often hear on radio and TV when pathetic celebrities of the week-end sex appear on stage are available at $5 per squealer. In New York I met a gentleman who was one of the chartered grey fox squalet rents that are a familiar type to be found around all the best eating places in that great city paved with nickels and dimes. They circulate with their hands and knees or in any other posture necessary to grab all they can of the limelight that is the profession was celebrity gazing.

There are many other features of this profession. Recently I've seen age female squealers for male singing stars was the most enthusiastic.

"When Sinatra," he said, flinching one of Sinatra's syllables, "first started up the celebrity ladder, his agent had a young cousin of his bring a squad of girls down to Paris to create show to squeal. It was such a success that when Sinatra arrived right away a regular gimmick of the profession. I don't know if you might think to get these kids to come down to TV shows and stuff like that. It's the young women who are willing to stand in the queues for hours to get free shows. Kids don't like it. Too impatient. We tried out older women but found that they were too hoarse. The way it is now, a professional can get a squealing squad of squealers trained to the job. I pay them $5 per head per engagement, and I can bring out ten, twenty, thirty, whatever the occasion calls for."

Aw, that spoils the whole illusion!

Strictly Personal Are Beatniks Meaningless Rebels?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

During a panel discussion at a Chicago women's club, one member of the audience asked me what I thought of the Beatniks. When I asked them which Beatniks they were stumped for a reply.

Like any other group that tries to define itself by a single word, the Beatniks are composed of many different types, ranging from a few true individualists with ideas and talent to the great mass of imitators with neither.

On the whole, I find the emergence of the Beatnik movement more healthful than otherwise for our culture. I think it has proved beyond doubt, however futile or foolish it may seem; and good in the sense that it has shaken the substantial, materialistic, middle-class values are not the only values in life, and maybe not the most important ones.

Of course, many of the Beatniks are fakers and publicity-seekers. But, then, so are many persons in the arts who do not know a considerable number of young men in business who wear clean shirts daily, have impeccable family connections, and titles on their office doors — and they, too, are simply paid loafers who happen to have the knack for success or inheritance.

In the 1920s America had a Bohemian movement in the arts that proved most fruitful: out of it came many of the best novels, lyric poetry and music we have had in the 20th century. Hemingway, Dos Passos and the casual and disrespectful and flippant — but not at all meaningless and imaginative and aware that man is more than a feeding and breeding animal.

The Beatnik movement may exhaust itself in its present stage of rebellion, and may become a refuge for the merely bitter. But, basically, it represents a revolt against the undisciplined who confuse their restlessness with intelligence.

On the other hand, if out of it there emerges a handful of men and women with something new and striking to say, with a fresh vision of society, with a challenging approach to the problems of personal existence — then it will be worth all the beards and sandals and the other nonsensical insignia of the tribe.

Civilization must incarnate, man must groom and air and liberty, to its cultural dividents as well as to its political institutions. One of the marks of social health in its permanence to be different, for the best as well as the worst grows out of creativeness. Even decay may be dirty, but the ultimate influence can be a cleaning one.

TODAY'S TALK

TAKE TIME TO RIPEN

The tendency is for people to be in too much a hurry. They bring forth the fruit of their efforts too early. They don't allow nature to ripen them. They don't let the secret operations of a higher plan have more than casual sway. They divert her and she will immediately oppose any such effort.

I have been noticing some great trees in my home grounds, and have observed how some great branches have, turned completely around, so that they may the easier get sunshine of the sunlight. This denotes more natural common sense than man has learned.

Nature is also a great repairer. She is forever trying to perfect what man tries to change. We can do much, however, to adopt her ways and help her to help us bring forth the fruit of their efforts. We can't show nature how to do things. We can't tell the secret operations of a higher plan than we can change them. Try to divert her and she will immediately oppose any such effort.

What happens, in after life, to the great gathering of over-ripe students? Most of them have gone the way of the weary, ending their careers — forgotten!

A mind ripens the same as anything in life, and care should be taken for that mind to creep into maturity, and become mellow. Oh, what a lot of people we have ledge there is for us all! Let's take it easily and happily. No shoving, please!

INTO NEW GALLERY — Members of the staff of the National Gallery lift a masterpiece into place on a wall of the gallery's new home in the $7,000,000 Lorne Building, near Confederation Square in Ottawa. Painting is The Rest on the Flight Into Egypt by 16th Century Venetian artist Paolo Veronese. Official opening of the gallery, formerly housed in the Victoria Memorial Museum, is scheduled for Wednesday, February 17. Flitting this painting are, left to right, Gordon Belford and Andre Forin. Red and White Store at Tweed Robbed of $1,200 by 2 Men

Police in the Bay of Quinte district are on the lookout for two six-foot strangers, who on Saturday evening held up the Red and White grocery store at Tweed, 25 miles north of here, and escaped with $1,200 in cash after forcing three store employees into a walk-in refrigerator.

Miss Zoe Thompson, 20, sister of the store owner, and her two helpers, cashier Barbara Sexsmith, 16, and Charles Courneya, had locked the store following the day's business and were preparing to leave for home when two men knocked on the door about 6.10 p.m.

Thinking they were late customers the men were allowed in but immediately they got inside the store one of the men pulled a revolver and ordered the three employees to the back of the store.

The men scooped up the cash which Miss Sexsmith had been counting and forced the three store workers into the walk-in refrigerator telling them to stay there.

After 15 minutes in 33 degree temperature, wearing only their store clothes, the three opened the refrigerator door from the inside and gave the alarm.

CLOTHES ABANDONED

Provincial police throughout the area were immediately notified and Tweed Police Chief Walter Higgins and roadblocks were set up but apparently the robbers made their escape along country roads. Late Saturday evening an army uniform, worn by one of the men and a trench coat and fedora hat, worn by the other, were found abandoned by the roadside two miles south of Stoco on the Marlbank road.

Chief Higgins said the pair undoubtedly had a car but so far no leads had been received as to the type of vehicle they may have been driving.

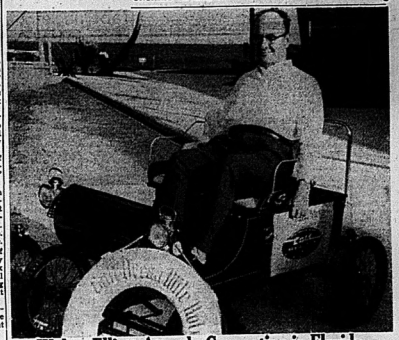
"It just shows the folly of opening store doors to strangers after the closing hour," warned Chief Higgins.

The roadblock failed to turn up anyone answering the descriptions of the two men and it is believed they may have escaped from the Tweed area. The Marlbank road leads to No. 41 Highway, north of Napanee.

Police say the descriptions of the two men indicate they may be the same two who a week ago held up a brewers' retail store in Belleville at closing time and escaped with about $400.

The men are said to be between 25 and 35 years of age and are of slim build and about six feet in height.

This is the second time in a week that robbers have struck at Tweed. A week ago would-be safe crackers used an acetylene torch to cut a hole in the safe at the Tweed Steel Works. Only records were contained in the safe. Two Belleville district young men have been arrested and charged with the safe job.



Walter Elliott Attends Convention in Florida

Mr. Walter Elliott, of Elliott Motors, was attracted to the 1901 Oldsmobile featured at the first annual national convention of Cars Rental System, held at the Galt Ocean Mile Hotel in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Mr. Elliott was among the 200 new car dealers attending the conclave. The international renting and leasing system is composed only of authorized new car dealers. Mr. Elliott was made director of the Cars Rental System and appointed member of the advisory committee.

Canada's National Gallery Built at Cost of $7,000,000 Will Be Opened Wednesday

By JACK BSET
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—With a salute from some of its illustrious elders in the realm of fine art, Canada's National Gallery soon will throw open the doors to its gleaming new home in the heart of Ottawa.

Official opening of the seven-storey, $7,000,000 Lorne Building—the fourth home the gallery has had in its 80 - year existence—takes place Feb. 17 with Prime Minister Diefenbaker doing the honors. The building is named after the Marquis of Lorne, former governor - general who founded the gallery in 1880.

Some of the Western world's most famous art galleries have loaned paintings for the inaugural exhibition, which begins the night of the opening and lasts until April 3.

It now is more than six months since the gallery's former quarters in the east wing of the Victoria Memorial Museum were closed down in preparation for the move. Thousands of art works, including European masterpieces and many of Canada's own landscape treasures, were involved.

The main body of paintings was spirited from the old premises to the new in a secret operation towards the middle of December. Trucks, heeled to protect the works against frost damage, were used in the well-guarded one-mile shuttle.

Works on loan came from the United States, Spain, Belgium, The Netherlands, Italy, Scotland, England, Germany and France. They will be returned to their home museums following the exhibition to be on display for the summer tourist season.

Many, notably the half - dozen from Italy, were accompanied by art curators assigned to keep an eye on them during the air or sea passage. The exhibition will mark the first time that the paintings from Italy have been shown outside that country.

Some of the great names in art — Giorgione, Tintoretto, El Greco, Van Dyck, Rembrandt, Chardin, Reynolds, Gainsborough, to name but a few—will be represented in the inaugural.

LARGER SPACE

The new gallery has three times the hanging space, and five times the over-all space, that was available in the grey, rambling museum building.

The first and second floors accommodate the extensive collection of Canadiana, and also on the second floor are the old masters, including the gallery's pride, 12 works from the famed Liechtenstein collection.

Also on permanent display will be selections from the gallery's 3,000 or so prints and drawings, and its collection of war paintings. There wasn't room for these on the walls of the old building.

The delicate job of hanging all the paintings now has been completed. It was carried out according to a pre-arranged plan, with local modifications as dictated by lighting and other factors.

Albert College Staff, Students Sponsor Dance

Albert College staff and students were "at home" to their friends Saturday evening as the highlight of the social year was held at Ackerman Hall. Many former students and representatives of the various high schools and collegiates of the district were special guests.

Ackerman Hall was decorated in an attractive "space age" setting for the occasion, and was complete with outer space murals, interplanetary ships and rocket missiles.

About 250 persons enjoyed dancing to music by The Chevrons of Kingston. There were several spot and balloon dances.

Guests were received by Principal A. E. MacKenzie and Mrs. MacKenzie, Mrs. Jessie Gillie, dean of women, and Barry Brownlee and Miss Betty Whiting, president and vice-president, respectively, of the students' council.

A truck is a combination of many complex components. Each component must be engineered to the highest standards of efficiency and endurance. All must be balanced to each other if the whole truck is to give year after year of reliable service.

International balanced truck engineering is the result of long, specialized experience in designing and building trucks.

Balanced truck engineering begins on the drawing board. Through every step of production—from design and testing of individual components to the final assembly of the whole truck—the practical needs of the Canadian truck operator are kept constantly in mind.

Result? International Trucks are built to work and built to last—because they are built by truck men.

RED CROSS HOMEMAKERS MEET

The February meeting of the Belleville and District Red Cross Homemakers group was held at the home of the convener, Mrs. J. A. Buchanan, 197 Dufferin Avenue.

Mrs. Buchanan gave a report of the supervisors' meeting held in Toronto February 4 and 5.

At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served.

Scott's W.A. And W.M.S. Amalgamate

6TH SIDNEY — A good crowd attended the February pot-luck dinner meeting in Scott's division hall, Wednesday.

After dinner Mrs. George Pollard opened the meeting by all singing the "Doxology," followed by prayer. Last year's W. A. president, Mrs. Carl Sine, conducted the business period. Mrs. Edison Sine will be hostess for March.

Mrs. R. McMullin gave a short talk on the Women's Federation. In a unanimous vote it was decided to unite both organizations into this federation with the following officers: president — Mrs. George Pollard; vice-president — Mrs. Carl Sine; secretary — Mrs. Alton Sine; W. A. treasurer — Mrs. Alton Sine; W. M. S. treasurer — Mrs. H. Dafoe; program group for March — Mrs. Morley Sine, Mrs. R. Coulter, Mrs. M. Dafoe and Mrs. A. Dodgeson; press reporter — Mrs. Morley Sine.

All were in favor of afternoon meetings following the dinner.

Mrs. R. Dafoe was in charge of the devotional with the theme "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Edison Sine read the Scripture from St. Luke 11: 1-13. The following ladies took part in the worship service: Mrs. R. Dafoe, Mrs. George Pollard and Mrs. Alton Sine. The worship was followed by repeating "The Lord's Prayer" in unison, singing one verse of "Breathe on Me Breath of God" and the benediction.

Observe Scout Week, Parents Visit Cubs

The Avondale Home and School Association observed Boy Scout Week by visiting a meeting of the Avondale Cub Pack.

Bob Taylor, Akela, outlined the activities of Scouting and emphasized that it lays a foundation for developing character and citizenship through group participation games and making things by hand.

The Grand Howl opened the meeting after which each cub told of something he learned in the pack. A special game was played and the "Dance of Bagheera" was performed by 10 cubs.

Mrs. Meurling thanked Mr. Taylor and his assistants, Mrs. R. Williamson and Mr. V. De Paul, on behalf of the Association.

Refreshments were served.

Later, at the Association's business meeting, it was learned that the highways department had started construction of a stone path to Avondale Public School.

Women Take Active Part In Many Firms

VANCOUVER (CP)—About one house in five sold in the Vancouver area is handled by a woman, and the percentage is increasing.

Of the current group taking a pre-licensing real estate course at the University of British Columbia, the ratio of women to men is one to four.

Close to 20 per cent of the 500 persons with 1,500 real estate salesmen in the Vancouver Real Estate Board wear skirts. Within the Greater Vancouver area there are three all-women firms. There are two-women teams operating out of other offices and even some where the wife is boss and her husband is employee.

COVERS PROVINCE

Mrs. Margaret Avey, for example, founded in nearby Richmond nine years ago. Now she has a staff specializing in commercial, industrial, hotel and shopping - centre properties. Mrs. Avey's husband, Austin, a son, Phil, look after residential business for clients.

In 1952, Rene Nuyten was a real estate salesman looking for an agent he married her. His wife Dorothy is the boss.

The first all-woman real estate firm in the area was McComb-Stewart in West Vancouver. Specializing in exclusive properties, the five women in the firm use secretary's mockups and models to sell prospective customers.

Much of the women's success is based on something they consider obvious: the wife really makes the decision about buying a home since she's more likely to be concerned with neighbors, comfort, schools and transportation.

SUCCESSFUL FIRM

"Women know what women want," says Mrs. Edith Woodworth, president of another all-women firm. She worked in advertising with Mrs. Marianne Stewart and Mrs. Joey Ashdown for a number of years and they got along so well they decided to go into real estate in 1957. They find business "exceeding all expectations".

Mrs. R. M. McKee has been president of one firm for 10 years and Mrs. Mary Russell has headed another for four.

The women now talk rather offhandedly of their $500,000 sales years, a far cry from the time 15 years ago when such people as Muriel May and Helen Lancaster pioneered in the field.

Mrs. May started her own office in 1945 and two years later became exclusive agent for a 1,000 - acre development in West Vancouver. Mrs. Lancaster started in 1944 and now has two companies, an insurance firm and a real estate agency specializing in apartments.

Tabernacle United W.M.S. Plans Rally

The monthly meeting of the Tabernacle United Church WMS was held in the church parlor on Tuesday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. Ray Lockyer, opened the meeting. Miss Ethel Horton was in charge of the devotional. Miss Horton read a lesson from Jessie M. Trout's book, "Like a Watered Garden." We will soon be observing World Day of Prayer," she observed, "this is the most ecumenical observance in the church. One hundred and forty-four countries observe this day.

"As women around the world surmount the barriers of language and time in this great unifying force they know that they are no longer strangers and foreigners but citizens of the household of God.

"A chain of prayer ee'r land and sea

United prayers for love and peace

In divers tongues both harsh and sweet,

One language at the 'mercy seat'."

A chapter in "Africa Disturbed" was reviewed by Miss S. Hodgins.

In customary tribal life the individual had a certain security but not much freedom. Today individual Africans are emerging as leaders, not only of tribal chieftain lineage, but from common people.

Independent African nations are being formed even though the territories are not fully independent in today's interdependent world.

The Africans are beginning to assume responsibility for their own affairs. The husband and wife responsibility for the home has been a very large measure a part of the Christian concept of a home.

Individual choice and individual responsibility for that choice are powerful influences in Africa today. Both of them were learned early in the Christian home.

There are several kinds of law in Africa today: native law, Anglo-Saxon law, a mixture of both, Islamic and tribal law, and common law. Africans are confused.

They may break a law without knowing it.

Missionaries are still strong in Africa today. To keep away evil spirits some Africans still pick up a stone and throw the stone on a heap of stones near the path. When one is thrown they think an evil spirit is punishing them.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross who wrote the study book stated in their book that the years in which they were driving through Africa had been donated by funds collected at "World Day of Prayer." They were equipped with film projectors, screen, records, record players, recording machine, loudspeaker, dynamo and out-of-door lighting. The driver of the van was a Christian witness travelling through the heart of the Mau Mau country. The driver had belonged to the Mau Mau and had been placed in an internment camp. In the camp he became a Christian and now he was bearing witness to the fact that all men are brothers and have one Father.

Mrs. Lockyer and Mrs. Barlow were appointed representatives from Tabernacle WMS to World Day of Prayer.

A discussion was held on plans for Presbyterial Rally in Tabernacle United Church, Feb. 22 and 23.

Mrs. Garnet May was nominated as supply secretary for the Presbyterial.

It was decided to have a missionary family party in the church soon.

Mrs. Osland led in prayer for missionary Miss Frances Lodge.

Congregational Meeting

JOHNSTOWN UNITED

JOHNSTOWN — The Johnstown congregational meeting was held on Friday evening after all had partaken of a potluck supper held at the Glen Miller Club House.

The Rev. G. A. Puttenham gave the report of the session. There are 54 members at Johnstown church, seven non-resident, 26 families. There was one baptismal service in 1959 and four communion services.

The receipts were $1,032.35; expenses $905, and balance on hand $132.35; M and M fund, $59.20.

The Woman's Association report was given by Mrs. Alec Vanderwourt. Total receipts for the year were $517.13; expenses $446.77; balance from 1958, $690.91; on hand, $631.27; Missionary and Maintenance $59.30. The Sunday School report given by Miss Thelma Stickle showed receipts $115.39; balance $16.67.

The COIT, in charge of Mrs. Douglas Hall, reported receipts $40.07 for 1959; balance $34.42; money for the year was spent for clothes for the children of Bethel home. The girls sold cookies at the Sunday school to make extra money.

Mrs. Puttenham and Baby Band, by Mrs. Arnold Harry, showed $14.10 assets.

Mrs. Everett Clapp's report of Mission Band: receipts, $19.17; money spent, $11.22; sent to Presbyterial, $15; balance on hand, $3.17.

It was moved that trustees, stewards, session, be the same for 1960 as for 1959, and also that the Sunday School superintendent, assistant superintendents and secretary be the same for 1960.

For many years the same minister has served both Grace Church, Foxboro, and Johnstown. Grace Church feels it should be separate from Johnstown. This church has grown so over the years it is felt one minister cannot serve both churches without the other charge.

Miss Thelma Stickle also Edward Meyers and Alec Vanderwourt will attend the Presbyterial meeting on Tuesday at Belleville.

Women's Activities

COLLEGE HILL W.A.

The opening group of the W.A. of College Hill Church met on Wednesday at the church hall. Mrs. Ross Bird conducted due to the bad weather.

Mrs. D. Hunt, the president, called the meeting to order.

Mesdames Townsend and Bailey were in charge of the devotional period. Mrs. J. Townsend read the Scripture lesson from Colossians 1:1-14. Mrs. C. Bailey gave the topic of worship which opened with the theme, "I Will Light the Candle of Understanding in Your Heart."

One of the best lenten religious paintings in recent times is Holman Hunt's "Light of the World" which gave the much crowned figure of Christ standing at the door. The door represents the door of the human heart. He bears with Him a two-fold light, that of conscience and revelation which displays past sin, and that of the Spirit of peace — the hope of salvation.

"As we gaze on this patient and loving figure, we long within our hearts to Him who bears the light, and who will illumine every part of life with His holy peace and blessing."

Mrs. Townsend led in prayer after which all sang "Behold, A Stranger At The Door." Mrs. Bailey read a story of St. Valentine, which closed the devotional period.

During the business part of the meeting, thank-you notes were read. It was announced that Mrs. Dobbs would be guest speaker at the March meeting at which Centre Street and Front Road Associations had been invited. Also, an entertainment was made of the World Day of Prayer to be held at Holloway Street Church on March 4th. Some discussion took place in relation to the Manse Home and some correspondence was read and discussed.

Mrs. Townsend conducted a "heart" contest, after which a social hall hour was enjoyed.

Mrs. G. Jenkinson and Mrs. R. Neal were in charge of refreshments.

Quinte W.I. Topic 'Glass Manufacture'

The Quinte Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Douglas Atkins on February 9, with two members and two hos. The president, Mrs. Robert Atkins, called the meeting to order, everyone present and thanked Mrs. D. Atkins for opening her home for the lunch committee.

Mrs. E. Jeffery, secretary - treasurer, read the letters and business items. All bills are to be paid.

Mrs. Manley Mitchell was elected as leader. Mrs. William Lazarulk as alternate, was appointed Pianist. Mrs. Mitchell could not attend the training school at Stirling, on February 23 and 24 for the 4-H Club girl stands on guard.

Mrs. Harry Grills, convener for public relation is appointed as a delegate to attend the conference at Guelph on May 3rd, 4th and 5th public relations.

Mrs. Manley Mitchell was elected convener of two institutes to the conveners for Canadian Industries, Mrs. D. Atkins and Mrs. Insley.

Mrs. Insley took the chair and Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Grills led the singing of a request number, "The Old Grey Mare."

Mrs. A. Mitchell gave the motto, "Industry keeps the body healthy, the mind clear, the heart whole, and the purse full which was food for thought.

Roll call was answered with two municipal selections "The Land Where Bell Waffle" and "A Mansion over the Hilltop".

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Atkins was called upon to introduce the guest speaker, Mrs. Fred Mitchell, who spoke on the manufacture of glass, which was interesting to everyone, mentioning the factory at Wallaceburg and showing some fine exhibits.

The president, Mrs. R. Atkins, thanked Mrs. Mitchell for her talk.

Mrs. Insley conducted a contest on 'members of parliament.' Mrs. Grills won the prize, and Mrs. C. Mitchell, consolation.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess and her lunch committee, Mrs. C. Howard, Miss A. Docter, Mrs. Insley, Mrs. Wilma Lazarulk and Mrs. Fred Mitchell and a social hour was enjoyed by all.

Club Activities

ENERGETIC CLUB

The regular meeting of the Energetic Club was held last Wednesday evening with Dorothy and Lyle Bowes' group in charge.

The theme was read by president, Jim Rapino. Those taking part in the devotional period were: Elgin Moynes, Elsie Hosking, and the Rev. T. F. Townsend.

A business period followed, and committee chairmen were named for the variety night to be held in April.

Following the business, the meeting was turned over to Lyle Bowes, who introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Harvey Homan, who spoke on his recent trip to Europe.

A delicious Valentine lunch was served by the group in charge.

Elgin Moynes read the "Talker" which brought the club up to date with club news.

Frank Wilson, on behalf of the club thanked Dorothy and Lyle and their group for the enjoyable evening.

Women's Institute

BAY OF QUINTE W.I.

2nd SIDNEY — The Bay of Quinte Institute held its February meeting at the home of Mrs. W. Jeffery of Bayside, on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Donald Sandercock opened the meeting.

Thank you notes were read from Mrs. Rush, Mrs. Acker and Mrs. M. Sandercock, all received.

It was moved that the Public Relations Representative, Mrs. Alva Meyers, attended the Officers' Conference at Guelph on May 4th and 5th.

The discussion was held regarding Art Pottery program to be held on March 9th at Bayside, and at 8 p.m. having the W.I. girls of Parkdale as guests. Mrs. Arnold Ketcheson was appointed lunch convener and Mrs. Clayton Curtis as song leader for the afternoon.

Mrs. Clarence Holmes of Belleville, was speaker for the afternoon spoke on "Institute Procedure", saying, "When we realize how long our W. I. has existed, we should be very proud. The W. I. was instituted in 1897 at Stoney Creek by Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless, whose home has been recently made a memorial in her honor and we as members should all be women in the neighborhood members of our W. I. and being the kind of people they will like, they will want to join". Great care should be taken to see the W. I. is mentioned favorably.

"The high ideals of the W. I. farm women make for a good neighborhood".

Mrs. Holmes donated a book "Fifty Years of Achievement", the history of the W.I. for the first fifty years, to the Bay of Quinte Institute, saying we today of the W.I. are making a study of human food, clothing, architecture of homes and in community life, giving thought to living peacefully together to help women to greater home efficiency, to develop initiative and for leadership; to make a more comfortable life on the farm woman in the community, and to have a deeper appreciation for things near at hand.

"Our challenge is in being a real neighbor and in that doing our best to understand them".

Mrs. Sandercock thanked the hostess for the use of her home and Mrs. Holmes for her fine talk.

Mrs. Donald Sandercock closed which was won by Mrs. R. Ketcheson. After the meeting closed refreshments were enjoyed.

W.M.S. Afternoon Aux. Holds Successful Valentine Tea

The St. Andrew's manse at 271 George Street was the scene of a successful Valentine tea on Friday afternoon, sponsored by the Women's Missionary Society Afternoon Auxiliary.

The convenors were Mrs. W. M. Barlow and co-convener was Mrs. E. M. Sicker.

Guests were welcomed by Mrs. McLean and Mrs. F. Parsons, president of the Auxiliary; Mrs. W. Mantle invited the guests into the tea room. Other hostesses were Mrs. Owen Fleming and Mrs. E. M. Sicker.

The table was centred with a crystal bowl of red and white carnations with green basket-berry sprays flanked by twin candelabra with white tapers. Red hearts were scattered on the white damask cloth, completing the Valentine theme.

Presiding at the silver services were: Mrs. (Rev.) W.H.V. Walker, Mrs. R. Misheard, Mrs. V. Weir and Mrs. D. K. Taylor.

Replenishing the dainty sandplates and tea pots were Miss D. Blair, Mrs. J. Miller, Mrs. E. Pigden and Mrs. J. Hollinger.

Those serving were Mrs. Gordon Shaw, Mrs. Alfred Ryan, Mrs. O. J. Reed, Mrs. J. Webb, Mrs. H. Arnott, Miss Ada Weir, Mrs. Iris MacLean, Mrs. J. McKay and Mrs. R. Carmichael.

Kitchen duties were ably arranged sandwiches and small cakes as attractively were Mrs. J. Browning and her committee, Mrs. W. J. Mills, Mrs. A. Taylor and Mrs. A. Murray.

The treasurers for the afternoon were Mrs. A. Ewing, the leader, and her group of girls, aided by Mrs. Mills selling their bags of sweets.

Cannifton, Corbyville W.I. Enjoys Slides

On Wednesday evening, despite the inclement weather, 60 members and friends of the Cannifton-Corbyville W.I. attended a potluck supper held in the church parlor of Cannifton United Church.

The tables were laden with a choice of foods to suit the tastes of all present. The dinner was convened by the directors.

While a number of the ladies were clearing up, the guests joined in a sing-song with Mrs. Welsh at the piano.

A table was set up where aprons and candy were displayed for sale. This, too, was well patronized.

Mr. Harvey Homan, entertained with his colored slides and personal commentary on his months' jaunt overseas last year, which was most interesting.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended and the presentation of a gift of appreciation. The proceeds of the evening amounted to $27.50.

SENDING CONDOLENCES

In our overanxiety to be of assistance when death strikes the home of a family we know, we are sometimes very thoughtless in our actions. Our natural desire is to express our sympathy quickly and to offer help to the bereaved. Sincere though we may be, we often forget that the manner in which we offer condolence may add to the burden, not help lighten it.

Remember that intrusion upon grief is inconsiderate and thoughtless. None but relatives and very close friends should ever ask to see members of the family. Leaving one's card, or a note of condolence, or sending flowers should be the extent of the expression of sympathy to a friend or acquaintance.

It is extremely difficult for most of us to express on paper a sincere sympathy when death comes to the home of a friend. The object of a note is to express love, or friendship. The note should, in some measure, offer comfort to the one who mourns. For those close to the family, a few words of appreciation and admiration for the one who has gone will definitely bring solace and pride to the hearts of those who suffer.

Guard carefully against lengthy effusions or eulogies. They are neither necessary nor in good taste.

When the relationship has been more that of an acquaintance, or business associate, than a friend, one's letter would be more reserved than when writing a close friend.

The following letter, written by a young woman to a member of her church group, is a case in point. She wrote: "I was so sorry to hear of your mother's death, and wish to extend my heartfelt sympathy. The few times I had the pleasure of meeting her, I was impressed with her graciousness and interest in those about her. I know there is very little anyone can do to help, but if there should be anything, I hope you will let me know."

It would fail you completely, a short handwritten note, using the hackneyed phrase, "With deepest sympathy and the hope that you will call upon me if I can be of assistance," is better than nothing. After all, the object when sending expressions of sympathy is to let the bereaved know that their friends are thinking of them in their time of sorrow.

If one wishes to send flowers to the funeral rites, the following procedure is correct: If the services are to take place from a funeral home, the flowers should be addressed to "The care of funeral." If they are to be held from the deceased's residence, they should be sent in the name of the nearest relative. Never send them in the name of deceased. A card containing your full name should be enclosed. It is extremely thoughtless to sign a card simply "Frances and George." By doing so one may be making it very difficult for the family when they endeavor to acknowledge your kind thought. By signing only the first names you may be leaving the relatives at a loss as to who you are. Always use "Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips."

Question: When casserole foods, chicken pie or beef stew is served in individual casseroles, should one place a portion of the food on one's plate, or is it permissible to eat it out of the casserole dish?

Answer: By all means, place a small portion at a time on your plate. Food served in this manner should never be eaten out of the small individual serving dishes. Never "dump" the contents of this dish into your plate. Always use a spoon.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by readers-at-large and counsellors.

Evelyn R. — Vic is so anti-social!

Evelyn R. — My husband and I have been married ten years and have four children. We are fairly happy except for one basic problem that has plagued us from the beginning.

I am an extrovert and my husband is an introvert. I just love to have loads of friends, visit, do a lot of entertaining. I realize that Vic is often too tired to do these things, but he should do them to please me. After all, he gets around among people all day and I'm cooped up in the house with the kids.

I don't know what it is about Vic. He doesn't seem to like people. He is very quiet when he's among them. It's too bad because people seem to like him. He is so antisocial!

Victor R. — I guess it's just a curse being an introvert. I can't help myself. But I deny that I don't like people. I do like them. That's one reason I can't stand these parties Evelyn goes for. The people aren't people.

Real people must have something better to do than sit around drinking and flirting with one another's husbands or wives. Whenever there is a political discussion everyone gets sore and things nearly come to blows — either that or they say the same old things, agreeing with one another.

I could enjoy myself so much more at home with TV or a book.

The Council: Those once-popular terms introvert and extrovert have pretty much gone out of fashion lately. It is taken for granted that we all have mixed tendencies. One inclination or the other may be brought out by circumstances or our needs or desires at various times.

We think Victor, for example, may be a "mixer" in the best sense of the word. The fact that people like him is a certain sign that he is not hostile to them or antisocial. He seems to crave real contact with others — of the kind that results in the enlargement of his horizons.

On the other hand, social butterflies may be so self-centered that true human interchange with them is virtually impossible. This may be just what Victor complains of in their friends. Each individual in the group is there for his gratification. That is why they become angry if their ideas are not greeted with applause.

That is why there is a need for the dubious gratification of making a successful play for another's husband or wife. That is why the talk is superficial and boring. Everyone must be careful not to touch someone else's weak or sore spot.

We agree that women have a greater need to get out and socialize among adults, but they should also recognize that they should, therefore, take on greater responsibility for the quality of the sociability. It won't just happen by leaving things to chance or playing the game of keeping up with the Jones's. It is important to select a group of people who are ready and able to give and receive in social interchange, and then develop in oneself the art of bringing out what is best in others.

Girl Guide Fruit Cake

by Mary Moore

A birthday fruitcake recipe, to mark the 50th Anniversary of "Guiding" in Canada, has been circulated to the 6,500 Packs and Companies across the nation.

Although all Guides might not make this cake as one of the tests for their cooking badge, the mothers of those Brownies and Guides who do will be glad to have the approved and tested recipe in their hands. I'm sure I made it in one-half hour. It is a good mid-winter fruitcake that benefits from storing, well wrapped, in a refrigerator.

GIRL GUIDE FRUIT CAKE:

1-2 cup shortening and butter combined (Mary Moore suggests if you use all shortening use 1-4 teaspoon salt), 1 cup brown sugar, packed tightly, 3 egg yolks 1-4 cup molasses 3 egg whites, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt (Mary Moore's addition), 1 teaspoon allspice, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-2 teaspoon mace, 1-2 teaspoon ground cloves, 3-4 cup currants, 1 cup citron peel, 1-2 cup chopped orange peel (Mary Moore used 1 1-2 cups mixed peel instead of 1 cup citron peel and 1-2 cup orange peel), 2 cups raisins, 1-2 cup candied cherries chopped, 1-2 cup canned crushed pineapple, 1-4 cup orange juice or orange juice (Mary Moore used orange juice), 1-16 teaspoon baking soda (pinch), 1 teaspoon hot water.

Cream together shortening, butter and brown sugar. Add 3 egg yolks beaten lightly with molasses. Fold into mixture 3 egg whites beaten stiff. Sift together 1 1-2 cups all-purpose flour and spices. Add to mixture. Dust fruit with remaining 1-2 cup of flour and stir into mixture. Add grape or orange juice. Dissolve soda in hot water and add. Bake in greased, paper-lined oblong pan 10 x 5 x 3 1-4" or in 2 pans 7 x 5 x 3-4" for 2 1-2 hours at 250 deg. Fahr. Mary Moore recommends having water pan below cake during baking period. This makes approximately 3 1-4 pounds of cake. Smaller cakes require only 2 hours and 10 minutes baking.

DISTRICT WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

WOOLER W.M.S., A.A.

WOOLER — The afternoon and evening meeting of the W.M.S. met recently at Mrs. A. G. Austin's, with a large attendance. The president, Mrs. Alden Arthur, expressed her thanks for the confidence the members have in her to elect her as their president for 1960.

The Rev. J. MacCallum conducted the service of the installation of officers for this year.

Mrs. Redcliff gave a report of the morning meeting of Cobourg Presbyterial held in Frankford on January 27. The members who attended gave their personal highlights of the afternoon session, which was most interesting.

Mrs. Cora Valentine gave a talk on "The Life of the Africanas," as given by Dr. and Mrs. Ross in the study "Africa Disturbed."

The worship service was taken by Mrs. C. W. McMaster and group.

The meeting adjourned to meet on March 1st with Mrs. Ervin Scott as convener.

RIVER VALLEY W.I. EUCHRE

River Valley Women's Institute sponsored their fifth euchre party at the school house on Friday evening.

There were 27 adults in attendance, including nine Institute members. The 16 visitors were from Campbellford, Frankford, Stirling, Mount Pleasant, Bethel and Stockdale.

The prizes and coffee were donated by Mrs. Percy Craighead.

There were nine tables in play and the winners were: ladies' high, Mrs. J. R. Donohoe; second, Mrs. Sam Caskey, Frankford; men's high, Claude Tucker and second Percy MacMullen.

The conveners, Mrs. J. L. Donohoe and Mrs. Percy Craighead, with their assistants, served refreshments and a social half hour was enjoyed.

Thurlow P.C. Assoc. Elects 1960 Officers

The Thurlow Progressive Conservative Association held its annual meeting and election of officers in Carnahan Orange hall on the evening of February 6th, with a splendid attendance.

The president, Manley Mitchell, chaired the meeting.

The officers appointed for 1960 are as follows:

President, Carman Dafoe; first vice-president, Floyd Henderson; second vice-president, Emsbury Hough; secretary-treasurer, Clayton Hall.

LADIES' P.C.

Mrs. Garnet Denyes was in charge of the meeting for the ladies in the absence of the president, Mrs. M. Waller, who was ill.

The election of officers took place and is as follows:

President, Mrs. Garnet Denyes; first vice-president, Mrs. N. Welsh; second vice-president, Mrs. Earl Dafoe; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Fred Mitchell.

After the business of the associations was transacted a lively singsong was conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Manley Mitchell. Mr. Walter Chumbley and Mrs. Harry Harrison contributed solos and Mrs. Harrison played instrumental selections on her electric organ towards the entertainment.

Mr. Alfred Wickett, reeve of Thurlow township, spoke, also various members of the Thurlow council.

Mr. Carman Dafoe, the 1960 president, spoke and asked for the co-operation of all in the coming year.

Mrs. D. Tugwell and Mr. Ray Cunsolus brought greetings from the Belleville associations.

The chairman called on the speakers of the evening, Mr. Clarke Rollins, MPP, and Mr. Lee Grills, MP, who gave interesting addresses on the procedures of their respective parliaments, which are in session.

Mr. Carl Thompson voiced the appreciation of the association to the speakers and the entertainers.

Refreshments were served.

Dealing With Tule Lake Trouble

Tule Lake (pronounced to rhyme with Dooley) is a body of water which lies in the Klamath Basin of California, just south of the Oregon-California border. Recently this lake has had its status altered from that of a pleasant resting place for those sands upon thousands of ducks and geese to a matter of National and conyressional concern. The story substantially is this.

The Pacific Flyway, which marks the migration routes of wild-fowl each spring and fall, is the largest and most heavily populated of all of our North American flyways. It is used annually by 12-million or more ducks and geese, and Tule Lake is a natural and accepted concentration spot, a crossroads. Trained observers, Fish and Wildlife men who know ducks intimately estimate that 80 per cent of these millions of wild-fowl use Tule Lake as a resting and feeding station. Not only that, but the spot is a favored nesting area for wildfowl and has been since time began.

Tule Lake saw its first settlers in the late eighteen-fifties. Then it was much larger than it is now, having between 60,000 and 80,000 acres of surface, depending upon rainfall. In 1902, the Bureau of Reclamation decided to lower the surface of the lake to yeak some of the bordering land available for farming. The bottom land of its basin, even the land under water, is fantastically rich. "Plant a seed and then jump back as the sprout don't hit your chin on the way up," is the way one oldtimer put it. You can imagine with what favor such land is regarded by the farmers both then and now.

FARMERS MOVED IN

Well the Department of the Interior, through its Bureau of Reclamation, moved in and took over. The flow of Lost River, which fed Tule Lake, was moved over into Klamath River. The lake began to diminish and farmers moved in.

However, enough flow from Lost River was saved to keep the lake fresh. Dikes were built and pumps were installed. Thus, the size and water level were stabilized. Meanwhile, some of the flow from Lost River was used for irrigation, as rainfall in that area is a chancy thing, not to be depended upon.

In 1928 Tule Lake became a Federal Wildlife Refuge comprising about 38,000 acres in all, of which the 13,000 acres of the lake is a major part. A goodly section of the land in the refuge is used annually to grow food for the wildfowl; barley, wheat and such. About 16,000 acres of the refuge land is leased to farmers who have formed what they call the Tulelake Irrigation District. This association has grown to include adjoinin' land and now about 20,000 acres of that land is divided among 600 farms.

Always it has been the policy of the Bureau of Reclamation, once its work has been completed in an area, to turn over to the users of the water the actual operation of that area.

To make a long and rather complicated story as short as possible, Reclamation and the Tule Lake District signed a contract in which it was agreed, among other things, that the water level of Tule Lake was to be maintained constantly at 4034.7 feet above sea level. This, of course, could be done by means of the dikes and pumping system.

WATER LEVEL DROPPED

This was not done. The water level was allowed to drop about seven or eight inches. Thus, a large area of the lake was reduced to marsh and stagnant water. Ducks, feeding in stagnant water, are subject to a disease called botulism. That year about 3000 ducks died from botulism.

The District was warned by Reclamation and Fish and Wildlife to restore the water level. They complied, but not until spring. In April, during the nesting season, the water level was raised to specified figures. All of the nests on the lake bed were flooded and the eggs destroyed. How many thousands of baby ducks, or potential babies, were lost is anybody's guess.

Now it must be remembered that Tule Lake and its adjoining waters constitute the very keystone of the Pacific Flyway. At some times of the year, usually al. There is no way to tell exactmid-October, it is not uncommon ly what would have happened to to see fire of six million ducks on the placid surface of Tule Lake. To alter the lake substantially so that the ducks and geese no longer found it useful would be to alter the flyway itself. In addition, the whole Tule Lake area is a well-established "duck factory", producing thousands of youngsters each spring.

To remove such an area from circulation, changing it into productive farm land in this day of overproduction and farm surplus, would be nothing short of criminal. There is no way to tell exactly what would have happened to the flyway, but the results unquestionably would have been disastrous. Sportsmen and conservationists of the area took it upon themselves to see to it that something was done and done quickly.

PRESSURE APPLIED

Happily, enough pressure has been brought to bear so that Reclamation has now stepped in, authorized by Department of Interior, and has taken over pumping operations. Tule Lake once again will resume its status as a concentration spot for the ducks of the Pacific Flyway.

As I say, the story is a long and complicated one. No space here to dwell on a possible land grab of valuable acreage, political implications, etc., etc. The fact remains that here was a situation which could and did get out of hand all too quickly. It can, and probably will, happen again unless changes are made in the rules for the administration of our public lands, National Parks and National Wildlife refuges.

Constantly individuals and private interests are sniping at the acreage and natural resources in these government tracts. There has been enough grief in the past to warn us that decisions of such vast importance should not be left in the hands of just one man. It is time that our legislators in Washington took heed and formed advisory commissions, both capable and non-political, to see to it that our heritage, and that of future generations, is safely and wisely administered.

"If there's anyone in a position to know about hearing aids, I guess I am. I've been hard of hearing since I was 16 years old and this (the new Extended Range Hearing Aid) is what I've been looking for—and waiting for," says an enthusiastic user.

In an actual test, 9 out of 10 hearing aid users heard better than ever with the Extended Range — world's first high fidelity hearing aid. Find out for yourself why veteran users say the Extended Range makes it easier to identify voices ... gives much less interference from background noise ... makes sounds seem more normal and distinct.

PROVE IT TO YOURSELF IN 30 SECONDS!

If you are hard of hearing and do not wear a hearing aid, you won't know how much one can really help you until you try the Extended Range. If you already wear a hearing aid, come in and compare. 30 seconds will show you the truly amazing difference!

Oshawans Win Car Rally

TORONTO (CP) — The 1960 Canadian International Winter Rally was won Sunday night by D. A. Hambly and W. F. Davidson, both of Oshawa, driving a 1.5 Riley. They collected 12 penalty points on the 1,208 - mile course.

Second were K. D. MacLennan of suburban Willowdale and R. A. Dempsey of Toronto, who lost 14 points with their 1062 Ford Anglia.

Of the 169 cars that started from here Friday evening only 107 finished the course. Most of the others were knocked out by a blizzard in the Lindsay area which piled up drifts and cut visibility over the last 40 miles. Provincial police were forced to divert some sections of the course and on to main highways.

Among finishers was one of the two all-girl teams, Gillian Field and Mary Clark, both of Toronto, who were diverted by police after digging themselves out of several drifts.

Competitors lost points for every minute early or late at checkpoints along the route, and for not checking in at all.

The route was to North Bay by way of Perth. After a 10-hour rest competitors returned via Parry Sound, Haliburton, Fenelon Falls and Gormley.

On the Track

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — Bowie Race Track, which cancelled the last four races Saturday because of a snowstorm, will resume operations today.

About four inches of snow fell on the track Saturday and the program was called off after the fifth race. There were 16,289 fans on hand for the second day of Bowie's 40-day meeting, but only a few left when the snow started.

Some jockeys complained after the fourth race that further riding would be hazardous because the snow obscured their vision.

NEW YORK (CP) — Amerigo, the favorite, sweet to a length victory in the $91,900 Hialeah Turf Cup at Miami Sunday night.

Amerigo ($3) ran the 1½ miles in 2:29 1-5 on a soft grass track and held off the first place Rafiy, with North Pole 2nd finishing third and Tudor Era fourth in the nine-horse field.

At Santa Anita, Willie Shoemaker gave Howard M. Keck's Bagdad a great ride in capturing the $67,500 San Antonio Handicap. Bagdad ($7) outraced the favored Fleet Gallahad in an exciting stretch duel. How Now was third.

In New Orleans, Tenacious ($6) came through with his usual charge in a muddy stretch run to win the $12,175 Lecomte Handicap.

Phoenix Golf Ends In Tie

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Jack Fleck of Los Angeles and Bill Collins of Crystal River, Fla., Sunday finished the 72-hole, $22,500 Phoenix open golf tournament today tied for the lead at 273 and will play off today.

The 18-hold playoff will decide who gets the top money of $3,150.

Two strokes back of them at 275 were Jerry Barber, Los Angeles, and Frank Stranahan, Crystal River, Fla. Each collected $1,475.

Quinte Rink Wins Corby Cup, Another Second in 4th Event as Spiel Concluded

A rink from the Quinte Curling Club composed of A. McCallum, Tommy Carruthers, Ken Burns and Mac White as skip won the Corby trophy and accompanying prizes of warming blankets and a second rink from the same club of Ernie Savill, Archieacon J. B. Creegan, Steve Tripp and Frank Creegan made a gallant effort to win another as the men's bonspiel was brought to a close on Saturday night after four wonderful days of curling in which rinks from all over the province took part.

The consensus of the members and those taking part, it was one of the best spiels since the club was inaugurated three years ago. The spiel ran into no trouble but through the kindness of the Trenton Curling Club and the RCAF Curling Club at 8 RD, the draws were successfully completed, there was little time lost and everybody expressed their thanks for the splendid hospitality, the wonderful meals and especially the table of old cheese that was more than well patronized during the spiel.

The large galleries that followed the play each day were indicative of the hold the curling has taken on the community. The sociability and good fellowship was everywhere apparent especially on the closing night when the spiel was ended with a real old-fashioned smoker and ended with "Auld Lange Syne." All of the rinks expressed their desire to come back again next year. In fact many entries were made for next year before the rinks left for their homes.

PRESIDENT GIVES THANKS

Pat Houston, president of the club, expressed his thanks for the assistance the curlers who had taken part, to the ice committee, who so expertly got the ice back in playable condition, to the Trenton clubs for their kindness in the use of their ice during the trouble, to the women's section for their wonderful help and loyalty, to the donors of prizes, to Mrs. Bruce Prodgers for the fine gift of cheese and to Mrs. Syd Sproule, convenor of the committee, headed by Ben Corke, who carried out their work in a most dignified way, although sorely pressed at certain times to keep the spiel on schedule. "It was a wonderful spiel and all I can say is thank you."

Ben Corke, chairman of the ice committee, one of the hardest workers during the spiel, spoke highly of his committee, the co-operation of the curlers in the difficult days when the ice was poor and they worked so hard and long under the direction of Steve Flint of 10 to prepare the ice after the trouble. Ervy Ness, the icemaker, deserved a special word of thanks for his labors. Wilbur Fox, who was chairman of the draw committee asked Al Parkhill, first vice chairman of the Ontario Curling Association to make the draw and Al, who has brought down a rink every year of the spiel thought this year was the best ever. "You are to be complimented on the wonderful job you have done in getting this club in such fine condition, you are a credit to the Association", said Mr. Parkhill. The winner of the draw was Mr. Al Turner of 4 Montgomery Blvd.

PRIZES AWARDED

Mr. Corke before starting the presentations of prizes thanked L. E. McLean, Ev Gowsell and Jim Stevens who assisted in keeping the draw operating and the umpires who gave of their time for this purpose. Mr. Farquharson whose company donated the beautiful trophy and accompanying prizes was asked to make the presentation to the winning rink.

"It was a great spiel, fine and clean and I congratulate you and your rink" said Mr. Farquharson, "to Mac White and it was nice that you kept the Corby trophy at home for a change". Mr. White sulkily thanked his rink for the fine curling and co-operation that made it possible.

Bill Spinelli of Moira Beverages presented transistor radios to Adam Wilkinson, Dave Taylor, Gordon Symons and Howie Hall, post of Bicroft the second place rink in the spiel. The rink of George Wilson, Jack Heenan, William Stewart and Morris Booth of Cobourg who took third prize donated by the Big A but left for home before the spiel was completed.

Jim Donaldson, Bert Walsh Charles Millar and Andy McFie of Kingston were the winners of the second event and Charlie Millar, who had a great deal to do in helping the Quinte Club get started, thanked everyone for the wonderful spiel, it is a pleasure to come here, they won the four brief cases donated by Leslie's Bee Store.

The Oshawa rink of Gordon Miles, Alex Nathan, Army Armstrong and Park Philhill won the second prize of four cameras donated by National Camcorries and presented by Bill Slade. The third prize won by Ken Phaden, Cecil Hooper, Bob Peverley and Charles Bonter as skip.

The third event of the spiel was won by an RCAF rink of Bob Cathers, Bill Lewis, Grant Macaulay and Gerry Fraser, the prizes being Grenfell Jackets all donated by the Men's Wear stores in the city. The second prize was leather cases by the Druggists and was won by the Unionville rink, and the third prize was won by an RCAF rink of Bob Barker, Ed Armstrong, Skit Skuce and Larry Moltak, who incidentally scored the only eight-ender of the spiel. Carabins Edge Varsity 3-2

MONTREAL (CP) — Bob Tremblay scored the tying and winning goals Saturday night as University of Montreal Carabins edged Varsity Grey's of Toronto Blues 3-2 in Senior Intercollegiate Hockey League play.

It was the first win of the season for the last-place Carabins after a three-game second defeat in two days.

Harry Neale and Jim Murrile scored for the visitors and Claude Duguay notched the other one for Montreal.

prize was donated by the Walker Brewing Company and presented by Wilbur Fox.

A WONDERFUL MATCH

The final rink last event was won by a rink of Bob Noble, Jim Starchuck, Bill Hinton, with Ernie Wright of the Fort Henry Curling Club of Kingston. This game was the highlight of the final matches of the night. This rink defeated a Quinte rink skipped by Jack Creegan and it had the large gallery in a dither. Creegan was two up at the end of the eighth but Ernie Wright managed to hook four - ender to put his rink two up and coming home. When his own shot to shoot his last two rocks the opposition was lying one and well guarded but there was the draw to the "button" and that is exactly what Mr. Creegan did. Wright with his last stone tried to take the shot but was a little wide and Mr. Creegan calmly went to the other end and again drew his own shot to the mark. The Creegan rink was lying one when Ernie Wright threw his last rock but he drew "dead" and won the match.

Mr. Creegan and his rink got the second prize by Seven - Up and the third prize of electric clocks given by the CGE was won by the rink of Capt. Bowen, Flt. Sergeant Fetherington, Ton and Herm Chambers of Trenton. This completed the spiel and the rest of the evening was spent in telling tall tales of past curling exploits and good fellowship. Sawchuk Gets Further Check On Leg Pains

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)— Terry Sawchuk, Detroit Red Wings goalie, checked in to University Medical Centre Sunday for further examination of leg pains which have troubled him this year.

Sawchuk, 30, was sidelined two weeks ago for a three-game rest and was expected back in five days. Sunday night's National Hockey League match between the Red Wings and Toronto marked the sixth game he has missed.

"I just got out of osteopathic hospital in Detroit," Sawchuk said. "They sent me over here to see a specialist, I don't know what's wrong with me. I've been able to find out."

Red Wings general manager Jack Adams said Sawchuk complained last week about the pains in his right instep and "we decided to send him out to Univ. to find out what was wrong."

Earlier this season he complained of pains in his legs and the ailment then was diagnosed as a form of neuritis.

Varsity Wins Ring Tourney

MONTREAL (CP) — University of Toronto dominated the intercollegiate boxing championships Saturday night, finishing with Blues' boxers fighting their way into seven of nine finals and winning six.

Queen's University of Kingston also placed seven boxers in the finals but only Jim Day, in the featherweight class, and Mike Harper, heavyweight, were winners.

Toronto's only loser was Ron McManus, who lost to Day by decision.

There were two technical knockouts in the matches. Art Hall, Blues' welterweight, won over Gerry Grasston of Queen's in the 130-pound class in the first round while Roger Kharzam of McGill in the second.

McGill placed only two finalists and had one winner, Pierre Rainville, beating John Green of Queen's in the 165-pound class.

The 125-pound division, Ozzie Hutchison of Toronto defeated Ed Almquist, Queen's, by decision. In a 140-pound bout, Velasquez Spring, Toronto, defeated B. Lever, Queen's, by decision. Jim Aman of Toronto was awarded a decision over Rod Macadoo, Queen's, in a 145-pound match.

Grey Cup Game Will Be Played In Vancouver

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Football League closed its annual meeting with a rush Saturday after awarding the 1960 Grey Cup game to Vancouver's Empire Stadium. The East-West final will be played Nov. 26.

Toronto's bid to get the game for the Canadian National Exhibition stadium was not as strong as originally expected. Delegates gave a seating capacity of 33,000, same as last year, and made no mention of earlier reports that the CNE would add 2,200 track seats. Their only selling point was better field drainage.

Faced with defeat the Toronto delegates made the Vancouver selection unanimous. Toronto's estimate of $315,000 in gate receipts was $6,000 less than the Vancouver expectation.

SPORTS STADIA

Many modern sports stadiums in various parts of the world would dwarf the ancient coliseum in Rome, which held 87,000 people.

Barons Blank Americans 5-0; Bisons Lose

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Goaltender Gil Mayer, shutout specialist with Cleveland Barons, had No. 33 of his 43-year American Hockey League career blocks away today, but his club was still buried in fifth place.

Mayer's latest whitewash victims were Rochester Americans, beaten 5-0 Sunday night.

Providence Reds turned back the league-leading Springfield Indians 3-2 and Hershey Bears stopped Buffalo Bisons 5-3 in other games Sunday night.

The Indians beat Buffalo 4-4 and Hershey edged the Barons 3-2 in Saturday night afternoon meets.

Cleveland scoring Sunday was shared by Earl Ingarfield, Fryer Glover, George Bouchard, Bill Sweeney and Cal Basarna.

Ray Kinasewich, Frank Mahovlich and Hec Lalande were the Hershey marksmen in a Saturday Bouchard and Greig Hicks scored for Cleveland.

REDS STEP UP

The Reds bounced back into a third-place tie with Buffalo with their win over the Indians. Springfield leads the race with 71 points, the Americans are second with 63, five more than Buffalo and Providence.

Nick Mickoski, Paul Lavelle and Bo Elik scored for Providence and Bill McCord and Jim Sweeney for Springfield.

Denny Lewicki was a key man for Buffalo Sunday night but his three goals were in vain. Arnie Brown led the Bears with two goals, Les Duff, Claude Laforge and Willie Marshall scored single.

Kent Douglas, Jimmy Bartlett, Wilf Hillures and Bruce Cline were the Springfield marksmen against Buffalo. Howie Glover and Larry Wilson scored for the Bisons.

Western League

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Vancouver Canucks and Seattle Totems fought to a 3-2 tie Sunday night which gave the Totems sole possession of second spot in the Western Hockey League standings.

Tommy McVie and Jim Peters scored for Vancouver. Vancouver twice tied it up, on goals by Ray Cyr and Lorne Chabun.

The Totems moved a point ahead of Edmonton Flyers but stayed in second behind Canucks.

Canucks defeated Victoria Cougars 3-2 Saturday night. The lead place Spokane Comets beat Totems 5-3, Calgary Stampeders beat Winnipeg Warriors 4-3.

Gordon Veiprava, Ralph Keller and Ron Stackhouse scored for Vancouver while Victoria's goals came from Doug Macauley and Ed Ingworth.

Murray Wilkie, Rod Atwell and Ching Johnson scored the pair each for the Comets./Pat Gianelli and Mare Boileau each scored twice for Totems. Gerry Leonard added a single.

Three referees were Jimmy Brown, Lou Jankowski and Terry Reardon. Ab Nicholson and Wasiawski tallied for Warriors.

HOLD RCAF 'SPIEL

ST. JOHN'S, Que. (CP)—Harry Lewis's Ottawa rink won the annual Royal Canadian Air Force second beating John Green of Quebec 4-3 on a 13-point end. Ottawa rink skipped by Ozzie Hutchison of Toronto defeated Ed Almquist, Queen's, by decision. In a 140-pound bout, Velasquez Spring, Toronto, defeated B. Lever, Queen's, by decision. Jim Aman of Toronto was awarded a decision over Rod Macadoo, Queen's, in a 145-pound match.

Industrial Hockey League Results

Booth TV's and Williams Brothers, who ran one-two during the regular schedule, continued their winning ways as the Belleville Industrial Hockey League playoffs got under way yesterday.

Booth's defeated Ellis Painters 7-5 while Williams Brothers took a 5-2 victory over Chris' Drive-In. Both games were the first in best-of-five series, the second games of which will be played next weekend.

Leo "Winner" St. Denis led Booth's to victory with a sparking three-goal effort. Single tally were divided among Frank-s Cris, Jack Calnan, Bob Brooks and Ronnie Archer. Nemies of the Ellis meeris were not available.

Bobby Green, who played an outstanding game in the nets, was the difference in Williams Brothers' victory. He kicked out a number of labelled drives and robbed Chris' big guns, Vern Goyer and Jack Gill, several times while protecting a 1-0 lead for the first half of the game.

Dick Knapton potted two of the winners' goals with Gerry Cote, Gene Day and Gordie Green getting the others. Pat Maracle and Bill Vesterfelt had the Chris' markers.

Quebec Teams Running Even In Dog Derby

QUEBEC (CP)—Two Quebec City teams were running neck and neck with a second Quebec international dog-sled derby title Sunday, after completion of the first two laps.

The last of three equally-divided laps in the 300-mile race will be run today.

Philippe Pare, who placed second behind a pair in the first two heats, holds a slim 17-second lead over runner-up Emile Martel. Pare completed the first two laps in five hours, 22 minutes and 55 seconds while Martel covered the same distance in five hours, 22 minutes and 42 seconds.

Martel won Sunday's lap with a slow time of two hours, 52 minutes and 12 seconds as the 13 mushers and dog teams found the going rough in a heavy snowstorm. Twenty-five teams had been entered in the race but six dropped out. Emile Martel, Pare four United States four entries.

Vossler Wins Panama Golf

PANAMA (AP) — Ernie Vossler, a last-minute entry from Toronto, Ont., Sunday won the Panama open golf tournament with a record breaking 72-hole score of 269.

Vossler, who substituted for the ailing Don Massey in the PGA-sponsored tournament, finished three strokes ahead of Oliver Fitzgerald of Tequesta, Fla.

The 269 of Vossler, who collected $1,500, was trimmed two strokes off the tournament record of 271 set in 1954 by Sam Snead.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver shot 70-70-68-75—283 and picked up $1,000. At Bedding of Teneale fired 70-71-74-70—285 and pocketed $525.

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

"If there's a senior hockey league left to play in next season, it will be the eighth wonder of the world."

That's the punchline of a sizzling, blasting, pre-demise obituary of this phase of the sport columned by Jack Dulmage, sports editor of the Windsor Star.

It stemmed from the decision, supported by four of the five teams of the Ontario Senior League, to conduct a five-team round-robin playoff with the blessing of the OHA.

Elimination of nobody after months of competition is stupid, he says. The deceit stemming from failure to make known the system before the start of the season is the most reproachable part. What isn't justifiable is the rank confidence game played on the public.

"Club owners are not wholly to blame," Dulmage writes. "The OHA and the CAHA are also at fault for condoning the action. Time and again these bodies have demonstrated their unfitness to supervise senior hockey. They possess no proper machinery to govern it. They shirk responsibility in the critical hours."

"The Ontario Hockey Association," Dulmage goes on, "does not belong in any sphere of operation where players are paid stipulated sums of money. The reason is simple. The OHA has neither the personnel, organization directive, incentive or constituted power to effectively rule in such a sphere."

Dulmage says senior hockey is strangling itself to death, a victim of its own double crosses. It is now nothing positive at personal aspirations. It is another thing to convince at public trust. This is the dishonor which too many amateur hockey officials have indulged in.

Splinter organizations, formed lame substitutes, emerged into being in the OHA. These are the group councils designed to conduct the affairs of senior "A" and junior "A" hockey under the weakest kind of control possible.

"They sit at the same table as the OHA, stripping one another of private counsel, wrestling and exercising suspicion and using a boarding house reach on their agenda that would curl your hair."

Dulmage believes that in time amateur organizations will rise to the compelling incentives and either become pro or withdraw to the amusements of recreational leagues for small boys and old men.

The Eastern Professional League, he says, is apparently succeeding beyond its best expectations. Their product is selling and this won't be lost on the seniors they left behind.

"The seniors have just about run out of scandals. The Belleville affair saw to that. Chatham came within a whisker of folding in mid-season.

Dulmage says that perhaps the Russians don't know it but indirectly they are contributing to the extinction of senior hockey in Canada. The madness which has gripped certain localities in respect to international competition is playing a major role in the destruction of it.

"Belleville wilfully manipulated civic funds to finance its 1959 European tour. Whitby actually fomented the creation of a league to promote its international ambitions, a league which withered in exactly two years. Kitchener-Waterloo today has brought the sole remaining league of any consequence to its knees in a personal orgy of Olympic spending.

"How much more of this domestic infidelity Ontario hockey can stand is questionable," Dulmage states. "It may evaporate entirely within a year. There is no such thing as league security. Belleville is being let into the playoffs on the pretext it will guarantee a return appearance in the league next season. What nonsense. The senior club can't even guarantee they'll show up at their own meetings. They no longer honor bond commitments. Their expenses' pool is like a pretty grab-bag."

The Windsor writer said that Kitchener, for years the voice of reckless indignation, has now played cozy seems, turned its coat the other way this time. "Why? Fayola for league hockey talent to fortify its Olympics' hockey team."

"If there's a senior league left to play in next year, it will be the eighth wonder of the world."

Habs Lose 2; Leafs, Bruins Win Weekend Games

Twice-Defeated Red Wings Drop Back to Fourth Spot; Hull Gets First In Nine Games

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Apparently even the Montreal Canadiens have their limits.

During the weekend, missing three of their highest - scoring players and playing two road games in as many nights, the weary Habitants dropped both for their first weekend without at least a tie this season.

Saturday they were beaten 7-6 by Boston Bruins despite forward Ab McDonald's three goals and Sunday night, before 15,019 overjoyed Chicago fans, they were stopped cold by the Black Hawks and shut out 3-0.

Toronto Maple Leafs and the Bruins won both their weekend games and the combination left the slumping Detroit Red Wings only a point out of fifth place.

Toronto trounced the Wings twice—by a whopping 7-1 in Toronto Saturday and 5-1 in Detroit Sunday while Bruins were winning their fourth consecutive game, a 3-0 decision over last place New York Rangers.

Superb goaltending

Bruins did a major part of the damage to the Canadiens Saturday in three periods that saw 26 seconds of the first period when they banged in the first three goals of the game.

Centre Bronco Horvath led Boston with two goals and an assist. He got no points Sunday but finished the weekend six points in front in the NHL scoring race.

Horvath has 37 goals and 33 assists for 72 points. Canadiens' Jean Beliveau, who hasn't played for more than a week, has 66.

In addition to Beliveau, Montreal's injured included Marcel Bonin and Dickie Moore.

The other Boston scorers were Guy Gendron with two, Vic Stasiuk, Don McKenney and Jerry Toppazzini.

FIRST BIG NIGHT

In addition to McDonald, who had scored only four times this season before Saturday night, the Canadiens got goals from Ralph Backstrom, Doug Harvey and Bernie Geoffrion.

Sunday the Hawks' Ron Murphy broke open a scoreless tie with a goal midway through the second period and early in the third Bobby Hull scored his first in nine games and his 29th this season. Goalie Glenn Hall was brilliant in stopping 28 shots for his fourth shutout this season.

Harry Lumley's shutout Sunday in Boston was the 71st the veteran goalie has recorded in an NHL career that began during the Second World War.

The attacking honors belonged to right winger Stasiuk who scored twice, in the first and second periods. Rookie Lorne Davis got the other.

Stasiuk's second goal was also the key factor in Toronto's pair of victories over Detroit.

RUGGIN BOMBARDED

Saturday Johnny Bower held them to one first period win but Wings were outshooting them 11-7 and took them into the second down one. Dean Prentice's factory goal. In the second Bower stopped 12 shots and set the stage for Leafs' seven-goal outburst in the third when they bombarded rookie Ruggin Bonin with 19 shots.

The Toronto scorers in the order they came were Prentice 2:41 and 18:28 were Frank Mahovlich, Ron Stewart, Bob Baun, Gary Aubry, Bobby Pulford, Duff again and Gerry Ehman.

In Detroit Sunday Bower kicked out 30 shots, 13 of them in the last period.

The scoring was handled by Duff, Stewart and Gerry James. Gerry Malnyk scored for the Wings.

Juniors Play Cobourg Rockets Here Tonight

The Cobourg Rockets will hit town tonight at 8.30 to try and stop the red hot Belleville Lambert-Rollins in a regular scheduled OHA Eastern Junior "B" hockey league fixture.

The local crew is riding high in second place at the present time with 20 points gained by virtue of 17 wins and one tie. They have lost seven games but have won their last eight in a row and have scored 71 goals in these eight games. That's nearly an average of nine per game. Needless to say coach "Red" Gravelle and manager Mel Richards are very happy with the local's scoring performances of late.

Gravelle points to his players' fine distribution of goals when speaking of the club's success. There are four lads linking in the scoring department accounting to the present scoring statistics.

Gary Goyer leads the club in goals scored and total points. He has 25 goals and 29 assists for 54 points. Other high-point men include Gary Rowbotham, with 41, Don Forsythe 40, Ralph Plant and Jack Elliott with 33, Bucky Ethier and Ron Hull with 32, Gordie Kerrich with 30 and Moe Hunter with 28. All the above-mentioned have reached double figures in goals.

Rowbotham follows Goyer with 24 goals, Forsythe has 22 and Kerrulik all have 19. Ethier has scored 18, Hunter and Hull 12 each and Elliott 11. Elliott is second in the assist department with 22 while he is followed by Forsythe and Rowbotham with 21 and Hull with 20.

With but five league games remaining in the playoffs the locals will be out to boost their scoring marks as well as hold down their fine defensive backing. Support from eastern fans, both vocal and at the gate, will help greatly. Game at 8.30.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

Minor Hockey

Quinte, Rangers and Barons registered shutout wins at Memorial Arena Saturday morning while Reg Wings and Macs also scored victories as the basement section of the BMHA wound up its regular schedule.

Playoffs will be in full swing this week in all divisions. The squirts continue their series on night, the midgets and juveniles start Wednesday while the pewees and bantams commence next Saturday morning.

Barons squeezed by the Canadiens 2-0 behind the shutout play of David Davidson. Harold Babcock and Bill McCormack looked after the scoring, each with a goal and assist.

Red Wings edged the Black Hawks 4-3 on goals by Jim Mairs, Bob Reddick, Bill Dovey and Francis Rose. Wayne Spinelli and Reddick drew assists. Paul Stinson, Karl Hannah and Roy Marsden rallied for the Hawks, Jim McGuire getting the lone assist.

Macs took a 6-1 decision over the Maple Leafs. Richard Eves sparked the attack with two goals and one assist while Rick Denard had one and one. Dean Williamson, Jim Lawlor and Joe Harvey had the other goals, aided by Al Mott, Bill Bowerman, Dave Anderson and Paul Sharpe. Albert Lentini replied for the Leafs with Bill Angove assisting.

Teeps Wallop Marlies 9-2; Cullen Stars

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ray Cullen, 18-year-old star of St. Catharines TeePees, showed Sunday that he isn't too far away from joining his brothers Brian and Barry in the National Hockey League.

The younger Cullen scored three goals for TeePees in the third period of an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A game at Maple Leaf Gardens as the St. Catharines club walloped the league-leading Toronto Marlboros 9-2.

The quick-scoring feat boosted Cullen's goal total this season to 43, tops in the Junior league and 11 ahead of Brian, who is also a St. Catharines product with a 2-1 win over Barrie Flyers Saturday, put the TeePees, supported by a three-game win streak, into a tie with Toronto St. Michael's Majors.

PEWEES ADVANCE

In other junior action, Peterborough Petes beat last - place Hamilton Tiger Cubs 5-4 Saturday and St. Michael's 8-2 Sunday. The victories put the Petes into fifth place.

Cullen's three-goal effort came before a crowd of more than 7,000 at the Gardens—largest for any junior action this season.

NHL scouts have already tipped that Cullen will turn professional before his junior eligibility is up. Chief scout Bob Wilson of Chicago Black Hawks has said that he is better than his brothers were at the same age and a better pro prospect.

Brothers Brian and Barry both broke into pro ranks with Toronto Maple Leafs. Now Brian plays with New York Rangers and Barry with Detroit Red Wings.

St. Catharines is a Chicago farm club, so Ray would most likely play with the Hawks if hoisted into the NHL. Some observers say he could make it within three years.

POST CARD

Dear Son,
Having a grand time, from here we're leaving to the coast. Will wait to see if Leafs win tonight, otherwise next month. Mother sends her love. Dad

Time to go away—and stay away for as long as we feel like it. That's what retirement holds out for most of us.

The big question, of course, is—
Will you have the means? In other words, if you keep up your present rate of saving, will you have financial independence on retirement?

If the answer is "no", you might look into the excellent Retirement Savings Plans provided by Canadian Government Annuities.

For example:

Supposing you are a man of 28 and wish to secure an Annuity of $100 per month, commencing at 65 and continuing as long as you live. Your monthly premium would be only $14.50.

And your premiums are deductible for income tax purposes within certain limits.

This is only one example of a government annuity. You can purchase plans that start at 50, 60 and 65. What's more there is no medical examination . . . and the annuity can't lapse . . .

Out of Square Valley

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—International ski racers cut loose at high speeds today, testing their skills against perilous downhill courses where Olympic championships will be decided this week.

After two days of testing the men's and women's courses at lower speeds, this was the day to go all out.

Olympics open Thursday with the men's downhill slated for Friday and the women's Saturday.

Two top European skiers were on the injury list—Erika Netzer, 22, of Austria and Therese Leitner, 25, of France. Both will be out of action for at least three days after falls.

JUMPER IMPRESSES

Helmut Recknagel, 22-year-old machinist from East Germany, continued his amazing jumping feats as he soared 286.52 feet off the Olympic jumping hill. Torjorn Yggerich of Norway passed the 250-foot mark several times.

Cross-country skiers continued their grueling work with many still not accustomed to the 8,200 foot altitude here. The weather was sunny and warm.

Speed skaters worked on the 400-metre practice oval and figure skaters in their outdoor rink. Lisk. 4 Hughes, British flitter put the main arena rink out of competition for a while.

The practice hockey game between United States and Japan went to the U.S. in a battle marred by penalties and near-fights.

Team captain Yoshihiro Miyazaka of Japan hit the ice during a scuffle with Dick Meredith of Minneapolis. The Japanese skater jumped up and swung his stick at Meredith, who was skating away. Both were sent to the penalty box.

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (CP) —Five years ago cows grazed contentedly during the summer in this high Sierra valley.

Then the transformation started. Men came with crews of about $20,000,000 in fact—and began painting lanes, cutting which was to be the scene of the 1960 Winter Olympics.

As the Squaw Valley tableau took shape, a $2,500,000 ice arena became its focal point. The arena is at the centre of Canada's hopes for gold medals.

It is there that a pair of teams that are Canada's best Olympic prospects will do or die. They are the Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen hockey team and the pairs figure-skating team of Barbara Wagner and Robert Paul.

The Olympic predictions of The Associated Press list both as winners.

TWO WINS SEEN LIMIT

Canada is given little chance of picking up any more than these two gold medals. Russia is favored to win most of the 27 championships and the United States four.

The eight others are divided in the following manner: Sweden, Austria and Switzerland, two each, and Finland and Norway one each.

—Russia's Olympic team is talent-rich in speed skating and in the Nordic skiing events. The hopes of the U.S. rest with girls —and world figure-skating champion David Jenkins.

Carol Heiss, three-time world figure skating queen, and Penny Pitou and Betsy Snite, alpine skiers from New England, are all figured to win gold medals, with Ann Heggtveit of Ottawa carrying the Canadian medal hopes in the skiing.

'Dutch' Canning Wins Again In Toronto

"Dutch" Canning, one of the city's topflight keglers, chalked up his second straight win in the current O'Connor Bowls tournament in Toronto over the weekend.

Canning defeated another local bowler, Reno Seyler, by a five-game score of 1361 as against Seyler's 1174.

Game scores by Canning—213, 259, 275, 273 and 259; Seyler—191, 225, 246, 267 and 275.

Canning enters the third round of the tourney two weeks from Saturday.

The Canning-Seyler game was among those seen on television, aired locally by CLTV over Channel Six.

Wild Brawl Marks College Cage Caper

The Hoyas broke out with 35 seconds to play and Georgetown leading 69-60. After the fighting, officials started a pushing contest between Georgetown's Buddy Sheehan and Lafayette's Pete Pavia, Lafayette coach Dolph Grundman refused to allow his team to continue.

Referee Curly White awarded the victory to Georgetown after waiting five minutes for the Lafayette club to return to the floor.

Sheehan and Pavia began swinging at each other about 10 feet in front of the bench. In a few seconds a half-dozen players from both sides were fighting.

The officials appeared to have succeeded in stopping the fighting when a group of larger Lafayette players took a swing at Sheehan, who had moved off to the side. When this happened, about 300 spectators, mainly Georgetown students, poured off the stands and began swinging at angry Lafayette players. Half of the spectators seemed to be trying to stop the fighting.

None of the Georgetown team took part in the final melee. Coach Tom Nolan hustled his players to the locker room and raced out with school officials to help stop the fight.

Dunnies Shade Bulldogs 3-2, Get Clobbered 10-2 Sunday

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Windsor Bulldogs came back strongly Sunday to gain a split in two weekend games with league-leading Whitby Dunlops of the Ontario Hockey Association senior A circuit.

Whitby won Saturday's first game 3-2 but the Bulldogs evened the tables the following day with a 10-2 victory before an enthusiastic home crowd of nearly 2,400 at Windsor.

The time-about boosted Windsor into a second-place tie with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, now at Squaw Valley, Calif., lining up for the Winter Olympics. The two clubs are three points ahead of Chatham Maroons. Belleville McFarlands are in last place.

OTHER GAMES IDLE

Only Windsor and Whitby saw action during the weekend. The other three-game round opened Tuesday when Chatham meets Windsor and Belleville takes on Hamilton.

Pete Babando paced the Whitby attack Saturday with two goals and Sandy Air got the other. Windsor's score came from Leo Lando and Len Speck.

Bando also got a goal on Sunday, but the big Bulldog in that game was Bob Brown, who scored three goals and picked up two assists. Tom Walker scored two goals for the Windsor victory and singles were added by Jean Paul Lamirande and Joe Zorica.

The Whitby goal scorers were by Jack Kane and Babando.

DON HEAD DEPARTS

After the game, Windsor goalie Don Head left for his Kitchener-Waterloo at the Olympics site in Squaw Valley. He was given a travelling bag by his teammates in a mid-ice presentation. His replacement: Cesare Maniago, played the final period and drew an assist on the Bulldogs' last goal.

In Northern Ontario Senior A action, Kapuskasing Huskies defeated Sudbury Salmon 6-5 and Timmins — Schumacher Flyre beat Hough - Norands Alouettes 7-3. The Alouettes lead the league and Timmins is second by two points. Kapuskasing and Ahlstrom are tied for last.

McNeil Will Try Face Mask

MONTREAL (CP)—Gerry McNeil, veteran netminder for Montreal Royals, is a prospective member of the growing fraternity of masked goaltenders.

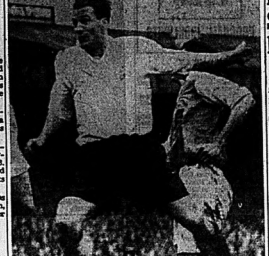
"I think I would like to try the same type of mask used by Jacques Plante of Canadiens," said McNeil in Montreal in heralding what he is recuperating from a face injury suffered Tuesday night in practice before an Eastern Professional Hockey League game in Cornwall, Ont.

"I think I've had my share of these injuries," said McNeil, "and I'd like to see how the new mask works.

In any event, McNeil said, he hopes to be back in the net by next weekend, mask or no mask.

WONDER HORSE WINS

PARIS (AP)—Jamin, France's wonder horse, defeated seven rivals despite a 30-metre (54½-yard) handicap Sunday in the Prix de Paris Trot at the Vincennes course. Jariolah was second and Kaid D'Ihrit.



"LION" OF BRITISH SOCCER — Nat Lofthouse, one of England's best in international soccer competition and a hard centre-forward for Bolton Wanderers, has retired from first-class play because of an ankle injury. Lofthouse, shown here in one of his 446 games with Bolton, earned the nickname "Lion of Vienna" in 1951 when he scored the winning goal for England in Austria. In his 13 brilliant seasons of soccer he scored more than 300 goals for Wanderers and a record 29 for England, which brought about his retirement. He was injured in pre-season training last year. When he attempted a comeback after Christmas doctors advised him to retire. (CP Photo).

Over 'Ome Soccer's 'Lion of Vienna' Has Roared for Last Time

BY PAUL WESTBROOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — The "Lion of Vienna" has roared for the last time. After 13 brilliant seasons in the centre forward's job, Nat Lofthouse out of first-class soccer.

The injury, suffered in pre-season training, kept him out of Bolton Wanderers' lineup until Christmas. When the ankle collapsed again as he was attempting a comeback with Bolton's third-string eleven, doctors advised him to retire.

Their advice ended a career of 446 First Division games for Bolton and 33 appearances for England, during which Lofthouse scored more than 300 goals for his club and a record 29 for his country.

He earned the "Lion of Vienna" ting for his charge to score the winning goal against Austria in 1951.

BRILLIANT YOUNGSTER

A hometown boy who had joined the Bolton ground staff during the second World War, Lofthouse found himself promoted to the first team at 18 years of age as the soccer resumed in 1946 and the Wanderers, hard hit by wartime losses, found themselves without a centre forward. He quickly established himself as one of the best in the country.

Picked for England in 1950, he celebrated his international debut by scoring twice against Yugoslavia. But his most memorable afternoon came in Austria the following year.

Undertoings against the highly-rated Austrians, the visitors had twice taken the lead and led 3-2 when seven minutes left, Lofthouse bulled his way upfield, shaking off several jarring tackles, and was brought down by a bone-shaking charge from the Austrian goalkeeper.

He picked himself up long enough to drive in the winning goal, then collapsed and was carried off on a stretcher.

FILLED GAP

After six years as England's centre forward, Lofthouse was dropped in favor of the younger Tommy Taylor and his international career seemed to be over. But Taylor died with Manchester United teammates in the Munich air disaster of 1958. After trying to fill the vacancy with less experienced players, England recalled Lofthouse.

He returned to face Russia at Wembley Stadium. In the dying moments, he capped an impressive 5-0 victory by scoring his record breaking 30th international goal. After the match Lev Yashin, the great Russian goalkeeper, called Lofthouse the most dangerous forward he had ever played against.

Lofthouse achieved another milestone in 1958 when he finished top scorer in the First Division with the Football Association Cup, scoring both goals as Bolton defeated Manchester United. It was the club's first Cup victory in 40 years.

Pokes Girl Fan, Player Charged With Assault

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Kent Douglas, 24, of Springfield Indians, Sunday night was charged with assaulting a fan during an American Hockey League game against Providence Reds.

The gentleman was taken to the police station by Springfield manager Pat Egan immediately after the game and charged with assault. He was ordered to appear in court Thursday.

Douglas was said to the penalty box in the first period and, police said, was swearing so loudly that many fans could hear him. An 18-year-old girl, Caryl La Fontaine of North Providence, asked him to stop. Douglas then directed his abuse at the girl, police said. The girl's fiancee, Robert H. Moran, 26, then asked Douglas to stop.

Police said Douglas then took off his glove, threw a punch at Moran and missed. Douglas clipped the girl on the jaw. The two men grappled and fell to the floor before being separated by police and spectators.

CHICAGO (AP) — Hyo, N.Y., was selected Sunday as the site of the 1961 world championship meet of the snipe class international Racing Association. The directors announced that the races will be held in September at the American Yacht Club.

Irate Pollock Stages Act In Soo Tie

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two games in the Eastern Professional Hockey League Sunday provided a study in penalties.

An exhibition game at Providence between Lions and Montreal Royals saw 20 penalties distributed as Lions won 5-1. The game was relatively orderly.

Only five penalties were called during a Null game between Hull-Ottawa Canadiens and Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds, which ended in a 2-2 tie. Disturbances verged on free-for-all proportions.

Sam Pollock, Hull - Ottawa coach, threw hockey sticks on the ice at one point in the third period and at the end of the game, with pugilistic gestures, said he was ready, to take on all comers.

There were 13 minutes of penalties in all in the Trois-Rivieres game. Sniper Burchell of Montreal getting a 10-minute misconduct for foul language. IOC gave Burchell and Royals eight.

FIASCO STARTS

In the third period at Hull, Ottawa Defenceman Gerry Goyer Bob Annable to the ice by means of a stick hooked around the victim's neck. Annable was alone on a breakaway at the time, with a chance to score. He didn't.

The incident, on which no penalty was called, brought a shower of debris to the ice from the fans. That's when Pollock let fly his stick, then his gloves and his hooking, and he banged on the boards, drawing a penalty.

The game was interrupted 10 minutes while the ice was cleared, and other delays kept the game.

After the game ended, a group of Soo fans seated behind the Canadiens bench jeered Pollock. The coach shook his fist at them and challenged any of them but received no offers.

College Cagers

MONTREAL (CP) — Queen's Golden Gaels and McGill Redmen play a home-and-home two-game series Saturday night in a closely matched Intercollegiate basketball package.

Top scorers for Queen's were Denny Boric and Mac Fawcett with 14 and 13 points respectively. The top McGill scorer was Howard John Moore with 12 points.

WINDSOR (CP) — Assumption University Lancers of Windsor have withdrawn from Intercollegiate Basketball League race Saturday night by forfeiting a scheduled game to undefeated University of Western Ontario Mustangs 65-0.

The two teams now have won five games and lost one with two remaining.

The Western quintet had won its first five starts by substantial margins.

Assumption captain Gene Reynolds said season's league individual scoring champion, expected to be Bill Lawson was the top point-getter with 30 points.

TORONTO (CP) — University of Toronto Blues edged McMaster Marauders of Hamilton 70-68 Saturday night in an Ontario intercollegiate basketball game.

Marauder Bill Ross, at the end of the first half but the Blues pressed early in the second half and tied the score with 20 seconds left.

Mike Muir was Toronto's high man with 16 points and Doug Marshall led the Marauders with 22.

MONTREAL (CP)—Sir George Williams University downed Loyola Wednesday night 64-47.

Gustavo Arellano of Sir George Williams University of Ottawa 63-47 Saturday in an Ottawa-St. Lawrence Conference basketball game.

Willie Epstein and Rickie Freeman were top points with 20 and 15 respectively for the Georgians. The two are to be Canada's representatives in tryouts for the Canadian Olympic basketball team.

The Olympics
Brundage Drops Hot Potato, Wants Flags, Hymns Deleted

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The International Olympic Committee gets down to serious business today to deal with cases involving the forthcoming Winter Games at Squaw Valley and the Games at Rome this summer.

But for immediate debate, and probably future action, was the latest international hot potato, dropped into the IOC lap by committee president Avery Brundage of Chicago. He proposes that national flags and hymns be eliminated from future Olympic ceremonies.

Varied and vociferous was the reaction here and at Squaw Valley, where the Winter Games start Thursday.

"A certain degree of nationalistic pride in sports accomplishments is no doubt legitimate," Brundage said at opening IOC ceremonies. "But there has been so much trouble recently because of political infringements that I propose to ask the International Olympic Committee to reconsider the desirability of eliminating the use of national flags and hymns."

SUMMER SPORTSMEN

He said contestants "should come simply as sportsmen and not as representatives of any country."

IOC chancellor Otto Mayer of Switzerland said that with some variation he agreed with Brundage.

John J. Garland, a United States member from Los Angeles, said: "I'd rather think this suggestion over. But I do hope that every athlete gets a thrill when he steps on the victory stand for his medal and the flag of his national anthem played."

Douglas F. Roby, U.S. member from Detroit, said:

"If we start in this direction, the end might be that athletes compete in disguise."

AUSTRIAN VIEW

Otto Lorenz, president of the Austrian Olympic Association, said: "I am against it. Raising of flags and playing of national anthems has become a tradition of Olympic Games and one should not discard traditions without good cause."

Konstantin Schekderup, Norwegian ski jumping coach, differed.

"The Olympic rules state that the competition is between individuals and not between nations."

Peter Orlov, Russian figure-skating coach-trainer, said: "The idea of Brundage is very interesting but in order to show that all nations are working together for friendship, the national flags should be there, too."

Brawls Bring 412 Minutes In Penalties

WINNIPEG (CP)—Players and fans poured on to the ice in a 10 - minute donnybrook Sunday during the overtime period of a Manitoba Junior Hockey League game.

Before order was restored, extra police were called to the Winnipeg Forum Arena and the total penalties had been called.

The game involved Brandon and Winnipeg front-runners in the MJHL, and the fourth-place Winnipeg Rangers.

Rangers broke a 4-4 tie early in the 10-minute overtime period with a pair of first-swinging and wrestling occurred. Every player was on the ice except goalies.

With about one minute remaining, Brandon goalie Don Holmes was replaced by forward Bryan Hextall. Just as he stepped on the ice Hextall started a loose puck and drove it through a maze of players to score.

At the faceoff following the goal two players began trading punches and the brawl was on. When players poured from the benches referee Percy Meyers signalled that the game was finished. At least one fan joined the battle.

Police were called and order was restored after the rink was strewn with bottles, equipment and torn jerseys.

The Other Day

Ken Finder

A friend was talking about how often great inventions & advances stem from a desire to serve or help others in distress. In the beginning of the idea there was no obvious relationship to

As an example, he cited that Alexander Graham Bell was on the path to his invention of the telephone by his desire to help deaf students to talk. He was not an engineer, as one might suppose, but began his career as an instructor in speech and hearing.

In his desire to teach deaf children to talk he hit on the thought that he could devise a way for them to see sound they could not hear. He began by attention. So he devised a machine to make visible their own speech vibrations. This he did by attaching a membrane to which would visibly vibrate from speech sounds, and by the same time with electrical transmission of Morse Code was already in use. They were the seed of the idea that he was later to develop into the telephone.

The next step was causing the vibrations to be transmitted electrically through the vibrations causing variations of intensity of current.

In March of 1876 he obtained his patent on the telephone and delivered the first spoken sentence over the instrument electrically over wires to prove that it worked. We don't expect to come up with any great inventions, but we certainly have a first desire to be of service and giving you to your very best advantage.

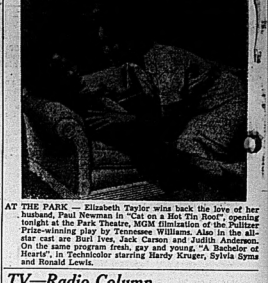
NORWAY'S ELIZA

With Mona Hofland as Eliza Doolittle, My Fair Lady has been cast since it opened on Oslo's 1,200-seat Folk Theatre in January, 1960.

AT THE BELLE — Dorothy McGuire and Richard Egan are romantic team in "A Summer Place", Warner Bros. Technicolor version of Sloan Wilson's novel. Sandra Dee, Arthur Kennedy and Troy Donahue also star in the production, which is on view at the Belle Theatre today, for an extended engagement.



AT THE PARK — Elizabeth Taylor wins back the love of her husband, Paul Newman in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof", opening tonight at the Park Theatre, MGM filmization of the Pulitzer Prize-winning play by Tennessee Williams. Also in the all-star cast are Burl Ives, Jack Carson and Judith Anderson. On the same program: fresh, gay and young, "A Bachelor of Hearts", in Technicolor starring Hardy Kruger, Sylvia Syms and Ronald Lewis.

ARRANGE RADIO SHOW — Bob Barringer, 15-year-old veteran of more than 90 radio shows and many television commercials and productions, runs a tape recorder as his brother Jim, 14, prepares to read his part in a CBC radio show. The two, with four other brothers and their father, have taken part in various radio, television and stage productions. The Barringers have nine children. Ages of those who have had acting roles range from seven to 18. (CP Photo).

Five of Nine Barringer Children Active in Radio, TV and Legitimate Theatre

TORONTO (CP) — The Barringers—like the Barrymores—are a theatrical family.

Five of the nine children of Bill and Joyce Barringer of suburban Willowdale are active in radio, television and the legitimate theatre. The father is also an actor and two others of the children have been on stage.

Here is the current lineup on the Barringer call board:

Alec, 9, and Stephen, 11, have completed work in a filmed CBC TV production, The Remarkable Incident at Carson's Corners.

Leslie, 7, is appearing in a theatre play, Sun in My Eyes. Jimmy, 14, is auditioning for a new CBC radio show for teen-agers, and Mr. Barringer is reading for a part in Toronto's Crest Theatre production of Three Men on a Horse, to be cast in March.

Stephen is also preparing for All Summer Long, a local entry in the Dominion Drama Festival. Bob, 15, is the most experienced of the family, having appeared on more than 90 radio shows, including Aunt Lucy, ruth TV productions as The Last of the Mohicans, Tugboat Annie, The Wayne and Shuster show, Hit Parade and dozens of commercials. He gets an acting job on an average of about once a month.

The only daughter, Joyce 6, has acted but, says her mother, "she didn't care for it and we let it go."

Bill Jr., oldest of the children at 19, has acted in the past. David, 18, and Michael, 10 months, have not taken up the theatre, as for their mother, she says "I'm the audience."

The theatrical exploits of the Barringers began a number of years ago when the father, Bill Sr., was a child actor on a local radio program. He outgrew the part but when he heard of a shortage of boy actors he promptly brought Bobby in to fill the gap.

FAMILY CASTING

As the children grow older there is always another Barringer waiting in the wings to pick up the lines.

"When a producer or agent would call asking for eight-year-old Bobby," says Mrs. Barringer, "I would have to say he was 10 now, but I had an eight-year-old. That's how the children keep going into the business."

The children were so successful they got their father back into show business. He started to do the odd commercial a few years ago and branched out into roles in the York Little Theatre productions. He now is finding regular work in theatre and TV in Canada.

Bill advises hopeful parents to send their children to acting school to learn the ropes before attempting to break into radio or TV. "Don't force them if they don't want to do it, and above all they should have a good scholastic record."

Bill Jr., Dave, Bob and Jim have won scholarships to St. Michael's College school while Stephen, a featured performer in last year's Cannonball series on CBC stands third in his Grade 7 class.

Jayne Mansfield's House Makes Liberace's Mansion Look Like Small Nissen Hut

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jayne Mansfield, in town briefly between European picture jobs, spent the time showing newspaper men through her Hollywood mansion.

I was luckier than most. Jayne and I got locked accidentally in a closet with the lights out. It was crowded in there.

"What'll we do?" asked Jayne.

"That all depends on how jealous Mickey Hargitay is," I answered. Jayne's muscle-man husband was two or three acres away at the time, building a stone bridge over a man - made mountain gorge.

I had noticed that he carried two boulders at a time while the other workmen needed help to carry one. Such recollections make for clear heads in emergencies.

I quickly got the door open and went on with the tour.

SHOCKING DECOR

Jayne's house, inside and out, mostly is done in shocking pink. In the mammoth living room is a huge sofa and chair in purple.

Decor could best be described as "early Mae Murray." It has to be seen to be believed.

"I think if you're going to be a movie star," explains Jayne, "you should live like one."

The house is unfinished but already makes Liberace's piano-shaped mansion look like nissen hut.

For instance, the living room has a fountain. It shoots water now, but plans call for it to spurt champagne.

The grounds feature three small ponds with tropical foliage. Waterfalls drip between them, reminiscent of a Dorothy Lamour movie set.

The jungle-like retreat is separated from the swimming pool by a Hargitay-made mountain.

"Instead of hauling away the dirt from the pool excavation," says Jayne, "Mickey just let it fly. Wasn't that clever?"

OLYMPIC POOL

The pool? It's Olympic size but heart-shaped—with a cupid's arrow going through it. A 40 - ton pile of sand is beached along the side. In two-foot letters on the bottom is a mosaic love letter from her handy husband. It reads: "I love you, Jayne."

Hargitay, a one - time contractor, is building a waterfall to drop over his man - made mountain to the pool.

"Mickey said he would build Niagara Falls if I wanted it," said Jayne, beaming.

The heart-shaped motif is carried throughout much of the house. Jayne has a heart-shaped bathtub with a pure-gold-leaf bottom. There's a heart-shaped fireplace and the couple's Texas-size bed eventually will have a heart-shaped canopy over it.

A downstairs room is reached through a stairway and hallway plastered with hundreds of magazine covers of Jayne. They come from all over the world.

Jayne says she doesn't know how many rooms the mansion has.

"Fifty or 60, I guess," she says. It once belonged to Rudy Vallee.

Steve Allen Speaks Mind About Own Television Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—It takes a heap of plane tickets to move a television show around.

When Steve Allen flew to New York from Hollywood last week for two shows he was accompanied by 35 people—writers, producers, cast members and others.

Once here they all jammed into crowded rehearsal quarters where, in a welter of confusion, tonight's show was born.

Confusion and noise roll off the plaid shoulders of Allen's sports jacket. What gets under his skin are such larger concerns as continued testing of nuclear weapons, lack of interest in good literature and his network's recent refusal to let him insert a serious philosophical essay or reading in the middle of his weekly musical variety show.

Allen insists that he isn't worried about his show's ratings or what will happen to it next year.

WATS' MORE REST

"I've already told the network that I will not be available for a weekly show next season," he says. "I'll do two out of three or three out of four, but not every week."

Although NBC vetoed Allen's plan for a serious segment in his light-hearted show, he's determined to do something with it elsewhere.

Allen says that one reason he feels so free to speak his mind and play around with his ideas is that he has achieved financial security.

"That's it,"he adds. "Financial security, and the Achilles heel of television is its pocketbook. Television doesn't want to offend anybody, and it is very difficult to say something worth while without offending somebody. Let's face it: Television is chiefly an advertising medium. It is an entertainment medium only secondarily — and other things after that."

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Tuesday, February 16

General tendencies: The daytime finds all sorts of unexpected benefits occurring to give you the chance to forge ahead in the directions that are important to your own special type of growth and development. Let conditions unfold for you. Then tonight avoid all sorts of accidents and arguments. Keep cool, calm, protected.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — There is a good opportunity now to go to some ideal place with a dynamic associate where you can discuss your future plans with facility and without interruption. P. M. be poised, act circumspectly so that you do not lose prestige.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Listen to the good advice of a family tie in doing your work today, for it will bring fine results. P. M. follow that hunch that will take you to new outlets and pleasures that are worthwhile. Be dynamic and have a good time.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — The right day to take treatments to put yourself in the hands of experts so that your appearance is at its best. You can then go about socially and make greater strides toward success. P. M. do not be jealous of loved one.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 23) — Domestic matters can best be handled today by considering them on a large scale so that the benefits will be proportionate. Gain greater security through the very novel, too, P.M. avoid taking part in altercation between associate and family tie.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — A. M. is ideal time to put your ideas across with the right people. Then take care of important correspondence. P. M. take it rather easy or you will get overtired, irritable. Listen to radio or television, or read quietly.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — By using more practical methods in A. M., your goals can be much more easily reached. And by keeping busy, you can P.M. adopt a cheerful mien if you want to disarm that too serious advisor.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — You should spend this day with close comrades who like to do the same things you do. Have a happy and soul-satisfying time. P. M. be kind and gentle at home and do not provoke arguments.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — A fine opportunity is yours now to look into methods for greater expansion and growth in business or career. Get into the thick of things — visit the most successful in your field. P. M. drive carefully. Choose words wisely.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Be out with a close pal to some interesting new place today where you can learn much that will be helpful to you in the future. P. M. be careful you do not get caught in some unnecessary extravagance. Be economical.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Every chance is yours during A. M. to garner the data that you requires in some emotional or business matter. P. M. take care you do or say nothing that would take away from the prestige you now enjoy. Use diplomacy.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — If you go off with a dynamic associate today, you will learn much that will be valuable to you in the future, and you can advance much more quickly. P. M. go out socially, but take care you do not act narrow-minded-ly.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Be certain to follow your intuition today as well as the good ideas given you by a fine adviser. You will become far more efficient. P. M. don't let the rather sarcastic remarks of a friend disturb you. He, or she, is upset.

If your child is born today — The young child born today will be highly talented and possess so much charm that others will do pretty much what he, or she, wants them to do. However, the tongue is apt to be a little too sharp and it is your duty to early teach the diplomatic way to get along with people, and that courtesy is the key that opens the door to success. There is a quasi-genius here — handle carefully.

CHARGE DR. PHILLIPS

TORONTO (CP) — Provincial Secretary Phillips has been charged with failing to remain at the scene of an accident in connection with a Jan. 26 collision on North Yonge Street, police said Friday. Dr. Phillips will appear in court following the current session of the legislature, Deputy Chief Robert Kerr said a car was struck from behind, causing damage estimated at between $200 and $500.

Use This Home Recipe Plan to Lose Ugly Fat

It's simply how quickly you may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Use this recipe plan yourself. It's easy — no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Barcene Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full twice a day and follow the Barcene plan.

If your first purchase does not show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if enticing pounds and inches of excess fat don't seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly blues disappear — how much better you feel. More active, youthful appearing and active.

GOSH — IT WILL BE SPRING

ONE OF THESE DAYS. And if you go over the Bay just about 3 minutes drive from Belleville and in the Spring you see this lovely two-bedroom home that is modern and set-up cozy looking and then to the Spring you see the price tag of only $11,900. Say, if you're someone will do that, don't blame us that you cannot buy it then. Be it now — you will buy it now. Oh, wouldn't it be nice to be rich and just roam around this big property — enjoy the 80 feet of Bay frontage, the trees, the shade, the fish just over there and say WHALEN — you can have this for perhaps less than $100 per month. Gee, I'm real tired we will go and pick you up.

ASK CHESSMAN'S RELEASE

OSLO (AP)—More than 50,000 persons have signed a petition sent to President Eisenhower and Governor Edmund Brown of California asking that the life of convicted-author Caryl Chessman be spared, Norway's largest afternoon newspaper, Dagbladet announced today. A similar petition has been sent by 8,000 Swiss signatories. Chessman, convicted 11 times on charges of sex-related assaults, is due to die Friday.

BAN U.S. MAGAZINES

BAGHDAD, Iraq (Reuters)—The Iraqi ministry of national guidance has banned eight American magazines said to be "indecent and damaging." The ministry threatened severe legal action against the importers of Uncensored, Jest, Comedy, Wartory, Gala, Scene for Men, Exciting Romances and The Best of Brigitte Bardot.

ENGINEER KILLED

three-year-old daughter Marian to visit relatives in Winnipeg, said she was thrown across the cab and hit my leg. My daughter flew across the car and landed in a soldier's lap."

Cpl. W.A. Dart of the 3rd Field Squadron, Royal Canadian Engineers, stationed at Chilliwack, B.C., said the engineer was in the cab of a dump truck when his unserved V with steam hissing and fire shooting from them.

Sgt. James Irvine, 31, with the Royal Canadian Artillery gunnery section, said no one showed signs of panic. He was sitting in a command post when the crash came.

He said he rushed to the engines and found several others there trying to help brakeman Ken Stilson from the cab of the freight train. The brakeman's head was in a pool of diesel fuel and his skin and clothing were scorched.

LIST WRECKAGE

Sgt. Irvine said while some held the brakeman's head above the pool of oil, others lifted the wreckage that pinned him and caused a broken back.

Injuries suffered were firemen Frank Wallon, 38, of the passenger train, and Cpl. Dart and Jack Keeler, about 40, a broken leg and shock, and fireman Ken Mackay, a broken arm and head injuries.

An inquest is to be held at Geraldton.

LITTLE CHANCE

that public ownership is the answer to all economic problems. This was now regarded as a fallacy, rather like an end in itself, and the degree of public ownership would depend on circumstances.

A panel of labor union economists in Britain said that automation are boosting prices regardless of labor costs or market influences.

Professor Ragnar Frisch, of the International Union of United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Implement Workers of America (UAW), said the system of administered prices for the failure of many industries to lower prices, even though costs fell. Mr. Cohen charged that in a fully automated industry, such as the automotive industry, the price policy of the UAW might have to be competition in terms of the most inefficient enterprises, he said.

Woodrow Ginsberg, research director of the Canadian Automobile Workers' Union, charged that large companies have a form of stranglehold on the market, pushing prices to the so-called free play of economic forces.

A charge that steel prices in Canada have risen despite lower wage unit costs and lower prices of raw materials was denied by Harry Waizglass, economist for the United Steelworkers of America (CLC).

EDUCATION LAGGING

An educational seminar was held Saturday by Dr. Murray G. Ross, president of the newly-formed York University. Dr. Ross said America is being so rapidly outstripped by Russia in the field of education that communism may become the dominant world power by the end of the century.

Canada would have to triple its expenditure on education to equal the Russian effort, Dr. Ross said.

Murray Costello, public relations director of the United Steelworkers, urged that labor and unions in communicating with members. He said that labor unions are as remote from their members half of them do not know to which union they belong.

RESEARCHERS

Believed to this theory, as the number of guests increases to a certain level, talkers holding the stage in cocktail parties will have their voices—perhaps by as much as 15 decibels—raised. This would correspond to the difference between conversational and declamatory speech.

TERM DEFINED

"Declamatory" speech is just a polite way of describing a bigmouthed bawling or bombastic outburst.

However, the researchers found little or no evidence that such an abrupt change. All their findings point to conditions being fairly noisy right from the start, with rapid rises in the decibel levels, and "only a confidence of a 'quiet' plateau."

They conclude: "Just who can blame them?—that further research at more parties is needed.

Safari for Souls

With Billy Graham in Africa

By TOM McMAHAN
Religion Editor, The State, Columbia, S.C.

IBADAN, Nigeria — The ring of the talking drums stood in the midst of the mud cones where Yale alumni's ancestors have ruled for a century and a half. Around the fire the Yale and Jesus Christ found me fifty-one years ago.

The drums, which talk as clearly as Morse Code key, had announced the presence of visitors; among them a camera crew filming pictures of the Time-Life film documentary movie on Billy Graham's African tour.

The TIME crew gathered in gracious during the hour-long filming, allowing photographers to direct his sitting, walking and standing up. His umbrella holder followed him about.

"Some day I hope to lay my crown at Jesus' feet," said the TIME man received his first education from Anglicans and is now a staunch Baptist, deacon and head of the Shango Religion, with its worship of Hero, God of Thunder, the ITMI man refuses to take part in the pagan rites but appoints an understudy to conduct them.

Sixty miles from Ede, in this sprawling capital city of Nigeria's western region, Billy Graham addressed great throngs which reminded one of the crowd his Master fed with a few small loaves and fishes.

LIKE A CARNIVAL

Behind the Ibadan throngs were enough food vendors to feed a great part of the multitude. On their head-loads they were bread, smoked meats, sweets and tobacco. Across the way at the horse stall of the huge race course a gambling den was in full swing. The men's voices were being raised in a shout even as hundreds carried Graham's words concerning a green hill far away where men once cast lots over the seamless robe while others watched the One who "Made Him Who be Christ come down from the cross."

A Moslem youth who had never heard that Christ died for his sins was among the hundred red who stayed behind after 19,000 others left at the close course. There he registered his decision to receive Christ as his Lord and Saviour and said that he was planning to join the Christian church.

The next day as Graham prepared to board the plane at the airport official remarked, "You changed my life." This man explained how he had found forgiveness and peace as a result of Graham's preaching.

The big meetings had their lighter moments. A Negro Bishop unconsciously hummed into the mike as Cliff Barrows was directing an all-

HOCKEY SERIES

Another hockey match will be held between the Sea Cadets from the "Quinte" Branch and the RCSCC "Trent" (Trenton) tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. in the regular parade at the Armouries will be compulsory. All boys are expected to show up in uniform and with their hockey equipment. Transportation will be available for both the players and those cadets who will be there to watch the game. This is the second match of a four-game series with the Trenton boys. The Sea Cadets from Picton will be the first to play in the series.

DIVISIONAL SYSTEM

The divisional system was introduced last Thursday night and will remain in effect with the Corps' strength split into two divisions — Nelson and Beatty. A flag will be awarded monthly to the successful division on the basis of points earned for attendance, dress, drill, boatwork and uniform of 20 points may be earned by a division on each parade night. Points can also be lost by a division for absenteeism and defaulting.

Last Tuesday night at the Armouries the training consisted of rifle practice, drill and boatwork. The Corps' own 30-piece band practice. Thursday's parade for the Sea Cadet Corps was devoted to training under arms with instruction given by Chief P.O. Bunnett. A hockey match was scheduled for last Thursday evening but this had to be cancelled due to lack of ice.

NEW BOYS WELCOMED

Any boys wishing to join the corps are encouraged to do so now as the time for enrolling of new entries before the summer period and the annual inspection is drawing near. Any boy between the ages of 14 and 18 inclusive is eligible for entry to the Corps. INDUSTRIAL DIVERSITY — Australia enters the 1960s with a spirit of confidence. Prosperity is forecast with a move toward industrial development and away from a one-crop economy based largely on wool and sheep. This is an aerial view of one of Australia's most powerful industrial concerns. Broken Hill Proprietary Limited at Newcastle in New South Wales. ...sh Commonwealth Will Mark on New Decade With Problems in Many Lands

COMMONWEALTH 1960
By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A spirit of restless longing is abroad in the lands of the British Commonwealth of Nations as they embark on a new decade.

As the 1960s begin to unfold, each area reacts differently to the spirit.

Much of Africa surges with nationalistic feelings. Through the Western Hemisphere the feeling is one of confidence in continuing prosperity.

In Asian lands there is a tone of despair, and through the West Indies Island jockeys against island for position.

In the United Kingdom, the heartland of the Commonwealth, there is chafing under heavy taxation and other problems which arise in times of plenty.

AUSTRALIA CHANGES

Australia moves into 1960 on the crest of a significant trend, a move away from a one - crop economy. Australians less and less are living by wool, with their livelihood riding the backs of their sheep. Culturally, a revolution had occurred. With the influx of non-British immigrants, Italian coffee is served in a sidewalk cafe where once stood an English tearoom.

New Zealand, too, is prosperous. Latest figures list only 941 unemployed in a population of 2,290,424. In the scramble for manpower, the janitor finds himself commanding nearly as high a wage as the university lecturer.

India moves into the 1960s through a year of border strife with China. She faces a build-up to increase economic and military strength but the fights the problem of an exploding population. National income rose by 5.2 per cent in India during the last three years. The population rose by five per cent, sopping up the benefits.

Ceylon is struggling to establish her democratic principles. The last year saw assassination of her prime minister after four years of internal unrest during which there were several experiments with socialism. Ceylon faces elections next month with 23 political parties — few with firm policies or many supporters.

MILITARY RULE

For 15 months, Pakistan has lived under rule by military decree. She looks forward to some semblance of political activity this year. In recent elections, 60 per cent of the electorate turned out to record a triumph in this young Moslem state — several women were elected.

In Ghana, Prime Minister Nkrumah leads his country — ... as an independent ... into the leadership in the ... national identity ... emerging Africa. His ... show a record of hard ... rule as an ex- ...

Labor the federal con- ... will be revolved to de- ... mine whether the country can progress by clear stages to independence within the Commonwealth. With foreign investment coming in, color bars vanishing and a sound economy, few expect the federation to fail the test.

... with the U.S. On the other side of the ledger, industrial stoppages — many of them wildcat — cost Britain 5,000,000 working days up to the end of October, one of the worst years on record.

ISLAND STRUGGLE

The question mark of the Commonwealth is the West Indies federation. The 10 federated islands enter the 1960s with a struggle for position evident among the larger members.

Jamaica, with half the federation's 3,000,000 population, wants to keep full control over growing economic affairs.

Trinidad, 1,000 miles away at the other end of the Caribbean, believes the federal government — at present a loose structure — should be much more closely knit.

Jamaica has said she will leave the federation if she does not get her way. She might even try for full independence.

The problems of the islands — where progress and prosperity contrast with black poverty — come to a head next month in Trinidad at an inter-governmental constitutional conference.

CHURCH TREASURES

DIFFERENT PROBLEMS — Major members of the British Commonwealth (black areas on map) are facing a diversity of political, economic and social problems as they enter the decade of the 1960s. Independent Commonwealth countries now are the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Union of South Africa, India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Ghana and Malaya. The latter two became independent in 1957. Although problems still beset the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland and the West Indies federation, both are wagking toward full independence. HAPPY MALAY — This young aborigine girl is a native of Malaya, 10th and most recent addition to the roll of self-governing British Commonwealth nations.

An Asian peninsula of more than 50,000 square miles, some 80 per cent of Malaya is tropical jungle, mountain or swamp. Besides facing problems of racial strife in the 1960s, multiracial Malaya is attempting to diversify its basically rubber and tin economy to strengthen its early prosperity. (CP from UKIO.)

Burglar Seized Coming From N.Y. Apartment

NEW YORK (AP)—A burglar who commuted by air was seized police said Friday, as he emerged from an east side apartment building with a suitcase full of mink and a pocketful of jewels.

Police said he had stolen at least $500,000 worth of loot in more than 75 robberies since last summer. They said he specialized in penthouses and preferred jewelry and furs.

Investigators identified him as Thomas Pitten, 46, of Cleveland and said he and a friend commuted to New York by air for weekends of penthouse ransacking, returning to Cleveland to dispose of their hauls.

Pitten and his friend, identified only as Iggy, were expensive clothes, police said, and made it a practice between burglaries to frequent expensive Manhattan restaurants and lavish night spots.

"It wasn't extravagance," said detective Sheer Alcala. "It was an investment. They could size up prospective victims, get them identified and sometimes find out something about their hours."

FINE BEACHES

The Prince Edward Island national park area on the north shore includes 25 miles of the finest sandy beaches in Canada.

Doyle Lawyers Seeking Links To Other Cases

MONTREAL (CP) — Lawyers for John C. Doyle, financier accused of misbanding $4,800,000 worth of mining company stocks, tried Friday to establish connections between present and past court actions involving Mr. Doyle.

Lawyer John Ahearn for James S. Benning, who is on the present accusations against Mr. Doyle, if there is a connection between this case and another current court action involving Mr. Doyle and Robert Sherwood of Montreal, Mr. Benning's brother-in-law.

Mr. Benning said there is none.

Mr. Ahearn also asked Mr. Benning about the timing of a request he made May 31, 1958, to the secretary of state at Ottawa asking an investigation into the affairs of Canadian Javelin Limited, of which Mr. Doyle is president. Shortly before that date, Mr. Doyle had sued Mr. Sherwood for recovery of Canadian Javelin shares.

Mr. Benning said there was no connection. He acknowledged that on June 23, 1958, the day Mr. Doyle's suit against Mr. Sherwood was settled out of court, he withdrew his request for the investigation.

NOT ENOUGH EVIDENCE

He said he withdrew it on advice of his lawyers who told him he had not enough evidence to call for an investigation. He denied Mr. Ahearn's suggestions that the request for an Ottawa investigation was made to bring pressure on Mr. Doyle.

Mr. Ahearn suggested also that the present charge came just after Mr. Doyle renewed his suit against Mr. Sherwood last December. Mr. Benning again denied any connection.

He has accused Mr. Doyle of theft, fraud, and conspiracy in connection with the transfer of Canadian Javelin shares to a bank in Switzerland. The case is at the preliminary hearing stage, at which it will be decided whether there is enough evidence to commit Mr. Doyle for trial.

3,000 Uranium Workers Out Of Jobs In 18 Months

Elliot Lake Community Hard Hit by Cutoffs

TORONTO (CP)—Elliot Lake, the community the future might started to fold into Canada's first atomic-age ghost town Monday.

More than 2,000 uranium workers will lose their jobs during the next 18 months as a result of a stretch-out production plan announced Monday night by Robert H. Winters, president of Rio Tinto Mining Company of Canada.

By 1961, only two of the Rio Tinto mines in the Elliot Lake district will be producing uranium. There will be a third and a fourth will switch to copper.

Another mine, Can Met Uranium Mines Limited, with a workforce of 850,000, will close down this summer when it merges with Cassoldated Denison Uranium Mines Limited.

The stretchout of production is a result of a new sales arrangement by the United States Atomic Energy Commission that it will purchase uranium under contracts after 1963.

SEE AMALGAMATION

To stretch out present contracts to 1966, four mines in the Rio Tinto group will be amalgamated into one company with a production capacity of 7,000 tons daily. Limited. The four mines now produce more than 1,000,000 pounds of uranium concentrates yearly. This will be reduced to about 700,000 pounds annually.

Employment at the four mines is expected to drop from about 2,800 at present 4,800 to 1,500 by mid-1961. If there are no new contracts, the work force could drop to 1,000 by mid in 1966.

The "cold and melancholy facts" were outlined at a Toronto press conference Monday night and Mr. Winters broadcast the news to employees from Sudbury.

In his address, Mr. Winters said he hoped the demand for uranium for civilian purposes will have increased by 1966 to keep the two mines in operation and make it possible to open some of the others.

"In the past three months the shadow of uncertainty has been hanging over the uranium to his employees. "Under these circumstances it is sometimes a relief when the decision comes and the course becomes clear."

Mr. Winters continued:

"I conclude by saying how sorry I am that this unhappy decision has come about. I wish you a new and forward-looking community."

Severance pay up to a maximum of $450 will be paid to each employee terminated because of lack of employment, Mr. Winters said. The company would also live up to its commitments to repurchase from employees the homes they might have built on land leased from it.

The federal labor department has been asked to take steps to increase its facilities in Elliot Lake and Sudbury district to provide work elsewhere for those who become unemployed, he said.

Mr. Winters announced production in the Rio Tinto amalgamation are Stanrock, Nordic, Spanish-American and Pronto. The two Algom mines, Quirke and Nordic, belong the most efficient operations, will remain open.

With the Can - Met contract, Consolidated Denison has said it will continue to mine the Stanleigh Ore zone at Elliot Lake.

In the first three failures, the solid-fuel rockets performed correctly but the ramjet engines designed to sustain the flight did not work properly. The missiles fell short of their goal.

Production sources say the ramjet engine faults have been overcome. They say the guidance system in the "B" is similar to the one in the "A" model and they therefore feel any difficulties here can be resolved. However the "B" model today is reported to weigh more than the "A" and this may be a factor in the flight.

Today's Chuckle

It is easier to believe a lie that came from a thousand times than a fact no one has heard before.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: — Relatively cool air dominates most of the continent with below freezing temperatures reported as far south as northern Florida. A disturbance is expected to move eastward across the lower lakes late tonight and Wednesday morning. It will probably be preceded by some light snow and followed by clearing and colder weather.

Bomarc Missile 'B' Category to Get Another Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — Qualified informants say the controversial Bomarc "B" missile is to undergo another test in about two weeks.

The test is crucial and preparations are being made in secrecy for the solid-fuel Bomarc "B". Its development in Canada as well as the United States—has fallen in all its first six trials.

Some U.S. defence officials as well as congressional committees already have lost faith in the 47-foot missile and production sources fear another failure could so reduce public confidence that the U.S. Air Force may be forced to ditch full production.

However, both U.S. and Canadian government spokesmen have expressed confidence the Bomarc "B" finally will emerge as a successful weapon, designed to shoot down enemy bombers within a range of 400 nautical miles.

PREDECESSOR

The predecessor—the Bomarc "A"—now in full operation in the U.S. but has only one-half the "B" range.

The new test will take place at Cape Canaveral, Fla., where the Bomarc "A" program was reported two weeks ago. At that time part of the missile's guidance system flopped.

It kept climbing to some 40,000 feet instead of straightening out and moving forward at a lower level. Looking ahead at it, the missile veered off to the right and disappeared into the Atlantic Ocean a few feet offshore.

In the first three failures, the solid-fuel rockets performed correctly but the ramjet engines designed to sustain the flight did not work properly. The missiles fell short of their goal.

Production sources say the ramjet engine faults have been overcome. They say the guidance system in the "B" is similar to the one in the "A" model and they therefore feel any difficulties here can be resolved. However the "B" model today is reported to weigh more than the "A" and this may be a factor in the flight.

COMPANY WILL BE CALLED THURS. BEFORE COMMONS

Breach of Privilege Charged in Article

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons concludes today a foreign affairs debate adjourned since last week.

External Affairs Minister Green likely will wind up the debate which has been marked by some of the toughest opposition criticism of foreign policy to be spearheaded by Opposition Leader Pearson and Paul Martin (L—Essex East).

But before it gets down to foreign affairs the Commons will be confronted with another complaint of Murdo Martin (CCF—Humniai that the actions of a Toronto company infringed Commons privileges and constituted a breach of the Unfair Competition Act.

At the start of Monday's sitting, Mr. Martin drew attention to an article which he said "is a parliamentary reporters and newspaper has the president of Sperry and Hutchinson Company of Canada Limited be summoned before the bar of the Commons to answer charges of breach of privilege.

REPRODUCED HANSARD

The mailed material was a reproduction of Hansard containing reports of the Commons—dealing with the Throne Speech—by 29 MPs Margaret Aitken (PC — York-Humber) in which she opposed suggestions for a federal ban on trading stamps.

Mr. Martin said the reproduction bore on its face the coat of arms of Canada. Such use was prohibited under the Unfair Competition Act for use by anyone in connection with his business. The material bore the Sperry and Hutchinson trade mark "Sperry" from the information bureau of discount stamps."

Mr. Martin said that the use made of this material would indicate to the recipient that the document has the official sanction of the Commons.

On Feb. 4 the Commons debated a private bill of Frank Howard (CCF—Skeena) to outlaw trading stamps. It was defeated 107 to 91. It is expected defeated it right up to the election and may not be revived left for a vote on the issue.

At the request of Trade Minister Fulton, a bill, government House leader, Mr. Martin agreed Monday to move to summon the Sperry and Hutchinson president—who was not expected to appear at the Commons bar Thursday at 2:30 p.m.

How the incident was received called by Senator Charles Bishop Stewart (PC—Carleton) were recorded. The incident was received by Senator Charles Bishop Stewart (PC—Carleton) were recorded.

In 1906 when Montreal journalist Fred Cowpthorn was called before the bar after a complaint by Sir George Foster about an article. He refused to appear with counsel and, after being kept in custody overnight, Speaker, then prime minister, moved a motion of censure.

Legal authorities said that in the event a person is called before the bar and is found guilty of breach of privilege or other misdemeanor, the Commons has the power to order a fine or imprisonment. In this instance, persons called before the bar and convicted have been confined to the Tower of London.

Argentine Papers Have a Field Day Providing Tales About Phantom Sub

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The Argentine navy insisted today it still is combing a large area off the Golfo Nevou. A skeptical public came up with a new explanation for theirs in the absence of a capture, and there was growing belief the sub had escaped into the Atlantic. Some felt there may have been a submarine here.

Speculation varied widely as to the identity of the submarine reportsurfaced in the 40-by-20-mile gulf Argentine Patagonia sold off a very serious supply depot in the area, with food enough to feed 3,000 people, Gen. Angel Solari said a couple.

Plane pilots on the sub hunt said they had picked up radio messages in "bad Yankee slang" from the sub to friendly ships standing off in the Atlantic. One pilot said not one but three subs were in the area. The navy itself said at one point there were two.

Legalized Hospital Sweeps Proposed by Municipalities

TORONTO (CP)—Delegates at the Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities' convention have approved a proposal to establish Canadian lotteries or sweepstakes as a means of hospital support.

They voted Monday to ask the provincial government to "investigate, consider and assist" in implementing the proposal through legislation. The resolution was presented by Lincoln County.

Agriculture Minister Goodfellow of Ontario told delegates the province has no money farm organizations and the industry should unify its forces. He said 100 farm organizations represent 80,000 Ontario farmers.

Delegates voted to ask the provincial government that cities and towns municipalities be prevented from annexing parts of smaller municipalities. The association was told that a favorable vote in both areas be recorded before annexation was allowed.

Lincoln County Warden D. J. Bucknall said cities have too often tried to take parts of townships which increase municipal assessments, leaving the township in financial straits and municipal services from reduced assessments.

CANT BLAME SMOKING

The convention was addressed by federal Health Minister Monteith, who indicated federal scientists have not yet found a definite link between cancer and cigarette smoking. Scientists are trying to examine the cause of cancer but "tangible results will not be available for some time," he said.

Lung cancer in males is on the increase, he said, but cancer of the respiratory tract in females seems to be declining. In women, cancer of the breast and intestinal cancer decreasing.

The association also passed these resolutions:

"That the ontario water resources commission be empowered to make grants in lieu of taxes on lands it occupied in municipalities.

That hunters be compelled to have written permission from registration numbers, assisting farmers identify hunters if they did any damage to property.

No Guarantee House to Vote On Death Penalty Abolition

OTTAWA (CP)—There now appears to be little doubt that if the government decides to make capital punishment issue it will be a free vote. But will it ever come to a vote of any kind this session?

That is the most point in the continuing behind - the - scenes preparations by all three parties in the House of Commons for a private member's bill that would abolish the death penalty for murder. These preparations have been going on for months, scenes since the session opened a month ago but still there is no guarantee there will be a vote.

Support for abolition of capital punishment may not be as widespread as the polls indicate, it is believed originally. Some members say privately that the anti-abolition camp appears to be growing on both sides of the House.

The view of this, the displaced opposition member notes that the Progressive Conservative party has consumed 32 of the 65 death sentences imposed since it took office in 1957. But it also raises this question:

Does this mean the government may be leaning toward some eventual abolition, in full or in part, when it appears to some extent that the risk now of having Parliament reverse itself is

It is understood that the Conservative cabinet has not yet decided that vote onto the question should be a free one. A free vote of this kind, however, would mean that many of the government members appear to concur.

Justice Minister Davis already has decided it is a question of national importance and has never made up his own mind on the issue.

As one veteran member said the issue would be one of "conscience" in Parliament, where the actual vote may be influenced by the fact that abolition is being settled beforehand either individually or en masse.

Unless the debate lasts long enough, and unless the argument "against" is presented up strongly with statistical and factual evidence, the chances of question of whether the death penalty is a deterrent to murder then many of these members are not going to be convinced one way or the other.

Even those who do have a case to make are likely to take a long time making it, in order to explain their stand as fully as possible.

REGULAR PERIOD OF QUESTIONS MAY BE ALLOWED

Frost Says Matter Will Be Studied

TORONTO (CP)—The rules of the Ontario legislature may be "modernized" to permit a regular period of oral questions by members of the opposition, Premier Frost said Monday.

The change of rules might be considered in the House of Commons in London, which permits members to ask questions for a brief period each day without having to place them on the order paper.

The matter arose in the legislature Monday when Vernon Singer (L—Wentworth) requested that he be allowed to ask a question of Attorney-General Roberts. The question was whether the government contemplated taking any action against the Toronto Telegram and the Toronto Globe and Mail for publishing liquor advertisements.

Mr. Singer said the advertisements are illegal under provisions of the Liquor Control Act of Ontario.

QUERY RULED OUT

The question was ruled not permissible by Speaker William Murdoch before the House sat. When it did at 3 p.m. Opposition Leader John Wintermeyer, Mr. Murdoch said the question would have to be placed on the order paper.

Many questions considered to be urgent to the public are permitted to be asked during the House. Other questions must be placed on the order paper to be answered or not answered as the government sees fit.

This is a matter in the procedure of the House I personally don't feel Mr. Wintermeyer made. The legality of an oral question is at the discretion of the Speaker.

"We might look at modernizing the rules," Premier Frost said. He added that he and Mr. Wintermeyer could discuss the matter with the Speaker and decide on future policy.

In the debate of two bills respecting energy, both Mr. Wintermeyer and Leo Bernier (PC—Carleton) criticized the government in phraseology and failed to outline a rate base formula for the sale of natural gas. The bills are the Ontario Energy Board Act and the Energy Act, both of which were given second reading Monday.

CHARGES INEFFICIENCY

Mr. MacDonald charged the government was drafting a bill to make the energy board as "inefficient as the Ontario Fuel Board was in the 1930's."

The government has been following the policy of natural gas in Ontario to rise above that sold in United States by the subsidies of Canadian companies, Mr. MacDonald said.

In Sarnia, commercial gas sells for $460.60 for 500,000 cubic feet of gas, while gas out in Port Huron for the same amount is $353.35, he said.

The prices cannot be equated, Leslie Frost, Conservative Minister Macleod factor. Rates are higher where more gas is sold. He added that the bills should be studied, however, that both bills are

Liberal's Move To Have Report Tabled Lost

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons defeated Monday a Liberal motion that would have given civil service commission report on security screenings for government workers tabled in Parliament.

The proposal, moved by George McIlraith (L—Ottawa West), was lost 108 to 94 on a vote of Conservative-General Vanier to make available the report.

Opposition members have often criticized the government for not tabling public reports, which are submitted by the commission last fall and believed to have recommended a general, five-per-cent increase for government employees, Prime Minister Diefenbaker contends it is confidential.

The government has refused to provide the general increase.

Later, the Commons also defeated by a vote of 107 to 91 a motion of J. W. Pickersgill (L—Bonavista-Twillingate) for a report of the government report, The Canadian Economic Outlook, 1958.

At the last session, the government agreed to a similar motion calling for copies of the report on the economic outlook for 1958. In January, 1958, Prime Minister Diefenbaker produced a major debate a copy of the 1957 economic outlook, calling it a "hidden report."

Legislature Hears Of Royal Visit

LONDON (Reuters) — Three top medical authorities today called on Queen Elizabeth as physicians on the "stork duty" outside Buckingham Palace awaited the birth of her third child. Palace informants said the visit of the three doctors did not mean the birth is necessarily imminent. The three men have visited the Queen before for the last four Tuesdays for a regular checkup.

It was understood the physicians advised the 31-year-old Queen to move from her apartments in the palace's ground floor Belgian suite, which has been converted into a maternity clinic.

A crowd of about 300 stood outside the palace gates in wintry sunshine and watched the doctors drive in for the checkup.

The three specialists are obstetrician John Peel, Lord Evans and Sir John Weir.

MAY BE WEDNESDAY

The official palace forecast is that "any now" Queen officials believe the most likely time is Wednesday.

Monday night, a palace spokesman reported: "The Queen is expecting a baby. The baby may be mail but quiet life."

Her doctors have been on a steady alert since Monday.

Although no announcement is the Belgian shite, it will be up to Sister Helen Rose, the Queen's personal nurse, to tell the reporters when the birth is imminent.

Meanwhile arrangements were tightened at the palace. As dusk fell Monday and a spotlight picked out the royal standard fluttering above the palace roof, two police dogs and their handlers began patrolling the grounds.

"Just in case any sightseers get outs of hand," explained a policeman.

A crowd of several hundred gathered in the hall day outside the palace gates. They cheered a wine merchants truck as it delivered 19 magnums of champagne which Prince Philip will distribute among 21 guns to all who celebrate the now arrival.

The palace was to represent the Queen today at a royal investiture in the white and gold state bedroom. Fifty men and women were to receive the honors awarded in the honors list now year's honors list.

PHILIP CALLED

Prince Philip has shown himself as a very calm father-to-be. Monday he visited artist Brian Thomas to discuss stained glass portraits of himself and the Queen being made for St. Paul's Cathedral here. The duke chatted for 10 minutes with Thomas in the subject of the baby.

The Queen's cousin, James Crofton, has been waiting in the

Will Amend Liquor Act

TORONTO (CP)—A bill which would amend the Liquor Control Act will be introduced into the Ontario legislature probably this week.

The bill is not expected to contain sweeping changes.

Musically Inclined Deputy Sheriff Called to Testify About Payola

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the House of Representatives Legislative Oversight Subcommittee called record distributors, a government auditor and a musically inclined deputy sheriff to testify questioning about radio-television disc jockey programs.

As hearings resumed Monday, the testimony about payments to broadcasters centered on Alan Harris (Dem. Ark.), chairman of the subcommittee. Harris is being called it "commercial bribery" to get records on the air.

Cecil Steen, a Boston distributor, testified he paid $100 a week to have a record featured in the Gold Platter on Boston radio station WMEX. Steen also said he had handed out more than $2,000 to disc jockeys in the last few years.

Two WMEX record - spinners said they had been the beneficiaries of payments from record suppliers. Arnie Ginsburg acknowledged receiving $4,500 in the last two years while spinning tunes on WMEX and WBOX in Bogalusa, La. Hall, another jockey who also serves as program director for WMEX, said he accepted gifts totalling $423.

Each insisted he was not swayed by the gratuities in picking records to broadcast.

On tap for questioning today were Harry Carter, president and treasurer of Music Suppliers, Incorporated, and other officials of the distributing firm, as well as auditor Donald R. Keelan and Deputy Sheriff Ray Lewis of Manchester, N.H.

Keelan is on loan, to the subcommittee from the government's general accounting office. Lewis also was identified as a manager of the Downbeats, a singing group.

Twins to Hike 104 Miles for Blonde's Hand

BANGOR, Wales (Reuters)—Identical twin brothers lumbered up today for a 104-mile walk to decide which of them will win the hand of a pretty, 19-year-old blonde student.

Vaughan and Howard Clarke, also 19, will set out Friday. Blonde Jean Sterling will start the race and will be waiting to become engaged to the winner.

The twins have dated Jean for a month, sharing her as a dance partner and walking her home together. When they asked her to make a final decision between them, she said she couldn't.

"They are so alike in every way that I feel the same about both of them," she explained.

Fellow students at the North Wales University College here, influenced by the current marathon walking craze in Britain, suggested the race to decide who wins Jean's hand.

The twins said there would be no hard feelings whoever won and the loser would be best man at the wedding.

Princeton Men Are Stood Up By Irate Girls

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—A hundred Centenary College girls stood up a flock of Princeton men who came dateless but grateful to a St. Valentine's dance.

The girls from the Hackettstown, N.J., school had been invited to the Saturday night ball. They declined at the last minute because the dance got publicity unflattering to the female sex.

Dance tickets were advertised at $4.75 a couple and $3 stag. The group sponsoring the dance invited 100 girls from Centenary College for women for the stage.

The Princetonian, campus newspaper, said in a story designed to help sell tickets: "100 dates to be Sold for Dance." The paper said a girl from Texas had rented a room in the price of a stag ticket.

The girls' parents found out, complained, and the dates were ordered by Centenary officials not to attend.

The dateless Princeton men were offered refunds or refunds by the dance sponsors.

Israel Boycotts UN Meeting on Border Clashes

JERUSALEM (CP)—A meeting called by the United Nations for Friday to discuss Israeli-Jordan border clashes faced an Israeli boycott.

The UN mixed armistice commission described the meeting as "urgent." Syria accepted the invitation to attend but Israel announced Monday that it would not send representatives.

The commission met early this month in the demilitarized zone on Israel's northeast frontier with Syria.

An Israeli foreign ministry spokesman said Israel considers the demilitarized zone to be outside the competence" of the commission. She called the demilitarized area is part of Israel's sovereign territory and the commission cannot interfere with its activities.

The spokesman, Avraham Bein, said Col. Raymond Pirlot, Belgian chairman of the commission, did i regarded Israel's decision to refuse to attend invitations to the meeting.

However, Israel Israel Israel was prepared to meet with Syrian representatives and discuss with the Arabs the Israeli border village, centre of the clashes, with regards to cultivation rights in the area.

Several persons were killed and others injured in the Israeli-Syrian frontier clashes between Israeli troops and Syrian soldiers and of the United Arab Republic forces.

FIND ANIMAL REMAINS

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (CP) The remains of animals that lived 5,000,000 years ago have been unearthed on the banks of the river Zilava near Stepanov in Slovakia, the Czech news agency Ceteka reported today. Among the finds were fragments of three skulls of mastodons (a prehistoric elephant), the jaw and skull of a rhinoceros and a skull fragment from a hipparion, one of the ancestors of the horse.

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

SCHOOL BUSES BACK ON SCHEDULE TODAY

School buses were back on schedule this morning, after many of them had a hard battle with heavy drifts on Monday morning. Although information obtained from school authorities indicated only the Frankford school bus reached this city on time on Monday, this statement was denied by at least two bus operators, who claimed the Roslin and Plainfield buses were also on time.

$2,000 CASH BAIL ASKED BY COURT

Cash bail of $2,000 has been set for the two Belleville district youths charged with breaking and entering at the Tweed Steel Works where an acetylene torch was used to cut open the side of the safe.

Arrested and charged with the offence are James Henderson of Foley Mills, and Lawrence Baker of Foxboro.

SAID IN FIGHT NIGHT BEFORE DEATH

Police investigation is still continuing into the death of Gunner Joseph Bertrand D'Aliaire, 37, of Montreal, who Saturday morning was found dead in his bed at the Picton Army Camp. The soldier was reported to have been in a fight the night before his death.

Grant Approval on $229,500 For Expenditures on Roads, Streets Sought by Council

The city will seek grant approval for a total of $229,500 to be spent on city roads and streets during 1960.

This is the amount for which the city engineer will be asked to submit his road expenditure by-law which will go to the highways department for grant approval following passage by council.

Alderman Jack Ellis as chairman of the public works committee noted this will not mean that this would be the amount spent on roads, but was the figure on which government grants would be based.

Little more than routine business was transacted at the meeting which was approved or otherwise of committee recommendations.

Subject to the treasurer's and auditor's approval, council voted $1,000 to the Belleville Board of Thurlow for 1959 debt charges for public schools and local improvements. These charges were collected in 1959 taxes from residents of the Thurlow area.

Dates for Daylight Saving Time were approved by council and Daylight Time will become effective at 2.00 a.m. on April 24th and will end at 2.00 a.m. on Sunday, October 30th.

Two additional male part-time employees to work as field men in connection with the city reassessment, were approved by council, the cost for 10 months to be about $5,000.

REFERRED BACK

Referred back for consideration by the personnel committee was a recommendation that there be an increase in salary of from $42 to $45 per week for a part time librarian presently employed in the assessment department.

Mayor Wallace generally was that although the increase may be warranted, it was important to await the completion of a job evaluation presently underway at city hall. Others felt that the five-per cent across the board increase should be granted now as hall employees should stand until the job evaluation is completed.

Mayor A. M. Haig, suggested, however, that if the matter is likewise to maintain an absolutely inflexible salary increase policy at city hall, especially when this could mean loss of an employee. "There are situations which just have to be adjusted," he said.

In a recent recommendation to increase efficiency in the assessment department, council voted that the numerical system of compiling the voters' list be followed instead of the present alphabetical system. Assessment Commissioner, James Thompson said this would make for greater efficiency in his office.

"It would reduce errors in the work load in our office," he said.

Alderman Robert Payne objected to the move, claiming it would inconvenience voters in determining errors and omitted names were on the voters' list.

RE-APPOINTED TO BOARD

Ex-Alderman Don Thomas was re-appointed as the city representative on the Suburban Boards Committee for the appointment was for a five-year term, ending June 30, 1965.

Front Street from Bridge North to Station Street, will be designated as the No. 2 truck way route through the down-town section of the city. Instead of Pinnacle Street as at present.

Reason for the change is to take advantage of additional highways department grants for maintenance of highway routes through municipalities.

The city will move to purchase part of an old abandoned Northern Electric By right-of-way running along bay shore to the Bakelite plant, according to Alderman William Barlow, chairman of planning, the right-of-way would provide access to future park area along the bay shore, and would also be used for sanitary land fill for garbage disposal.

By-laws providing authority for erection of traffic lights at locations where lights are already installed will be drawn by the city solicitor. Alderman Temple said that although highways department approval for the installations had already been secured, city by-laws authorizing their erection had not been passed. Passing of the by-laws would block any legal technicalities arising out of enforcement, he said.

APPROVES CINDER WALK

Council approved for a cinder walk to be provided on the north side of Dundas St., West, from Palmer Road to the city limits, and also approved for Alderman Temple to proceed with a formal brief to present to the Transport Commission for the purpose of obtaining a grant in connection with the cost of a sidewalk on the overhead bridge on Sidney St.

And in the future there will be a minimum charge of $100 for all charitable requests for the use of the Belleville Memorial Arena. Alderman Whalen said this amount would barely cover the cost of operating the arena.

Mrs. W. Ponton Tells Society Of Early Life

"Ancestral Anecdotes" was the title of the interesting and entertaining address delivered at the February meeting of the Hastings County Historical Society.

The speaker was Mrs. W. N. Ponton of Belleville, who spoke both of the ancestors of her late husband, Colonel W. N. Ponton, and of her own ancestors.

She described life in Belleville as it was over 120 years ago when Colonel Ponton's grandfather, William Hutton, decided to settle here.

Describing the Ponton estate, then a mile west of the town, William Hutton wrote in 1834:

"It slopes beautifully down to the edge of the bay, and of course water is plentiful, a great cleared land is covered with cleaned land is covered with beautiful white clover.

"There are now, or ten acres rather too near the limestone quarry, but this rock can be raised with a spade in large flat stones, suitable for building purposes, which will be very requisite, i.e. when timber for fencing becomes scarce."

Hu'on went on to note that beautiful trees are cheap — forty shillings a thousand feet — but carpenter's work was very high, seven shillings a day.

Accordingly, Hutton advised carpenters and also tailors, shoemakers and laborers to come out from the British Isles.

SOLD BY FAMILY

He also wrote that the land on the bay shore "will command soon let for town parks". (Mrs. Ponton noted that 99 years after this was written the Fair Grounds were sold to the city from the Ponton family.)
